SPEAKING PART 1 266

INTRO QUESTIONS 266

1. Describe a time when someone gave you something that you really wanted

You should say

- o What it was
- o When you received it
- o Who gave it to you
- o And explain how you felt when the person gave it to you

- I'd like to talk about a very special gift that I received — something I had been dreaming about for quite some time.
- This happened just after my 12th board exams were over.
- I was exploring my higher education options online and reading about the requirements for university programs.
- Many of the courses I was interested in suggested having a powerful laptop, like a MacBook or a high-end Windows computer with a good graphic card.
- I really wanted to get the latest MacBook, but I didn't bring it up with my parents.
- The reason was that I knew they were already going to spend a lot on my college fees and other expenses.
- So, I kept quiet and didn't expect anything.
- Then, on the day my 12th results were announced, I got the biggest surprise.
- My parents gifted me the latest MacBook Air with the new M4 chip, a 17-inch screen, 16 GB RAM, and 256 GB storage.
- It was exactly what I had been wishing for.
- Before that, I had a really old desktop computer — it was around 7 years old and very slow.
- I was honestly shocked and happy at the same time.
- I asked them how they knew I wanted this laptop.
- They told me they had heard me talking about it with my friend when he had visited our house.
- After hearing that, they secretly planned to gift it to me on my birthday.
- They even took help from that same friend — he went with them to the store to buy the exact model.
- That made it even more special because it showed how much effort they had put into it.
- I was really touched and felt grateful.
- That day, I got exactly what I had wished for without even asking.
- It made me feel that when you really want something and you work hard, somehow the universe helps you get it.
- I'll never forget that day — not just because of the gift, but because of the love and thought behind it.

1. Should employees have their own goals?

Yes, I believe employees should set their own goals. It helps them stay motivated and take ownership of their work. When people know what they want to achieve, they usually perform better. At the same time, these goals should match the company's overall direction.

2. How should bosses reward employees?

I think bosses should reward employees based on their performance. It can be through bonuses, promotions, or even a simple thank-you in front of the team. Sometimes, just being appreciated is more meaningful than money. But of course, fair financial rewards also matter.

3. What kinds of gifts do young people like to receive as rewards?

Most young people enjoy tech gadgets like headphones or smartwatches, or even gift cards so they can choose for themselves. Some also like experiences, like movie tickets or a trip. It really depends on the person, but useful and trendy gifts are quite popular.

4. How should children spend their allowance money?

In my opinion, children should learn to spend their allowance wisely. They can save a part of it, buy things they really need or want, and maybe even donate a little. Learning money habits early in life helps them in the future. But it's also okay if they treat themselves once in a while.

5. Why do people like shopping more now than in the past?

Shopping has become easier and more fun these days, especially with online stores. There are so many options, and people can buy things with just a click. Also, many shop for fun or to feel better, not just for need. In the past, it was more about buying only what was necessary.

6. Do you think shopping is good for a country's economy?

Yes, definitely. When people shop, businesses grow and more jobs are created. It helps money move through the system. But if people shop too much, especially on credit, it can cause problems too. So, shopping is good, but it needs to be balanced.

2. Describe a famous person you would like to meet

You should say:

- o Who he/she is o How you knew him/her
- o How/where you would like to meet him/her o And explain why you would like to meet him/ her

- One famous person I would love to meet is Diljit Dosanjh.
- He's not only the most popular Punjabi singer, but also a successful Bollywood actor.
- I've known about him since I was a child — I grew up listening to his songs.
- In fact, I still remember doing a dance performance on one of his songs at my school's annual function.
- His music has been a part of many happy memories in my life.
- What I admire the most is his journey from being a small-town singer to becoming an international star.
- He worked really hard to reach where he is today.
- Recently, he completed a world tour, and I was lucky to attend one of his concerts in Chandigarh.
- I bought a fan pit ticket, which meant I was right in front of the stage.
- Seeing him perform live, that too from so close, felt like a dream come true.
- The energy, the vibe, the crowd — it was something I'll never forget.
- He's also the first Punjabi singer to perform at Coachella, one of the biggest music festivals in the world.
- That made me even more proud to be a fan of his.
- Apart from being talented, he is also very spiritual.
- I read that he recites Sikh religious text throughout the day and stays grounded in his faith.
- I would really love to spend a day with him.
- I want to ask him how he stays so disciplined and how he keeps working hard even after achieving so much.
- It would be inspiring to know his thoughts on success and how he deals with fame.
- I feel he has not only made a name for himself, but he has also put Punjabi music on the global map.
- Meeting him would be one of the best moments of my life.

1. What are the advantages and disadvantages of being a famous child?

I think the biggest advantage is that the child gets a lot of attention and opportunities at a young age. But the downside is, they lose their normal childhood. They are always under pressure and sometimes miss out on school or playtime with friends.

2. What can today's children do to become famous?

Nowadays, kids can become famous through social media, talent shows, or even YouTube. If they have a special skill like dancing, singing, or acting, they can post videos and get noticed. But not everyone wants that kind of life.

3. What can children do with their fame?

If they use their fame in a good way, they can inspire others and even support social causes. Some young stars help in raising money for charities or speak up about important issues. But it's also easy to get lost in attention and forget to stay grounded.

4. Do people become famous because of their talent?

Yes, many people do become famous because they are really talented. But in today's world, sometimes people also get fame just by doing something viral or controversial. I feel real talent lasts longer, while instant fame fades quickly.

3. Describe an intelligent person you know

You should say:

- o Who this person is
- o How you knew this person
- o What this person does
- o And explain why you think this person is intelligent

- I would like to talk about my cousin who is one of the most intelligent people I have ever known.
- He is my maternal uncle's son and we have grown up together, so I know him really well.
- Right now, he lives in the USA, in Silicon Valley, and works at Google as a Vice President.
- Everyone in our family is really proud of him and looks up to him.
- He did his schooling from a convent school in Chandigarh and was always the top student in his class.
- I remember my aunt telling us that he never took tuitions, but still scored full marks in subjects like Maths and Science.

- After school, he cracked the toughest engineering entrance exam in India and got an All India Rank of 10.
- He then went on to study Computer Science at IIT Mumbai, which is the top engineering college in India.
- Later, he did his master's degree from Stanford University in the USA, which is another world-famous institute.
- He's very hardworking and focused. I've never seen him wasting time or getting distracted.
- Before joining Google, he worked at Apple and Amazon, and received many awards and recognitions for his work.
- Even in school days, he used to make innovative science projects and won many quiz competitions.
- I remember once, during his last visit to India, we were having tea at home, and he explained how Artificial Intelligence is going to change the future.
- He used very simple language to explain difficult things like machine learning and neural networks, and I was amazed.
- He told me he was leading a team at Google working on AI tools that can help doctors diagnose diseases more accurately.
- That day, I realized how intelligent he is — not just because of his job, but because he can break down tough topics into simple ideas.
- What I admire the most is that despite all his success, he is very humble and down-to-earth.
- He always motivates me to work hard and keep learning new things.
- I really look up to him and hope to achieve even a small part of what he has achieved.
- For me, intelligence is not just about books, it's also about applying knowledge to help others — and that's exactly what he does.

1. Why are some children more intelligent than others?

I think it depends on many things like genetics, environment, and the kind of learning they are exposed to. Some children grow up in homes where they are encouraged to read and ask questions, which helps a lot. Also, using books like the ideas book can develop strong thinking and speaking skills early on.

2. Who do you think plays a more important role in a child's development, teachers or parents? I believe both are important, but parents have a stronger influence in the early years. They shape habits, values, and behaviour at home, which stays with the child for life. However, good teachers also inspire children and guide their academic growth.

3. Do you think smart people tend to be selfish?

Not always. Some smart people use their knowledge to help others and solve problems. But yes, there are a few who become proud or think they are better than everyone else. It depends more on a person's nature than just their intelligence.

4. Are smart people happier than others?

I'm not sure. Being smart doesn't always mean being happy. Some intelligent people overthink or feel lonely if they don't find like-minded people.

In fact, people with simple lives and less stress might be happier.

4. Describe an article on health you read in a magazine or on the Internet

You should say:

o What it was o Where you
read it o Why you read it o
And how you felt about it

- I'm very health conscious and I make sure to exercise every day, even if I'm busy.
- I also watch a lot of videos related to diet, fitness, and healthy living.
- So I naturally enjoy reading articles on health-related topics, especially from trusted sources.
- A few months back, just after my exams had ended, I went on a short vacation to Shimla.
- While I was travelling by bus, I was browsing news on the BBC app to pass the time.
- In the health section, I came across a really interesting article titled "What is the safe limit of alcohol consumption?"
- The article was written by Dr. Abby Philips, a well-known liver specialist who's also very active on social media.
- It immediately caught my attention because many people around me consume alcohol, thinking it's harmless if done occasionally.
- The article had two pages, and it also included images of a healthy liver and a fatty liver damaged due to alcohol.
- One shocking statement made by the doctor was that no amount of alcohol is safe for the human body.
- He explained that even weekend drinking or social drinking can cause serious and irreversible damage to the liver.
- I was surprised to learn that alcohol can leave traces in human hair for up to three months.
- The main idea was that alcohol leads to fat build-up in the liver which becomes permanent over time.
- If someone keeps drinking regularly, it can lead to liver failure, sometimes even at a young age.
- The article also mentioned that the only solution in the worst cases is a liver transplant, which is expensive and not easily available.

- I felt really shocked but also informed after reading this article.
- I immediately shared it with some of my friends and relatives who drink on weekends.
- After seeing the liver images and reading the facts, many of them promised they would stop drinking.
- I really appreciated the way Dr. Abby explained everything in simple words backed with science.
- Overall, the article left a deep impact on me and reminded me why staying away from alcohol is so important for long-term health.

1. Do you think people are healthier now than in the past?

I don't think so. Many people today have busy lifestyles and eat a lot of processed food, which affects their health.

Even though modern medicine has improved, problems like stress and obesity are more common now.

In the past, life was slower and food was more natural.

2. How can you tell whether a website is reliable or not?

I usually check if the website is from a trusted source, like a government or well-known news site.

If the information is written by experts or has proper references, then I trust it more.

Also, I avoid websites that have too many ads or spelling mistakes.

3. What activities can schools organize for children to keep fit?

Schools can arrange regular sports events, yoga classes, or dance sessions.

Even morning walks or fun games during breaks can help children stay active.

Physical activity not only improves fitness but also helps with focus and mood.

4. What can governments do to improve people's health?

Governments can run awareness campaigns about healthy eating and exercise.

They should also build more public parks, walking tracks, and fitness centres.

In my opinion, they can even ban junk food ads near schools.

But some people believe it's the person's responsibility, not the government's.

5. Describe a beautiful sky you enjoyed seeing

You should say:

- o Where you saw it
- o Who you saw it with
- o What you saw
- o And how you felt about it

- A few months ago, after my final exams, I went to Sukhna Lake in Chandigarh with my friends.
- It was springtime, and I was really looking forward to relaxing after a hectic exam schedule.
- We reached the lake around 6 in the evening, planning to catch the sunset.
- The environment there was so peaceful and refreshing.
- Sukhna Lake is a beautiful man-made lake with a walking path, clean water, and lots of greenery all around.
- There were ducks swimming, people boating, and children playing — a really happy vibe.
- The cool breeze was blowing gently, and across the lake, we could see the hills of Himachal Pradesh and a forest line, which made the scene even more beautiful.
- Around 7 pm, the sun started to set, and that's when the magic began.
- There were a few clouds in the sky, and the light from the setting sun gave the sky this stunning pink and orange hue.
- I usually don't pay much attention to the sky, but that day I just couldn't stop looking at it. It looked like a painting come to life.
- Everyone around us was pointing to the sky, taking pictures, and sharing them on Instagram — even I posted one on
- The calmness of the lake and the beauty of the sky made me feel completely relaxed and in the moment.
- I was just sitting there, smiling, feeling blessed and blissful.
- It reminded me how simple moments in nature can be so powerful.
- Website ieltsonestop.com.
- After that day, I've started spending more time outdoors, especially during the evenings.
- It was honestly one of the most peaceful and beautiful skies I've ever seen.
- That sunset made me realise how nature can heal and uplift your mood.
- I'll never forget that view — it's etched in my memory forever.

1. What kind of people are interested in stars?

People who are curious about space, like scientists or dreamers, often enjoy looking at stars. Some find peace in stargazing, while others do it as a hobby. I've also met people who just enjoy learning about the universe.

2. Is high technology helpful for star watching?

Yes, technology has made star watching much easier and more detailed. We can now use apps or telescopes to find constellations. It's more exciting than just looking with the naked eye.

3. Should kids know more about stars and planets?

Definitely. Learning about stars and planets can boost their interest in science. It also helps them understand how big and amazing our universe is.

6. Describe a time when you made a plan to do an activity with a lot of people

You should say:

- o What it was
  - o When and where you made it
  - o What the activity was
  - o And explain how you felt about the plan
- A few months ago, after my final exams ended, I was feeling really bored at home.
  - I had been studying non-stop, so I was craving some fresh air and fun.
  - One afternoon, I randomly called my best friend and said, "Let's go out somewhere!"
  - He instantly said yes, and then we decided to ask our classmates too.
  - Everyone loved the idea, and within an hour, we had created a WhatsApp group and made a plan for a one-day picnic to Kasauli.
  - Kasauli is a small and beautiful hill station about 2 hours from Chandigarh.
  - We decided to travel by bus, and a total of 15 of us confirmed the plan.
  - We all divided responsibilities — some brought snacks, some brought lunch, and others packed games and a speaker.
  - One of our friends even carried his guitar!
  - We left around 10 in the morning and reached Kasauli by 12 noon.
  - First, we explored the Mall Road, which is full of small shops and cafés.

- The weather was amazing — much cooler than Chandigarh — and it felt so nice to escape the heat.
- Around 2 PM, we started feeling hungry, so we headed to Gilbert Trail, our picnic spot.
- It was full of lush greenery, birds chirping, and stunning views of the Himalayas.
- We spread out some bedsheets and enjoyed a homemade lunch — everything tasted extra good in that fresh mountain air.
- After eating, we played games like dumb charades and antakshari.
- Then our friend played the guitar, and we all sang along — it was such a filmy moment.
- We took lots of pictures and some people even posted them on Instagram — you can see some at
- It was truly a memorable day, and we all still talk about it in class.
- I even mentioned this fun day in one of my blogs on ieltsonestopielts.com.
- I felt super happy that we planned something so quickly and made such amazing memories together.

1. What kind of plans do young people often make?

Young people usually plan for their studies, jobs, or travel. Some also plan daily routines to manage time better. I often plan my study schedule to prepare for IELTS.

2. Why can't people always follow their plans?

Sometimes life is unpredictable—things change or problems come up. That's why even well-made plans can fail. But I believe planning is still useful, even if we don't follow everything exactly.

7. Describe a photo you took that you are proud of

You should say:

- o When you took it
  - o Where you took it
  - o What is in this photo
  - o And explain why you are proud of it
- This photo that I'm proud of was taken during a short trip to Kasauli, a beautiful hill station near Chandigarh.
  - It was in the month of April, and our final exams had just ended.
  - The weather in the city had started becoming hot, and I was getting bored sitting at home.
  - One of my close friends called and suggested we go for a day trip to the hills.
  - I immediately agreed, and the next morning we left early from Chandigarh.
  - My friend is actually learning professional photography and is really passionate about wildlife photography too.
  - I was always curious about photography, so I asked him to teach me the basics during the trip.
  - After reaching Kasauli, we had breakfast at Mall Road and then went to a nearby viewpoint.
  - There, he took out his DSLR camera and started explaining shutter speed, ISO settings, and focal length.
  - He clicked a few landscape shots and showed me how to hold the camera and adjust the settings.
  - Then I took some pictures of the hills and trees in landscape mode — they came out nice.
  - I also experimented with portrait mode and blur effect, which was fun.
  - While looking around, I noticed an eagle sitting on top of a tall tree.
  - I quickly used the zoom lens and took a close-up shot of the eagle.
  - When I saw the photo, I was honestly shocked and amazed.
  - The eagle's shining feathers, sharp eyes, and the blurred background of blue sky and lake looked incredible.
  - It looked like something out of National Geographic — I couldn't believe I clicked it!
  - I immediately transferred the photo to my phone and shared it on social media.
  - I got tons of likes and compliments, and people even asked if I had taken it myself.
  - I later got this photo printed and framed, and now it hangs on the wall of my bedroom.
  - Every time I look at it, I feel motivated and proud, because it reminds me that I can learn anything if I try.

1. Why do some people like to record important things with photos?

Photos help us remember special moments clearly. One picture can bring back a lot of emotions. That's why many people take photos at weddings, birthdays, and trips.

2. What can people learn from historical photographs?

They show us how people lived in the past—their clothes, houses, or lifestyle. It's like getting a visual lesson about history. These pictures help us connect with old times.

3. Is taking photos the best way to remember something?

It depends. Photos are great, but sometimes just being present in the moment creates stronger memories. Not everything has to be captured by a camera.

4. Which is better, taking photos or keeping a diary?

I think both are good. Photos show how things looked, but a diary shows how we felt. I prefer a mix of both, especially when I travel or have a special day.

5. When do people take photos?

People mostly take photos during happy moments—like birthdays, holidays, or when they meet friends. Some also click random things they find beautiful.

6. Why do some people like to keep old photos?

Old photos remind us of people and times we might forget. They have emotions attached. I often smile when I see my childhood pictures.

8. Describe an object that you think is beautiful

You should say:

- o What it is
- o Where you saw it
- o What it looks like
- o And explain why you think it is beautiful

- A few weeks ago, my exams had just finished, and I was feeling bored at home.
- One of my friends called and asked if I wanted to go watch a movie.
- We went to the nearby VR Punjab mall in Mohali.
- After the movie, we decided to walk around and do some window shopping.
- We entered a popular store called Home Centre.
- It had so many home décor items like flower vases, paintings, plants, lamps, and other household things.
- As I was walking through the décor section, something caught my eye.
- It was a beautiful wooden floor lamp from a brand called Homemake.
- The lamp had a classic, antique look with a tall, carved wooden stand in a matt finish.
- It stood around 5 feet tall and had a linen drum lampshade in soft beige.
- The design looked inspired by French—elegant and traditional.
- It had an E-27 bulb holder and the warm light it gave off created a soft, cosy glow.
- Honestly, it looked like something straight out of a designer magazine.
- I thought it would be perfect for the corner of my bedroom and would make my room look more stylish.

- The price tag said ₹3000, but I was lucky to get a discount too.
- I immediately bought it and brought it home.
- My parents saw it and appreciated my choice – they also said it looked very classy.
- The reason I found it so beautiful is its simplicity mixed with elegance.
- It's not flashy or bright, but the soft wooden colour and glow of the lamp give such a calming feeling.
- I feel proud every time someone comes to my room and compliments it.

1. Do you think there are more beautiful things now than in the past? Why?

In some ways, yes. We have modern buildings, new designs, and digital art. But natural beauty like mountains and rivers hasn't changed. So it depends on what kind of beauty we're talking about.

2. What beautiful scenery spots are there in your country?

India has many—like Kashmir, Himachal, Kerala, and the desert areas of Rajasthan. Each place offers something different, from snowy hills to sunny beaches.

3. Why do you think people create beautiful things?

People like to express their feelings through beauty. It makes the world more colorful and meaningful. Sometimes, it's just for peace or happiness.

4. Where do you think people usually come into contact with beautiful things?

Mostly in nature, art galleries, or even social media now. A walk in the park or visiting a temple can also feel beautiful. Beauty is everywhere if we notice.

5. Do people in your country prefer listening to music to appreciating paintings and literature? Yes, I think music is more popular these days. It's easy to access and enjoy. But there are still people who love reading and looking at art.

6. Why do many people go to scenic spots in person instead of just reading about them in books?

Seeing a place in real life gives a different feeling. Books show the details, but standing there gives the experience. It's like the difference between hearing about food and tasting it.

9. Describe something you had to share with others

You should say

- o What it was
- o Who you shared it with
- o Why you had to share with others
- o And explain how you felt about it

- After finishing my 12th board exams, I had a lot of free time and was feeling a bit lost.
- One of my close friends suggested that I should start preparing for the IELTS exam.
- I thought it was a good idea since I wanted to go abroad for higher studies.
- While many of my classmates joined IELTS coaching classes, I decided to prepare on my own from home.
- I began researching online about how to prepare for the IELTS exam.
- Almost every website and YouTube video recommended using books.
- I also asked a few seniors who had taken the exam last year and they gave the same advice.
- So, I purchased the Reading, Writing, and Speaking books from ieltsonestopielts.com.
- The books were really helpful — well-structured, full of practice questions, and easy to understand.
- A few days later, I met up with some friends who were attending coaching classes.
- While discussing preparation strategies, I told them about the books I was using.
- They were curious and said they had heard these books were quite famous and helpful.
- They asked me if I could share the books with them for a few days, as their exam was coming up soon.
- At first, I was a bit hesitant because I was also preparing and didn't want to lose study time.
- But then I realised their exam was sooner than mine, and sharing would really help them.
- I gave them the books, and they were extremely thankful.
- After their exam, they returned the books and even shared tips they had learned in coaching.
- They told me how useful the books were, especially for Speaking practice from
- I felt really happy and proud that I helped someone during an important time.
- That moment taught me the real meaning of "sharing is caring."
- Now, I never hesitate to share helpful things with others — especially when it comes to studies.

1. Do you think kids like to share? Why?

Yes, some kids do enjoy sharing, especially when they are taught from a young age. It helps them feel connected to others. But some children are a bit possessive, especially with their favourite toys. I think it depends on the child's nature and upbringing.

2. How can parents teach their children to share?

Parents can teach sharing by setting an example. If children see their parents being generous or sharing things with others, they will likely copy that behaviour. Also, praising them when they share can really help.

3. What do you think is the benefit of sharing for children?

Sharing helps children build friendships and learn teamwork. It also teaches them empathy and kindness, which are important in life. I think kids who learn to share grow into better people.

4. Is there anything that parents persuade children to share with others?

Yes, parents often ask their kids to share toys, snacks, or even books. Sometimes the child agrees, but sometimes they need a little push, especially if it's something they really love.

5. How can governments encourage shared transport?

Governments can improve public transport and make it cheaper. They can also promote carpooling by giving tax benefits or special lanes. If it's comfortable and affordable, people will choose it.

6. Why is it important to share food with others during celebration?

Sharing food brings people together and makes the celebration more joyful. It shows love and care. In my culture, festivals are incomplete without offering food to guests and neighbours.

10. Describe an advertisement which introduced a product you have seen

You should say

- o When and where you saw the advertisement
- o What was the product
- o How you like the advertisement
- o And explain how you felt about it

- To be honest, I'm not a big fan of advertisements.
- I feel they mostly distract you from what you are actually enjoying, like a cricket match or a movie.
- I remember one such moment clearly — I was watching an IPL match with my friends.
- It was around five years ago, a match between Punjab Kings and Chennai Super Kings.
- During a break, a new advertisement popped up — it was for Cadbury Dairy Milk Silk chocolate.
- The ad had a jingle that went "Kiss me, close your eyes, miss me" — really catchy and sweet.
- The ad was short, around 30 to 40 seconds, but it left a strong impact.

- It showed a young couple sharing a Silk chocolate bar in a fun, romantic way.
- The chemistry between the actors was very cute and humorous at the same time.
- The way they looked at each other and tried to steal the chocolate was really funny.
- Even though I had just finished my dinner, I suddenly got a craving for something sweet.
- And honestly, Cadbury Silk is my favourite chocolate, especially the caramel and original silk versions.
- The jingle got stuck in my head — I kept humming “kiss me...” the whole night.
- My friends kept teasing me for loving such a soft, romantic ad.
- But I really enjoy it for its simplicity and the emotions it conveys in just a few seconds.
- It’s one of the rare ads I don’t mind watching again and again.
- Even today, whenever this ad plays, I stop and watch it with a smile.
- I think it does a great job of promoting the product in a light-hearted, feel-good manner.
- It made me love the chocolate even more and I ended up buying one the very next day.
- It’s funny how an ad I didn’t expect to like actually became one of my favourites.

1. Where do you often see advertisements?

I mostly see ads on YouTube and Instagram these days. Sometimes they also pop up while I’m playing games or watching something online.

2. What are the benefits of advertising?

Advertising helps people know about new products or offers. It saves time because we don’t have to search much — we just see what’s available. Also, for businesses, it increases sales.

3. Are advertisements good or bad for children?

It depends. Some ads are useful and teach good habits, but many ads make children want things they don’t need. For example, too many junk food ads can affect their eating habits.

4. How does advertising affect people?

Advertising influences the way people think and shop. Sometimes, it pushes people to buy unnecessary things. But at the same time, it can help in making better choices when done right.

11. Describe a friend from your childhood

You should say

- o Who she/he is
  - o When and how you met each other
  - o What you often did together
  - o And explain what made you like him/her
- I'd like to talk about Rohit, who has been my childhood friend and someone I really admire.
  - We first met on the very first day of school, back in Class 5.
  - I still remember how nervous I was, sitting alone in the classroom, and he came and asked if I wanted to play during lunch break.
  - That small moment was the start of a lifelong friendship.
  - We quickly discovered that we had a lot in common — we both loved playing cricket and football, and we were always in the same team during sports periods.
  - Apart from sports, one thing that made Rohit really stand out was that he was always the topper of our class.
  - No matter how difficult the subject was, he used to understand it quickly and even helped me when I struggled, especially in Maths.
  - His parents were in government jobs, so they used to keep shifting, but he stayed in our city for many years.
  - Unfortunately, about two years ago, his family moved to a different city due to his father's transfer.
  - Still, we have stayed in touch through phone calls and social media, and we've even visited each other's homes during holidays.
  - What I loved most about him was his friendly nature and amazing sense of humour.
  - We used to do funny pranks in class, like hiding each other's lunch boxes and pretending to be teachers.
  - Even though he was very intelligent, he never showed off. That's what made everyone like him more.
  - Recently, he gave an entrance exam for a top college, and as usual, he's expected to be among the toppers.
  - I feel really lucky to have had such a friend in my childhood.
  - Rohit taught me the value of friendship, fun, and also how to balance studies and enjoyment.
  - Even today, whenever I talk to him, it feels like no time has passed.
  - Our bond is strong and full of good memories, and I hope we stay best friends forever.

1. Do you still keep in touch with your friends from childhood? Why or why not?

Yes, I'm still in touch with a few close friends from childhood. We grew up together, so the bond is strong. Even if we don't meet often, we talk on WhatsApp or social media. Childhood friends are like family to me.

2. How important is childhood friendship to children?

I think it's very important because it helps children learn to share, trust, and understand emotions. These early friendships build their social skills and confidence. Also, such friendships often stay in our memories forever.

3. What do you think of communicating via social media?

It's useful because it keeps people connected, especially if they live far apart. But sometimes, it feels less personal than talking face-to-face. Still, it's helpful, especially for quick messages or updates.

4. Do you think online communication through social media will replace face-to-face communication?

No, I don't think so. Online chatting is convenient, but face-to-face talks build stronger connections. Emotions and expressions can't be fully understood through a screen. We need both in life.

5. What's the difference between having younger friends and older friends?

Younger friends bring energy and fun, while older ones give advice and maturity. I enjoy both kinds. They offer different perspectives, which helps me grow as a person.

6. Has technology changed people's friendships? How?

Yes, technology has made it easier to stay in touch, but sometimes people forget to meet in real life. Some friendships now feel more virtual than real. Still, I use platforms like facebook and instagram to connect with people who share the same goals as me.

12. Describe an impressive English lesson you had and enjoyed

You should say

o What it was about

o When you had it

o What the teacher did

o And why you enjoyed the lesson

- One of the most impressive and enjoyable English lessons I ever had was on the first day of Class 6.
- That day, we were introduced to our new English teacher — her name was Yadwinder sir .
- She looked very friendly and energetic, and we were all curious about how she would teach.
- She told us that we were going to learn English tenses, and most of us thought it would be boring like usual grammar rules.
- But instead of just writing the rules on the board, she turned the whole lesson into a fun game.
- She made the class act like a human timeline — some students became Past, some were Present, and others were Future.
- Then she added Continuous tenses too, and gave us different sentences to act or speak in the correct tense.
- For example, I was part of the Present group and had to say something like “I am reading a book.”
- She would walk across the timeline, explain the rules, and correct us in a fun and kind way.
- Anyone who gave the right answer or showed good participation got small prizes — a candy, a sticker, or even a pen.
- My friend Ayesha gave a brilliant answer for past perfect continuous and got a pen as a prize.
- Another friend, Rohan, made everyone laugh by acting like someone from the future building a robot.
- The whole class was active, smiling, and learning — it didn’t feel like studying at all.
- I realised that day how interactive learning can make difficult topics so easy to understand.
- Usually, in other lessons, we just listen and make notes, but here we were thinking, moving, and speaking.
- I’ve never forgotten that lesson — not just because it was fun, but because it actually helped me understand tenses clearly.
- Even today, when I prepare for IELTS from resources like ieltsonestopielts.com or follow pages like , I remember how important fun and clarity in learning are.
- I wish more teachers used such creative methods.
- That English class taught me a lot, and more importantly, it made me fall in love with learning English.

1. Why do people learn foreign languages?

People learn new languages for many reasons — jobs, travel, or studies. Some want to move abroad, while others do it out of interest. English, for example, is a global language, so it helps in many fields.

2. What makes a good foreign language teacher?

A good language teacher should be patient and able to explain things clearly. They should use fun ways to teach like stories or games. I follow ieltsonestopielts.com and their tips help a lot too.

3. Do you think grammar is important when learning foreign languages?

Yes, grammar is the base of any language. Without it, we might say the wrong thing. But I feel in the beginning, speaking with confidence matters more than perfect grammar.

4. Is it interesting to be a foreign language teacher? Why?

Yes, I think it's interesting because you meet people from different cultures and help them achieve their goals. Watching students improve feels very rewarding.

5. What is the impact of information technology on learning foreign languages?

Technology has made learning faster and more fun. We can watch videos, use apps, or join online classes anytime. I also use resources like ieltsonestopiels.com and for practice.

6. What effect will it have on the students if the teacher is impatient with them?

If a teacher is impatient, students might feel nervous or lose interest. They may stop asking questions or even stop learning. A calm and kind teacher makes a big difference.

13. Describe a person who inspired you to do something interesting.

You should say:

- Who he/she is
  - How do you know him/her
  - What interesting thing you did
  - How he/she inspired you to do it
- A person who inspired me to do something interesting is my cousin's wife, Priya.
  - My cousin got married a few years ago, and he and Priya moved to Ludhiana, about 40 minutes from my hometown.
  - Priya is a computer engineer by profession and works at a software company.
  - Once, while I was visiting them, she mentioned that she had started to learn Indian classical dance.

- I knew she was a good dancer as I had seen her dance at her wedding and other family functions before.
- But Indian classical dance is complex and takes a lot of training.
- She said she was driving home one day from work and saw the advertisement for a new classical dance academy close to her office.
- She knew it was her chance to learn something new.
- It was also convenient as it was on her route, so she wouldn't waste time commuting.
- She said she had been attending Bharatnatyam classes for almost six months.
- She was one of the top students in her batch, and the academy even hired her to start teaching children on weekends
- She was so passionate about it and talked about opening her own dancing studio one day.
- I was truly inspired to see that she managed to keep up with it, along with a full-time job.
- I shared with her my interest in music and how I have always wanted to learn to play guitar.
- Growing up, I was busy with studies and never got the time.
- And now that I am older, I feel it was too late to learn.
- She told me that age is just a number and learning anything new needs consistent practice. If she can learn a new skill at her age, so can I.
- I was so inspired after meeting her. I got myself a guitar and bought a couple of guitar books.
- I looked up YouTube videos to learn the basics.
- There were so many resources online for learning guitar, and even teachers who taught through zoom.
- After a few months of learning the basics, I found a guitar teacher near my home who could teach me in person.
- He helped me work with more complex music, and I was able to refine my skills.
- I was amazed by my progress and eventually started playing for family and friends.
- Now, it's a hobby that I really enjoy. It not only relaxes me but is a good escape from the stress of everyday life
- I will be thankful to Priya for inspiring me to pursue my passion.

What qualities make someone a role model?

A role model is someone who shows kindness, honesty, and works hard. They treat everyone with respect and stay positive even during hard times. They lead by example and encourage others to follow their dreams.

Why should children learn from role models?

Children should learn from role models because they help children understand the difference between right and wrong. They inspire them to work hard and believe in themselves. They give children someone to look up to and learn from.

Who can influence children more, teachers or parents?

Both teachers and parents can influence children, but parents usually have a stronger impact because they spend more time with them and are with them from a very young age.

Teachers also have a big role as a kind teacher can boost children's confidence, motivate them, and help them discover their strengths.

What kind of international news inspires people?

International news that inspires people often includes stories of kindness, courage, and progress. Some examples are people helping others during disasters, students from poor backgrounds achieving success, scientists finding cures for diseases, athletes breaking world records, and global movements for human rights etc.

Besides parents and teachers, who else can motivate children?

Besides parents and teachers, children can be motivated by friends, siblings, relatives, and famous people like actors, athletes, and politicians.

Can online teaching motivate students to learn? How?

Yes, online teaching can motivate students to learn if it is engaging and well-designed. It also allows students to learn at their own pace. Interactive tools, instant feedback, and the freedom to study anytime can make learning more exciting and flexible for many students.

14. Describe a skill that you can teach other people

- What is it
- When you learned it
- How can you teach others
- How do you feel about this skill

- A few years ago, my mother learned 3D origami from the internet.
- She made these beautiful flower vases and swans with paper pieces.
- They really looked beautiful, and we decorated our house with them.
- Every time someone visited us, they used to ask us about how we made them.
- During the Covid lockdown, I was stuck at home.
- So, I asked my mother to teach me 3D origami.
- I had a lot of free time and so I practiced it.
- 3D origami is not tough, but there is a learning curve.
- It takes some time to learn how to fold pieces and give them a 3D look.
- Basically, we fold papers, making small pockets in them, and the other pieces fit in these pockets.
- I can teach this skill to others now.
- So, first, I would teach anyone how the paper pieces need to be cut and how they need to be folded.
- I would tell them to be patient and just keep experimenting.
- Then, nearly any shape can be given to the pieces.

- Learning how to give shape to the pieces is a lot about practice and experience.
- I found this part very difficult in the beginning, but now it seems very easy.
- There are also some YouTube videos that have some ideas about different shapes we can make.
- That's how I made my first few designs, but now I have started experimenting as well.
- I am really proud of this skill.
- I don't think I am an expert, and I am good enough to get compliments when someone sees the 3D shapes I made.
- Recently, I made an airplane, and it was one of the most complex designs I have made till now.

1. Should teachers be funny when they teach?

Yes, I think teachers should use humor while teaching. It lightens the class atmosphere and improves the relationship between students and teachers. In other words, students feel comfortable discussing their doubts and problems with the teachers. However, teachers must learn when to be strict, otherwise, it can impact the discipline in the classroom.

2. What qualities should teachers have?

Firstly, I think the most important skill that teachers should have is good communication skills. They need to understand how to teach in simple words. Secondly, they should be good observers. They need to be able to pick up the fears and anxieties students have. Only then can they build their confidence. Finally, teaching is about patience. Teachers need to be ready to explain the concepts again and again if their students are facing any difficulty.

3. Which do you think are more important, practical skills or academic skills?

Practical skills and academic skills have their own importance. I think it depends on the person's profession. If a person wants to be a teacher, a lawyer, or a researcher, they need to be an expert in academics. However, in other fields like business, trades, or creative work, practical skills are more important.

4. Which age group is the best at learning new things?

I am a strong believer in the fact that there is no age for learning. We can learn anything at any age. I believe that we should keep learning new skills, as it keeps the mind sharp and active.

15. Describe a time you saw children behave badly in public

You should say

- Where it was
  - What the children were doing
  - How others reacted to it
  - And explain how you felt about it
- I go for a walk every day at a park near my home.
  - Usually, I also see a few children playing at the park during that time.
  - And they are always accompanied by an adult.
  - Last week, when I went to the park, I saw that the children instead of playing were uprooting the flowers and plants.
  - I tried to see if there was an adult nearby who knew the children.
  - There were a few others who were here for a walk like me, but I didn't think anyone knew the children.
  - Some of them had also stopped and were thinking about what to do.
  - However, an old uncle couldn't watch this any longer.
  - He went up to the kids and told them to stop doing that immediately.
  - However, instead of scolding, he started telling them that plants are living beings like us and uprooting them is like killing them.
  - He then tried to make the best of the situation and asked the children to help him replant the trees.
  - Seeing this, some of the other people and I also joined in and helped him.
  - At first, I was very angry, but I also knew that the children didn't understand the consequences of their actions.
  - After listening to the uncle, they stopped and actually helped in replanting the plants.
  - Still, some of the plants had broken roots and we knew nothing could be done to save them.
  - But we didn't say anything to the children because we didn't want to make them feel even more guilty.
  - When a person came to pick them up, we explained the situation.

- He apologized on behalf of the children and told us that he was sorry for leaving them unattended.
- I learned one thing from that old man - rather than scolding children for their mistakes, it is our responsibility as a society to guide them and enable them to become better human beings.

1. What bad behavior do children usually have?

Normally, the bad behavior I associate with children is being noisy, breaking things, disrespecting elders, scribbling on walls, etc. I have to admit, I was guilty of doing all of these when I was younger.

2. How should parents stop their children from behaving badly in public?

Parents should calmly talk to their children and explain why the behavior is not okay. They can gently remove the child from the situation, set clear rules, and use positive discipline like rewards for good behavior. Staying patient and consistent helps children learn better behavior over time.

3. Are parents these days stricter than those in the past?

Parents today are often less strict than in the past. Many now focus more on understanding their children and talking things through, instead of using strict rules or punishments.

4. Whose influence on children is more? Friends or parents?

I think in the early years, the parent's influence is second to none as children spend the majority of their time with the parents. But as children grow older, they spend considerably more time with their friends, and I think during these years it is their friends that influence their behavior and thinking the most.

16. Describe a person who persuaded you to do something

You should say:

- o When it happened
- o What he/she persuaded you to do
- o o Why he/she persuaded you to do it
- o o Whether you did it at last

- I remember when I was in 10th grade, my best friend Kritika persuaded me to join the debate team.
- I was very good at academics in school, but one thing that always scared me was public speaking.
- Kritika had known me since childhood, and we had been in the same school since kindergarten.
- Kritika had been part of the debate team for a while and loved it.
- Sometimes she would discuss her debate topics with me, and I would always have a strong opinion for or against them.
- One day, when we were discussing one of the topics, she said, "You know, you'd be really great at debate.
- At first, I laughed and told her I wasn't confident enough to speak in front of others.

- But she didn't give up. She kept telling me how debate had helped her become more confident.
- She also said it would improve my public speaking skills and help in future interviews or presentations.
- She offered to help me prepare for the tryouts.
- Her support meant a lot to me and made me feel less nervous.
- She told me it was ok to make mistakes, and I should not think too much and just go for it.
- After a few days of thinking, I finally decided to give it a try.
- I went for the debate team tryouts and, surprisingly, I got selected.
- At first, I was nervous, but slowly I got better at it.
- I started enjoying debate and looking forward to the competitions.
- Looking back, I am really thankful to Kritika for pushing me to try something new.
- She believed in me when I didn't believe in myself.
- If it weren't for her, I would have missed out on a great experience.
- I think sometimes all we need is a little push to discover what we're capable of.

What impact does advertising have on children and their parents?

Advertising can make children want things they see on TV or online. This often puts pressure on parents to buy those products, even if they don't need them.

17. Describe a person who likes to grow plants

- o Who the person is
- o What he/she grows
- o Where he/she grows them
- o Why does he/she enjoy growing plants

- Gardening is a very popular hobby in India.
- I know quite a few people who are passionate about it.
- But today, I would like to talk about someone very close to me - my grandfather
- I have learned a lot about plants and gardening from him.
- He has inspired my interest in this area.
- My grandfather began gardening seriously after he retired.
- He used to work as a lecturer in the agricultural department at Punjab University, so he had pretty good knowledge of plants, soil, fertilizers, and sustainable farming practices.
- However, due to his busy schedule before retirement, he didn't get much time to pursue this hobby.
- After retiring he turned the large backyard of his house into a green paradise.
- He initially started by planting flowers like roses, jasmine, and marigold.
- The entire backyard smelled wonderful, especially in the mornings.
- Gradually he moved on to planting fruit trees such as mango, papaya, and bananas.
- Now, he has a fully functional kitchen garden where he grows seasonal vegetables like tomatoes, carrots, potatoes, okra, spinach, etc.
- One of the main reasons he enjoys gardening is because he strongly believes in eating healthy and staying close to nature.
- He often says that these days, too many chemicals and pesticides are used in farming, which can harm our health.
- While organic vegetables are available in the markets now, they are often costly.
- So, he prefers to grow his own food at home using organic methods.
- He makes compost from kitchen waste and avoids all artificial fertilizers
- I remember during the COVID lockdown, I had a lot of free time, so I spent many afternoons helping him in the garden.
- That's when I realized how passionate and knowledgeable he is about plants.
- He would talk about plant diseases, soil conditions, and even how the sun's position affects plant growth.
- I often think he could write a book on gardening - that's how much he knows

1. Are there many people growing their own vegetables now?

Yes, many people are growing their own vegetables these days, especially after the pandemic. They want fresh and chemical-free food at home.

2. Do you think it's good to let kids learn how to plant?

Yes, it's a great hobby and it teaches them patience and responsibility. It also helps them connect with nature and fosters a love for gardening.

3. What do you think of the job of a farmer?

Farmers grow the food we eat, and farming is a very important and hardworking job. If farmers will not grow any crops, then we will not have any food on our table and there will be hunger and starvation everywhere. I feel disappointed that farmers don't get enough support or respect.

4. What are the differences between traditional and modern agriculture?

Traditional agriculture used a lot of chemicals to increase the yield and prevent the crops from diseases, but modern agriculture is shifting towards organic and more environment friendly approach.

5. What happened to the farmers' income during the pandemic?

Many farmers faced losses during the pandemic due to market closures and transport issues. Some couldn't sell their crops on time, which lowered their income.

6. How do people grow plants in cities?

In cities, people grow plants in pots on balconies, if they live in apartments. Some grow them on rooftops or in small gardens in front of their homes.

18. Describe a time when you received money as a gift.

You should say:

- When it happened?
  - Who gave you the money
  - Why he/she gave you the money
  - And explain how he used the money
- It always feels nice to give and receive gifts.
  - However, I normally, don't like to receive money as a gift because my mother takes it from me, and I never get to see that money again.
  - Today, I am going to talk about a time, when I actually got to spend the money I got as a gift.
  - In Indian culture, when we visit an elder relative's house for the first time, they give us money as a present.
  - It's a tradition.
  - Recently, I visited my father's cousin for the first time.
  - He used to live in the US, but he shifted back to India after his retirement last month.
  - He was very excited to see me, and we had a wonderful time at this house.
  - When we were leaving, he handed me a small envelope with money.
  - I expected it to be a small amount, but it was actually 100 dollars.
  - So, I was completely shocked.
  - At the same time, I was sad too because I knew I would never get to spend it • My mother told me to return it, but my uncle refused to take it back.

- I knew my mother was going to take it from me so before she could, I handed it to my grandma for safekeeping.
- This is how I outwitted my mother, if I had given it to my mother, she would have told me that she spent it buying food for me and paying my electricity bills.
- Then after a few days, my phone broke, and I had to buy a new one.
- So, I used the money to buy myself a new Samsung phone.
- The first thing I did was to take a photograph of the phone and send it to my uncle along with a thank you note.

OR

- Money as a gift is extremely popular in my country.
- In fact, it can be called a tradition as well.
- People usually gift money to each other during weddings, birthdays, etc.
- Today, I would like to talk about one such occasion (out of so many others), when I received money from someone instead of an actual gift item.
- The occasion was my 18th birthday.
- And as per Indian laws I became an adult on this day
- My parents gifted me a motorbike on my birthday as I was now eligible to drive a motor vehicle
- When my friends came to know about this, all of them wanted a party from me.
- Unfortunately, I did not have much savings at that time, to give a party to my friends.
- But luckily my grandparents were visiting us during that time.
- They had come to spend their winters with us.

- I love my grandparents a lot, they are humble and polite.
- They always teach me a lot of good moral values and they love me a lot as well.
- Since my grandparents are too old, they could not go to the market to buy a gift for me.
- Moreover, they were not sure about what gift they should buy for me, which would make me happy.
- So, they decided it was best to give me money as a gift so that I could use it to buy anything I like.
- Initially I refused to accept the money but then my parents said I should not say no to the elders as it would be a disrespect to them.
- I then thanked my grandparents, and they gave me their blessings as well.
- I also told them that I had everything that I needed but my friends were asking for a party so I would use that money for the purpose of celebrating my birthday.
- My grandparents were happy that I was using the money to have a good time and share happiness with my friends.
- They wished me good luck for the party.
- I had a great outdoor party with my friends.
- So, this was one of the occasions when I received money as a gift, and I used it for celebrating with my friends.

Why do people rarely use cash now? People rarely use cash now because it is more convenient to use debit/credit cards, mobile wallets, and online banking. Electronic payments are more secure, and it is easy to replace a credit card if it gets lost.

When do children begin to comprehend the value of money?

I don't think there is a particular age as it varies depending upon their upbringing. Typically, children begin to understand the value of money between ages 5-7. By this age, they realize that money is needed to buy things and must be earned or saved.

Should parents reward children with money?

I think it's ok to reward children with money to teach them the value of working hard. They can be rewarded for completing house chores or achieving certain goals.

Is it good and necessary to teach children to save money?

Yes, it is very important to teach children to save money so that in their adult life they understand the value/importance of money, not waste it, and are better at managing their finances in the future.

What are the advantages and disadvantages of credit cards?

Credit cards are more convenient for online and in-person transactions. Many cards offer incentives like cashback or travel miles. However, they can lead to overspending, accumulating debt, and incurring fees for late payments.

Do you think it's a good thing that more people are using digital payments?

Yes, I think it's a good thing as they are more convenient and secure than carrying physical cash everywhere. It also allows people to budget and keep track of their spending.

19. Describe an unusual but interesting building you would like to visit.

You should say:

- ☐ Where is it
- ☐ What it looks like
- ☐ Why do you think it is unusual and interesting
- ☐ And explain why you would like to visit it

- One unusual but fascinating building I would love to visit is the Lotus Temple.
- It is a Bahá'í House of Worship in Kalkaji in New Delhi.

- It is notable for its unique flower-like architecture which resembles a blooming lotus.
- It is made up of 27 white marble petals arranged in clusters to form the shape of a lotus flower.
- It has 9 doors opening onto a central hall with a height of about 34 meters.
- The temple is surrounded by nine ponds, which not only enhance its beauty but also help cool the building naturally.
- It doesn't have any sharp angles or lines, which gives it a very organic and peaceful feel.
- The lotus temple has been featured in many newspapers and magazines and has won many architectural awards.
- I think it's unusual because it is very different from most religious buildings around the world.
- Instead of domes, towers, or traditional shapes, it's built to look like a giant lotus flower.
- What makes it even more unusual is its purpose and philosophy.
- Although it's a place of worship, it doesn't belong to just one region. It is open to people of all religious backgrounds and faiths.
- There are no religious ceremonies performed inside, and visitors are encouraged to sit in silence and meditate or reflect.
- It promotes unity, peace, and spiritual growth, which I find deeply meaningful.
- I would love to visit it not only because of its stunning architecture and unconventional design but also because of the values it represents.
- The combination of architectural beauty and spiritual openness makes it a very special destination in my opinion.

Why do some people choose to build houses by themselves?

Some people choose to build houses by themselves because they want to design everything the way they like and use the best materials. It can also be cheaper than buying a ready-made house, and they feel proud of building it on their own.

What factors do you consider when choosing a house or an apartment?

When choosing a house or an apartment I consider the location first, like if it's close to work because I don't like long commutes. I also look at the price, size, and if it's in a safe neighborhood.

Do you think a city's buildings affect its vibe or atmosphere?

Yes, I think buildings really affect a city's vibe. For example, tall skyscrapers can make a city feel modern, fast-paced, and full of business activity. On the other hand, old buildings and colorful streets can make a city feel historic, charming and artistic.

Do you think old buildings should be preserved?

Yes, I think old buildings should be preserved because they are part of a city's culture and history. They tell stories about the past and how people lived before. Keeping them help maintain the culture and charm of a place.

20. Describe a person who shows his/her feelings very openly.

You should say:

- Who he/she is
- How do you know him/her?
- Why do you think he/she is such a person?
- And explain how you feel about him/her

- I would like to talk about my 10-year-old nephew, Tanay, who is someone who always shows his feelings very openly.
- I have known Tanay since he was born, and I've watched him grow into a very emotional and expressive child.
- He is the type of person who doesn't hide what he feels whether he is happy, sad, or even angry.
- I think he is like that because of how my sister and brother-in-law have raised him.
- They have always encouraged him to be honest about his feelings.
- They have taught him from a young age that it's ok to share your emotions.
- This kind of upbringing has made it easier for him to express himself without fear of judgment.
- For example, when he is excited about something like a new toy or hearing about a family vacation, his whole face lights up, and he can't stop talking about it.
- On the other hand, if he is upset about losing a game, a bad grade, or something serious like being bullied at school, he comes home and talks about it.
- I have picked him up from school sometimes and he tells me in detail all about his day, his friends, his teachers, etc.
- I really admire that he is not afraid to share his emotions.

- He is very genuine, and it is very easy to connect with him.
- His openness helps him build strong relationships, not only with family but also with friends. He is very popular and has so many friends.
- For me personally, I find it very refreshing to be around him. I remember, one day I cooked something for him, and he told me the food was ok and not as good as his mom's.
- I appreciated that he didn't lie to me and was so honest.
- He has taught me to be more open with my own emotions.
- Sometimes, as adults, we try to hide what we feel but Tanay's nature reminds me that it's ok to be vulnerable and share what's on our minds.
- I feel proud that he is so emotionally intelligent at such a young age and I think this quality will help him throughout his life.

Do you think it's good for people to show their feelings openly?

I think it's good for people to show their feelings openly because it helps them feel understood and supported. It can also improve their relationships and reduce stress. However, it is also important to be mindful of the situation and the people around them.

Who tends to show their feelings more openly, adults or children?

Children tend to show their feelings more openly than adults. They express emotions like happiness, sadness, or anger right away because they haven't learned to hide them yet. Adults usually mask their feelings and control their emotions in front of others.

Regarding showing emotions, are there any differences between men and women? I think women tend to express their emotions more openly, especially feelings like sadness, empathy, and joy. I think it's because of social expectations - men are often told to toughen up and keep emotions in while women are encouraged to talk about feelings.

21. Describe a time you made a decision to wait for something

You should say

- o When it happened
- o What you waited for
- o Why you made the decision
- o And explain how you felt while waiting

- One time I made a decision to wait for something was when I wanted to buy a new mobile phone.
- This happened about a year ago.
- My old phone had become quite slow, and I really wanted to get a better one with a good camera and more storage.
- I had even shortlisted the phone I wanted — it was a bit expensive but had great features.
- However, instead of buying it right away, I decided to wait for the Diwali festival sale, which I knew would be coming in a few weeks.
- During these sales, many online shopping apps offer heavy discounts, and I thought I might save some money if I waited.
- It was not an easy decision because my current phone was giving me trouble, and I was tempted to just go ahead and buy the new one.
- But I stayed patient, kept checking the offers daily, and finally, during the sale, the price dropped by almost 20%.
- I was really happy that I had waited.
- While I was waiting, I sometimes felt a little frustrated because my phone would hang or take too long to open apps.
- But I reminded myself that it was just a matter of time, and I would soon get a better phone at a lower price.
- In the end, I felt proud of my decision because I saved money and bought the phone I really wanted.
- This experience taught me that sometimes it's better to wait than to rush into things, especially when it comes to spending money.

1. What do people in your country often do while waiting?

I think today people everywhere spend time on the phone. They might call or chat with another person, watch a video, play a game or listen to music.

2. Why do some people like a slow-paced life?

I think a slow-paced life reduces stress and gives a person time to spend with loved ones. It also leads to better physical and mental health as people can sleep properly. Otherwise, most people are sleep deprived today because of the fast pace of life.

3. Is being patient good for people? Why?

Yes, I think it's very important. Lack of patience can create a lot of problems like stress. It can also spoil relationships.

4. Are people less patient now than people in the past? Why?

Yeah, as technology has spread, more and more people are now dependent upon it. As a result, they are also less patient as they want things done quickly. One reason for the growth of online shopping is people can't wait.

5. Why do people lack patience?

Like I said, the first reason is of course technology, which offers quick results. Pressure and stress also lead to impatience as people can get frustrated with delays. Finally, I think unrealistic expectations also lead to impatience. When reality doesn't match people's expectation, they become impatient.

6. How can people become more patient?

I think one of the best ways is have realistic expectations. For example, if a process takes a certain time from 1 week to 2 weeks, we should expect the maximum rather than the minimum. Another way is to do meditation. Impatience is lack of ability to control our mind. The best way to become patient is to calm our mind, which can be done by meditation and other mental exercises.

22. Describe a shop/store you often visit

You should say

- o What the shop's name is
- o Where it is
- o How often you visit it
- o And explain why you like to visit it

- One shop that I often visit these days is MR.DIY.
- It has recently opened in my hometown, and I was really excited when I saw it for the first time because I had heard about it from my friends and seen it in bigger cities.
- It is located in a shopping area near the main market, so it's easy to reach.

- I usually go there once every one or two weeks, sometimes with my parents and sometimes with friends.
- We often visit it on weekends when we go out for other shopping.
- I really like visiting MR.DIY because it has a huge variety of useful items at very reasonable prices.
- They sell everything—like stationery, home décor, kitchen items, tools, toys, beauty products, and even small electronics.
- I always find something interesting, even when I don't plan to buy anything.
- The best part is that the store is neat, well-organized, and the items are displayed properly, so it's easy to look around.
- The staff is also polite and the billing is quick, so we don't have to wait in long lines.
- What I like most is that I can buy useful things for my room or for school at low prices.
- Once I bought a set of organizers and some cute pens that I couldn't find anywhere else.
- I also enjoy looking at their home decoration section because it gives me new ideas to decorate my room.
- Sometimes they have seasonal items like Diwali lights or gift wrapping materials, which I find very helpful.
- Overall, MR.DIY has become one of my favourite stores.
- It's fun to visit, and I always enjoy exploring what's new there.
- It has made shopping in my hometown more exciting and convenient.

1. Do people in your country go to the shopping mall frequently?

Yes, a lot of people go to shopping malls frequently. However, street markets are also very popular.

2. How have people's shopping habits changed in recent decades?

As disposable incomes have increased, people's spending habits have changed from essential items to luxuries. Moreover, more and more people are shopping online instead of going to street markets and shopping malls.

3. Do you think shops and shopping malls will disappear in the future?

I don't think they will disappear completely. For me shopping is not just about buying something, it is also about spending quality with friends and family and online shopping cannot fulfill this purpose. Moreover, many people prefer to buy items like shoes and clothes only after trying them out, so there will always be a space for physical stores.

4. What are the differences between shopping in street markets and big shopping malls? The biggest difference is in the variety of products. Street markets sell handmade, local, or unique items, while shopping malls sell branded and mass-produced items. Moreover, there is a lot of bargaining in street markets, while prices in shopping malls are generally fixed.

5. What are the differences between shopping habits of different age groups?

Younger people tend to spend more on clothes, fashion and latest electronic gadgets, whereas older people care much more practical and essential items. Secondly, I think older people prefer shopping in person, while youngsters prefer shopping online.

23. Describe a goal you set that you tried your best to achieve

You should say

- o What it was
- o When you set it
- o What you did to achieve it
- o And explain how you felt about it

- One goal I set for myself was to improve my spoken English so that I could confidently participate in group discussions and interviews.
- I set this goal about two years ago when I realized that although I had a decent understanding of grammar and vocabulary, I struggled to speak fluently in real-life situations.
- This weakness made me feel nervous and underconfident, especially in professional settings.
- To achieve this goal, I created a structured routine.
- I started by watching English news channels and talk shows daily to become more familiar with natural speech.
- I also joined an online speaking club where I could practice with other learners.
- Apart from that, I recorded myself speaking on random topics and listened back to identify areas of improvement.
- Reading aloud, and maintaining a diary of new words also helped a lot.
- I tried to stay consistent, even on days when I felt tired or discouraged.
- After a few months, I noticed a big improvement in my fluency and confidence.
- I was finally able to express my thoughts clearly and participate actively in discussions.
- I felt very proud of myself because this goal required a lot of patience and daily effort.
- It taught me that with the right approach and determination, I could overcome any weakness.
- Most importantly, it gave me the courage to set even higher goals for myself.

Another version

- One goal that I set for myself was to do well in my 12th class board exams.
- I set this goal at the beginning of the school year because I knew that these marks would be very important for my future.
- Good marks could help me get into a good college and also make my family proud.

- At first, I was not very confident because some of the subjects were difficult for me, especially Maths and Chemistry. But I was determined to try my best. So I made a proper study timetable and tried to follow it every day. I gave more time to the difficult subjects and
  - revised the easy ones regularly. I also stopped wasting time on social media and playing
  - games on my phone. I also took help from my teachers whenever I had doubts and
  - sometimes studied in a group
  - with my friends.
- That helped me stay motivated.
- There were times when I felt very tired or stressed, but I reminded myself of my goal.
  - My parents also encouraged me a lot and made sure I had a peaceful environment to study
  - in.

- Finally, when the results came out, I was very happy.
- I got good marks, better than I expected, and my hard work paid off.
- I felt proud of myself because I had really tried my best.
- This experience taught me that setting a clear goal and working towards it with full focus can really give good results.
- It gave me more confidence to work hard in the future as well.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Do people in your country set goals?

Yes, people do set goals. Goals give people a sense of direction and purpose. It also acts as a source of motivation. Imagining the goal in our mind, can help people work harder and achieve it.

2. Do people usually set long-term goals or short-term ones?

I think both. Long term goals like buying a house, becoming a manager or earning a degree give an overall sense of direction. Short term goals like finishing a presentation, completing an assignment are like small steps towards the main long-term goal. People make both.

3. Why is setting goals important in the workplace?

Firstly, I think goals give clarity about responsibilities and priorities to employees. It also acts as a source of motivation and finally, it helps to track progress and help finish projects on time.

4. What is the difference between goals set by old people and young people?

I think the main difference is the focus. Goals of old people focus on stability and health like spending time with family members, saving for retirement and say on, whereas young people's goals are more about growth and exploration like earning a degree, travelling to a foreign country. Moreover, young people are more ambitious in their goals, whereas old people are much more realistic.

24. Describe an impressive talk/conversation you had that you remember well

You should say

- Who you talked to
- When and where you had the talk
- What you talked about

o And explain why you think it was impressive

- One conversation that I remember very well and found truly impressive was with my neighbour and close friend, who had gone abroad to study.
- This happened around a year ago when he returned to India during his semester break.
- We met at his house one evening, and we ended up talking for a long time.
- He had gone to Canada for his higher studies, and I was very curious to know about his experience.
- He shared so many interesting things about student life there — the education system, parttime jobs, how people live independently, and how important time management is abroad.
- He also spoke about the challenges like homesickness and extreme weather, but more importantly, how he became more confident and responsible after moving there.
- What really impressed me was the way he had adapted to a completely new lifestyle and culture.
- He told me how going abroad had changed his mind set and given him a lot of exposure.
- He was speaking with so much clarity and maturity that I could feel how much he had grown as a person.
- After that conversation, I felt very inspired and motivated.
- I had always thought about studying abroad, but after hearing his real-life experience,
- I made up my mind to seriously prepare for the IELTS exam.
- His words gave me the push I needed to take that first step toward my goal.
- I think this conversation was impressive because it didn't just give me information—it gave me direction.
- It made me believe that if he could do it, so could I, and that one talk changed the way I looked at my future.

1. What topics do young people like to talk about?

Young people like to talk about various things, but the most common topics are fashion, sports and gadgets. And I think most girls and boys also talk about each other.

2. Is it important to have good communication skills at work?

Yes, I think good communication skills are important everywhere not only at work but also in personal life as well. At work, it is important for teamwork, if people need to work together, they must be able to communicate effectively. Moreover, good communication skills help to resolve conflicts. Finally, if people can express confidently, they have better chances of promotions and getting leadership positions.

25. Describe a place you visited and enjoyed in the countryside

You should say

- o Where it was in the countryside
- o What did you do there
- o And explain how you felt about the visit

- I was born in a city, and I have spent most of my time living in the city only.
- However, during summer vacations, once I visited my paternal grandparents, who at that time, lived in a small village in Punjab, Farala.
- There was a famous pond in the village, and I had a lot of fun there.
- My parents had enrolled me in a summer camp at the village, where they taught Punjabi martial arts like Gatka.
- I had a lot of fun learning Gatka, but it was also very tiring.
- They made us to do martial arts poses during the hot summer days.
- We were completely drained and sweaty by the evening.
- At that time, I and most of the other kids enrolled at the camp would go to the pond.
- The water would have cooled down enough by that time.
- It used to be so relaxing and refreshing.
- The pond was not very deep, so there was no risk of drowning.
- We used to swim and do summersaults in the pond.
- Time would just fly by, and I enjoyed it so much that I never came out of the pond on my own.
- My grandparents had to drag me out of the pond.
- I remember praying to God to make days longer so I could enjoy more time at the pond.
- I really enjoyed the whole experience.
- Unfortunately, I couldn't enjoy the experience again as my grandparents moved to the city to live with us the following year.
- They were getting old, and my parents were really worried about their health.
- But I still miss the experience a lot.

Where do people like to visit in the countryside?

People normally visit old buildings and streets, agricultural fields and religious places. For example, there are many famous Gurudwaras in Punjabi villages and people come from far-away places to visit them.

What are consequences of the decrease of population in the countryside?

There are many consequences of decrease of population in the countryside. Firstly, many old people in village are facing problems like loneliness and depression. Secondly, there is a huge shortage of agricultural labor in villages, and this has an adverse effect on the agricultural sector.

26. Describe a photo that you enjoy looking at

You should say:

- Who took it
  - When and where was it taken
  - What was the photo about
- One of my favourite photos was taken by my best friend when I was in 12th class.
  - It was clicked during our farewell party at school, about one year ago.
  - The event was held in the school auditorium, and we were all dressed in formal clothes.
  - I was wearing a saree for the first time, so I felt a bit nervous but also very excited.
  - In the photo, I'm standing with a big smile, holding a bouquet of flowers.
  - My classmates are in the background, and there are colourful decorations on the wall.
  - The lighting is perfect, and everything looks bright and cheerful.
  - I enjoy looking at this photo because it reminds me of the last day of school — a mix of happiness and sadness.
  - It was a special moment because we were all saying goodbye to each other but also dreaming about our future.
  - This picture shows my true emotions — excitement for a new journey and love for my school friends.
  - I have kept it as my phone wallpaper, and every time I see it, I feel nostalgic.
  - So, this is one photo of mine that I really enjoy looking at.

Another version

- One of my favourite photos of myself was taken by my sister.
- This photo was taken about two years ago during a family trip to Shimla.
- We were staying at a beautiful hotel on the hills.
- One morning, I was standing on the balcony with a cup of tea in my hand.
- The sun was rising, and the view was amazing.
- My sister suddenly said, "Don't move!" and clicked a picture of me.
- In the photo, I am smiling and looking at the mountains.
- I am wearing a red shawl, and there is soft sunlight on my face.
- The background shows green trees, blue sky, and some clouds. It looks peaceful and natural.
- I enjoy looking at this photo because it reminds me of a happy and relaxing time.
- The weather was perfect, and we were all together.
- That moment was calm and special for me.
- Also, I like the way I look in the photo.
- It's not posed or artificial. It's a real moment, full of peace and joy.
- I have framed this photo and kept it in my room.
- Every time I see it, I feel happy and thankful.

- So, this is a photo that I really enjoy looking at.

1.) Why do many people like to share photos on social media platforms?

I think the major reason is to show friends and family members what is happening in their lives and keep them up to date, even if they are far away. Secondly, it is also a means to boost one's self esteem as there is a system to gain likes, comments and shares. It gives people validation about their looks. On the other hand, people also feel pressurized to do it as they want to show that they are also interesting. They don't want to feel left behind.

2.) On what occasions do most people like to take photographs?

Most people like to take photos to capture special, meaningful and unique moments. For example, birthday parties and weddings. They also take photos during vacation and travel to capture those memories. With the selfie culture, most people often don't even need an occasion, and everyday life is an occasion.

27. Describe a noisy place you have been to

You should say:

- o Where it is
- o When you went there
- o What you did there
- o And explain why you feel it's a noisy place

- With the ever increasing population, noisy and crowded places are not uncommon.
- Here, I would like to talk about a noisy place I remember visiting.
- It is a local market in Delhi, called Sarojini Nagar.
- I went there last year during my summer holidays with my cousins.
- We were in Delhi for a few days, and someone told us that this market is great for shopping, especially clothes at low prices.
- We went there in the afternoon, and it was super crowded.
- There were street vendors shouting loudly to attract customers.
- People were bargaining, music was playing in many shops, and cars and scooters were honking on the nearby road.
- It felt like a never-ending noise.
- We did a lot of shopping — I bought some T-shirts, a pair of jeans, and a handbag.
- It was fun, but at the same time, a bit stressful because of the noise and crowd.
- I feel this place is noisy because there is cacophony of sounds of people, vehicles, music, loudspeakers.
- It's very different from quiet places like a library or my home.
- I don't think I could stay there for long.
- Nonetheless, it was an interesting experience.
- So this is one noisy place I've been to.

Do you think it is good for children to make noise?

It is neither good nor bad. It is a part of being a child. I think noise is the essence of childhood and a child can never truly enjoy himself if we ask him/her to be quiet. However, I also believe that it is necessary to be respectful to our neighbours and ask children to be less noisy in case they are being excessively loud.

2. Should children not be allowed to make noise under any circumstances?

No, I think there should be restrictions. Children have the right to make noise but people around them also have a right to peaceful environment. For example, children shouldn't be allowed to be noisy at night as it might impact others' sleep and they shouldn't be allowed to make noise in a movie theatre as it might ruin the experience of other movie goers.

3. What kinds of noises are there in our life?

There are so many noises in our life. Firstly, there is noise of vehicles, the engine sounds and horns. If people are living close to an industry, then there is that noise as well. Then, there is the noise of everyday appliances like air conditioners, fans, grinders, machines and so on. Finally, there is the noise from other living beings around us like insects, animals like dogs barking and just other people talking to each other or on the phone.

4. Which area is exposed to noise more, the city or the countryside?

I think it is certainly cities, which are noisier. I think the one of the biggest sources of noise is technology. It may be in the form of cars or industrial machinery or household appliances. Another source of noise is us humans. Both these factors are much more common in cities than in the countryside and thus cities are noisier.

5. How would people usually respond to noises in your country?

Indians generally don't mind noise that much. We are very densely populated country and thus it is hard to find a peaceful or quiet environment. Moreover, there is no segregation between commercial and residential areas. Thus, most people accept noise as a part of life. It's like there is no point complaining about something we can't do anything about. In recent years, however, I have seen people moving to suburbs to avoid excessive noise.

6. How can people consider others' feelings when chatting in public?

Firstly, if it is not urgent, they can just tell the other person they will call them back. However, if it is urgent, they should go out and talk. If that is not possible, then they should at least talk in a low volume.

28. Describe a disagreement you had with someone

You should say:

- o Who you had the disagreement with
- o What the disagreement was
- o What happened

o And explain how you felt about it

- One disagreement I remember clearly was with my school friend Aman.
- We had been good friends for many years, but once during our 11th-grade science project, we had a serious difference of opinion.
- We were assigned to make a presentation on environmental pollution.
- Aman wanted to create a large colourful poster with charts and pictures.
- But I felt we should make a PowerPoint presentation with a short video to make it look more modern and interesting.
- We both felt strongly about our own ideas, and so the argument slowly became heated.
- We spent more time arguing than actually working.
- The next day at school, our teacher noticed something was wrong and asked us.
- We explained everything, and she calmly told us that good teamwork means understanding and combining strengths.
- She gave us the idea to mix both methods — make a short video and also prepare a poster for display. We agreed to try that.
- To our surprise, the final presentation was really well balanced.
- The poster helped those who liked visual displays, and the video made it interactive.
- We got great feedback, and it became one of our best school projects.
- This experience taught me that disagreements are not always bad.
- They help us see things from a new angle.
- Now, I try to listen more and understand others' views before reacting.
- It also brought Aman and me closer as friends because we realised that teamwork is more important than being right.

1. What do you do if you disagree with someone?

Firstly, I listen to the person carefully to avoid any misunderstanding. Then, I share my opinion along with suitable evidence and reasoning to support it. Finally, I try to find some common ground, which satisfies me as well as the other person.

2. How can we stop an argument from escalating into a fight?

Firstly, I try to avoid personal attacks. I also just calm down and reply based on facts and not on emotions. If I don't see a resolution, I just agree to disagree and move on.

3. Who do you think should teach children to respect their teachers?

I think it is the responsibility of parents and grandparents. I think these are basic etiquettes and parents have the utmost responsibility in this regard. If they feel their children disrespect or behave badly with their teachers, they should understand the reasons for the same and if it is unjustified they should tell their children to apologise.

4. What disagreement do parents and children usually have?

I think it is mostly about freedom and independence like curfew time, screen time, chores and responsibility. There can also be disagreements about academic performance and finally there maybe disputes about lifestyle choices like unhealthy diet, mobile phone usage and friend circle.

5. Why do some people avoid arguing with others?

I think the two major reasons are lack of confidence and trying to avoid the matter from escalating and spoiling the relationship. Some people just don't believe they will be able to explain their point of view and fear being misunderstood so they avoid arguing at all. At other times, they just believe they might say something hurtful, which might spoil their friendship.

6. How do we show respect to others when we disagree with them?

Firstly, we should try and listen to their viewpoint without any prejudice or bias. Secondly, we should avoid personal attacks. If they disagree with someone, doesn't mean they are a bad person. Finally, to avoid it escalating, we can just agree to disagree.

29. Describe a person you disliked at first but ended up being friends with

You should say

o Who he/she is

o How you knew him/her

o Why you dislike him/her at first but changed your mind

o And explain how you feel about the experience

- One person I initially disliked but later became quite friendly with is Simrat, a fellow student from my IELTS coaching class.
- We met when we joined the same batch.
- At first, I found her a bit too serious and unfriendly.
- She rarely interacted with others, always sat alone, and corrected people during discussions.
- I assumed she was arrogant or trying to show off.
- However, my opinion changed when my tutor made teams of students to practice speaking.
- Simrat and I were in the same team.
- That is when I came to know her more closely.
- During our conversations, I discovered that she was actually very warm and thoughtful.
- She gave me genuine feedback on my answers and even shared her own strategies to improve fluency and coherence.
- After that, we started studying together and even helped each other with writing tasks.
- Over time, I realised she was just introverted and deeply focused on her goals, not rude or proud as I had assumed.
- This experience taught me an important life lesson: first impressions can often be misleading, and that we should never judge a book by its cover.

- I'm glad I got the chance to know her better and form a meaningful friendship.

What do you think of making friends online?

I don't think it is a good idea. I feel like the internet is the place to maintain friendship and it's not suitable for making new friends. There are so many people who pretend to be someone else on the internet, I just don't think it is safe. So, I use the internet to keep in touch with my friends by chatting with them from time to time.

2. Is it a good idea to make friends who are much older than you?

I don't consider it to be a good idea, but I don't think of it as a problem as an adult. If the person shares some interests with you, there is no problem being friends with that person. I remember I used to love playing an online game and many of other people who played that game were older people, so I became friends with a few of them. For children, I would consider it to be a bit inappropriate as they are not mature enough to judge the intentions of the other person.

30. Describe a friend of yours who is well dressed and is good at dressing up

You should say

- o Who he/she is
- o How you knew him/her
- o What his/her dressing style is
- o And explain why he/she dresses this way

- One of my friends who is always well dressed is Manveer.
- She was my classmate in school, and we became good friends in the 9th grade.
- Even now, we stay in touch.
- Manveer has a great sense of style.
- She always wears clothes that suit her body shape and the occasion.
- On casual days, she wears jeans with smart tops, and for formal events, she wears Indian suits or elegant dresses.
- She also likes to match her outfits with small accessories like earrings, watches, or handbags.
- Even her shoes are always clean and stylish.
- She dresses this way because she believes first impressions matter.
- She takes good care of her clothes so that she does not have to spend a lot on new clothes.
- She mixes and matches her clothes such that it looks as if she is wearing a new attire every day, but actually it is not so.
- For example, she will wear the same shirt with a different salwar or dupatta to give it an entirely new look.
- She says dressing well shows that you respect yourself and others.
- Also, her mother is a fashion designer, so maybe that's where she got her sense of style from.
- Whenever we have an event or party, I always ask Manveer for advice on what to wear.
- Whenever I follow her advice, and wear what she suggests then I get a lot of compliments.
- I really admire how confident and comfortable she looks in whatever she wears.

Another version

- One of my male friends who always dresses really well is Arjun.
- I met him during my coaching classes for IELTS, and we became friends because we had the same batch timings.
- Arjun has a very classy and neat dressing style.
- For regular classes, he usually wears well-fitted jeans and shirts or polo T-shirts.
- His clothes are always ironed, and he pays attention to small details like wearing a watch or using good shoes.

- For special occasions, he wears formal suits or traditional Indian clothes like kurta-pajama, and he looks very elegant in them.
- He dresses this way because he believes that looking good builds confidence.
- He once told me that when you dress well, people take you more seriously, and it helps create a positive image.
- He also follows fashion trends and gets ideas from Instagram and Pinterest.

- He believes in spending money on good clothes, but does not buy too many.
- He just takes good care of them so that they last long.
- Arjun's dressing sense really stands out, and many of us take inspiration from him before any special event or outing.
- He has taught me also to dress up well and guides me also on what to wear for different occasions.
- Earlier I used to wear whatever I got hold of, but ever since Arjun has started guiding me, I feel that my confidence has grown manyfold.
- So, Arjun is my friend who has an excellent sense of dressing up.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Do most people in your country prefer to buy clothes online or at the street market? Why?
Online shopping is becoming popular, but street markets are still the most popular means of shopping. I think it is just about the quality and fitting; it is nearly impossible to judge these factors when shopping online.
2. Do you think young people know more about fashion and are better at dressing up than elderly people?
No, I wouldn't say that. I think older people and youngsters have a different sense of fashion; I don't think they are better than the other. Some people just have a better sense of dressing up and fashion than others. It doesn't have anything to do with age.
3. Do you think people would use clothing to show their identity?
I don't think people try to do that, but clothing inadvertently does show people's personality. For example, people who wear casual clothes even to semi formal occasions are generally more carefree. Similarly, people who are normally dressed in formal clothes even in their day to day lives are more serious and disciplined.

31. Describe an important thing you learned (not at school or college)

You should say:

- o What it was
- o When you learned it
- o How you learned it
- o And explain why it was important
- One important thing I learned outside of school was how to make 3D origami. • Origami is a Japanese art but 3 D origami is a form of Chinese paper art
- It is made by joining many small folded triangles together.

- I learned it from my aunt during the summer holidays last year.
- She visited our house and brought some beautiful pieces she had made — like birds, flowers, and even small animals.
- I was very interested and asked her to teach me.
- We sat together every evening.
- First, she taught me how to fold small triangular pieces from coloured paper.
- Then we joined many of them to make one 3D model.
- We made a swan.
- It looked very difficult at first, but with her help, I learned quickly.
- This skill was important for me because it made me more patient and creative.
- It also helped me stay calm and focused.
- I made many swans since then and gifted to my friends.
- They all loved the swans and many of them have learned this art from me.
- Now we go on you tube and there are many channels which are full of interesting things to make.
- I even made a peacock and gave it to my teacher as a gift.
- So, learning 3D origami was not just fun — it gave me confidence and a new hobby I still enjoy.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. What can children learn from parents?

Children learn many things from their parents. Firstly, they learn basic household skills like cooking, cleaning and ironing clothes. They also learn money management from their parents. Finally and most importantly, they learn etiquettes and moral values from them.

2. Do you think some children are well-behaved because of the influence of their parents? Both yes and no. I do believe parents play a very significant role in the upbringing of their children and imparting them moral values, which in turn impact their behaviour. However, I believe their behaviour is also influenced by other factors like their friend circle and the TV channels they watch.

3. Is it necessary for adults to learn new things?

Yes, I think it is so necessary to keep up with the times. Professionally, people may even lose their jobs if they don't learn new things from time to time. Even personally I think if people don't change themselves, they would be considered dull and boring.

4. How can people learn new things?

The most accessible source for learning new things is certainly the internet. There is information on nearly everything available on the internet. However, in some cases, face to face learning is the only solution like in driving.

5. Does the internet make learning easier or more difficult?

I believe it makes it much easier. There is endless information available on the internet. If people have the willpower, they can learn anything from the internet in today's time.

6. Can people acquire more knowledge now than before?

Yes, again, I think because of internet, it is much easier to access new information. Moreover, we are getting information in the form of videos, which is easier to retain and understand than reading it from a book.

32. Describe a foreign country you would like to visit in the future

You should say:

- What it is
  - What you have known about it
  - Who you would like to go there with
  - And explain why you would like to visit it
- I have always been fascinated by exploring different cultures and meeting people from various backgrounds.
  - Among all the countries, Japan is the one I would love to visit the most.
  - I enjoy watching Japanese movies.
  - During my childhood, I read a lot of Japanese manga (graphic novels) and watched anime (Japanese cartoons).
  - Even now, I often watch anime on YouTube or Netflix, which keeps my interest alive.
  - Japan stands out for its values and discipline.
  - After the 2011 tsunami, there was no looting or violence, which I found very surprising.
  - I later learned that moral values and ethics are taught from a young age in schools.
  - Japanese students clean their schools in rotation, promoting responsibility and cleanliness.
  - They follow hygienic practices like using different shoes indoors and outdoors to prevent the spread of germs.
  - Japan refused to sell nuclear technology to India because they no longer use it themselves.
  - This reflects their commitment to their beliefs and principles.

- Buddhism, which originated in India, is a major religion in Japan, creating a cultural link between the two countries.
- Although my current knowledge about Japan comes from anime, manga, and news, I would love to visit and experience the culture first hand.
- Visiting Japan would give me the opportunity to explore its traditions, people, and lifestyle more deeply.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

What do you think makes countries different?

I think there are many things that make country different, but the two biggest factors geography and culture. All the other differences emanate from these two factors in some way or another.

Do you think reading is a good way to get to know other countries? Why?

Yes, to a certain extent, we can learn about countries by reading about them. However, I believe it cannot come close to actually visiting the country and experiencing the culture first hand. Moreover, I believe books are always biased based on the writer's experience. So, it can never give the complete picture.

How do people get information about other countries?

I think its mainly by watching movies and documentaries from that country. Moreover, people can also get information by actually visiting that country.

How does travelling abroad affect young people?

Travelling abroad has many effects. Firstly, it makes people more broad minded as it exposes them to another culture. Besides that, it teaches youngsters adaptability as they learn how to adjust in a different environment. It can also teach how to deal with problems like racism.

What are the advantages of working in an international company?

The biggest advantage that it offers is the opportunity to learn about foreign cultures as people have to deal with clients ,colleagues or superiors from other countries.

What do you think of national identity?

I think national identity is good as long as it is about being proud of one's culture and history. However, it can be bad when it leads to feelings of superiority or ill treatment of others from a different identity than us. National identity can be both a unifier or a divider based on how we see it.

33. Describe a rule that is important in your school or at work

You should say:

- What the rule is about
  - What happens when people break the rule
  - Why do you think it is an important rule
  - And explain how you feel about the rule
- Rules and laws are made to create a peaceful and harmonious society.
  - If we all obey the rules and laws then we would all be benefited.
  - There are rules everywhere.
  - Schools are the first place where children learn about the rules and codes of conduct.
  - Every school has rules, like wearing the prescribed uniform, coming in time, doing homework regularly and so on.
  - My school also had rules.
  - We had two uniforms.
  - It was navy blue skirt and white shirt on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays.
  - However, on Wednesdays and Saturdays, we had a totally white uniform.
  - All students and I agreed with this rule.
  - Uniform creates an atmosphere of discipline.
  - Everybody feels connected because of the uniform.
  - If students broke this rule, and didn't come in uniform, they were punished.
  - Our principal used to make such students stand outside on one leg for half an hour.
  - Sometimes there was a fine of Rs 100/- also.
  - Even if a tie, belt or badge was missing we had to pay the fine.
  - So, this was the rule in school, we all had to follow.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

When people break rules, how would they be punished in your country?

Normally, there are fines or small punishments when people break rules. Also, punishments can change depending upon how seriousness of the issue or if it is first time offence or a repeat offence.

What are the reasons that cause people to break the rules?

There are many reasons why people break rules. Firstly, they might be unaware about the rule. Secondly, a lot of people break rules just because they are in hurry. For example, a major reason for breaking traffic rules is just to save a few seconds or minutes. Finally, people also break rules because of losing senses due to drinking.

What kinds of rules do people need to follow in public places?

Individuals should conduct themselves in a way that is in accordance to the rules of the places they are visiting. For example, when dining at a restaurant, individuals should keep in mind the rules of "no shoes, no shirt, no service" and dress appropriately. Additionally, where appropriate, individuals should leave tips for restaurant staff.

What rules should people follow when using public transport?

I think firstly they should not sit at places reserved for disabled, women or elderly. In addition, they should use headphones so as to not disturb people around them. Finally, they should keep their bags and luggage underneath the seats or in the baggage compartment so that they do not clutter the walking space.

On what occasions can children be forgiven if they don't follow some rules?

I think children should be forgiven if they break the rule unknowingly and they are really apologetic for their mistake. It should also depend upon whether they are breaking a rule for the first time or they have broken it previously.

What rules should children follow at home in your country?

I was thinking they should sleep on time, not play loud music, listen to their parents, not waste food, finish the household chores and homework before playing. However, I also believe if there are too many rules, children cannot relax and enjoy, so there should be some leniency in the enforcements of rules at least at home.

34. Describe an area/subject of science (biology, robotics, etc.) that you are interested in and would like to learn more about

You should say:

- Which area/subject it is
- When and where you came to know this area/subject
- How you get information about this area/subject
- And explain why you are interested in this area/subject

- Science is very important in a student's life.
- It's through the science subjects that we begin to think logically and find answers to our questions.
- I found all the aspects of science interesting, like physics, biology and chemistry, as these sciences answer everyday questions about why things happen and how we evolved.
- Today I will be talking about a science, which I find the most interesting.
- It is computer science.
- I remember that I started becoming interested in it when we started with the computer science lessons in the 6th standard.
- We had a wonderful teacher who taught us this subject in a very interesting way.
- Her name is Ms. Meenakshi.
- We used to have both theory and practical lessons for this subject.
- We used to look forward to the lab sessions as we got to work on the computers at that time and try out several things we had learned in class.
- The lab sessions were always enjoyable, but our teacher taught it in a very interesting way and we all enjoyed the theory lessons a lot too.
- There are many interesting things that I have learned from this science.
- The first thing is how we can use computers not just as a source of entertainment, but it's use is much more vast than that.
- It can be used to organize and plan things at home. It can be used for many other day-to-day activities like, banking, research work, shopping, connecting with friends and relatives and so on.
- Not only that, it helps the artists creates new art and helps designers create clothes, cars, buildings, etc.
- Another reason that I have an interest in this science is because I know that in every field today we need to use computers.
- It will help me with my higher studies and also in my career later.
- In this contemporary world, the computer science has become an important science and it is essential that everyone is computer savvy to be able to do well in their studies or work or even if it is used as a source of entertainment.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

Should scientists explain the research process to the public?

I think it would be really beneficial if scientists explain the research process. To begin with, it will address problems like superstition which exists due to lack of understanding of scientific phenomena. Secondly, it would also attract more youth towards the field of science. Today, many people consider science so difficult, they don't pursue a career in science.

How do you get to know about scientific news?

I mainly get scientific news from newspapers or magazines. I read the newspaper the Hindu and every Thursday, there is column on recent scientific advancements. Moreover, I also learn about scientific advancements by listening to podcasts.

Which science subject is the most important for children to learn?

I think all science subjects are useful, but the most important in my opinion is biology. I think we all need to have a basic understanding of how the human body works, so we can take steps to remain fit and healthy.

Is it important to study science at school?

Yeah, it is important. It is important to have a basic understanding of how the world works and for that studying science is really important. Moreover, scientific knowledge can help them in many ways like fixing broken appliances and so on. It also helps keep children away from superstitions.

Why do some children not like learning science at school?

I think it is just because some scientific concepts are difficult to understand just by reading. I think it is really important that school teacher have experiments and physical lessons to explain concepts in a better way.

35. Describe a time you made a promise to someone

You should say:

- What the promise was
  - To whom you made it
  - Whether it was easy or difficult to keep
  - And explain why you made it
- Many people are pretty casual about making promises.
  - And it really irritates me, when people make promises/commitments, they have no intention to keep.
  - I don't make promises easily but if I do I try my best to fulfill them.

- Last year, during the coronavirus lockdown, my parents made me promise that I wouldn't leave the house unnecessarily till the vaccine is released.
- My paternal grandparents live with us and they lie in the high-risk category because of their age.
- Moreover, my grandmother is also diabetic.
- So, all of us were really worried about my grandparents catching the virus.
- I am a very social person and before the corona days, I used to spend at least two to three hours with my friends every day.
- I also spend a lot of time with my grandparents.
- In fact, sometimes I sleep on the couch in their room.
- My parents were worried that I might catch the virus if I spend too much time outdoors and pass it on to my grandparents.
- So, I promised my parents that I would not loiter around and spend time indoors.
- It was very hard in the beginning.
- I felt so bored as I couldn't meet my friends.
- In fact, in the first few days, the only time I left the house was to get groceries.
- I was in contact with my friends on the phone and we used to pass the time by talking for hours on the phone.
- However, within two three days, I ran out of things to talk about.
- Every day was the same.
- I was also angry at my parents for making me promise to not leave the house.
- But in a few days, I came to know that one of my friends had caught the virus.
- From that day onwards, I stopped complaining.
- Things also became a bit easier as I developed some new hobbies like reading the news and playing indoor games like chess and carrom board with my grandparents.
- It's been nearly 10 months since I made the promise, and I am glad I made the promise.
- In fact, I think I am still enjoying the company of my grandparents today because of that promise.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

Is it useful to write down promises?

Yes, I think its a really good idea because we do make a lot of promises we forget later. So, writing them down, would be a good way to stop forgetting our promises. Moreover, writing down promises would reduce the number of promises we make without seriously intending of fulfilling them.

Do you often keep your promises?

I try. I think I am able to keep most of the promises I make but sometimes I do forget. Also, sometimes there are unforeseen circumstances, where I am not able to fulfil promises like not reaching somewhere on time due to traffic congestion.

Why do some people fail to keep their promises?

I think most people fail to keep their promises because they make the promises without seriously thinking of what would it require to fulfil them. Also today, there are so many distractions in life, it is very easy to forget the promises we make.

Do children keep their promises?

Well, it depends upon the child and his upbringing. Some parents are very strict about promises and hold back on gifts unless children keep their promise. In this case, children are also more likely to keep their promises.

Do parents in India make promises to their children?

Yes, I think parents all over the world make promises to their children. Parents are much more likely to go back on their word due to work or other commitments, so children ensure that their parents make promises, so that they do not go back on their word.

What kinds of promises do people often make?

In case of parents and children, parents make promises like buying their children their favourite toy or take them out for a movie if they perform well in studies. In adulthood, there are promises to do something the other person asks like help with some work issue.

36. Describe a line(or a few words) that you remember from a poem or song

You should say:

- What is it?
- Which song or poem it is from
- How you knew it
- And explain how you feel about it

- Music makes everything better.
- I like to listen to music when I am cooking, cleaning, driving, exercising.
- It relaxes me in ways nothing else can.
- I listen to songs from different genres and one song that brings a smile to my face every time I hear it, is the timeless pop classic "What a wonderful world".
- It talks about appreciating the beauty of your surroundings and it's the line from the title "And I think to myself, it's a wonderful world" that I remember so well.
- It was first recorded by Louis Armstrong in 1968 but there have been many more versions of it since then sung by various artists.
- It was the biggest selling single in UK and reached number 1 spot that year.
- I think the first time I heard it was on YouTube. I was looking for old hits and this song just came up in the suggestions.
- I was so mesmerized by the lyrics and the singer's soothing voice
- They moved me and just made me realize that I need to find happiness in small things.
- This world may not be perfect but it's so wonderful.
- Now whenever I am stressed, I take a break and go outside.

- Looking at the beautiful sky, listening to the birds chirping and the nature all around me makes me forget about my worries and brings me so much peace.
- I also feel grateful for all the people in my life - my family and friends who make this world so much more wonderful for me
- OR (Alternate answer)
- I listen to songs on my phone whenever I am travelling.
- In fact, my song choices have changed so much over the years.
- But there is one song and one particular line from that song that I can never forget.
- The line goes like this – ‘One day you will leave this world behind, so live a life that others will remember’
- It is from the song ‘The NIGHTS’ by Avicii.
- I love listening to the whole song, just for this one line.
- I don’t really remember how I first came across this song, but it was about two three years ago.
- I think I might have heard it in a café or a music channel in the TV.
- Whenever, I am feeling low or I don’t feel like studying, I listen to the song for motivation.
- The song just energizes me and makes me work even harder.
- But the lyrics also have a darker meaning.
- The singer Avicii committed suicide at a very young age about two years ago.
- I remember the news came as a huge shock to me.
- When I searched online, I came to know, Avicii was going through depression.
- But one day, when I was listening to this song, I realized how Avicii’s death really gave life to the lyrics.
- His body did leave this Earth, but people will never forget him.
- People will always remember him through his songs.
- He has immortalized his memory through his meaningful song lyrics.
- I also really want to do something for my family, my society and my country.
- So that people also remember me after I leave this world.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. What can people learn from songs or poems?

Songs and poems can teach a variety of meaningful lessons and insights. They are generally an emotional expression that may help one to understand one’s own feelings and also inspire one with creatively expressed ideas of courage, traditions and values. They may motivate and inspire people through their content, higher emotional appeal, innovative language and Rhythm

2. Do you think it is easier for children to learn a song or poem than adults? Why? Yes, it is generally easier for children to learn a song or poem than adults, because of two reasons. First is their own quality of being able to easily absorb new content as their brains are more quick to adapt to new things. The second reason is the inherent quality of the poems and songs with their rhythmic pattern and rhyming scheme lending them to fun and easy learning.

3. Do you think children would like the rhythm of songs or poems? Why?

Yes, children generally enjoy the rhythm of songs and poems, because it makes them fun and engaging helping children to form a natural connection with them.

Rhythm makes songs and poems feel like play, which is why children tend to enjoy them so much.

4. Are you good at memorizing things?

I am not very good at memorising things as I get distracted very easily. But sometimes I surprise myself by remembering incidents and things that others may not remember or recollect.

37. Describe an important decision that you made

You should say:

- What the decision was
- How you made your decision
- What the results of the decision were
- And explain why it was important

- We all have to make decisions from time to time.
- Some decisions are simple, like choosing what to wear or what to eat.
- However, some decisions can have a lasting impact on our lives, such as selecting a career or a life partner.
- One important decision I made was choosing my subjects for Senior Secondary.
- After completing my 10th grade, I had to decide between medical, non-medical, commerce, or humanities (arts) streams.
- Many of my friends opted for the non-medical stream, but I realized that physics was not my strong subject.
- I discussed my options with my parents, but they encouraged me to make the decision myself.
- Seeking guidance, I approached my teacher, Mrs. Promilla, who was also my mentor and lived in my neighborhood.
- She advised me to choose commerce or arts, knowing that my strengths were better suited for these fields.
- Although my friends influenced me to take up non-medical, I trusted my teacher's advice and chose arts.
- This was an important decision because my future career depended on it.
- Today, I feel content with my choice.
- I am performing well academically and have enough time to explore my interests.
- In my free time, I have joined dance and music classes, which I enjoy a lot.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

How do people usually make important decisions?

I think people usually make important decisions by consulting with weighing out the pros and cons. Moreover, they normally ask loved ones or their friends for advice before making such decisions. We find comfort in decisions when someone whose judgement we respect, agrees with us on the decision.

Do you think the influence of advertising is good?

In most cases yes. They create awareness and increase demand and sales, which ultimately boosts the economy. However, advertisements of fast foods and unhealthy sugary drinks have also led to diseases like obesity and diabetes. So, there is certainly a downside too.

Do you think advertisements can influence our decisions when shopping?

Yes, we consider products of brands whose advertisements we have seen to be better. It just creates the impression that it is a good brand. Also advertisements help us make more informed decisions as we learn about the features of the products through ads.

Who can children turn to for help when making a decision?

Children can turn to the adults in their life like parents, grandparents and teachers. Today, internet is also a good source of information, so they can always ask for advice on the well-reputed websites before making any crucial decisions.

What important decisions do teenagers need to make after graduation?

They need to take decisions about where to live, financial decisions like renting or buying the home, investing and choosing a life partner.

Do you think children sometimes have to make important decisions?

Yes, of course. They have to take decisions about what subjects to study and what hobbies to pursue and these can have a very effect on their whole personality and life trajectory.

38. Describe a time when you helped a child

You should say:

- When it was
  - How you helped him/her - Why you helped him/her
  - And how you felt about it
- I know many children and have spent time with several of them, but here I would like to talk about a time when I helped my niece, Gia, who is three years old.
  - She is my cousin Jyoti's daughter, who lives in Canada.

- Last year, my cousin visited us for a week in December, and I got the opportunity to spend time with Gia.
- Gia is a very cute and chubby child with adorable dimples on both cheeks when she smiles.
- One thing I helped her with was combing her curly hair, as she disliked getting it done.
- She would often cry and run away, but I found ways to distract her with stories and games, making the process easier for her.
- I also helped in taking care of her daily needs, such as feeding her meals and making sure she had her favorite chocolates and candies.
- My cousin often mentioned how hard it was to look after Gia alone in Canada, and she really appreciated my help during their stay.
- I also took Gia to the park in my neighborhood almost every day.
- There, I made sure she played safely and helped her interact with other children.
- She loved being the center of attention, and I enjoyed helping her make new friends.
- I also taught her how to take turns on the swings and slides, as she would get upset when other children got ahead of her.
- Gia would often cry when it was time to leave the park, but I comforted her with hugs and promises of coming back the next day.
- The experience of taking care of Gia taught me a lot about patience and responsibility.
- Spending time with her was a wonderful experience, and I look forward to helping her again when she visits this summer.
- May God bless her with a long and happy life.

Should developed countries provide technological help to developing countries?

Yes, definitely. I think it would be mutually beneficial. Firstly, it would improve the relationship between countries, making the world a more peaceful place and reducing chances of war. Apart from this, there are many global problems like pollution, which cannot be addressed by poor countries only because of lack of technology. So it will help rich countries as well.

Why is it important to help neighbors?

It is important to help neighbours because they are the closest to us. They can help us quicker than even family members and friends for example in case of disasters like fires and flooding, they can help us. Secondly, helping neighbour helps improve relationships and helps people deal with some neighbourhood problems easily.

Do people in your country like to help neighbors?

Yes, people are very helpful. In Indian culture, people like to share a good relationship with neighbours. People celebrate festivals with their neighbours, children play with their neighbours and this close relationship means neighbours also help each other often. For example, our neighbours often send us special dishes on festivals.

What can you do to help your neighbors?

People can do many things like look after children and dogs in case of emergencies, lend them basic things, water their plants if they go vacation and so on.

What can schools do to develop students' awareness of volunteering?

I think schools can show them videos about the benefits of volunteering. They can also have special yearly rewards for students who volunteer. They can also conduct volunteering exercises, where children about opportunities to volunteer.

Why is it necessary to do volunteer services?

It is about doing something for the society. I think volunteering not only benefits society, but also helps people feel better about themselves. Volunteering makes us feel like we are important and our contributions matter. Volunteering also gives an opportunity to help others who haven't gotten the same opportunities or benefits in life as we have.

39. Describe something you received for free

You should say: -

What it was

- Who you received it from
- Where you received it
- And how you felt about it

- People generally feel very happy when they get something for free, and this doesn't happen many times in one's life.
- This happened to me after my 10th standard exams when I got my result.
- My parents had promised me that if I scored well, they would buy me a smartphone of my choice.
- I wanted to buy an Apple iPhone because of its quality and features.
- I had done a lot of research comparing different phones, and I had finally decided to go for the iPhone.
- Even though it was a bit expensive, I planned to use it for at least five years.
- I also checked where I could get the best deal, whether online or offline.
- I found that the prices online were a bit cheaper.
- Finally, when my result came, I had scored good marks, and my parents agreed to buy the phone for me.
- I told them that it was cheaper online, but they still wanted to visit the Apple store to see the phone in person.
- We went to the store, and they liked the phone and were happy with my choice.
- Luckily, the phone was available at a great discount at the store that day.
- My parents told me to buy it from the store itself, and we made the payment.
- But the biggest surprise of my life came after that.

- The store manager told me that they had a special offer for students, where they were giving Apple AirPods for free with the purchase of an iPhone.
- I couldn't believe my luck.
- I was so full of joy because I had wanted to buy AirPods too, but they were beyond my parents' budget.
- It felt like a dream come true.
- I felt I was the luckiest person on earth.
- Even today, I remember that day as one of the happiest moments of my life.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

What kinds of free services should be provided by the government?

Education and health care are two main services which should definitely be free at least at the primary level. Besides that, the government should also provide basic services like clean drinking water, public urinals, libraries and so on for free.

Will people be happy when they receive free things?

Yes of course, who isn't happy when they receive free things. But its just not about being free, its also about the quality, if its free but the quality is bad, I don't think it will make people happy.

Is it necessary to provide free public transportation?

No, I believe rather than free public transportation, a well maintained, comfortable, frequent and fast means of public transportation is more important. It could be subsidised for those who can't afford it but in general, it is better to be paid and well maintained than free.

Why should everyone have access to basic healthcare?

Because, access to basic healthcare ensures that problems can be nipped in the bud. Most diseases can be tackled if they are treated timely. Moreover, a healthy workforce is the key to a productive society and so access to basic healthcare is a must.

Why do customers like to receive free gifts from companies?

Its just human nature, getting something free makes us feel like we got something more than we paid for and that makes us happy. Moreover, it helps us justifying overspending on things we shouldn't.

Is it good or bad for people to have a free education in the future?

It really depends upon the quality of education. I honestly believe that free public education can never compete with quality of private education, so it is not a good idea in my opinion.

40. Describe a person who contributes to the society

You should say:

- Who is this person?
- How you knew him/her
- What type of work he/she does
- And explain why you think he/she contributes to the society

- All jobs are important to the society in one-way or the other, such as the job of a teacher, a doctor, a nurse, a scientist, a politician and so many more.
- Here I would like to talk about a person whose job is very important to the society.
- This person is my maternal aunt and she is a teacher.
- She is about 50 years old and looks very beautiful.
- Her hair has started graying, but she doesn't colour her hair.
- She believes in the 3 Gs - going grey gracefully.
- She teaches science in Cambridge International School.
- She did her Bachelors of Education after completing her Masters in Chemistry.
- Teachers are known as nation builders.
- Everyone passes through the hands of teachers in school and college years.
- All other professions such as doctors and nurses also pass through the hands of a teacher.
- That is why I believe that teaching is the most important job.
- A teacher is like a candle that burns itself and shows light to others.
- Since age-old times, teaching has been considered a noble profession.
- In ancient India, there was the gurukul system.
- Even the king's children stayed in the home of the guru or the teacher.
- They used to do the household chores of the guru and in return the guru imparted knowledge.
- Teachers improve the literacy rate of a country.
- When literacy rate is high, crime and violence go down.
- A teacher requires good communication skills and depth of knowledge of his subject.
- A good teacher should treat all students equally.
- Nowadays, teachers are being paid handsomely by the government.
- This is to lure bright students to join this profession.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

What kinds of jobs are not paid fairly?

There are many jobs that are not fairly but if I think I would say the physical labour jobs like gardening, carpentry and plumbing are paid less than they deserve. This is just because we rate mental acumen and skill over physical hard work. However, in recent years, there has been a change in this trend.

What skills should be taught at school to improve students' ability to find jobs?

I think every country should do an assessment of jobs, where there is a sincere shortage of workforce and then these skills should be taught at school. If I had to name a few, I would say skills like woodwork, welding and plumbing should be taught. Besides this, I believe basic computer literacy is also a must, so these skills should also be taught.

Do you think younger people should be lower paid than older people?

No, absolutely not. People should be paid based on their skills and experience and not their age.

What was the impact of the epidemic on the work environment?

I think the biggest impact was the increase in work from home opportunities. And with regard to the environment at office, there was more focus on proper ventilation and distancing. For example, there was a shift from sharing of spaces to individuals getting their own space.

What are the changes in working conditions?

Like I said, the biggest change has been the acceptability of work from home. I think most workplaces started allowing work from home and even when normalcy has returned, businesses still allow their employees to work a few days in a week from home.

What jobs are well-paid?

The jobs that come to mind first is the jobs of social media influencers. I have heard of some even earning 100 or 200 times the average yearly income of an individual in a single month. Besides that, the traditional jobs like doctors, lawyers and software professionals are also paid very well.

41. Describe an energetic person that you know

You should say:

- Who is this person?
  - How you knew this person
  - Why do you think this person is energetic?
  - And explain how you feel about this person
- I know a lot of energetic people, but the person who I find to be the most energetic is none other than my mother.
  - There are many reasons why I find her to be very energetic.

- Firstly, she does so many things in a single day.
- If I did them all, it would take me at least two three days. Firstly, she gets up at 5 AM and then takes the dogs out for a walk.
- Then, she comes back and feeds the dogs.
- After that, she prepares breakfast for the whole family.
- Then she gets ready and goes to work.
- She is a gynaecologist, so her job is also very stressful.
- She comes back home at around 7 PM.
- Then, she prepares dinner.
- She does a lot of other household chores too like washing utensils, cleaning, folding clothes and placing them in cupboards.
- I don't know when she does them and many times I take them for granted but if she is not home for even one day, it again reminds me of all these chores she does.
- Sometimes, she even needs to go to the hospital at night because of emergencies.
- Secondly, she somehow finds time for all her hobbies inspite of being so busy.
- She does knitting, crochet, sowing, painting , origami and so on.
- Every year, she makes 4-5 sweaters.
- Our whole home is decorated with her hand made artwork.
- Thirdly, I find her so energetic because I have never seen her resting or wasting time during the day.
- She is always doing something.
- Even when she is watching TV, she is knitting side by side.
- If she is on the phone, she is cooking or folding clothes side by side.
- After coming back home from school, I just feel like sitting and doing nothing for a while.
- I don't know if she feels the same, but I have never seen her taking a break.
- Its like the word 'Idle' doesn't exist in her dictionary.
- Each day I aspire to be like her, but I don't think I can come even remotely close to her.
- I can just admire her and feel proud that she is my mother.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

Do you think machines could replace human workers in the future?

Yes, in certain job, machines will most likely replace human workers. However, there will always be certain jobs where the human element would remain essential. One example I can think of is of healthcare. I don't think doctors or nurses can ever be replaced by machines.

Can physical workers receive higher salaries in the future?

Yes, I think they would. It's all about demand and supply. The demand for physical workers is increasing, while the number of people learning vocational skills like carpentry, plumbing and masonry are decreasing. So, they would definitely receive higher salaries in the future.

What's the difference between the payment for physical work and that for mental work? In case of physical work, the payment is generally based on the number of hours worked or the amount of output, while in case of mental work it is about the impact. Generally, physical work is undervalued, while mental work is valued more because it generally requires advanced knowledge and training.

What kinds of jobs need a lot of physical work?

I think many activities require physical work like construction, gardening, plumbing, electrical work, carpentry, agriculture and so on. However, in some of these areas, the physical work is decreasing because of automation.

42. Describe a job that is useful to the society

You should say:

- What job it is
  - How do you know about this job?
  - What types of people do this job
  - And explain why you think this job is useful to the society
- I think all jobs are useful to the society in their own way.
  - However, if I would have to pick one job that is very important for the society, I would say teaching.
  - Youth and children are the future of the country and I think teachers have the largest influence on them second only to parents and friends.
  - Children are like a wet clay and teachers help shape them in responsible and productive members of the society.
  - In many cases, the children's future career depends upon the teachers.
  - Children are much more likely to choose careers in fields, where they had excellent teachers during childhood.

- If teachers are able to engage and create interest for the subject, students are likely to continue studying them in the future.
- Moreover, teachers also impart moral values and ethics to children.
- They help them differentiate between right and wrong.
- Teachers teach them many important qualities like discipline, punctuality and responsibility.
- Teachers play the role of friends.
- If teachers are friendly, children share their problems and feelings with them.
- Teacher's advice and guidance helps children navigate the challenges of childhood.
- They are an emotional support for children.
- For all these reasons, I think the role of teacher is very challenging.
- It requires a lot of patience and responsibility.
- In addition, dealing with today's children can be very exhausting so they need to be mentally strong.
- However, it is also one of the most rewarding professions as it has the ability to shape people's career.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

Do you think schools should provide career advice to students?

Yes, definitely. Firstly, I think children lack the knowledge about different career options they can pursue. Also, children are not mature enough to clearly make decisions about their future life without guidance, so there should definitely be career advice.

Who should receive a higher salary, young people or older people?

I don't think it should depend upon age, but rather their contribution and output. If it is physical work, in most cases, young people would be able to contribute more, so they should be paid higher. But in jobs, where experience might be the key, I think older people would have a bigger impact and they should be paid higher.

Do you think doctors should be well-paid?

Of course, I think it is one of the most mentally challenging and stressful jobs in the world. Even small mistakes can result in people losing their lives. Doctors also need to put their lives at risk - as in case of Covid Pandemic. Finally, there is already a severe shortage of healthcare professionals around the world, so paying them well would be the first step to address this shortage.

What kind of jobs deserve a high salary?

I think it depends upon how physically and mentally challenging the job is. As the difficulty increases, the number of people who can do the job decreases and thus the pay should increase.

What kind of jobs receive a low income?

I think generally physical work receives low income as it is considered that they are easier to replace because of availability of unskilled labour. As the specialisation for the job increases, the pay also increases. For example, in vocational jobs also painters are paid less than carpenters as the job of carpenter is more specialised.

What kind of jobs are well-paid in your country?

I think its most mentally challenging jobs that are paid well like engineers, doctors and lawyers. Also, jobs in the entertainment industry like actors are also paid well. Moreover, today, YouTube artists and social media influencers are one the biggest earners.

43. Describe a place you have been to and would like to recommend others to live there (not your hometown)

You should say:

- Where is it?
  - What the place is like
  - When you visited there
  - Who you went there with
  - And explain why you would recommend this place to others
- India is a diverse country.
  - There are many beautiful cities in India.
  - Some are beautiful because of their historical buildings, whereas others are beautiful because of their modern architecture. Some cities are beautiful because they are in the mountain valleys, whereas some are beautiful, because of the beautiful and warm smiles of people. • Here, I would like to talk about Chandigarh, which is also known as 'The City Beautiful'
  - It was designed by the French architect Le Corbusier.
  - I studied a lot Chandigarh because it was the first planned city of India after independence.
  - I have visited it many times as my grandfather lives there.
  - I normally visit it with my whole family, my parents and my sister.
  - We go there at least once a month to spend some with my grandfather.
  - Chandigarh is one of the cleanest cities in India
  - It is a union territory and is also the capital of two states - Punjab and Haryana.

- There are a lot of tourist attractions in the city as well.
- The Rock Garden in Chandigarh is a masterpiece made out of waste material.
- Sukhna lake is the biggest man-made lake. It is a beautiful place for people to enjoy with their families.
- The sector 17 market is a shopper's paradise.
- The city also has a lot of entertainment places like shopping malls, multiplexes and clubs.
- The city has 50 sectors.
- Each sector has residential and commercial zones
- The roads are designed and oriented in such a way that for most of the time of the day, they are under shade.
- There are huge parking areas in the commercial zones so that the parking problems don't create havoc on the main roads.
- I feel Chandigarh is the best city to live in India because the quality of life is very good here.
- Unlike other cities, people do not have to deal with problems such as pollution, traffic jams, and unhygienic living conditions. Moreover, people in this city also have access to some of the best healthcare and educational facilities in the country.
- Finally, I believe that the greatness of a city depends on its people, and Chandigarh is among the cities with the highest literacy levels. The people in Chandigarh are warm, friendly, and ready to help each other in difficult times
- The city has a lot to offer to people from all walks of life.

Why do many people choose to move to big cities?

I would say there are two main reasons. Firstly, it is easier to find high paying jobs in bigger cities. Secondly, big cities also offer access to better healthcare ,education and entertainment facilities as compared to towns and villages.

What factors make a city liveable?

I think there are many factors but if I had a name a few, I would say affordable housing ,good transportation and road infrastructure, quality healthcare and educational facilities and well paid employment opportunities. Apart from that, I would say clean environment and access to parks and recreational areas is also very important.

What are the benefits of living close to one's workplace?

The biggest advantage of living close to the workplace is the reduced time and expenditure on commute. People get to spend more quality time with their family members and avoid the stress of being stuck in long traffic jams. It is also good for the environment as people can walk or cycle to their workplace instead of commuting by cars.

What kinds of place do people in your country prefer to live in?

I think people prefer to live in places, which have easy access to all modern amenities. In other words, people prefer living in places close to good schools, hospitals and shopping areas. Moreover, they also prefer living as close to their workplace as possible so they have to spend less time on commuting. Finally, people prefer quiet areas away from main highways and roads.

What should people prepare before they move to a different city?

I think they should first research the areas that would be the most suitable to live in. They should also try to learn about the city's culture, social customs and climate, so it easier for them to adjust. Finally, they should make a list of things or services, they would immediately need after moving like an internet connection and place an order for them.

Why do people move from one place to another?

There are many reasons why people move from one place to another but employment and education opportunities are the two biggest reasons. In India, one of the major reasons is marriage. Girls generally move to husband's hometown after marriage.

44. Describe a time that something changed your life in good ways

should say:

When and where it happened

- What happened
- How you felt about it
- And explain how it changed your life in good ways

- Change is the law of nature.
- Knowingly or unknowingly many things bring a change in our life.
- Here I would like to talk about a time when my life changed for the better.
- It was about two years ago.
- My cousin Jasleen visited us from Canada.
- She had gone to Canada for her higher education.
- The Jasleen I knew was a size XXL.
- But the Jasleen in front of me after 2 years was a size XS
- She was unrecognizable.
- She was also a lot more confident and smarter.
- She was with us for 2 days only, but those 2 days with her changed me a lot.
- Even I was on the borderline obese side, but nothing had worked for me till that time for losing weight.
- I asked Jasleen about her journey from extra big to extra small.
- She told me that it had not been easy for her, but she had made up her mind to lose weight gradually and in a sustainable way.
- She made it a point to walk to her college, which was just a mile.
- All her friends took the bus, but she walked.
- Surprisingly they reached the college in almost the same time. They had to wait 5-10 minutes for the bus, but she reached the college in 14 minutes with her brisk walk.
- In the evening she would again go to the library of the college.
- So these 4 miles every day helped her.
- Another thing she did was add a lot of fruit to her diet.
- She stopped sugar altogether.
- Just these 2 things and in two years she was a new person.
- Since then I have started walking whenever and wherever possible.
- My teas are without sugar and when I am hungry between meals, I go for fruit.
- It has not only improved my looks, but I also feel healthier and more confident.
- All my clothes look good on me and I don't feel conscious of my body any more.

What are the disadvantages when people keep making changes?

I think there are many disadvantages of making changes frequently. Firstly, it disturbs the regular routine and this can be extremely stressful. Secondly, it can lead to more mistakes. When people need to learn new routines, they are more likely to commit errors. Finally, changes take time to adapt and this can slow down productivity.

When things like getting married or moving home happen, what kinds of things would you consider?

I think there are so many things to consider. I think the first would be financial aspect. Both marriage and moving homes mean added expenses. Secondly, one needs to consider the new responsibilities. Getting married or moving might change our responsibilities. For example, normally when living with parents, a person doesn't need to cook but they might need to cook when moving to a new place or after getting married.

Who can adapt better to changes, children or adults?

I think it is easier for children. I think children are quick to adapt because they learn new things faster. As people grow older, the mind deteriorates and it is harder to adapt and make changes. In most cases, older people are the first ones to resist changes.

How do you adapt to changes in life?

I am a go with the flow kind of person. I don't normally make any special preparations. As things happen, I make changes. However, I am trying to become more proactive because sometimes responding later can lead to problems.

Why do some people quit and change jobs?

It could be due to multiple reasons. However, some of the common reasons are better pay offers, lack of professional growth, toxic work environment, monotony in life and so on.

Do you like new things or changes in life?

I like new things when they adopt them voluntary but if I have to make changes forcibly, I do crib sometimes. For example, recently I picked up chess and I loved learning it. On the other hand, when I was forced to learn cooking, I used to complain everyday. In fact, I used to eat out at first, but gradually I had to learn cooking as restaurant food was expensive and unhealthy.

45. Describe a countryside area that you have been to

should say:

Where is it?

- When and why you went there
- Who you went there with

- And explain how you felt about it

- I belong to Phagwara.
- It is a small town, and there are many villages near my hometown.
- My maternal uncle and aunt have a farmhouse in a village near my hometown.
- Their farmhouse is in the centre of lush green farms.
- Last year, they invited us over to stay with them for a few days.
- Their farmhouse is very well maintained, as they have given a portion of it to a family who stays there and looks after it.
- They have maintained a very good kitchen garden, and I remember, the whole week we enjoyed fresh veggies from the garden.
- They had grown aubergines, okra, bottle gourd, broccoli, cauliflower, mint, coriander and green chilly.
- My uncle has retired from the agriculture department, and he knows a lot about organic farming.
- He never sprays any insecticides and pesticides and even prepares compost at home from the kitchen waste.
- Those vegetables tasted different.
- What we eat in the cities has so much spray of insecticides and pesticides that the taste of veggies is different.
- It was so much fun.
- They have 4 dogs, two Pugs and two German Shepherds.
- Every morning, we used to go for long walks in the fields, and the four dogs would walk by our sides without their leashes.
- In the cities, you always have to leash your dog while going for a walk.
- After the walk, we would all eat delicious parathas with butter made by my aunt.
- We played badminton in their courtyard, and sometimes we also played Frisbee.
- The air also seemed fresh and pollution free.
- The atmosphere was so calm and quiet. There was also no noise pollution.
- They have such a peaceful life, with absolutely no hurry and worry.
- I look forward to going and staying with them again this summer.

What are the differences between the city and the countryside?

There are many differences between the city and countryside. On the positive side, cities have better facilities in terms of infrastructure, educational institutes and healthcare services, while on the negative side, they are more polluted, more traffic and a higher cost of living.

What are the advantages and disadvantages of living in the countryside?

The main advantages of living in countryside are less traffic, cleaner environment and lower cost of living. By contrast, the main drawbacks are lack of facilities and employment opportunities.

What kind of people would like to stay in the countryside?

I think people who prefer a slow pace of life, a quiet environment and those who live spending time with then nature would prefer the countryside.

Do people go to the countryside to travel or to live?

I think rural to urban migration is reality of today's time. So, today mostly people visit the countryside mainly as a tourist. However, some people are also shifting back to countryside to live a more stress free and peaceful life.

Do most people prefer to live in big cities or in the countryside?

Like I said before, the population in rural areas is decreasing, while it is increasing in urban areas. So people do prefer living in the big cities.

Do people in your country like to go hiking?

No, I don't think hiking is that popular. It is still a niche activity. However, in recent years, the number of people doing hiking has increased certainly.

46. Describe an invention that is useful in your daily life

should say:

What is the invention?

- What it can do How popular is it?
- Whether it is difficult or easy to use
- And explain why it is useful

- The invention I find very useful in my daily life is the Apple Smartwatch.
- I got it as a gift from my parents on my 18th birthday.
- The watch is black, and I added a leather strap to make it stylish.
- I am a fitness enthusiast, and this watch helps me stay active.
- It tracks my steps and motivates me to do 10,000 steps every day.
- I like running and working out in the gym, and it is very helpful for both activities.
- I can also receive calls from my friends when my hands are busy.

- This feature is great because I don't have to carry my phone during a run.
- The watch also tracks my sleep and gives me a report on how well I slept.
- It has saved many lives by detecting heart rate problems and alerting people to seek medical attention.
- The latest version of the watch can do ECG and monitor other health parameters.
- There is a current offer where you get the watch for free if you do 15,000 steps daily for a year.
- The watch is very easy to use and connects well with my iPhone.
- I love it because it keeps me healthier and reduces my need to check my phone often.
- This smartwatch has become a very important part of my life.

Who should support and sponsor inventors, governments, or private companies?

I think both the governments and private companies should support and sponsor inventors. It depends upon the area of research and its significance on the common people. For example, in case of life saving drugs, government should be one to support and sponsor so even common people can benefit from the research and not just the rich elite.

Do all inventions bring benefits to our world?

No, some inventions have been disastrous like weapons of mass destruction. In the end, inventions can bring both benefits and drawbacks, it really depends upon how we end up using them.

Are there any other inventions that make the world better?

Yes, there are so many inventions that have made the world a better place to live like electricity, the internet, aeroplanes and so on.

What inventions do you think should be improved?

I think nearly every invention can be improved. For example, computers could be made smaller, transportation could be made faster and less polluting. There is a scope for improvement in any technology.

Do you think only scientists can invent new things?

No definitely not. In fact, it is common people who come up with more inventions as they understand the problems faced by common man much more. They are more likely to come up with solutions to address these problems. Most inventors have been people involved in other fields, it is only after they invent something, we start calling them researchers and scientists.

What qualities do inventors have?

I think inventors have many qualities but the biggest is determination. They don't give up that easily even after multiple failures. Moreover, they have the ability to think out of the box. They look to do thing differently than the traditional way.

47. Describe a difficult decision that you made and had a good result

should say:

What the decision was

- When you made that decision
- Why it was difficult to make
- And explain how you felt about the good result

- We all have to take crucial decisions from time to time.
- Some decisions are very small such as – what clothes to wear and what food to eat.
- But some decisions have far reaching effects – such as choosing a career and choosing a life partner.
- Here I am going to talk about a decision, which was very difficult for me.
- It was choosing my subjects for Senior Secondary.
- After my 10th, I was in a dilemma, whether to go for medical, non-medical, commerce or humanities (Arts) stream.
- Most of my friends were going for non-medical, but I knew I was not so good at physics.
- I consulted my parents, but they told me to decide on my own.
- Then I went to my teacher, Mrs Promilla.
- She was my favourite teacher in school and fortunately lives in my neighbourhood.
- She told me to go for commerce or arts, as she knew I was not so good at the sciences.
- My friends were forcing me to join non-medical, but I took my teachers advice and chose Arts.
- This decision was very difficult as the whole future depends on this decision.
- The career is based on subjects of senior secondary.
- Now I am very happy.
- I am doing well in studies and also have time to pursue my hobbies.
- I am interested in music and dance, so in the evening I have joined dance and music classes.

Do advertisements influence consumers' decisions?

Yes, certainly advertisements do have an influence. For example, people are likely to prefer a brands whose ad they have seen previously. Advertisements about discounts and offers also make people buy more than they require and sometimes even buy things they might not need.

Who do young people like to ask for advice when making decisions?

Young people like to ask for advice as they lack the experience and confidence to make the decision on their own. As people grow older, they become more confident and ultimately are able to take decisions on their own. Even if they know what decision they want to take, they ask for advice to assure themselves that they are not making the wrong decision.

Do you think it's necessary for kids to make as many decisions by themselves as much as they can?

Yes, I think it is necessary to kids to make as many decisions as possible. If they don't take decisions themselves, they lack the confidence to take decisions in their adult life as well. This makes them indecisive.

Do you think some people can make decisions without asking for advice from others?

Yes, I think some people can make decisions without asking for advice. It depends upon people's nature and field. For example, my sister is very confident about clothes and fashion and she normally goes for shopping alone. She trusts her judgement about clothing more than anybody else's.

Do you think young people are easily influenced by others when they make decisions? Why or why not?

It depends upon the area's culture. In some cultures, old people are respected and valued a lot and their advice is given a lot of weightage. In this case, young people are more likely to get influenced because they are expected to take their advice into consideration. However, it also depends upon the person's nature. Some youngsters are really confident while making decisions and they don't get influenced easily.

What kinds of decisions do young people have to make?

Young people have to make many big decisions like deciding a career, choosing where to live ,choosing a life partner, selecting which hobby to pursue and so on. There are also endless small decisions that they need to take on a day to day basis like what to wear, what to eat, which appliance to buy etcetera.

48. Describe a time when someone asked for your opinion

should say:

Who asked for your opinion

- Why he/she wanted to know your opinion
- What opinion you gave

- And explain how you felt when he/she asked for your opinion
- Well in my country people keep asking for each other's opinion all the time
- Sometimes people like to give their opinions on matters that even do not relate to them.
- They do it to show care and help others.
- Today, I would like to talk about a time when one of my cousins asked me about my opinion on apple and android phones.
- My cousin had recently completed his 10th standard and because he had performed well in his examination, his parents had promised to buy him a new phone.
- Since his parents are extremely wealthy, he had a budget of 70,000 Rs to buy the new phone.
- My cousin reached out to me because I am considered a gadget freak in my family as I love to try new phones and devices that come in the market.
- I have also created a lot of review videos of different technology products like smartwatches, speakers, laptops, and mobiles, etc.
- So, when my cousin started the apple vs android debate, he really wanted to know which product is a better choice and offers the most value for money.
- I explained to him the hardware and software offerings of both devices in detail and discussed with him the different use case scenarios where each device can perform better than the other.
- I told him that Apple devices offered better hardware, camera quality, privacy, and an ecosystem that allows the users to connect seamlessly with other apple products, however, the android devices offered more value for money as they provide all the same features at a much lesser cost.
- Also, android users can do a lot of customizations on their phones as compared to apple devices where the user experience is more controlled.
- Prior to our discussion, my cousin had a very negative opinion about android phones but when I showed him some of the advanced features and tricks that an android device could do, he was really impressed.
- Our discussion went on for almost 4-5 hours and at the end of it, my cousin had a different opinion about the android devices.
- I felt really happy when he came asking for my opinion because I like to engage in such discussions.
- I believe that having a healthy conversation like this helps to increase one's intellect and general awareness about things.
- Although sometimes people can also get into heated arguments, I think that people should learn to respect each other's opinions.

What should a company do when receiving feedback about its products?

I think it should firstly thank the customer for the feedback. Then, it should try to work on the criticism so that they can offer customers better products and services. No company can be successful in today's time if it doesn't work on customer feedback.

Should teachers give advice to children?

Yes, I think children are immature and I think teachers should definitely advise them so children make better decisions. However, I think teachers need to be careful so that the advice doesn't come off as too formal because children and especially teenagers are very rebellious by nature.

Why do some people dislike giving their opinions?

There are many reasons why some people do not like to share their perspectives/ideas about things. Sometimes they lack the confidence or the ability to explain their opinion in detail. They feel that they will be embarrassed if someone would counter their opinion and might not be able to defend their opinion. Another reason could be that some people are just shy in nature and like to keep things close to themselves.

Are there any apps designed for collecting opinions about products or services?

I am not aware of any app that only collects opinions about products but almost all the shopping apps have an option for the users to comment about the products they have purchased from their website. For example, many people write reviews on Amazon shopping app and give ratings for the products available there.

Why do people like to express their opinions on the Internet nowadays?

The primary reason is that people want their voice to be heard and Internet provides them a platform where they can express their views about anything and everything while being anonymous. Internet also provides them a sense of freedom to express their mind without having to worry about what others will think. Also, one can easily choose to engage or disengage in a conversation as per their convenience.

What are the disadvantages of sharing opinions on the Internet?

I think there are many disadvantages of this trend. Firstly, a lot many times people hurt each other's sentiments by writing abusive content online. It is often seen in many chat forums that people are hurling abuses at each other over minor disagreements. Secondly, I think that online discussions are mostly not productive and waste people's useful time.

49. Describe a time you used your cellphone/smartphone to do something important

should say:

What happened

- When it happened
  - How important the cellphone/smartphone was
  - And explain how you felt about the experience
- In today's world, it is hard to question the importance of cellphones
  - They are not just about communication, they are used for many different things.
  - Recently, I used my mobile phone for something I never imagined I would use it.
  - I used to lodge a complaint with the government authorities and I also got immediate redressal for my complaint.
  - I was travelling to Delhi by train.
  - When I boarded, I noticed that the AC in my compartment was not working.
  - I asked the coach's caretaker if they could get it fixed.
  - He said it had just stopped working and nothing could be done about it.
  - It would only be fixed at the final destination.
  - Normally, I am very adjusting, but it was extremely hot and humid that day.
  - So, I decided to tweet a complaint to the railway minister with my phone.
  - I had seen videos on the internet, where people had talked about how they had gotten immediate relief by doing the same.
  - However, I had thought of them as publicity stunts by the government.
  - So I wasn't very hopeful, but within ten minutes, there was an electrician in my compartment.
  - And in another ten minutes, he had fixed the AC.
  - He also scolded the railway employee responsible for my coach and asked him, why he hadn't contacted him straight away when I raised the issue.
  - The employee apologised and told me he didn't think the problem could be solved.
  - I was so surprised with the quick response, but more than that I felt so proud of the government.
  - I could never have imagined it happening four-five years ago.
  - Cell phones have many purposes but I think one of the most important is that it is a tool for an ordinary citizen to directly connect with their elected representatives.
  - It has made the government officials much more accountable and responsive.

Do you think it is too late to call others at 11 or 12 o'clock at night?

Yes, I think it is too late. I normally avoid calling people after 8 o'clock. If it is really urgent, I drop a message on WhatsApp. I value my sleep personally and I am against disturbing other people also.

What can be done to stop cellphone addiction?

I don't think it is easy to stop cellphone addiction. However, the biggest responsibility is with parents. They should have strict check on the amount of time, children spend on cell phone. Secondly, I think parents should set rules like no cell phone usage during dinner or family time. Government could also restrict cellphone usage at public places.

Do you think there should be a law to stop people from making phone calls in public?

I think there might be emergency situations, where it might be necessary to make calls. So I don't support a ban on calling in public places but I do think that we should encourage people to avoid calling as it can be really disturbing. I consider audio calls as a sort of noise pollution and it has a serious impact on our focus and concentration.

Which one is more important, using a cellphone to make phone calls or to read messages? I think it really depends upon the person. Some people like chatting, for them it's about sending and receiving messages, while for others it is about calling.

What are the differences between young people and old people when using a cellphone? Old people mainly use mobile phones for calling and to some extent for chatting. However, young people treat mobile phones like a mini computer. For most youngsters, their whole life nowadays revolves around the mobile phone. They use it for entertainment, for studies, for clicking photos, for shopping, for banking and so much more. The list is really endless.

What do you usually do with a cell phone?

I use my cellphone for many purposes besides calling and chatting with my friends. I use it for playing games like chess and Ludo, listening to music, watching videos, and for navigation. Above all, I use it for photography.

50. Describe a way/change that helps you save a lot of time

You should say:

- What is it?
  - How do you implement it?
  - How difficult is it?
  - And explain how you feel about the way/change
- Time is the only thing in our life that is truly invaluable.
  - If we lose money, we can earn it back, if we lose reputation, we can build it back but if we waste time, it is lost forever. We cannot get that time back.
  - I have learned about the importance of time more and more as I have grown older.
  - I have realised that because of wasting time, I am not able to fulfil my commitments and I fall back on my work.
  - I do a lot of things to save time but one activity that saves me a lot of time is taking a small 10-15 minute nap whenever I feel tired.
  - I started doing this, a few years back after I read an article about advantages of taking a nap in a magazine.
  - It saves me time as it refreshes me.
  - After a nap, my mind feels lighter and I am able to finish my work much quicker.
  - I just close my eyes, keep an alarm and try to lay down.
  - Earlier it was very hard for me but now I can sleep on cue.
  - I don't struggle with it anymore.
  - The challenging part is getting up but my phone's alarm clock has been my saviour in this regard.
  - I do this every four five hours.
  - If I can't find a place to lay down, I just close my eyes and try to switch off my brain for 10 mins.
  - I have noticed I save time, as I have much more free time.
  - I am able to finish my work sooner.
  - I am also less irritated and so I don't get negative thoughts.
  - Without any distractions, I am able to concentrate on things better.

What can schools do to help students learn time management?

Firstly, I think schools should have dedicated lessons on time management. Secondly, they should try to encourage students to have physical or digital planners to schedule their tasks. They should try to teach students about prioritising important activities. Finally, they can work with parents to ensure that these habits are enforced at home as well.

Is it necessary for children to learn time management?

I think it is absolutely necessary. There is too much for today's children to do and it is very easy for them to get overburdened and stressed if they don't manage their time. So, time management is the key to their mental well-being.

Do people who can manage time well become successful more easily?

There is doubt in my mind that this is true. We all have 24 hours in a day. All that matters is how we utilise these 24 hours. People who do it better become successful because they are able to do more.

Do you think parents should be responsible for teaching children to save time?

I learnt saving time by watching my mother. She has a habit - she never sits idle. She does something productive all day - like knitting, reading or gardening. So, I think parents have a big role in teaching children how to manage time. At the same time, I feel teachers also need to play a role by helping children make a time table.

Does technology help people save time? How and why?

Yes and no. Technology does save time as it provides us appliances like washing machines which take a lot less time to finish work. At the same time, people become addicted to mobile phones and computers and they end up wasting time on social media and playing video games.

What can people do to save time?

People can do many things to save time. They can keep a calendar and note down everything, they can plan things ahead, they can stop devoting time to non-important decisions like what to eat, what to wear and so on. However, I think the biggest thing they can do is to stop multitasking as I feel people waste more time when they try to do more things together.

51. Describe a friend you like to talk with

You should say:

- Who is he/she
  - What do you like to talk about
  - Why do you like to talk with him/her
  - And explain how you feel about him/her
- I have many friends and it takes me no time to get comfortable with strangers.
  - Today, I am going to talk one of closest friends, Ravi.
  - I love talking to him and spending time in his company.
  - Ravi and I are childhood friends.
  - I think we first met when we were just 3 years old.
  - Our topics of conversation cover everything.
  - We have talked about politics, technology, books and even movies.
  - And once we start talking, we can continue for ages.
  - It is never-ending.
  - However, the one topic we love to talk about, is sports and especially cricket.
  - Both of us are avid cricket lovers.
  - During the cricket season, we get together and watch almost all the matches together.
  - I love talking to him because he is so knowledgeable about cricket.
  - Whenever I talk to him, I learn something I didn't know before.
  - I also know a lot about cricket but its mostly about Indian players and Indian matches.
  - He follows all the matches.
  - Moreover, it is never boring talking to him.
  - He is a story teller.
  - He doesn't tell facts like facts.
  - He narrates a story.

- I feel lucky to have him in my life.
- Another reason that I like his company is that he is excellent secret keeper.
- I have shared some of my deepest secrets and problems with him.
- I somehow always feel lighter and happier after talking to him.

What are the differences between talking to a friend and talking to a stranger?

I think there are many differences. Firstly, the topics of discussion with a friend are more personal, while with a stranger it is more general like weather, current events. There is also a difference in tone. With friends we are more casual, humorous and even blunt, whereas with a stranger we are more formal and polite. Finally, we are comfortable sharing personal information as there is level of trust, whereas we are more cautious with strangers and avoid revealing too much personal info.

What makes a good listener?

A good listener is one who listens to the other person without interrupting. They also give their full attention to the conversation and avoid distractions like phones and maintain eye contact. Lastly, good listeners are empathetic. They don't just pay attention to the words, but also the emotions and context behind them.

On what occasions do people talk with strangers?

People talk with strangers nearly everyday. Personally speaking, I mostly talked with strangers when I used to travel by a public bus to my school. Nowadays, I talk with strangers mostly at parties.

Do you think people should be honest when talking with friends?

I really think if we can't be completely honest with friends, they are not actually friends. Saying that, I also have a few friends who can't really keep a secret, so I do hide a few things from them.

What do young people talk about when they meet up?

I think young people mostly talk about clothes, movies, fashion, sports and technology. They also talk about their love interests.

Where do young people like to meet?

Young people mostly at places of entertainment like malls, cafes, clubs, restaurants etc. Also, nowadays young people love working out at gyms together

52. Describe a time when you were stuck in a traffic jam

You should say:

- When it happened
  - Where you were stuck
  - What did you do while waiting
  - And explain how you felt in the traffic jam
- I live in a small town and in general, there is not much traffic on the roads.
  - The only time we face traffic jams is when there is a religious procession or a political rally.
  - And most of the times, these are announced beforehand so I rarely get stuck in traffic jams.
  - However, last month I had gone to Jalandhar to buy some clothes for my cousin's wedding.
  - When we went, there was no traffic.
  - On the way back, the main road was shut down as there had been a collision between two buses between Phagwara, my hometown and Jalandhar.
  - Big cranes had to be called to remove the buses from the roads and that took time.
  - This being a main road slowly led to a huge jam.
  - The traffic police tried to get the traffic diverted through the service road.
  - But the road was considerably narrower than the main road and because of that the traffic built up.
  - We were stuck in the jam for at least 2 to 3 hours.
  - At first, we didn't think we would have to wait for so long.
  - We thought it was just busier than normal and things would clear up soon.
  - However, when our car barely moved 100 metres in 15 minutes, my dad went out and enquired about what had happened.
  - We couldn't really back up as there was no space.
  - So, we tried to use the time by playing games and listening to music.
  - To be honest, we also spent a big part whining about government failure, although we all knew such circumstances are unavoidable.
  - I don't think I could describe what we felt at that time.

- We all just wanted the traffic jam to clear up and reach home as soon as possible.
- But the day ended on a happy note as far I as was concerned.
- Because we reached home late, my mother didn't get time to cook.
- And we got Pizzas to eat for dinner.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

Would you rather be in a car or a bus in a traffic jam?

I think I would rather be in a bus, so I can walk and I am not stuck. I can walk the area till where the traffic jam starts and then board another bus there.

Do you like to use public transportation?

Not really. Honestly, public transportation in India is not that good. Firstly, it takes much more time travelling by public transport than by our own vehicle. Secondly, it is also not comfortable as most buses and trains are not maintained regularly. In many cases, they are unclean. However, things are changing for the better.

What are good ways to manage traffic?

The best way to manage traffic is have to a fast and well maintained public transportation. For example, the traffic in Delhi decreased significantly after Metro. Secondly, the government should improve the road infrastructure for example construct flyovers and widen roads.

Do you think the high ways will help reduce traffic jams?

They do to a certain extent, but as the population is increasing and more and more people prefer to travel by their vehicles, it is certainly not the best solution. In fact, they are counter productive as they encourage more people to travel by their own cars.

Do you think developing public transport can solve traffic jam problems?

Yes, certainly. There are examples of many cities in India where traffic has reduced considerably because of improvement in public transportation. If the public transportation is fast, convenient and frequent, most people prefer travelling by it rather than their own vehicle.

How can we solve the traffic jam problem?

I would say the best solution to traffic jam problem is also the solution to most of the problems in today's world - controlling population. However, that is the long term solution. In the short term, I would say improving the public transportation and road infrastructure should be the priority.

53. Describe a quiet place you like to go

- Where is it?
  - How you knew it
  - How often do you go there?
  - What do you do there?
  - And explain how you feel about the place
- It isn't easy to find quiet places in the fast-paced life of today.

- However, I would like to talk about a place where I go quite often and I find great peace there.
- The place I am referring to is a Sikh temple in my hometown, Gurdwara Sukhchainana Sahib.
- I go there once a week, sometimes with family and sometimes with friends.
- Sometimes we walk to the gurdwara and sometimes we go by car. It is about 3 km from my home.
- It is away from the main road, so it is very quiet there.
- Whenever I go there, I do circumambulation of the holy book inside the main hall and pay obeisance to the almighty.
- There is a well-maintained fishpond in the gurdwara, which has many fish species.
- I just sit on the steps of the pond and listen to the holy chants going on all the time there.
- It gives me great peace of mind. makk@r|eLTS
- Sometimes I take some bread from home and feed the fish.
- There are two catfish among the other many, who seem to be talking to me.
- I know it is all my imagination, but I love it over there.
- I feel that the tempo of life has slowed down a bit.
- It is so relaxing to watch the movements of the fish in the water.
- This activity takes all the physical and mental tiredness away from my body.
- I feel very light-hearted after that.
- Even though there is always a great rush in this temple, one can find peace and quiet over there.
- Sometimes, I offer voluntary services in the community kitchen over there.
- Free food is offered to one and all in the community kitchen and this service is round the clock.
- I generally go there on weekends and spend a good two hours over there.

Why are there more noises made at home now than in the past?

Homes are noisier now because many people are working and studying from home because of remote jobs and online classes. Also, now people use more appliances, electronic gadgets and smart devices which contribute to the noise.

Why do old people prefer to live in quiet places?

Old people prefer quiet places because loud noises can be very overwhelming and stressful. Quiet places help them relax and enjoy the peace.

Do you think only old people have time for leisure?

It is true that many old people are retired, which gives them more free time to relax and enjoy their hobbies. However, young people can also find time for leisure activities if they can balance their work, studies, and other responsibilities.

How does technology affect the way people spend their leisure time?

Technology has made leisure time more fun and convenient by offering online games, movies, and social media. But because of technology, people spend less time on outdoor and face-to-face activities.

How do people spend their leisure time in your country?

In my country people spend leisure time watching movies, playing video games, visiting friends and family, shopping, playing cricket with friends on the streets, etc.

Is it easy to find quiet places in your country? Why?

It is very hard to find quiet places in my country because cities are crowded and noisy with traffic and activities. However, rural areas are much quieter and peaceful.

54. Describe something that surprised you and made you happy

You should say:

- What it was
  - Who did this?
  - How you found out about it and what you did
  - And explain why it surprised you and made you happy
- I have been surprised many times but one incident that I remember very vividly is my 16th birthday.
  - My best friend Mansi planned a birthday party for me.
  - I had no idea about it, and it was such a wonderful surprise.
  - My 16th birthday was just a few weeks before the exams.
  - I knew everyone would be busy preparing for the exams, so I decided not to have a party with my friends that year.

- We were in 10th standard, and it was very important to score good grades that year.
- Usually, every year I start planning for my birthday weeks in advance. I am always excited about my big day.
- I was so sad that I would not have a birthday party that year.
- I was jealous of my friends who either had their birthdays after the exams or much before.
- On my birthday, my best friend Mansi called me to her house in the evening to help her with some math problems.
- I didn't find it odd as we do usually study together at each other's house.
- When I reached there, I got the surprise of my life.
- As soon I entered her house, I heard Happy Birthday wishes from all corners of her drawing room.
- All my friends were there, my parents and my sister were there.
- There were decorations and balloons everywhere, and there was a big cake on the table.
- I couldn't believe my eyes. How did she do it, when did she get the time and why are all my friends here and not home studying?
- I had so many questions for her. She told me that she knew how much this day meant to me.
- So, she conspired with my friends to throw me a little surprise party that day.
- They decided to keep it at her house, so I won't figure it out.
- They even studied a bit extra every day that week so they could attend my birthday.
- She even involved my parents. I was surprised that they knew, and they didn't let me know what was going on.
- I was so happy that I got a party and celebrated my 16th birthday with all my loved ones.
- I couldn't thank Mansi enough for making my day so special.

What do people usually spend money on?

People usually spend money on food, clothes, housing, transportation, etc. They also spend money on entertainment, education, electronic gadgets like phones, computers, video games, etc.

Do men and women have different attitudes and feelings about shopping?

Yes, men and women often have different attitudes about shopping. Many women enjoy browsing, taking their time, and waiting for sales and deals, while most men prefer to shop quickly and buy what they need. But this can vary from person to person.

Is it good for people to be unhappy? Why?

No, it's not good to be unhappy. Good mental health is very important for our wellbeing and being unhappy can lead to depression and anxiety. Sometimes it's hard to force the mind to stay positive and in such cases, meditation and deep breathing can help us stabilize our mind and chase the blues away.

How can people be happy?

People can be happy by focusing on good things and being satisfied with what they have in life. Also, people should remind themselves that life can be tough at times but if they stay positive, they can conquer the hurdles and get past the difficult situations. Another way to be happy is to be with people who bring you joy and stay away from negative people who try to bring you down.

Do you think happiness has any effect on people? How?

Happiness is contagious. It spreads and uplifts the moods of everyone around you. It gives meaning and purpose to life. It also has many health benefits like better sleep, lower risk of cardiovascular diseases, stronger immune system, etc.

How do people express happiness in your culture?

People express happiness in different ways in my culture. I think in all cultures, a smile is the most common way to express happiness. In my culture, people express it by celebrating their happiness with their loved ones by having a party, cooking something special, buying gifts, etc.

55. Describe a family member who you want to work with in the future

You should say:

- Who is he/she
  - Whether you worked together before
  - What kind of work would you like to do with him/her
  - Explain how you feel about this family member
- I have always wanted to work in a big multinational company.
  - I would never miss a chance to work in any such company.
  - However, my uncle runs a spare part manufacturing company by the name of Akal Industries.
  - I have seen him grow from a small firm with a handful of employees working under him, to a fairly big company with about 300 employees.
  - I am sure that with his way of working and his rapport with his employees, the day is not far when it will be no less than any MNC
  - I would love to work with him.
  - I would like to do my master's in business management from Canada and then join him.

- I have not worked with him so far, but I have seen him work many times.
- He is in his forties and is tall and very handsome.
- His son Aman is the same age as me, and we are both classmates.
- My uncle has promised that he would allow us to work for his company only after we have both got some degrees from good colleges in hand.
- Aman wants to go for Mechanical Engineering, and I want to do Business Management.
- With different skills in hand, we both would prove to be an asset to the company.
- I would feel very good if I would get a chance to work in my uncle's company.
- Although he has so many employees, he himself also works with the machines with them. He looks after their needs very well.
- All of them are happy working for him.
- He has taken part in many auto fests in India and abroad.
- He gets many orders from abroad and always fulfills them on time even though he has to make his workers work double time.
- He is very quality conscious and if any end product does not meet his expectations, he takes a second to discard it.
- It would be great to work for a person like him and be like him one day.

What do people need to do to change their jobs?

56. Describe a job that one of your grandparents did

- What was the job about
  - Was this only the one job she or he did
  - How you felt about it
- I used to visit and stay with my maternal grandparents during summer vacations in my childhood.
  - And my grandfather told me a lot of stories about his life when we stayed over.
  - My grandfather's story is really inspiring.
  - He did a lot of jobs during his life, but he started a fruit and vegetable seller.
  - My great grandparents were farmers and my grandfather also developed an interest in agriculture due to his parents.
  - So, he did bachelors in agricultural sciences.
  - However, he couldn't find a job in this field at that time.
  - So, he joined his parents in agriculture.
  - But, after sowing of crops, there was not much work on the farm for months.
  - So, to earn a livelihood, he used to buy fruits and vegetables from the neighbouring farmers and sell them in the vegetable market.
  - He didn't earn much, but he was able to support his expenses and didn't have to ask for financial help from his parents.
  - He did this for almost 2 years.
  - After that, he completed his masters and then he got a job in the Punjab university agriculture department.
  - I think today most people would look down on roadside vegetable and fruit sellers, but I proudly tell my friends that my grandfather also used to do it.
  - His story is a story of struggle and hard work.

- He didn't lose hope when he didn't get job, but did something to support himself and studied more to be able to secure a better job.
- He ultimately retired as the head of education department, Punjab.
- I feel very inspired from my grandfather's life story and this job is one of most crucial aspect of his story.

57. Describe something you do to keep fit and healthy

You should say:

- What is it?
  - When you do it
  - Who do you do it with
  - Why is it important to keep fit and healthy
  - Explain why it can help you keep fit and healthy
- I do a lot of things to stay healthy such as morning walks, yoga, cycling, and so on but here I would like to talk about the morning walk.
  - Every day I get up early in the morning and go for a morning walk.
  - I go with my grandfather, who is 80 years old.
  - He has never missed his morning walk in his life.
  - In fact, the secret to his good health is the morning walk.
  - I joined him about a year ago and ever since I also have been very regular.
  - We go to a park near our home.
  - There is a jogging track in the park which is full of activity in those early morning hours.
  - My grandfather and I both wear our tracksuits and walking shoes while walking.
  - During our walk, my grandpa tells me a lot of stories.
  - He has a lot to tell and sometimes I am surprised at his memory.
  - It is important to keep fit and healthy because it helps you feel good and have more energy.
  - It boosts your strength and focus and helps you live longer.
  - Morning walk has a lot of benefits
  - It strengthens the heart and improves blood circulation.
  - It gives you fresh air and a peaceful start to the day.
  - It is a good exercise for all age groups.
  - The young can do a brisk walk and the elderly can do a leisurely stroll.
  - I used to be very fat, in fact, a couch potato, but now I am very fit - all because of the walk and my grandfather who made me do it,
  - There is a laughter club in my hometown.
  - Sometimes they too are there in the park at that time.
  - They come there to laugh out their stress and worries.
  - Their laughter is so infectious that when they laugh, we also can't help laughing with them.
  - So a morning walk is the activity which I do to stay healthy.

You should say:

- What you lost
  - When and where you lost it
  - What did you do to find it
  - Explain how you felt about it
- We all lose something or the other in life.
  - I have also lost many things but here I would like to talk about a very important thing which I lost last year. It was my first Apple iPhone.

- My parents gifted an Apple iPhone 13 to me after I graduated high school.
- It was a very big surprise, and I was so happy.
- I had a phone before, but it was a local brand that didn't cost much.
- I always wanted an iPhone, but my parents told me it was too expensive.
- I did well in my high school exams and was able to get admission in a very good college.
- My parents were so proud of me and gave me an iPhone to celebrate my accomplishment.
- I promised them I would be very careful with it and even got a case to protect it.
- One day I was travelling from Phagwara to Jalandhar by bus.
- The bus that day was very crowded, but I got a seat in the front row.
- I took my phone out to make a call and I thought I put it back in my pocket after the call.
- When I got down at the bus stand, within a minute or two, I realized my phone was missing.
- It either slipped from my pocket, or someone in the bus took it.
- I looked up to see where my bus was.
- It was going to go to Amritsar and had already started moving.
- I started yelling and running after the bus, but I couldn't catch up.
- I tried to stay calm, but I was losing hope.
- I filed a police report and was advised to erase the data and mark it as lost.
- I logged on to my computer and tried using the find location feature but could not track it.
- I also went to an Airtel service centre and got my sim canceled.
- I was devastated and felt so bad about losing my phone.
- I felt I had lost a part of me.
- It had a 12MP camera and I had clicked so many photos with my friends and family.
- I also lost all those photos because I had not backed up my phone.
- I knew my parents were going to be so disappointed in me.
- I wish I had been more careful and kept it in my bag instead of my pocket

What do people often feel after losing things?

After losing things people often feel upset, frustrated, or worried, especially if they lose something important. They may get stressed and anxious while searching for it.

What kinds of things do people usually lose?

People usually lose small and everyday items like keys, wallets, watches, glasses, phones, jewelry, etc.

59. Describe a special day out that cost you little money/didn't cost you much

You should say:

- When the day was
  - Where you went
  - How much you spent
  - Explain how you feel about the day
- Well special days are very important in everyone's life and in our country, people spend a lot on their special days like birthdays, marriages etcetera
  - If on such occasion one doesn't have to spend a lot of money, then it will make the day extra special.
  - I would like to talk about one such special day when I celebrated my birthday party with my friends at a newly opened restaurant in our town.
  - It was my 20th birthday, and all of my friends were asking me for a treat.
  - Since we had tried all the major restaurants in our town, I thought of taking them to a new place.
  - I saw an advertisement in the newspaper about a new theme-based restaurant that had opened in our city.
  - The name of the restaurant was Big Chill Café and it was based on a musical theme.
  - I quickly called the café and made a reservation for 8 people.
  - They told me that per person cost would be around 1000 Rs and I gave them the confirmation.
  - We reached there around 8 PM in the evening.

- As soon as we entered the café we were amazed by the interiors of the café.
- The walls were decorated with huge posters of famous singers.
- The furniture was very trendy, and the restaurant had beautiful lighting.
- In the background famous rock songs were being played
- There were also a lot of musical instruments like guitars and drums lying in all corners of the restaurant
- They had reserved a huge table in the centre for us.
- We quickly ordered some snacks which were also named after famous songs
- The starters were really delicious, and we had a great time enjoying the snacks along with the music.
- After that we ordered some food and surprisingly the waiters also brought a surprise birthday cake which was ordered by my friends.
- But the biggest surprise came when I asked for the bill, and it was only Rs 1000 instead of Rs 8000.
- Initially I thought it was a mistake but when we called the hotel manager they told us that we were their 100th customer so they decided to give us a discount.
- I couldn't believe it. I had never been this lucky before.
- At that moment it felt like I had won a lottery.
- I thanked the manager and told him that he made my birthday extra special.
- I told my parents about it, and they were also very happy to hear this.
- I still remember that birthday vividly because of this one incident.

Going out to have holidays is tiring. Why do people still want to do it?

Why do people like to have days off?

People like to have days off to relax and spend time with family and friends. People can enjoy their hobbies and do things they can't do during workdays.

Do people like to spend their leisure time out in your country?

Yes, many people in my country like to spend their leisure time out. They like going to malls, parks, gardens, temples, beaches, mountains, historical places etc.

60. Describe a contest/competition you would like to participate in

You should say:

- What the contest/competition is about
  - Where the contest/competition will take place
  - When it will be held
  - Explain why you would like to participate in it
- When I was in school, I participated in many competitions.
  - Once I participated in a science fair contest with a team and we won the first prize.
  - Here, I would like to talk about a competition, I would like to take part in.
  - It is a cooking competition.
  - Last summer I spent a week in Chandigarh with my grandparents.
  - There was a culinary school near their home that offered cooking classes.
  - I have always been interested in cooking and have been learning on my own at home.
  - My hometown does not have any such schools, and this was the perfect opportunity to learn from the experts.
  - I took a couple of their baking and cooking classes
  - I was impressed with the quality of the lessons and the hands-on experience I got.
  - I learned that they also have a cooking competition every summer.
  - I had just missed the date that year and they told me to come back and participate next year.
  - It will take place at this school next summer in early June and will be judged by famous chefs from all over Chandigarh.
  - This cooking competition focuses on creating unique and flavorful dishes.
  - There are many 4 rounds and only a few people advance each round.
  - The final showdown is between the final 5 people who reach the last round.
  - It is judged based on taste, creativity, and presentation.
  - I would like to participate in this because I am passionate about cooking and like experimenting with different flavors.
  - I have been cooking for a long time, and I am always trying new recipes.
  - I never follow a recipe and tweak it to make something new and different.
  - My friends and family look forward to eating whatever I make.
  - Cooking gives me immense joy and this competition will give me a platform to showcase my skills and talent.
  - Winning such a contest will boost my confidence and inspire me to pursue cooking as a serious hobby or maybe a career in the future.

Do you think the ability to compete is natural or learned?

I think the ability to compete is a mix of both natural and learned. Some people have a personality that is naturally more competitive, and some learn to compete through experiences and practice. I feel competitiveness can be developed over time.

What kinds of people like to take part in competitions?

I think in their hearts, all people like to compete and see where they stand among others. But some people are confident and want to compete more often. Some people are not so sure but are pushed into competitions by their parents or teachers. The fear of losing takes away the competition spirit from many. Many people realise their potential only after competing.

Do you think it is necessary to encourage people to compete with one another in companies? Yes, it is beneficial to encourage some level of competition in companies as it motivates employees to perform better. However, too much competition can lead to unhealthy rivalry and stress.

What kinds of industries need competition? Why?

Industries like technology, healthcare, entertainment, and retail need competition because it drives innovation and improvements. Competition encourages companies to offer better services, reduce costs, and stay ahead of trends. This benefits both the businesses and customers.

Why are competition shows popular?

Competition shows are popular because they create excitement and suspense. People connect with the participants because of their unique backgrounds, stories, and skills. These shows offer entertainment, drama, and inspiration.

What are the contests commonly seen on TV programs?

Commonly seen contests on TV are talent shows like singing and dancing, cooking contests, quiz shows, game shows, and reality competitions. In India shows like India's Best Dancer, Indian Idol, Bigg Boss, MasterChef India, and Kaun Banega Crorepati are very popular.

61. Describe something you do that can help you concentrate on work/study

You should say:

- What is it?
  - How it helps you concentrate
  - When you do it
  - And explain how you feel about it
- Life has become so fast-paced these days that it often feels like there is too much to do and not enough time.
  - So, concentrating on one thing and doing it well has become quite a challenge.

- Over time, I have tried many techniques to help me concentrate.
- Sometimes, I take a power nap, and other times I practice yoga.
- However, one method that has worked wonders for me is brisk walking.
- Whenever I feel overwhelmed or unable to concentrate, I go out for a brisk walk in the park opposite my house.
- This simple activity helps me sweat out my worries and stress.
- I feel very light and refreshed. I find that I can tackle tasks with full concentration.
- My cousin who is a physiotherapist explained the science behind this exercise.
- Aerobic exercises such as brisk walking release endorphins – chemicals in the brain that make you feel good
- A happy and relaxed mind, in turn, makes it easier to focus.
- I often do brisk walking in the evenings or during breaks when I am studying for long hours, especially around exam time.
- Sometimes, instead of going to the park, I simply take a few rounds on my terrace. • This brief activity is enough to re-energize me and improve my focus
- Walking has additional benefits as well.
- In our largely sedentary lifestyles, it provides much-needed exercise and even helps me shed a few extra pounds.
- Overall, brisk walking has become an essential part of my routine,
- It is a powerful way to clear my mind, regain focus, and stay healthy.
- I genuinely enjoy it and feel proud of how it has positively impacted my concentration and overall well-being.

What can people do to improve their ability to concentrate?

People can improve their concentration by taking regular breaks, practicing meditation, and staying physically active through exercises like walking or yoga. Maintaining a healthy diet, staying hydrated, and minimizing distractions, such as keeping phones away, can also help.

Is it important for children to concentrate on their studies? Why?

Yes, it is important for children to concentrate on their studies because it helps them grasp concepts better, perform well academically, and build a strong foundation for their future.

Can exercise help people improve concentration?

Exercise can significantly improve concentration. Physical activities like yoga, walking, jogging, etc. increase blood flow to the brain and release endorphins, which enhance mood and reduce stress. A happy and relaxed mind, in turn, makes it easier to concentrate.

What kinds of jobs require high concentration at work?

Jobs that involve detailed work, critical thinking, or handling complex information, where even small mistakes can have big consequences. For example, some of these jobs are of doctors, scientists, pilots, accountants, etc.

Do you think technology will harm children's ability to concentrate?

Yes, excessive use of technology can harm children's ability to concentrate. Constant notifications, messaging and multitasking makes it harder for them to focus on one task. They need to learn how to use technology wisely.

Why is it more difficult for children to concentrate nowadays than in the past?

I think it is more difficult for children to concentrate nowadays because they are surrounded by distractions like smartphones, social media, video games, etc. Also, they don't play outdoors as much and are not getting enough exercise which is important for their overall well-being.

62. Describe a traditional product in your country

You should say:

- What is it?
  - When you tried this product for the first time
  - What it is made of
  - Explain how you feel about it
- India is a country rich in tradition and culture. It is known for its diversity across regions.
  - Each state has its unique traditional products
  - Here I would like to talk about a traditional product from Punjab.
  - It is called the Punjabi jutti. Jutti is a traditional shoe made of pure leather, with a closed upper attached to a sole.
  - They are handcrafted by skilled craftsmen.
  - They often feature beautiful embroidery, beadwork, and threading in vibrant colors.
  - Some juttis have delicate, intricate designs, while others are plain or use colored leather for a simple yet elegant look.
  - I remember, the first time I wore a Punjabi jutti was at my cousin's wedding two years ago.
  - I loved the way it looked and how comfortable it was, so I started wearing them regularly.
  - Now I have several pairs in different designs and colors.
  - Punjabi juttis are incredibly versatile and popular among both men and women.
  - They can be worn daily or on special occasions like parties, weddings, and festivals.
  - They were first introduced by the Mughals and were very popular among the royalty.
  - The process of making juttis involves several steps.

- First, the raw hide is processed and dyed. Then the cobblers shape the leather into shoes, followed by stitching and embroidery.
- Each pair reflects the skill and craftsmanship of the artisans who create them.
- I love Punjabi juttis because they're both stylish and comfortable.
- They perfectly blend tradition with functionality.
- They are one of my favorite traditional products

Where should children learn about culture, at school or at home?

Children should learn about culture both at school and at home. At home, they can learn family traditions, customs, and values that have been passed down through generations. At school, they can understand cultural diversity, history, and customs of other communities. Both environments play essential roles in shaping a child's cultural awareness.

Do you think people should be proud of their own culture? Why?

People should be proud of their own culture because it shows who they are and where they come from. It helps them feel confident and connected to their roots. It also helps keep the traditions alive and teaches others about different ways of life.

Why is it important for children to learn about traditional products?

It is important for children to learn about traditional products because it helps them understand their culture and history. It connects them to their heritage and teaches respect for creativity and craftsmanship.

What are some traditional Indian products?

India is a diverse country. There are many traditional products here. We have earthen pots, ceramic pottery of Jaipur, puppets of Rajasthan, phulkari embroidery of Punjab, hand-knotted carpets of Srinagar, and many more.

Do you think traditions are important for a country? Why?

Traditions are important for a country because they keep its history and values alive. They help connect people to their cultural roots and give them a sense of pride and belonging. They also help different generations and communities understand and respect each other.

Why are traditional products important?

Traditional products are important because they reflect a country's history, culture, and craftsmanship. They help preserve old customs and skills that have been passed down through generations. They also bring people together and remind them of their heritage.

63. Describe an invention that has changed the world in a positive way

You should say:

- What is it?
  - What benefits it has brought
  - How it influences people of different ages
  - And explain how it changed people's lives
- Nearly every aspect of life has been impacted by some invention, but one that stands out is the Internet.
  - The Internet has revolutionized nearly everything we do, and its influence is widespread
  - The biggest difference it has brought is how we communicate.
  - We can now talk to anyone, anytime, and from anywhere.
  - It is much easier to remain in contact with our friends and family members through email, social media, and video calls.
  - Life has become faster as communication has become instantaneous.
  - The Internet's impact is not only limited to just communication.
  - It has made a difference to the way we shop, the way we learn, and the way we access healthcare.
  - We can buy anything online, work remotely, take courses from home, and even consult doctors online- all from the comfort of our homes.
  - It has made tasks like banking and paying bills more convenient.
  - The internet allows people to book tickets for flights, trains, buses, and events. This makes the process quick and saves them time and effort compared to traditional methods.
  - The internet influences people of all ages differently.
  - The younger generation uses it for entertainment, playing video games, streaming movies, socializing, etc.
  - However, while the Internet has brought many benefits, it has also had some negative effects.
  - One of the downsides is that it has reduced the respect for the elderly in some ways.
  - In the past, we often relied on older generations for advice, but now we can simply search for information online
  - This shift has made us more independent but also made older people feel less important.
  - Many older individuals also find it very difficult to use and adapt new technology, so they haven't been able to benefit from the Internet in the same way younger generations have.
  - Overall, the Internet has changed people's lives by making many tasks easier, faster, and more convenient.
  - It has connected people globally and transformed the way we live and work.

Do you think AI will replace human teachers? Why?

AI can be useful in education, but it cannot fully replace human teachers. Teachers provide personal care, understanding, and emotional support which AI cannot provide. Human teachers are needed to guide and inspire students.

What kinds of inventions can be used at school?

Schools can use inventions like tablets and laptops to make learning easier and more fun. Virtual reality can be used for immersive learning experiences like exploring space, visiting historical landmarks, conducting virtual science experiments, etc.

What household appliances make us lazy?

Household appliances like washing machines, dishwashers, and robotic vacuum cleaners make tasks easier but make us lazy if we rely on them too much. Instead of doing chores by hand, we let machines do everything.

What is the most helpful innovation at home?

The most helpful innovation at home is the refrigerator. It helps keep food fresh for longer, reducing waste and making it easier to store meals and ingredients. It's an essential appliance for every household.

64. Describe a time you were very busy

You should say: - When it happened - Where were you? - What did you do?

- And explain why you were busy

- Life can very hectic.
- We are all very busy in our day-to-day activities.
- I remember a time when I was very busy.

- It so happened that two months ago my cousin's wedding was fixed.
- The groom was an NRI from Canada and the wedding was to take place within a week.
- My uncle and aunt were very tense about all the arrangements.
- I took over the responsibility and offered to help.
- I took a pen and paper and made a detailed list of tasks.
- Then I distributed duties to other members of my family and close relatives.
- Everyone was very helpful.
- We took it on as a challenge and I remember how little we slept that whole week.
- We booked the marriage palace and the caterers.
- Then we booked the decorators.
- Shopping for trousseau was on my mother's shoulders.
- She was very happy because she is a shopaholic and shopping for wedding clothes was a very enjoyable activity for her.
- My father was busy getting the invitation cards printed and distributed.
- He made a list of all friends and relatives who were to be invited.
- Many relatives who live away were invited on phone only.
- We arranged the DJ also for the ring ceremony and the Sangeet.
- On the actual day of the wedding, I was very nervous, but everything went smoothly.
- I received many compliments for the perfect arrangements.
- Now whenever there is any event in the family, I happily take charge of the planning.
- I have also thought about this event organizing as a career option.
- This career option also came to my mind after watching the movie Band Baja Baraat.

Does technology distract people?

Yes, technology takes away focus and attention. It is easy to get sidetracked from important tasks because of smartphones, endless notifications, and social media.

How does technology help with time management?

Technology can help with time management by providing tools like calendars, reminders, and task lists. There are many apps for planning and scheduling that can help people stay organized.

What kind of pressure people may experience at work?

People may experience various types of pressure at work such as tight deadlines, heavy workloads, and high expectations from managers. Differences in opinions with coworkers, communication issues, or misunderstandings can also lead to stress and tension.

Do you think children should learn through playing games or under pressure?

Children should learn through playing games rather than under pressure. Games make learning fun and help children understand concepts better. Learning under pressure can cause stress and reduce their interest in studying.

What are the advantages and disadvantages when people keep busy?

Staying busy keeps the mind engaged and reduces boredom and overthinking. Overworking and staying too busy can lead to stress and burnout. It may negatively affect physical and mental health.

Are you often busy?

Yes, I am currently working full-time and pursuing an MBA degree online on weekends, which keeps me very busy. Once I complete my degree, I'll have more free time.

  - feel about this person
- India is a land of celebrities, with its vast population giving rise to many renowned personalities.
  - Most of the popular people in India are either movie actors, cricketers, or politicians.
  - Today I would like to talk about a sportsperson who has been a constant source of inspiration to me and the millions of other people in our country.
  - His name is Virat Kohli, and he is a world-famous cricketer.
  - He plays as a right-handed batsman and an occasional unorthodox right-arm quick bowler.
  - He is 36 years old and is considered one of the greatest players in Indian Cricket history.
  - He was the captain of the Indian cricket team in all formats of the game, including Test Cricket, One Day Internationals, and T20I.
  - He retired from T20I format following India's win at the 2024 T20 World Cup.
  - He is also ranked as one of the world's most famous athlete by the Forbes Magazine • He led the Indian Under-19 team to victory in the 2008 World Cup.
  - He made his debut for the national team at the age of 19 and since then he has never looked back and broken a lot of records.
  - He holds the record for scoring the most centuries in ODI cricket and the second highest number of international centuries in international cricket, just behind Sachin Tendulkar.
  - From a personality perspective, he is an aggressive player with a winning attitude and strong commitment towards the game.
  - At the age of 18, he lost his father during a state level match but chose to continue batting to save his team. This incident reflects his dedication and mental strength.
  - Apart from sports, Virat Kohli also does a lot of charity through his foundation which works for better education and healthcare of underprivileged children.

- His personal life also draws attention especially his marriage to Bollywood actress Anushka Sharma in a high-profile wedding in Italy in 2017.
- I deeply admire him for his commitment, passion, and resilience.
- He is a perfect example of how hard work and determination lead to success.
- I hope he continues to bring more glory to India in the years to come.

Do you think popular children will grow up to be popular adults?

Not all popular children grow up to be popular adults. Some may lose their fame as they grow older, while others might continue to succeed if they work hard. It all depends on their efforts and the opportunities they get in life.

Are there any disadvantages if a child is popular at school?

Yes, there can be disadvantages if a child is popular at school. They may experience jealousy from other students. It may be harder for them to make genuine friends. Also, they may feel stressed about keeping up their popularity.

What benefits are there when a child is popular at school?

When a child is popular at school, they often have many friends. They feel supported and enjoy a sense of belonging. This can boost their confidence and self-esteem.

Which one is more important, maintaining a good relationship with colleagues or doing well at work?

I think maintaining a good relationship with colleagues can make the work environment more welcoming and enjoyable. Doing well at work is important for personal growth but strong relationships can lead to better support and long-term success.

Are bosses more popular than employees at work?

Employees who are helpful and friendly can be more popular than strict bosses. On the other hand, an encouraging and supportive boss can be popular too. I think popularity at work depends on the personality of the person rather than their position.

What kinds of people are popular at work?

People who are approachable, friendly, and helpful are often popular. Those who perform well, share knowledge, have a positive attitude, and support their team are also well-liked in the workplace.

66. Describe an occasion when someone gave you positive advice or suggestions about your work/study

You should say:

- Who is the person?
  - What he/she said
  - How the advice/suggestion affected you
  - And explain how you felt about the advice/suggestions
- Throughout life, we often encounter situations where we either give advice to others or seek advice from them.
  - Here I would like to share one such instance, where I received valuable advice from someone.
  - The person who gave me positive advice was my best friend, Raj.
  - I was preparing for an important exam and feeling very stressed.
  - My friend noticed this and told me that instead of focusing on what I have left to study, focus on what I already know.
  - He told me to celebrate the small wins and take breaks when I needed to.
  - He emphasized that it's ok to rest and do something to re-energize myself.
  - He suggested I do a brisk walk on my terrace for 5 minutes and then come back and study.
  - He said to do this every few hours and then come back and study.
  - He explained that doing that will help me melt away my stress and will improve my focus.
  - I would be able to grasp more study material with a focused mind.
  - I decided to follow his advice.
  - I started reviewing the topics I was already confident about and that gave me a boost of confidence.
  - I also took short breaks between study sessions, and it really helped me stay focused and fresh.
  - I was able to finish all the concepts, and I didn't feel any stress.
  - When the exam day came, I felt calmer and more prepared.
  - I'm so appreciative of my friend's advice because it came at a time when I needed it the most.
  - It helped me not only with that exam but also with how I approach stressful situations in general.
  - He taught me the importance of staying positive and taking breaks.

Do you think people care about others' comments about them?

Yes, people often care about others' comments because humans naturally seek acceptance and connection. This is especially true when the comments come from someone important like close friends and family members.

Which is more important for adults in the workplace, positive feedback or negative feedback?

I think both positive and negative feedback are important in the workplace. Positive feedback motivates people and builds confidence while negative feedback highlights the areas for improvement. A balance of both is important for growth and productivity.

Why is negative feedback as important as positive feedback at work or in study? Negative feedback is as important as positive feedback because it highlights areas for improvement, helping people grow and develop their skills. It provides clarity on what needs to change and ultimately leads to better performance.

Do you think negative feedback is more important than positive feedback? Why?

Negative feedback can be more important in certain situations because it helps identify areas that need improvement and helps individuals grow. However, without positive feedback to balance it, negative feedback can discourage and demotivate people, so both are essential for overall development.

Should parents always encourage their children?

Parents should encourage their children most of the time to help them feel confident and motivated. However, it is also very important to give them helpful advice and provide constructive feedback. Parents should help children learn from their mistakes and grow.

When should parents encourage their children?

Parents should encourage children when they are trying something new, facing challenges, or making progress on a task. Encouragement is important when they need confidence and reassurance. It helps them feel supported and they are motivated to keep going.

67. Describe an interesting neighbor

Who is he/she

How you knew him/her

- What do you do together
- And explain why he/she is interesting

- Neighbours are just like family in today's era of nuclear families.
- I have many neighbours and I am very fortunate that all my neighbours are very good.
- Here I would like to talk about my next-door neighbour, Mr. Joginder Singh.
- I call him Jogi uncle.
- I find him very interesting because one can never feel bored in his company.
- He has so many interesting stories to tell.
- I have known him for the past ten years as he moved into our neighbourhood ten years ago.
- I see him every day because I go with him for morning walk daily.
- He is in his eighties.
- He is not very tall but looks very good.
- Even at this age he looks very hale and hearty.
- He generally likes to wear Kurta pajama.
- I believe he is a good neighbour because he is always there whenever anyone needs him.
- He also helped me a lot in my studies.
- He treats me like his grandchild.
- Even though he taught history at college, he helped me in all subjects till my tenth class.
- He is very helpful to all people in the neighbourhood.
- Whenever anyone comes to him for help, he is always willing to help.
- He is a retired history teacher.
- He reads a lot and seems to know something about everything.
- During our morning walk he tells me many stories about his life.
- He is a self made man.
- He told me how he started from scratch after the partition and worked very hard to make a living.
- He has two sons who live in the States but he prefers to lead a simple life in his own home here.
- I love listening to his stories.
- He also has a great sense of humour.
- He can lighten up any tense situation by cracking jokes.
- He has a magnanimous personality.
- He donates his entire pension for charity.
- He believes in simple living and high thinking.
- So, Joginder Singh is the person I like talking to the most.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. How do people build relationships with local people in a new place?

People build relationships in a new place by being friendly, joining local events, or participating in community activities. For example, joining a sports club or volunteering can help them meet others and form connections. Sometimes, small gestures like greeting neighbors or asking for recommendations also go a long way in breaking the ice.

2. Why do many people in big cities not know their neighbors?

In big cities, people are often busy with their own lives and work schedules, leaving little time for socializing. High-rise apartments and gated communities can also create physical and emotional distance. For example, I live in a city where people barely interact because they feel more comfortable focusing on their own routines.

3. Is it beneficial to get along well with neighbors?

Yes, it is beneficial because neighbors can provide help during emergencies and make the living environment more pleasant. For instance, when I was unwell, my neighbor helped me by running errands for me. On the other hand, some people prefer privacy and limit interaction to avoid unnecessary involvement.

4. How do children build relationships with others in a community?

Children build relationships by playing together in parks, participating in school events, or attending community activities. These shared experiences help them bond naturally. For example, I have seen my niece make friends quickly at her local playground by sharing toys or playing group games like football.

5. How can people improve the relationship with neighbors in a community?

People can improve relationships by being approachable, hosting small gatherings, or simply offering help when needed. Celebrating festivals together or organizing community events can also create a sense of unity. However, some may find it difficult due to cultural or language barriers.

6. Do you think people are familiar with their neighbors?

It depends on the location. In smaller towns, people are usually familiar with their neighbors because of close-knit communities. In big cities, though, many people hardly know their neighbors due to their busy lifestyles and limited interaction. Personally, I only know a few of my neighbors despite living in the same building for years.

68. Describe an important event you celebrated

What the event was

When it happened

- Who attended the event?
  - And explain how you felt about the event
- Happy and sad events are a part and parcel of our life.
  - The happy event I am going to talk about here is the wedding of my cousin.
  - I attended this wedding on 15th January.
  - My cousin's name is Deepa.
  - She is my maternal aunt's daughter.
  - All our relatives and friends were invited.
  - Actually the whole week before 15th was busy in the pre wedding celebrations like tilak, sangeet, mehendi and haldi.
  - On the day of the wedding, the marriage palace was decorated like a bride. My cousin also looked beautiful in her sequin spangled lehanga.
  - The baraat came at 5 p.m.
  - High tea was served in which there were lots of cakes and snacks.
  - Then there was the jai mala in which the bride and groom exchanged fresh flower garlands.
  - Then we all danced and enjoyed to the beat of music.
  - After the sumptuous dinner all the guests departed and only the close family was left.
  - Then the priest set up a small fire and the remaining ceremony took place around the fire.
  - The doli took place early morning.
  - It was a very tearful moment for all of us but we were all happy from deep inside as my cousin was beginning her new life.
  - Such celebrations are very common in my country.
  - Since then I have not attended any such ceremony but there is another wedding in the family next month.
  - So, this is the happy event, which I had recently.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Do most people like to share their good news with others?

Yes, most people enjoy sharing their good news because it makes them feel happy and connected to others. Sharing can also bring encouragement or appreciation from family and friends. For example, when I scored well in an exam, telling my parents and friends made the achievement feel even better.

2. Why is it important to celebrate festivals?

Festivals are important because they bring people together and help preserve cultural traditions. They also give a break from routine and spread joy. For example, celebrating Diwali with family by lighting lamps and sharing sweets strengthens our bond and keeps the tradition alive.

3. Do people often celebrate festivals with families?

Yes, people often celebrate festivals with their families because it is a time for togetherness. Families usually gather to cook special meals, decorate homes, or perform rituals. However, some who live far away may celebrate with friends or alone due to their busy schedules.

4. Do people often celebrate events with a large group of people or just a few people? It depends on the event. Birthdays or family dinners are often celebrated with close friends or family, while weddings or festivals might involve larger groups. For instance, my last birthday was a small gathering, but my cousin's wedding had hundreds of guests.

5. What kinds of events do people usually celebrate?

People usually celebrate personal milestones like birthdays, weddings, or anniversaries, and public occasions like festivals or national holidays. Some also celebrate achievements like promotions or graduations. For example, my family held a small party when I completed my degree.

6. Do you like to celebrate important events? Why?

Yes, I love celebrating important events because they create lasting memories and bring happiness. Celebrations also give me a chance to spend quality time with loved ones. For example, I still remember the fun we had during my sister's wedding last year—it brought everyone closer.

69. Describe an ambition that you haven't achieved

What is it?

Why haven't you achieved it

- What are you doing about it now
- And how do you feel about it

- I have many ambitions in my life.

- But the one ambition that I am working on right now is to go for higher education in Canada.
- Earlier I didn't have any plans to go abroad, but a conversation with a friend who went to Canada changed my opinion.
- He told me about the difference in the quality of education and the work opportunities available there.
- So, after completing my senior secondary education, I decided that it would be the best opportunity for me.
- There are two main requisites to get admission in a good Canadian college.
  - The first is good grades in senior secondary education.
  - My grades are pretty satisfactory. So, I didn't have to worry about that.
  - The second is a good score in English language tests like IELTS or TOEFL.
- I learned that Canadian colleges give preference to IELTS and hence I am taking the IELTS exam.
- For the past two-three months, I have been practicing for the exam.
- I ordered the Cambridge books and started my preparation from them.
- There is a lot of free material available on the internet.
- So, I used that to prepare myself.
  - I used to practice for about 8 hours every day.
  - I used to try to cover every IELTS module twice.
  - For listening and reading, I didn't need much help.
  - I just practiced the test papers and looked at my mistakes after that, so I don't repeat them.
  - For speaking and writing, I joined a coaching institute and their teachers helped me a lot.
- I hope to get good bands, so I can move ahead to the next step, which is to apply for an offer letter from a Canadian College.
- I don't think it has been an easy journey.
- English is not my first language and I have had to practise really hard.
- But I hope the fruits of the efforts will definitely be worth the struggle.

1. What are the traits of ambitious people?

Ambitious people are goal-oriented, hardworking, and determined. They often have a clear vision and work tirelessly to achieve their dreams. For example, someone aiming for a promotion might take extra courses and stay late at work to improve their skills.

2. Why do some people like to be the manager in the workplace?

Some people enjoy being managers because it gives them authority and the opportunity to lead others. They might also like the challenge and responsibility that comes with the role. For instance, a person with good leadership skills may feel they can guide a team effectively.

3. How do people balance work and life?

People balance work and life by setting priorities, managing their time, and taking breaks. For example, many professionals make time for hobbies or family after work hours to relax. However, it can be difficult for some, especially in high-pressure jobs.

4. Why don't some people have dreams?

Some people don't have dreams because they might lack motivation or face challenges like financial issues or a lack of opportunities. Others may simply prefer a simple life without big ambitions. For example, someone content with their current lifestyle might not feel the need to dream big.

5. Why are some people very ambitious in their work?

Some people are ambitious at work because they want success, recognition, or financial security. They might also enjoy competing with others or have personal goals to achieve. For instance, a person who wants to start their own company may work hard to gain experience.

6. What ambitions do children usually have?

Children often dream of becoming something exciting like doctors, astronauts, or athletes. Their ambitions are influenced by role models or things they see on TV. For example, a child who watches cricket might dream of becoming a cricketer.

70. Describe a time when you organized a happy event successfully

You should say:

- What the event was
  - How you prepared for it
  - Who helped you to organize it
  - And explain why you think it was a successful event
- I love to organise events.
  - On July 16th last year, it was my mother's 50 birthday and I wanted to do something special for her.
  - However, due to the pandemic, most celebrations were forbidden.

- We were all cooped up inside our houses.
- I decided to give her a surprise online party.
- I asked my sister for advice on how we can make it special.
- We have a large family and we asked every one in the family, all our cousins, uncles, and aunt to record something for my mother.
- It could be anything, there were no restrictions.
- One of my cousins recorded a dance performance, an uncle wrote a beautiful poem, my grandpa sang a beautiful song in Gujarati.
- After receiving all the videos, we combined them into one big video.
- It was not easy though, we had to send reminders and message some of my aunts and uncles again and again.
- Some even sent it one day before the birthday, but they all finally did it.
- Moreover, It was all hard to remind them to keep it a secret.
- We were sure one of our aunts or uncles would spill the beans.
- Thankfully no one did.
- Then, we organised a special get together on zoom for the family.
- This was also hard because some of our relatives live in a different time zone.
- We wanted to choose a time everyone could be available.
- Here we failed to some extent, but some of our relatives couldn't be online at that time.
- The birthday fell on a weekday, so it was just not possible.
- On her birthday, I ordered her favourite- truffle cake.
- And then when everyone joined the zoom meeting, I handed my mom the phone and told her someone wants to wish her a happy birthday.
- She was shocked to see all the family on the meeting.
- Then, she cut the cake, while I held the phone and everyone wished her happy birthday.
- Finally, for the big reveal, we played the video on the TV and recorded her reactions while watching the video and we telecast it on the meeting on a split-screen.
- One screen showing her reactions and the other showing the video.
- My mother had happy tears in her eyes by the end of it all and I think that alone made it a successful event.
- However, others told me it was such wonderfully organised and it was so nice meeting everyone online.
- Even after the video was over, everyone stayed on the meeting and we kept on talking and discussing everyday life.

1. Do you prefer to prepare and organize an activity or just take part in an activity?

I prefer to take part in activities rather than organize them because organizing requires a lot of effort and planning. However, I enjoy organizing when it's something I am passionate about, like a family gathering or a small event.

2. How would you feel when you were not well prepared for something?

When I am not well prepared, I feel anxious and nervous because I fear making mistakes. Lack of preparation can also lead to embarrassment if things don't go as expected.

3. Do people need others' help when organizing things?

Yes, people often need help when organizing things because it can be challenging to manage everything alone. Tasks like planning, setting up, and coordinating require teamwork for better results.

4. Does everything need to be well prepared?

Not everything needs to be fully prepared, but important events or tasks do require proper planning. Being prepared helps things run smoothly, but some situations can also work out well spontaneously.

5. On what occasions do people need to be organized?

People need to be organized during occasions like weddings, exams, or work presentations. These situations require planning to avoid chaos and ensure success.

6. How can parents help children to be organized?

Parents can help children become organized by setting routines and teaching them to manage their time. Encouraging them to keep their study area clean or plan their day can build good habits over time.

71. Describe a skill that you learned from older people

You should say:

- What is the skill?
  - Who you learned it from
  - How you learned it
  - And how do you feel about it
- I have learnt many skills in my childhood from people around me in my life.
  - Here I would like to talk about a very useful skill of cooking, which I learnt from my grandmother.
  - My grandmother is in her sixties and she is very tall and beautiful.
- She has a gifted hand in cooking.
- She has her unique way of teaching how to cook.
- She never made us feel as if she was teaching us.
  - She just kept us involved in the kitchen while she cooked.
  - We learnt a lot just by observing her.
  - I learnt cooking because I too want to be able to cook like her.
  - I also learnt cooking because it is a very useful skill in today's time.
  - Moreover, as I plan to go abroad for my higher education, this skill will be very useful.

- I will not face any food problems.
- I am a vegetarian and I have heard that veg. food outlets are very few in foreign countries.
- This skill has proved very useful because many times I have been able to attend to guests when my mother was not at home.
- My grandmother not only taught me simple routine cooking but also some Chinese dishes.
- She also taught me how to make pizzas in the electric tandoor.
- She also bakes excellent cakes.
- Whenever anybody in our neighbourhood celebrates a birthday, the cake is always baked by my grandmother.
- She loves experimenting in the kitchen and she has many of her own recipes which are quick and easy and at the same time very delicious.
- She also presents her dishes very well.
- She says that the look of the dish is as important as its taste.
- I am fortunate, I have a talented grandmother who has taught me this useful skill.

1. Do you think many old people in your country feel lonely?

Yes, many old people in my country feel lonely, especially those whose children live far away or are too busy with their own lives. They often lack social interaction and companionship, which can make them feel isolated. Spending more time with family can help reduce their loneliness.

2. What new skills can old people learn?

Old people can learn skills like using smartphones, computers, or even gardening. These activities can keep them mentally active and connected to the world. For example, learning to video call can help them stay in touch with their families.

3. What knowledge can children learn from their grandparents?

Children can learn valuable life lessons from their grandparents, such as moral values, family traditions, and patience. Grandparents often share stories from their past, which can teach children about history and resilience.

4. What skills can young people learn from older people?

Young people can learn skills like cooking, sewing, or managing finances from older people. They can also learn soft skills like problem-solving, communication, and how to stay calm under pressure through the experiences of older generations.

5. What kind of help do you think older people need?

Older people often need emotional support, medical care, and help with daily tasks like cooking or shopping. Providing them with companionship and ensuring they feel valued are also important forms of support.

6. What can children learn from their parents?

Children can learn discipline, time management, and problem-solving from their parents. Parents also teach children how to make good decisions and develop a strong sense of responsibility.

72. Describe a long walk you ever had

You should say:

- When this happened
  - Where you walked
  - Who you were with
  - And explain how you felt about this long walk
- I go for a walk every morning, but that is only for about 30-40 minutes.
  - Here, I would like to talk about a long walk that I did in December.
  - It was a trek of 14 kms, which started from Dharamkot (near Macleodganj) in Himachal and ended at Triund.
  - Dharamkot to Triund is 7 kms, so the total trek is 14 kms.
  - My cousin had told me about this trek and so I also wanted to do it.
  - I went there with four of my friends.
  - We drove in our car and stayed at a hotel in Macleodganj.
  - We woke up early the next morning and got ready.
  - We wore comfortable clothes and walking shoes for the trek.
  - After having breakfast, we drove in our car till Dharamkot.
  - From there we started our trek at around 9:00am.
  - It was a clear and sunny day.
  - We were all very excited and the first 3 kms were covered quickly.
  - However, when we reached the halfway point, most of us were very tired.
  - We stopped for some refreshments and a break, at a tea stall.
  - The view from that tea-stall was mesmerizing and breath-taking.
  - Then we resumed our trek and finally, after 4 hours of walking, we reached Triund.
  - The view there was spectacular.
  - The beauty of the Himalayas awed us.
  - There were also some snow-covered areas and we enjoyed playing with the snow.
  - We took a lot of pictures there.
  - We had delicious lunch there, which was freshly cooked and started the journey back to Dharamkot.
  - The trek back didn't take us as long and we were back in Macleodganj by 6.30pm.
  - It was an exhilarating (amazing) experience and we all felt rejuvenated and recharged.
  - Whenever we meet, we still reminisce (talk) about that trip and how amazing the experience was.

1. Do you think that walking is not as helpful as playing other sports for our health?

Walking is still very beneficial for health, even though it may not be as intense as other sports. It helps improve cardiovascular health, manage weight, and reduce stress. It's a simple and accessible activity for all age groups, making it very helpful for overall well-being.

2. What are the benefits of outdoor activities for children?

Outdoor activities help children stay physically fit, improve their social skills, and enhance their creativity. They also provide an opportunity for children to develop a love for nature and a sense of responsibility. Additionally, outdoor play can improve their concentration and mental health.

3. Do women have more leisure time than men?

In many cases, women tend to have less leisure time than men, especially in societies where they are expected to manage household chores and childcare. However, this can vary depending on individual circumstances, family dynamics, and work situations.

4. Is leisure time important to everyone? Why?

Yes, leisure time is important for everyone because it allows people to relax, recharge, and reduce stress. It also gives them the opportunity to pursue hobbies, spend time with family and friends, and improve their overall well-being.

5. What are the differences between the outdoor activities children did in the past and now? In the past, children spent more time playing outdoors in nature, like climbing trees or playing in parks. Nowadays, many children prefer indoor activities such as video games or watching TV. Technology and urbanization have contributed to these changes.

6. What outdoor activities do people like?

People enjoy a wide range of outdoor activities, such as hiking, cycling, jogging, and playing sports like football or basketball. Many also like activities like picnics, gardening, or simply walking in parks to enjoy nature.

73. Describe something that you can't live without (not a computer/phone)

You should say:

- What is it?
- What do you do with it
- How it helps you in your life
- And explain why you can't live without it

- Well, it's very difficult to think of something apart from my phone because it's the only thing that is with me all the time.

- But if I have to talk about something else, it would definitely be my scooter/bike.
- I honestly can't imagine my life without it because I would feel so dependent without it.
- I got my first vehicle as a gift from my parents on my 18th birthday when I completed my secondary education.
- I still remember how excited I was when I received it; it felt like a huge milestone in my life.
- Having my scooter/bike has made my life so much easier and more convenient.
- It allows me to go anywhere whenever I want, without having to rely on my parents or public transport.
- I can catch up with friends, go to college/work, and even run errands independently.
- Public transport can be expensive and time-consuming, so my scooter/bike saves me both time and money.
- Before I had it, I was more of a stay-at-home person, but now I've become more outgoing and confident.
- It even helped me join a gym that was far from my home, something I wouldn't have considered earlier.
- The time it saves me is incredible—commutes that would take much longer by bus are now quick and hassle-free.
- It has given me a sense of freedom and flexibility that I truly value in my daily life.
- My scooter/bike has become an essential part of my routine, and I can't imagine how I'd manage without it.
- Overall, it's not just a mode of transportation; it's a tool that has transformed my lifestyle and independence

1. Do you think it is good for a child to always take his or her favorite toy with them all the time? I think it's natural for children to feel attached to their favorite toy, and it can be comforting for them. However, I believe it's also important for children to learn to be independent and adapt to situations without always relying on their toy. Finding a balance between attachment and independence is important for their growth.

2. Why do all children like toys?

I think children love toys because they help them explore and understand the world around them. Toys stimulate their imagination, offer a sense of fun, and help them develop motor skills and creativity. It's also a way for children to learn and interact with others in a playful environment.

3. What do you think influences people to buy new things?

From my experience, people often buy new things because of advertisements, trends, or social media. The desire to have the latest products or to keep up with new technology also plays a big role. Personally, I also find that the excitement of owning something new can make me want to buy it.

4. Is the way people buy things affected? How?

Yes, I believe the way people buy things has definitely changed. Online shopping has made it so much easier to browse and purchase items, and I often find myself comparing prices or reading reviews before buying something. The convenience of shopping from home has made it much more accessible.

5. Why do some grown-ups hate to throw out old things (such as clothes)?

I think some grown-ups hold on to old things, like clothes, because of sentimental value or memories attached to them. Personally, I sometimes find it hard to let go of items because they remind me of past experiences. Others may hold on to things because they think they might need them again someday.

6. Why are children attracted to new things (such as electronics)?

Children are often drawn to new things like electronics because of their exciting features and bright, engaging designs. I think the interactive and entertaining nature of modern electronics really captures their attention. It's something new and fun that keeps them entertained.

74. Describe a person you only met once recently and want to know more about

You should say:

- Who is he/she
  - When you met him/her
  - Why do you want to know more about him/her
  - And explain how you feel about him/her
- I am a very friendly person and can easily begin a conversation.
  - I like to talk to people at work, events, parties, and even on my daily commute.
  - I usually forget about people I have met only once, and I am not likely to meet again.
  - However, there is one person I remember vividly who I met only once.
  - He left quite a mark on me, and I couldn't help thinking about him the next day and for many more weeks.
  - I met him on the train while going to my cousin's home in Karnal
  - He was sitting next to me and reading a newspaper.
  - I was really bored, my phone was discharged, and it was a long journey.
  - I asked him if I could borrow the crossword puzzle page from his newspaper.
  - He gave me the puzzle page and I worked on it for some time.
  - I gave it back to him and he inspected the questions I couldn't answer.
  - He started to help me with those questions. He knew everything I couldn't answer.
  - I was really impressed and asked him how he knew all that.
  - He told me he was a reader and reads every single day – books and newspapers
  - We started to talk more, not only was he knowledgeable, but he was also very witty and funny.
  - We could hold an actual conversation the entire trip.
  - He told me more about himself. His name was Nitin. He was a few years older than me.

- He was from Delhi and had gone to Chandigarh for the weekend.
- Besides reading, he loved to travel in his free time, hike, explore new cities.
- I also have this love for travelling and we exchanged stories about interesting places we had visited.
- He told me he was a computer engineer and had a stressful job.
- However, he made sure to rejuvenate himself by doing things he loved.
- I had just started my first job and had been so inundated with the workload.
- I was having a hard time with work-life balance.
- His words left me feeling happy, motivated and inspired.
- I lost track of time and very soon my station was there.
- I had a short train stop and had to get off quickly.
- I wish we had exchanged contact information.
- It's hard to find people who have such positive energy.
- I would certainly like to know more about Nitin and have him in my life as a friend and a mentor

1. What should we not talk about when we meet a person for the first time?

When meeting someone for the first time, it's best to avoid talking about sensitive topics like politics, religion, or personal finances. These topics can be uncomfortable and may lead to disagreements. It's better to stick to light and neutral subjects until you get to know the person better.

2. What can we do to leave a good impression on people we meet for the first time?

To leave a good impression, I think it's important to be polite, listen attentively, and show genuine interest in the other person. Being positive and respectful makes people feel comfortable around you, and that can lead to a lasting good impression.

3. What qualities make true friends?

I believe that true friends are those who are trustworthy, supportive, and understanding. They are always there for you in both good times and bad, and they respect your feelings and opinions. Loyalty and honesty are qualities that I value most in a true friend.

4. Is it important to have the same hobbies and interests when making friends?

It's not essential to have the same hobbies, but sharing common interests can help build a connection. I think that what matters more is mutual respect and understanding. Differences in hobbies can make friendships more interesting and provide opportunities to learn from each other.

5. On what occasions do people like to make friends?

People often make friends in social situations such as school, work, or at events like parties or gatherings. It's easier to make friends when you are in environments where you can interact with others and share experiences.

6. How do people make friends in India?

In India, people usually make friends through school, college, work, or even through family connections. Social gatherings and community events also play a big role in meeting new people. I think people in India tend to build strong relationships through shared cultural and social activities. Nowadays people also make friends through social media.

75. Describe a course that impressed you a lot

You should say:

- What the course was about
  - Where you took the course
  - What did you do during the course
  - And explain why it impressed you a lot
- I took a photography course last month which really impressed me a lot.
  - I have always been interested in photography and I like taking pictures with my smartphone and camera.
  - My brother got me a digital SLR camera on my birthday this year.
  - I have used a point-and-shoot camera before but never used a DSLR camera.
  - It had so many features and a big lens and at first, it looked very daunting.
  - I started to take pictures in auto mode but was not able to understand the manual settings.
  - My brother advised me to take a digital photography course to get started.
  - Ever since the pandemic, the number of online courses has increased globally.
  - I was able to find many online courses related to digital photography on websites like Skillshare and Udemy
  - I bought the Photography Masterclass course on Udemy. It had a lot of good reviews and was recommended by many students.
  - This course had over 25 hours of videos and everything was explained thoroughly with a lot of visual and written examples.
  - All the instructors were very knowledgeable and started from the very basics.
  - I learnt about aperture, shutter speed, depth of field, lens and camera workings, F-stop, ISO, etc.
  - I also learnt to take photographs in different scenarios like landscapes, family portraits, wildlife.
  - It helped me understand the importance of lighting in photography and when to use flash vs natural lighting.
  - In all, it was very comprehensive, easy to follow along with, and made learning very fun.
  - It had activities at the end of every lesson, and I had to put what I had learned into practice.

- It gave me the confidence to take my camera off auto mode and use manual settings.
- I was very impressed with the kind of pictures I was taking by the end of this course.
- I was also able to edit pictures using the techniques I learnt in this course.
- Even the photographs I took with my smartphone were better than before.
- It truly helped me be a better photographer and I will recommend it to anyone who wants to learn photography.

1. What can we learn from history?

History teaches us about the mistakes and achievements of the past. By learning about history, we can understand how societies have developed, avoid repeating past errors, and appreciate the progress we've made. It also helps us learn about different cultures and traditions.

2. What do people need to remember in their daily lives?

In daily life, it's important to remember tasks, appointments, and responsibilities. We also need to remember to take care of our health, maintain relationships, and stay organized. These things help ensure we lead a balanced and successful life.

3. Can technology help people remember things better? How?

Yes, technology can help people remember things better by providing tools like reminders, calendars, and apps designed to store and organize information. For example, phone apps can remind us of tasks or appointments, making it easier to stay on track.

4. Which can help people remember things better, words or photos?

I think photos can sometimes be more effective than words when it comes to remembering things. Visual memories tend to stick longer, and a photo can evoke emotions and memories in a way words can't. However, words can be useful for detailed information or when we need to recall specific facts.

5. Do people like things of memorial significance?

Yes, people often value things of memorial significance because they hold sentimental value. Items like family heirlooms, photographs, or gifts can remind people of important moments and loved ones, helping preserve memories for years to come.

6. Why do some people have a better memory than others?

Some people have a better memory due to a combination of genetics and lifestyle. Factors like brain health, stress levels, and how actively a person engages in mental exercises can play a role. A person who regularly challenges their brain with learning and puzzles might retain more information.

76. Describe something that was broken in your home and then repaired

You should say:

- What is it?
- How was it broken
- How you got it repaired
- And how you felt about it

- Nowadays, I normally buy a newer model rather than getting old things repaired.
- However, recently our washing machine broke down and as it was under warranty, we decided to get it repaired.
- The machine just stopped working.
- When we switched it, the lights didn't come on.
- At first, we thought that there might be a problem with the socket.
- However, when we plugged another electronic device into the socket it worked.
- That's when we knew the machine was broken for sure.
- I am not sure of the reason but I think it was voltage fluctuation.
- It rained pretty heavily and due to the rain, there was a voltage fluctuation in our area.
- The fluctuation probably burnt one of the electronic circuits in the machine.
- We had purchased the machine just a few months before that incident, so it was under warranty.
- We called the company and they scheduled a technician visit to our house.
- The repairman told us that the main circuit was burnt, but he was also not sure what caused that.
- He said that the part was made to order, so he ordered the part and told us that when he receives the part, he will come again and replace it.
- I thought it would be quick but it took a whole week.
- Due to corona, there were shipment delays.
- Electronic equipments do break down.
- So, it wasn't a big deal.
- But the time we had to wait to get it repaired was much more than we had anticipated.
- The repairman had warned us that it might take some time, but even he didn't think it would take a whole week.
- The laundry just piled up and we just waited.
- However, one good thing that happened was that I took out some clothes that I hadn't worn in a long time.
- My favourite clothes were sitting in the laundry and I had no option.
- Two days after the repairman came and fixed it, we got an apology email from the company.
- We all really appreciated that. I don't think the company was at fault and yet they apologised.

1. What kinds of things are easily repaired?

Things like clothes, shoes, and simple household items such as furniture or small appliances are usually easy to repair. These items often require basic tools and skills, and repairs can be done quickly without needing professional help.

2. Do you think luxury products are of better quality?

Generally, luxury products tend to be of higher quality because they are made with better materials and craftsmanship. However, sometimes the price tag is more about the brand reputation than the actual quality. For instance, some expensive products may not always be the most durable or practical.

3. Why do people like to get their mobile phones repaired in specialized stores?

People prefer specialized stores for mobile repairs because the technicians there are experts with experience in handling specific phone models. These stores offer reliable service, use genuine parts, and often provide warranties on the repairs, which gives customers peace of mind.

4. What kinds of things do people like to repair by themselves?

People often like to repair small things like clothes, shoes, or simple home items like broken chairs or vases. Some also enjoy fixing electronics like computers or phones, especially when it involves replacing batteries or fixing minor issues.

5. Is the quality of products worse than before?

In some cases, the quality of products may seem worse than before because many manufacturers focus on reducing costs to make items more affordable. As a result, some products are made with cheaper materials, which may reduce their durability. However, there are still many high-quality products available on the market.

6. Are IT-related jobs valued more by society?

Yes, IT-related jobs are generally valued more by society because technology is deeply integrated into our daily lives. IT professionals are needed to develop, manage, and secure systems that we rely on, which makes these jobs essential in today's world.

77. Describe someone you really like to spend time with

You should say:

- Who is this person?
- How you knew him/her
- What you usually do together
- And explain why you like to spend time with him/her

- If I had to talk about myself, I would say I am very reserved person and it takes a lot of time to become familiar with strangers.
- However, I love spending time with my family.
- I am very close to both my parents but as we are all working (as they are working and I am studying), its hard for us to spend time together.
- The person I do spend a lot of time together with is my nephew- my sister's child.
  - He is nearly five years old.
  - He is very special to me.
  - There are many reasons for that.
- Firstly, everyone says that he looks like me and secondly, we both like spending time with each other.
- I think the reason for that is we feel very comfortable with each other.
- I get to act like a child around him and I miss being a child.
- He is also like me – very shy with strangers and he is very naughty – just like I was in my childhood.
- So, spending time with him reminds me of my childhood in some ways.
- In my childhood, I was in a hurry to grow up but now I sometimes wish I could reverse time and bring back my childhood.
- There are so many things we do together.
- But something that we really enjoy doing is to play pranks on Deepa, my sister and his mother.
  - I think we can do that all day long.
- We also both love eating chocolates, so whenever we can, we try to buy and eat chocolates secretly.
- However, I do get scolded sometimes as I am the adult.
  - I also have a dog and so we both like playing with her.
- We love taking her out on walks and feeding her.
- In the evening, I take my nephew to the park and just spend time on the swings there.
- Sometimes, I wish he would always remain a child, but I know that's not going to happen even if I wish for it a million times.

1. Do you think it is important for us to get along with different kinds of people?

Yes, it is very important to get along with different kinds of people because it helps build strong relationships and promotes understanding. Interacting with diverse individuals broadens our perspectives and makes it easier to collaborate in both personal and professional settings.

2. Do you think it's important to spend some time alone?

Yes, spending time alone is important as it allows for self-reflection, relaxation, and personal growth. It helps clear the mind, reduces stress, and gives us the opportunity to recharge, making it easier to handle challenges and interact with others more effectively.

3. Do you like talking with older people? Why?

Yes, I enjoy talking with older people because they have a wealth of life experience and wisdom. Their stories and advice often provide valuable insights into various situations and help me learn from their experiences.

4. Do people have time for themselves nowadays?

It can be difficult for many people to find time for themselves these days due to busy schedules. With work, family responsibilities, and other commitments, it's easy to feel overwhelmed. However, it's important to prioritize personal time for mental and emotional well-being.

5. How do leaders get along with their subordinates?

Leaders who are approachable, respectful, and communicate effectively tend to get along well with their subordinates. They show empathy, listen to their team's concerns, and create a supportive environment, which fosters trust and cooperation.

6. What kinds of people are easy to get along with?

People who are open-minded, respectful, and have a positive attitude are generally easy to get along with. They listen without judgment, adapt to different situations, and are understanding of others' perspectives, making interactions pleasant and comfortable.

78. Describe a special cake you received from others

You should say:

- When it happened
  - Where it happened
  - Who you got the cake from
  - And explain why it's a special cake
- My birthday falls on June 23rd.
  - During these days, there is summer vacation in Indian schools and most of friends go out to visit their relatives.
  - So, I mostly celebrated my birthday with my family, my parents and my sister.
  - However, last year because of the pandemic, most of my close friends were home and they gave me surprise party on my birthday.
  - And the best part of the party was the cake.
  - It was a very well thought of cake.
  - The cake was in the shape of the mouth and above it there was a can of Pepsi, with dark chocolate pouring down in the mouth of the cake.
  - My friends specially got it custom made.
  - Pepsi and Dark chocolate are my favourite things in the world.
  - The cake showed me that my friends really thought about me.
  - Secondly, it just looked amazing.
  - I never thought anyone could make such a cake in my small town.
  - So, I couldn't even believe the cake.
  - And everything was edible, even the can was made out of cake.

- For ten minutes, everyone was busy taking pictures of the cake.
- Even my friends said that the cake turned out better than they expected.
- But that was just the looks.
- It tasted even better than it looked.
- I don't like sweet food, in fact, I hardly have desserts because of this reason.
- My friends had even made sure that the cake had minimal sugar.
- It was sweet but it was the right amount of sweet.
- And finally, there was a surprise element, the cake had a tinge of coffee.
- Coffee is also one of my favourites and the coffee just uplifted the taste of the dark chocolate even more.
- Overall, it was one of the best birthdays I ever had. It was one of the rare times I was able to celebrate it with my friends and their thoughtfulness with the cake made me realise how lucky I am to have such friends.

1. What do you think of people using their mobile phones during a meal?

I think it can be distracting when people use their mobile phones during a meal. It takes away from the experience of spending quality time together and can make conversations less meaningful. However, occasionally checking the phone for important matters is understandable.

2. In your country, do people nowadays cook at home as frequently as people did in the past?

In recent years, many people in my country have been cooking less at home, mainly due to busy schedules and the availability of ready-made food. However, traditional home-cooked meals are still very important in many families, and some people make time to cook, especially on weekends or during festivals.

3. Do you think it's good to communicate when eating with your family?

Yes, I believe it's great to communicate during meals with family. It's a time to catch up, share experiences, and bond. Having meaningful conversations during meals strengthens relationships and creates lasting memories.

4. Why are some people willing to spend a lot of money on meals on special days? Some people are willing to spend more on meals during special days because they want to celebrate and make the occasion memorable. It's often a way to treat themselves and their loved ones to something special, whether it's a holiday, birthday, or anniversary.

5. Is there any food in your country that is eaten at special times or on special occasions?

Yes, in India, certain foods are associated with special occasions. For example, sweets like ladoos or halwa are commonly prepared during festivals like Diwali or weddings. Also, dishes like biryani are often served during celebratory gatherings.

6. What are the differences between special food in India and other countries?

In India, food is often linked to cultural and religious celebrations, and meals are prepared with a variety of spices. Special foods in India are typically rich in flavor and texture, with a focus on vegetarian dishes in many regions. In other countries, special foods may also be tied to occasions, but the types of dishes may be simpler or centered around meat, with different preparation styles and ingredients depending on the culture.

79. Describe an interesting song

You should say:

- What is the song?
  - What story the song tells
  - Whether the song is popular
  - And explain why you think it is interesting
- I love music and I love listening to Hindi and Punjabi songs.
  - Most of these songs are very meaningful.
  - Here I would like to talk about a Punjabi song by a famous Punjabi singer GurdasMaan, which I find very interesting.
  - The name of the song is Boot Polishan. • It is from his album Boot Polishan
  - It was released in 2008.
  - The song gives the message that work is worship.
  - Instead of begging for money a person should work and earn.
  - It does not matter if the work is big or small such as polishing shoes of people.
  - If a person works and earns, he can always hold his head high.
  - I heard this song about two years ago and since then it has become my favourite song.
  - Actually, Gurdas Mann is my favourite singer.
  - He is a multifaceted personality.
  - He is a singer, actor, director and a lyricist as well.
  - He writes the lyrics of his songs himself.
  - He has also acted in many Punjabi movies.
  - All my family members also love his songs.
  - When we go out anywhere together we play his songs in the car.
  - All his songs have good messages.
  - He even performs in stage shows.
  - He always has his tambourine in his hands when he performs.
  - There is a village near my hometown where he comes every year and performs for charity.
  - I went there last year.
  - It was an electrifying experience.

1. Are foreign songs popular in your country?

Yes, foreign songs are quite popular in my country. Many people enjoy listening to international music, especially from Western countries like the US and the UK. Pop, rock, and hip-hop are particularly popular, and people often enjoy discovering new genres and artists from around the world.

2. Do you like to watch music TV programs? Why?

I enjoy watching music TV programs because they allow me to discover new songs, artists, and music videos. It's also a fun way to stay updated on trends in the music industry and enjoy live performances from various genres. It's also relaxing and entertaining.

3. What are the differences between live concert and online concert?

A live concert is an in-person experience where you can feel the energy of the crowd, hear the music up close, and interact with the performers. An online concert, on the other hand, is virtual, where you watch a pre-recorded or live-streamed performance on a screen. While online concerts are convenient, they lack the immersive atmosphere and connection that a live concert provides.

4. What kinds of people like traditional music?

People who are interested in their cultural heritage and history tend to like traditional music. It is often loved by older generations who have grown up with it, as well as by those who appreciate the deep connection to cultural roots and the storytelling aspects of the music.

5. What kinds of music do young people like?

Young people today tend to enjoy a wide variety of music genres, with pop, hip-hop, and electronic dance music (EDM) being especially popular. They also like to listen to international artists and explore fusion genres that mix different styles of music, including Indian and Western influences.

6. Why are many music competitions popular in India?

Music competitions are very popular in India because they provide a platform for young, aspiring singers to showcase their talents. They also attract a wide audience as people enjoy watching the talent and emotional stories behind the contestants. These competitions often discover new stars, making them a source of entertainment and inspiration for many. For example, people like watching Indian Idol and Saregama music competition.

80. Describe an interesting discussion you had with your friend

You should say:

- What the discussion was about

- What opinions you and your friend had
  - Why do you think the discussion was interesting?
  - And how you felt about it
- I am a person who loves meaningful conversations and discussions.
  - I enjoy talking about a variety of topics like politics, sports, religion, economics, stock markets, health, education, and the environment.
  - Today, I would like to talk about a discussion I had with my friend Gurleen.
  - The discussion was about our future education and career.
  - We specifically discussed which country would be the best for pursuing higher education.
  - The debate was about whether to continue studying in India or move to a developed country like the USA, Canada, the UK, Australia, or European nations.
  - We explored the pros and cons of studying abroad during our conversation.
  - My friend highlighted the challenges, like the high cost of education abroad and the emotional difficulty of being away from family.
  - On the other hand, I emphasized the positives, such as exposure to a new culture, gaining confidence and independence, and acquiring valuable skills.
  - We also shared insights from YouTube videos we had watched on the topic.
  - Additionally, we discussed the experiences of friends who had moved abroad; some had positive feedback, while others found it to be a struggle.
  - This discussion was particularly interesting because it allowed us to organize our thoughts and gain new perspectives.
  - Before the conversation, our ideas were just scattered opinions, but afterward, they felt more structured and informed.
  - I appreciated that despite having different views, we didn't argue and instead respected each other's perspectives.
  - I felt great about the discussion because it was not just enlightening but also strengthened our friendship.
  - Overall, it was a meaningful exchange of ideas that left me feeling more informed and openminded.

1. Why do some young people refuse to communicate with others?

Some young people refuse to communicate with others because they may feel shy, anxious, or insecure. Social pressures, fear of judgment, or past negative experiences can also make them hesitant to open up. Additionally, some may prefer solitude or feel overwhelmed in social situations.

2. Should parents consider their children's opinions on everything? Why?

Parents should consider their children's opinions, but it may not always be necessary to agree with them on everything. Listening to their views helps develop their confidence and decision-making skills, and it can improve the parent-child relationship. However, parents should also guide their children when necessary, as they have more experience and knowledge.

3. In what industries do you think communication is a necessary skill?

Communication is a necessary skill in almost every industry, but it is especially crucial in fields like marketing, sales, customer service, healthcare, teaching, and media. Effective communication helps build relationships, convey information clearly, and resolve conflicts, all of which are vital for success in these sectors.

4. Should parents require their children to obey them?

Parents should require their children to follow rules, as discipline helps guide behavior and ensure safety. However, it's important for parents to also explain the reasons behind the rules and allow room for discussion, so children can understand the value of following them rather than just obeying blindly.

5. Do children have strong opinions?

Yes, children can have strong opinions, especially as they grow older and become more exposed to the world. As they develop their personalities and critical thinking skills, they often form views on various issues, although these opinions may be influenced by their environment, upbringing, and peers.

6. When do children normally form their own views?

Children typically start forming their own views during their pre-teens and early teenage years. This is the time when they become more independent thinkers, question authority, and develop a sense of individuality. Their views are shaped by their experiences, education, and the influence of family and friends.

81. Describe a thing you did to learn another language

You should say:

- What language have you learned?
  - What did you do?
  - How it helped you learn the language
  - And how you felt about it
- I started learning Spanish recently. I have always wanted to learn a foreign language.
  - I feel that knowing a foreign language allows us to understand different people, cultures, and environments
  - I have an aunt in California who mentioned that she started learning Spanish.
  - I thought she was so lucky to have an institution in her hometown that teaches Spanish.
  - But then she told me that she was learning from a mobile app called Duolingo.
  - She really loved the app and told me it had short lessons and all you need is 10-15 minutes a day.
  - I downloaded the Duolingo app on my phone and a desktop version on my computer.
  - I was so impressed with this app and couldn't believe that the basic version was free.

- It had more than 30 languages like German, French, Spanish, Chinese, etc.
  - It had a very simple user interface, and it was very easy to create an account and get started.
  - I was really confused between learning French and Spanish but decided to go for Spanish.
  - Spanish is the fourth most spoken language and is spoken in many countries like Spain, Mexico, South America.
  - I also wanted to practice Spanish with my aunt online.
  - I started doing lessons in my free time. I would do them on the bus while commuting to my college.
  - I would do them while waiting for friends. It was so convenient to have on the go learning.
  - One of the beginner lessons was common phrases like Hello - Hola, Good Morning – Buenos Dias, Nice to meet you – mucho gusto. I really liked doing this lesson.
  - I also started watching a Spanish show called Money Heist on Netflix to add to my learning.
  - Duolingo presented the lessons in a very simple manner. It not only helped me with speaking Spanish but the lessons were designed to help me learn, writing it too.
- Also, it was fun to do as there were rewards for reaching different levels and practicing daily.
- There was also an option to add friends and track each other's progress. I added my aunt and it kept us both motivated to learn.
  - I am still learning and still using the app every day. I am so happy and satisfied with my effort so far. I hope to become fluent one day.
  - It gives me so much joy when I can completely understand a few lines on a Spanish show or when recognize words in Spanish subtitles.

1. Some people think that technology has made it unnecessary to learn languages. What do you think?

I believe technology has made communication easier through translation apps and real-time translation tools, but it doesn't make learning languages unnecessary. Learning a language helps us understand different cultures, build better relationships, and think critically. Technology can assist, but it cannot replace the full experience of learning a language.

2. What are the advantages and disadvantages of learning a language?

The advantages of learning a language include improving cognitive skills, boosting career opportunities, and allowing better communication with people from different cultures. However, it can be time-consuming and challenging, especially when it comes to mastering grammar, vocabulary, and pronunciation. Sometimes, the frustration of not being able to communicate fluently can be discouraging.

3. What is the best way to learn a language?

The best way to learn a language is through a combination of methods: practicing speaking with native speakers, listening to podcasts or watching shows in that language, and studying grammar and vocabulary regularly. Immersion and consistent practice are key to improving language skills.

4. Which is better, to study a language alone or to study it in a group? Why?

It depends on the individual's learning style. Studying alone can be great for focusing on personal goals and self-paced learning. However, studying in a group can provide motivation, opportunities for conversation practice, and different perspectives on learning the language. I think a balance of both approaches works best.

5. Do you think language learning is important? Why?

Yes, language learning is very important because it connects people across the world. It opens up opportunities for travel, education, and career advancement. It also fosters cultural understanding and personal growth by allowing us to see the world from different viewpoints.

6. What difficulties do people face when learning a language?

People often struggle with pronunciation, remembering vocabulary, and understanding grammar rules. It can also be difficult to find opportunities for practice, especially if the language isn't widely spoken in their region. The fear of making mistakes and lack of confidence can also be barriers to effective learning.

82. Describe a person who you follow on social media

You should say:

- Who is he/she
  - How you knew him/her
  - What he/she posts on social media
  - And explain why you follow him/her on social media
- I follow many accounts on social media that post things about topics I am interested in like interior design, yoga, art, etc.
  - One account I follow on social media is of Chef Sanjyot Keer.
  - He is the founder of Your Food Lab and became very famous for posting cooking videos on Facebook and Youtube.
  - I have never been interested in cooking before as I would eat outside or food that my mother would make.
  - All I could make by myself was rice, maggi, tea, instant precooked meals, etc.
  - During covid time I couldn't go out and started to crave dishes I ate out in restaurants.
  - I started to look online for recipes to make those dishes at home.
  - On YouTube, I came across a video for making Chili Cheese.
  - It's one of my favorite dishes and I used to eat it at least once a week • The video was short (about 5 minutes) but explained the process really.
  - The background music and presentation were very nice.
  - The video was for an account called Your Food Lab and the chef in the video was Sanjyot Keer.

- I didn't know anything about him before this, but the reviews were so good that I decided to make this recipe.
- I followed the recipe step by step. It tasted even better than my favorite restaurant.
- My parents tried it and were so surprised that it was homemade and that I had made it.
- I got hooked and started to follow his YouTube account. I even started following him on Facebook and Instagram.
- After some research, I also found out that he was the food producer for TV show Master Chef India season 4 and worked with great chefs like Sanjeev Kapoor and Vikas Khanna
- He posts a lot of recipes on his social media accounts, and I have tried many of them.
- He also goes live on his accounts sometimes, interacts with his fans, and makes recipes live.
- All his posts are mainly about food but sometimes he posts about his family, his parents, his wife, and his team.
- I follow him not only for his recipes but also because I find him to be a very humble, kind, softspoken human being. He has a great personality, and it is no wonder that he has so many followers.

1. Do you think it is easy to make friends on social media?

It can be easy to make acquaintances on social media, as it connects people from all over the world. However, forming real, meaningful friendships may take more time and effort, as online interactions can lack the depth of in-person communication.

2. Do you think people will read paper newspapers and books in the future? Why?

While digital content is increasingly popular, I believe that paper newspapers and books will still exist in the future, though their role might decrease. Some people, especially older generations, enjoy the tangible experience of reading printed material, and certain people value paper for its less distracting nature compared to screens.

3. Are non-social media like television and newspapers still useful?

Yes, television and newspapers are still useful, particularly for staying informed on current events, politics, and important news. These mediums often provide curated, reliable information, unlike the fast-paced, sometimes unreliable nature of social media.

4. Do older people spend much time on social media?

It depends on the individual. Some older people spend time on social media to stay connected with their family or friends, while others prefer more traditional forms of communication. In general, older generations tend to use social media less than younger people.

5. Do older people and younger people use the same kinds of social media apps?

No, they typically use different kinds of apps. Older people are more likely to use Facebook to keep in touch with family and friends, while younger people tend to gravitate toward platforms like Instagram, Snapchat, or TikTok, which focus more on visuals and trends.

6. What can people do on social media?

On social media, people can connect with others, share photos and videos, follow news and trends, engage in discussions, and even promote businesses. It also offers entertainment, learning opportunities, and a platform for people to express their opinions or creativity.

83. Describe a rule you dislike and would like to change in the future

You should say:

- What is it?
  - What is it for?
  - Why don't you like it
  - And explain why you would like to change it
- Rules and laws are made to create a peaceful and harmonious society.
  - If we all obey the rules and laws then we would all be benefited.
  - There are rules everywhere.
  - Schools are the first place where children learn about the rules and codes of conduct.
  - Every school/college/office has rules, like wearing the prescribed uniform, coming in time, doing tasks on time and so on.
  - My school/college/office also has rules about the uniform that we have to wear.
  - It was navy blue trouser and white shirt on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays.
  - However, on Wednesdays and Saturdays, we have a totally white uniform.
  - All students/colleague and I do not like this rule.
  - I think we should follow the developed countries and everyone should be allowed to wear the clothes of their choice and according to one's personality
  - Everybody can express their creativity and style by wearing different clothes.
  - Uniforms should be for certain professionals only like doctors, lawyers or those in military/police
  - At my place, if anyone breaks this rule, and doesn't come in uniform, they are fined.
  - The fine for the first offence is 100 Rs but if we break the rule more than twice then the fine goes up to 1000 Rs
  - Luckily, I have never broken the rule and have always ensured that my uniform is neat and clean but I still hate this rule.

Do you know anyone who has broken the law? How?

Yes, I know a few people who have broken the law. For example, some people may have been caught for speeding, while others may have committed minor offenses like littering in public areas. In these cases, they were usually fined or given warnings.

When is it okay to break the rules?

In general, it's not ideal to break rules. However, there may be exceptional cases when rules can be bent or broken for the greater good, like when a rule limits the well-being or rights of others. For example, breaking a traffic rule to get someone to the hospital quickly might be seen as acceptable in an emergency.

How are people punished when parking at a wrong spot?

When people park in the wrong spot, they are usually given a parking fine or ticket. In some cases, their vehicle may be towed if it is blocking important areas like driveways or emergency lanes. The severity of the punishment depends on the location and the situation.

What rules should children follow at home?

Children should follow basic rules at home, such as helping with chores, respecting elders, doing their homework on time, and being mindful of their behavior. These rules help create a respectful and harmonious family environment.

Are the rules at school good or bad? Why?

The rules at school are generally good because they help maintain order and ensure that everyone can learn in a safe environment. For example, rules about bullying or cheating are necessary to protect students and promote fairness.

What are the rules that students should follow at school?

Students should follow rules such as attending classes on time, respecting teachers and classmates, completing assignments, and not disrupting the learning environment. These rules help students focus on their education and contribute to a positive school culture.

84. Describe an item of clothing that someone gave you

You should say:

- What the clothing was
  - Who gave it to you
  - When you got it
  - And explain why this person gave you the clothes
- In our life we all give and receive gifts from time to time.
  - I have also received many gifts in my life, some of which were items of clothing.
  - Here I would like to talk about a traditional suit, which my maternal gave me as a gift on my birthday.
  - It is a bottle green suit with magenta and golden embroidery
  - It also has a multi-coloured stole to go with it which had a golden lace on all sides
  - It is studded with golden beads

- It has a very traditional ethnic touch to it
- It is a very beautiful suit
- The stole is in crinkled silk
- She gave me matching accessories also
- She gave me a golden beaded purse to go with it.
- Whenever I wear the suit, I wear my traditional Punjabi shoes, which match perfectly with the suit.
- When I wear that suit everyone compliments me
- I feel very good when I receive those compliments.
- Actually, my aunt runs her hobby classes of cooking in Chandigarh.
- I stayed with her during my vacations and helped her.
- She could accommodate more number of students because of my help.
- She offered me money, but I refused because I had not helped her for money.
- So she bought this expensive suit for me on my birthday.
- I really like the suit and have worn it on many occasions.

What influences the way people dress in today's society?

People's clothing choices today are influenced by factors like fashion trends, cultural norms, personal preferences, and even the weather. Media and celebrities play a big role in shaping what is considered fashionable, while social media influences what is popular among different age groups.

What are the advantages and disadvantages of wearing a uniform at school?

Wearing a uniform at school can promote equality and reduce peer pressure related to clothing choices. However, it can also limit students' ability to express their individuality. Some students feel uniforms are restrictive, while others appreciate the convenience and discipline they bring.

Why do people from different countries wear different clothes?

Clothing choices are shaped by cultural traditions, climate, and economic factors. For example, people in warmer climates wear lighter fabrics to stay cool, while people in colder regions wear thicker clothing for warmth. Different societies also have unique clothing styles due to historical and cultural influences.

What are the advantages and disadvantages of wearing uniforms at work and school? Uniforms at work or school can create a sense of unity and professionalism, and they can reduce distractions related to fashion. However, they might make people feel less free to express their personal style, which some may find stifling. It depends on how much importance a person places on individuality.

Why do people dress casually in everyday life but dress formally at work?

People often dress casually in their personal time to feel comfortable and relaxed, but they dress formally at work to project a professional image and meet workplace expectations. The formal attire shows respect for the job and can help foster a serious, businesslike environment.

Have you ever given clothes to others?

Yes, I have given clothes to others, especially during special occasions like birthdays or holidays. I also donate clothes I no longer wear to charity. It's a good way to help others and reduce waste, and it feels good to know that someone else can use what I no longer need.

85. Describe a city that you think is very interesting/famous

You should say:

- Where is it?
  - What it is famous for
  - How you knew this city
  - And explain why you think it is very interesting/famous
- India is a diverse country.
  - There are many beautiful cities in India.
  - Some are beautiful because of their historical buildings, whereas others are beautiful because of their modern architecture. Some cities are beautiful because they are in the mountain valleys, where as some are beautiful, because of the beautiful and warm smiles of people.
  - Here, I would like to talk about Chandigarh, which is also known as 'The City Beautiful' ● It was designed by the French architect Le Corbusier.
  - It is the first planned city of India after independence.
  - Chandigarh is the cleanest and the happiest city of India according to two different surveys held in 2010 and 2015.
  - It is also the first smoke-free city in the country.
  - It is a union territory and is also the capital of two states - Punjab and Haryana.
  - The Rock Garden in Chandigarh is a masterpiece out of waste material.
  - Sukhna lake, is the biggest man-made lake. It is a beautiful place for the people to enjoy with their families.
  - The sector 17 market is a shopper's paradise. ● The Rose Garden is Asia's largest garden ● The city has 47 sectors.
  - Each sector has residential and commercial zones
  - The roads are designed and oriented in such a way that most of the time of the day, they are under shade.
  - There are huge parking areas inr the commercial zones so that the Parking problems don't create a havoc on the main roads.
  - The Parking lanes are as broad as the main roads.
  - So, you see, while the city was planned in 1952, it is still the most well planned and beautiful cities of India

Do you think the big cities in India today will become even larger in the future?

Yes, I believe big cities in India will continue to grow. As more people from rural areas migrate to urban centers seeking better job opportunities, education, and healthcare, urban populations will likely increase. This growth will be driven by factors like infrastructure development and economic growth in cities.

What are the benefits of urbanization?

Urbanization brings several benefits such as improved access to education, healthcare, and employment opportunities. It fosters economic development by providing a centralized hub for businesses and industries. Additionally, urban areas often offer better infrastructure and technological advancements, contributing to improved quality of life.

Do you think well-developed tourism will have negative effects on local people?

Yes, tourism can have some negative effects on local communities. While it can generate revenue, it may also cause overcrowding, drive up living costs, and lead to environmental degradation. Local cultures might also be affected, with traditional ways of life changing due to the influence of commercial tourism.

Do most elderly people live in the city or in the countryside?

Many elderly people in India prefer to live in the countryside, where they feel more connected to nature and the community. However, an increasing number of elderly individuals are moving to cities to live with their children or for better access to healthcare and modern amenities.

Why do some young people like to live in cities?

Young people are often attracted to cities for better career opportunities, access to higher education, and a more vibrant social life. Cities also provide entertainment, diverse cultural experiences, and a wide range of services, making them more appealing for those seeking growth and excitement.

What advantages can tourism bring to a city?

Tourism can significantly boost a city's economy by creating jobs in sectors like hospitality, transportation, and retail. It can also help preserve cultural heritage by promoting historical sites and local traditions. Moreover, tourism can bring global attention to the city, attracting investment and encouraging urban development.

86. Describe a time you visited a new place

You should say:

- Where the new place is
  - When you went there
  - Why did you go there?
  - And explain how you feel about the place
- There are many public buildings and historical places, which I have visited in my life.
  - Here, I would like to talk about the Statue of Unity in the Narmada district of Gujarat.
  - It is a colossal statue of Sardar Vallabhai Patel, who was the first Home Minister of Independent India.
  - His expression, posture and pose show the confidence and the iron-will of this great person.
  - Recently I had an opportunity to visit this architectural marvel.
  - This statue can withstand winds of 180 km/hour and can resist earthquake of 6.5 on the Richter scale.
  - I came to know about it from the news channels on TV.
- It was on all news channels in January 2019.
- This Statue of Unity was first open to public on 3rd Jan 2019
- It is the world's tallest statue.
- It was built in just 33 months.
  - It is made of bronze and is about 600 feet tall.
  - I visited this place with my family, and I really enjoyed a lot with them.
  - We visited this place in December last year.
  - I had read a lot about it on the internet.
  - Apart from the statue there are several other things here which are worth seeing.
  - The ticket is Rs. 350/- per head.
  - It includes the entry to the observation deck, valley of flowers, the Sardar Patel Memorial, museum and audio-visual Gallery, the statue of Unity site and the Narmada River.
  - More than 2 million people have visited the statue already.
  - It has become a major tourist attraction of India.

Why do many people enjoy visiting a new place?

Many people enjoy visiting new places because it offers them a chance to explore new cultures, meet different people, and experience unfamiliar environments. Traveling allows for a break from routine and provides opportunities to create lasting memories and learn about the world.

Do you think it's important to get as much information as possible before going to a new place?

Yes, it's important to gather information before visiting a new place. Knowing about the local customs, transportation options, and main attractions helps make the trip smoother and more enjoyable. It also allows travelers to be prepared for any challenges that may arise.

How do young and old people react differently to new things?

Young people are often more open to trying new things and embracing change, as they are in a stage of exploration and learning. In contrast, older people may be more cautious and resistant to new things due to their established routines and experiences. However, some older individuals are also curious and eager to learn, just like younger ones.

Why do some people want to go to college far away from home?

Some people choose to attend college far from home to experience independence, discover new places, and meet a diverse group of people. It can also be seen as an opportunity for personal growth and to get out of their comfort zones, which can help them build confidence and resilience.

How do young children react when they go to school for the first time?

Young children often feel a mix of excitement and nervousness when they go to school for the first time. They might feel overwhelmed by the new environment, unfamiliar faces, and the separation from their parents. However, as they adjust, many children begin to enjoy school and make new friends.

Which do you prefer, living in a city or only visiting it as a tourist?

I prefer living in a city because it offers a variety of opportunities for personal and professional growth, along with access to amenities, culture, and entertainment. However, visiting a city as a tourist allows me to enjoy the highlights without the daily responsibilities, which can be a nice break.

87. Describe a story someone told you and you remember

You should say:

- What the story was about
  - Who told you this story
  - Why do you remember it?
  - And how do you feel about it
- I have heard many stories in my life.
  - I believe that storytelling is an art as old as civilization itself.
  - My grandmother used to tell me stories every night at bedtime.
  - All her stories were fun to hear

- Some stories were fairy tales, some of princes and princesses and some were tales from the Panchtantra, which had animal characters in them.
- Most of her stories had some moral behind them
- Here I would like to talk about a story, which she told me many times.
- This is the story of the greedy dog.
- Once upon a time there was a dog • He was very hungry.
- He wandered here and there in search of food.
- He got a juicy bone from a butcher's shop.
- He felt very happy.
- He took the bone and ran away.
- He reached on a bridge of a river.
- He saw his own shadow in the water.
- He thought that there was another dog with a juicy bone in his mouth.
- His mouth watered and he wanted to snatch that bone from him.
- He started barking on him and as he opened his mouth, the bone fell down from his mouth in to the river.
- The dog lost his own juicy bone.
- He repented at his greed.
- But, alas nothing could be done.
- The moral of the story is that the greedy lose what they have.
- Greed is a curse.
- My grandma used to teach me values of life through these stories.
- Now, I tell these stories to my niece and nephew when they come to my place.
- They enjoy these stories a lot.

Which do you think is better, paper books or e-books?

I believe both have their advantages, but I prefer paper books because they offer a tangible experience. Holding a book, turning its pages, and the smell of paper make reading more immersive. However, e-books are more convenient, especially for carrying multiple books on a single device.

Will smart devices affect the relationship between children and parents?

Yes, smart devices could affect the relationship between children and parents, as excessive screen time may lead to less face-to-face interaction. Parents might find it harder to connect with their children if they're constantly absorbed in their devices. However, they can also use smart devices to bond over games, videos, or educational content.

Why do children like stories?

Children like stories because they ignite their imagination, transport them to magical worlds, and teach valuable lessons in an engaging way. Stories help children make sense of the world around them while entertaining them with adventures, characters, and emotions they can relate to.

How do people tell stories to children?

People often tell stories to children through books, oral storytelling, or even interactive media like cartoons. Parents and teachers use expressive voices, gestures, and facial expressions to make the story more captivating. Storytelling is a fun way to teach morals, encourage creativity, and bond with the child.

How has technology changed storytelling?

Technology has revolutionized storytelling by making it more interactive and accessible. With digital platforms, people can now tell stories through podcasts, videos, or apps, adding visual and audio elements that weren't possible before. Technology has also allowed storytelling to reach a global audience through social media and online platforms.

Do young children like the same stories as older children?

No, young children typically prefer simple, colorful stories with repetitive patterns and easy-to-understand morals. Older children enjoy more complex narratives with deeper themes and developed characters. As children grow, their tastes in stories evolve, becoming more mature and diverse.

88. Describe a gift you would like to buy for your friend

You should say:

- How you knew your friend
  - How long have you known him/her?
  - How would you choose a gift for him/her
  - And explain why you would choose that gift for him/her
- I would like to buy Apple AirPods for my childhood best friend as a gift.
  - I have known him since we were in school, and we have been best friends for more than ten years.
  - We have shared many memories together, like playing games and studying for exams.
  - He is a huge music buff and loves listening to songs all the time.
  - Whether he is traveling, working, or relaxing at home, music is always a part of his life.
  - Since he loves music so much, I feel Apple AirPods would be the perfect gift for him.
  - AirPods offer excellent sound quality with a rich and immersive audio experience.
  - They are wireless, which makes them very convenient and easy to use.
  - He can connect them to his phone and enjoy music without tangled wires.
  - AirPods also have a long battery life, so he can listen to music for hours without charging.
  - The noise cancellation feature will help him focus while studying or working.
  - They are stylish and comfortable, perfect for wearing for long hours.
  - This gift suits his personality and lifestyle as a music lover.
  - It will make him happy and enhance his music experience.

- Whenever he uses the AirPods, he will remember our friendship and the thought behind the gift.
- I am sure he will appreciate it and enjoy his favorite songs even more.

Are there any unlucky things that people should not buy as gifts in your country?

Yes, in some cultures, certain gifts are considered unlucky. For example, in my country, knives or scissors are seen as symbols of cutting relationships, and clocks are associated with the idea of running out of time. It's believed that gifting these items could bring bad luck or symbolize an end to a relationship.

What do people usually consider when buying gifts?

When buying gifts, people usually consider the recipient's interests, preferences, and the occasion. It's also important to think about the cultural significance of the gift, as some items might carry special meanings. For instance, people might choose practical gifts or something that reflects the recipient's personality.

Which do people give on traditional festivals, red envelopes or other kinds of gifts?

In traditional festivals, particularly during Chinese New Year, red envelopes (hongbao) containing money are commonly given. These envelopes symbolize good luck, prosperity, and well wishes. Other gifts may include food, clothes, or items with symbolic meaning, but red envelopes are a popular choice.

Will people feel happy when receiving an expensive gift?

It depends on the person and the relationship. Some people may appreciate the thought and generosity behind an expensive gift, while others may feel uncomfortable or pressured by the cost. Ultimately, it's the thought and personal connection that make the gift special, rather than its price tag.

Is it difficult to choose a gift?

Choosing a gift can be challenging, especially if you're unsure about the recipient's preferences. It's important to think about what they would appreciate and how the gift aligns with the occasion. Sometimes, people choose practical gifts, but it's still tough to find something meaningful for every individual.

When do people normally send gifts to others?

People typically send gifts on special occasions such as birthdays, weddings, holidays, and festivals. Gifts are also exchanged to mark significant life events like graduations, promotions, or the birth of a child. Additionally, gifts can be given as gestures of appreciation or gratitude at any time.

89. Describe a toy you liked in your childhood

You should say:

- What kind of toy it is
- When you received it
- How you played it
- And how you felt about it

- I had many toys in my childhood but here I am going to talk about my electric toy car.
- My father gifted it to me on my 11th birthday.
- I used to spend hours playing with it.
- I was greatly fascinated by it
- It was red in colour
- It worked with four pen torch batteries fixed in a box under the car
- When I switched it on, it would move in all directions
- If there was an obstacle on the way then the car could change directions
- Along with that it had lights which flickered at times.
- I was so fascinated by this car that I used to finish its batteries very soon.
- I used to show it to my friends with pride.
- None of my other friends had such a beautiful toy car.
- I just loved it when I saw the jealous look in their eyes.
- I remember, once I took it to school in my bag.
- When I came home I got a big spanking from my mother.
- I was very possessive about my car and never used to let anyone touch it. • Even though I don't play with the car any more I still have it in my room
- Its colour has faded now but it has emotional value for me.
- That is why I have never thought of giving it away to my younger cousins.
- It brings back nostalgic memories of my childhood

What are the advantages and disadvantages of modern toys?

Modern toys often have the advantage of being educational, interactive, and designed to enhance children's learning and development. They can introduce kids to technology, foster creativity, and improve problem-solving skills. However, the disadvantage is that some modern toys can be too reliant on screens or technology, reducing physical play and face-to-face social interactions. Additionally, they can sometimes be expensive.

What's the difference between the toys boys play with and girls play with?

Traditionally, toys for boys are often action-oriented, such as cars, trucks, and building sets, encouraging physical play and construction. Girls, on the other hand, might be given dolls or cooking sets, promoting nurturing behaviors and domestic skills. However, these distinctions are becoming less rigid as society moves towards more gender-neutral toys that encourage all children to explore various interests and activities.

Do you think parents should buy more toys for their kids or spend more time with them? While toys can be valuable for a child's development, I believe spending quality time with children is more important. Interaction, like playing games, reading together, or engaging in conversations, fosters emotional bonding and learning in ways that toys alone cannot. Parents' time and attention provide a sense of security and love that no material item can replace.

What's the difference between the toys kids play now and those they played in the past? Toys today often incorporate technology, such as interactive robots or educational apps, offering a more immersive experience. In the past, toys were simpler, like wooden blocks or dolls, and encouraged imaginative play. Today's toys can be more focused on individual play with screens, while older toys often encouraged more physical and social interaction among children.

Should advertising aimed at children be prohibited?

Yes, advertising targeted at children can be problematic, as it often encourages materialism, unhealthy eating habits, or unrealistic expectations. Children may not have the critical thinking skills to recognize advertising tactics, which can influence their behavior and desires in harmful ways. Some level of regulation is important to protect young audiences from being manipulated.

How do advertisements influence children?

Advertisements can have a strong influence on children by shaping their desires and opinions. They often create a sense of need for products, whether it's toys, snacks, or even clothing. Children are impressionable and can be persuaded to ask their parents for products they see in ads, even if they don't fully understand the product's value.

90. Describe an important river/lake in your country

You should say:

- Where is it located
- How big/long it is

- What it looks like
  - And explain why it is important
- India is a diverse country.
  - There are many rivers, lakes, beaches in India which are important.
  - One important river that I would like to talk about here is the river Ganges or the Ganga, as we popularly call it
  - River Ganga is a sacred river and treated as a Goddess among the Hindus.
  - It has significant influence on the life of the Indians.
  - It is one of the longest rivers of the world and is the longest river in India.
  - The River Ganga emerges out of the Himalayas and falls into the Bay of Bengal.
  - It has a number of tributaries like Yamuna, Ramganga, and Ghagra, etc.
  - The Ganga is a perennial river as water is available throughout the year.
  - The river has formed one of the most fertile flood plains of the world.
  - We get the golden crops from the fertile lands on the bank of River Ganga.
  - The water of River Ganga is widely used for agriculture purpose.
  - The Ganga has been made national waterways of India.
  - It is navigable up to Hardwar.
  - The Ganga plain is one of the most fertile plain and is the granary of India.
  - Our Government has initiated projects for wider utilization of kind water of River Ganga.
  - This would bring enormous prosperity and economic development in our country.
  - All these features made the river as the Ideal river of India.

Are rivers and lakes important to a country?

Yes, rivers and lakes are very important to a country. They provide essential water resources for drinking, agriculture, and industry. Additionally, they support biodiversity and offer recreational opportunities. In many countries, they play a key role in cultural heritage and tourism.

What are the popular water sports in your country?

In my country, some popular water sports include swimming, boating, kayaking, and fishing. In coastal areas, people also enjoy surfing, jet-skiing, and windsurfing. These activities are enjoyed by people of all ages and are often seen as fun ways to stay active and connected to nature.

Are rivers and lakes good for transportation? Why?

Yes, rivers and lakes can be good for transportation, especially in areas where roads and railways are limited. They can serve as important trade routes, allowing for the movement of goods and people. However, the feasibility depends on the size of the river or lake and the infrastructure available for boats and ships.

How do rivers and lakes affect local tourism?

Rivers and lakes often attract tourists due to their natural beauty and opportunities for outdoor activities like fishing, boating, and hiking. Tourists also visit for scenic views and to engage in cultural or eco-tourism. Local communities can benefit economically from the influx of tourists, who spend money on accommodation, food, and activities.

Do you think rivers and lakes attract tourists?

Yes, I think rivers and lakes do attract tourists. The serene and picturesque landscapes they offer often serve as a major draw for people seeking relaxation or adventure. Many tourist destinations are centered around famous rivers or lakes, such as the Ganges in India or the Great Lakes in North America.

How can rivers and lakes benefit local people?

Rivers and lakes provide local communities with water for drinking, agriculture, and industry. They also offer opportunities for fishing and other forms of livelihood. Furthermore, they support tourism, which can create jobs and boost the local economy. Additionally, these natural resources often play an essential role in local cultures and traditions.

Do people like that river in your country?

Yes, people generally have a deep connection with the rivers in my country, especially the major ones like the Ganges and Yamuna. These rivers hold cultural, religious, and historical significance. Many people visit them for religious ceremonies, festivals, and even for spiritual purposes, making them an integral part of daily life.

Do you like any activities on water?

Yes, I enjoy activities like swimming and kayaking. Water activities are refreshing and offer a sense of freedom. Being on water can be both relaxing and thrilling, depending on the activity, and it's a great way to connect with nature.

Is it necessary for everyone to learn swimming?

I believe learning to swim is important for safety reasons. It can prevent drowning and allow people to enjoy water activities with confidence. Additionally, swimming is a great form of exercise. While it may not be essential for everyone, it is certainly a valuable life skill.

Do people in your country go to swim in their spare time?

Yes, many people in my country enjoy swimming in their spare time, especially during the hot summer months. Public pools and natural bodies of water like rivers and lakes are popular spots for leisure swimming. It's a great way to cool off and stay active.

91. Describe an old person you know who has had an interesting life

You should say:

- Who is this person?
- Where he/she lives
- What he/she has done in his/her life
- And explain how you feel about him/her

- I know many old persons, but here I would like to talk about my friend Sonia's grandfather.
- I met him about 6 months ago and I found him very interesting.
- His name is Mr Jaswant Singh.
- He is in his mid seventies.
- He is not tall, but looks very handsome.
- Even at this age he is very lithe and agile.
- Sonia tells me that he is very health conscious, and never misses his morning and evening walk.
- He retired as a colonel from the Indian army.
- Once i visited Sonia's place to work on a project and there I met him for the first time.
- He was sitting in the lobby doing something on his laptop.
- I found it very interesting that a person of his age was so comfortable with a laptop.
- He was placing an order at Amazon.in for some headphones.
- My parents find it difficult to handle a smartphone and he was using a laptop like a pro.
- He greeted me very warmly and so I started chatting with him.
- I was amazed at his vast knowledge.
- He told me many interesting stories of his life in the army.
- He told me how he participated actively in the Kargil war.
- So now whenever I go to Sonia's house, I make it a point to sit with him for some time and learn something new.

Do you think old people's life will improve with the development of technology?

Yes, I think the development of technology can greatly improve the lives of older people. With advancements like medical devices, online health consultations, and home automation, they can live more independently and safely. Technology also allows them to stay connected with family and friends, reducing feelings of isolation.

Do old people prefer to stay at home or go outside? Why?

It varies, but many older people prefer staying at home due to comfort and familiarity. However, some enjoy going outside for social interaction, exercise, or to engage in activities like shopping or visiting parks. The preference often depends on their health and mobility.

What are the benefits of elderly people living alone?

Living alone can offer elderly people a sense of independence and autonomy. They can maintain their own routines and enjoy peace and solitude. However, it's important for them to have support systems in place for emergencies or when they need help with daily tasks.

Can old people and their grandchildren learn from each other when they live together?

Yes, when old people and their grandchildren live together, there is a great opportunity for mutual learning. Older people can share their life experiences, wisdom, and traditions, while grandchildren can teach them about technology and new trends. It creates a bond and helps both generations grow.

Why do some people live with old people?

Some people choose to live with elderly relatives to provide care and support. It can be out of love, a sense of duty, or to ensure that older family members are not left alone, especially if they have health issues. Living together also helps maintain family connections and provides emotional support.

What do old people often do in their daily lives?

The daily activities of older people can vary based on their health and interests. Many spend time on hobbies like reading, gardening, or knitting. Some engage in social activities, such as meeting friends or attending community events. Others might focus on maintaining their health through exercise or medical appointments.

92. Describe a time when you received good service in a shop/store

You should say:

- Where is the shop?
  - When you went to the shop
  - What service you received from the staff
  - And explain how you felt about the service
- I am a shopaholic and I love to purchase things.
  - Here I would like to talk about a situation when I received a very good service from a shop in a shopping mall in Jalandhar.
  - Last month I went there with my cousins to buy some clothes for myself.
  - I wanted to buy a pair of jeans and I had heard about this shop in Viva Collage, which sells jeans of all top brands.
  - We went straight to that shop and the salesmen welcomed us with smiling faces.
  - They started showing us various varieties and allowed us to try them on.

- We were very happy to know that Levis Company was offering a deal.
- We picked out the colors of our choice and happily made the purchase.
- Two pairs of jeans needed slight alterations in length, which they got done within an hour at no extra cost.
- We were very happy with their prompt service.
- Later on, we enjoyed ourselves at the mall and had lunch there at a food outlet.
- In the evening we watched a movie in the same complex.
- When I came home and showed my jeans to my family, they also liked them a lot.
- I refer that shop to all my friends and relatives because of their services.

Can consumption drive economic growth?

Yes, consumption can drive economic growth as it stimulates demand for goods and services. When people spend money, businesses grow, leading to more production, jobs, and higher income levels. This increased economic activity can help boost overall economic performance, as seen in consumer-driven economies.

What are the advantages and disadvantages of online shopping?

Online shopping offers convenience, a wide range of products, and the ability to compare prices easily. However, it lacks the personal touch of in-store shopping, and some people may find it difficult to assess the quality of products without seeing them. Delivery time and shipping costs can also be drawbacks.

What are the differences between online shopping and in-store shopping?

Online shopping allows people to browse and purchase products from anywhere at any time, offering convenience and often better deals. In-store shopping, however, lets customers physically examine products, receive immediate assistance from staff, and avoid delivery delays. While online shopping may have a larger selection, in-store shopping offers a more personal experience.

Why do some people not like shopping in small shops?

Some people avoid shopping in small shops because they may not offer the same variety or convenience as larger stores or online platforms. Small shops might also have limited stock, higher prices, or less attractive shopping environments. The lack of parking space or crowding in small areas can also be a factor.

What are the advantages and disadvantages of shopping in small shops?

Shopping in small shops can offer a more personalized experience, where customers receive individualized attention and product recommendations. Small businesses may also offer unique, locally made products. However, their limited selection, higher prices, and potentially longer wait times for restocking can be drawbacks.

Why are shopping malls so popular in India?

Shopping malls are popular in India because they provide a one-stop destination for shopping, dining, and entertainment. Malls offer a variety of national and international brands, air conditioning, and a clean, safe environment for families. They also host events and promotions that attract people seeking a more modern, comfortable shopping experience.

93. Describe a positive change that you have made recently in your daily routine

You should say:

- What the change is
  - How you have changed the routine
  - Why you think it is a positive change
  - And explain how you feel about the change
- I normally don't make many changes to my daily routine, but this New Year, I felt motivated to improve my lifestyle.
  - I made a resolution to focus on my health and create better habits.
  - To start, I began waking up early and ensuring I sleep on time.
  - After waking up, I either go for a morning walk or hit the gym.
  - I also added a small walk after every meal to stay active throughout the day.
  - Last year, I spent too much time sitting and scrolling on my phone, which made me feel lazy and unmotivated.
  - These unhealthy habits caused me to gain a lot of weight and feel sad most of the time.
  - Since adopting this new routine, I've noticed a lot of positive changes in my life.
  - I now feel more energetic and ready to take on daily tasks with enthusiasm.
  - Waking up early gives me more time to plan my day and complete everything on schedule.
  - Exercising regularly has improved my physical health and lifted my mood.
  - I no longer feel lethargic or overwhelmed, and I've regained a sense of balance in my life.
  - This change has made me feel happier and more confident overall.
  - I believe everyone should make exercise and self-care a priority in their daily routine. Even small steps like walking or setting a fixed sleep schedule can have a big impact on your life.

Who should get more promotion opportunities in the workplace, young people or older people?

Both young and older people should have equal opportunities for promotion, depending on their skills, experience, and contributions. Young people may bring fresh ideas and energy, while older people often have valuable experience and knowledge. The focus should be on performance and potential rather than age.

Who do you think would make changes more often, young people or old people?

Young people tend to be more open to change and may make changes more often, especially as they are generally more adaptable and tech-savvy. On the other hand, older people may be more cautious or resistant to change due to years of established routines or experience, but this varies from person to person.

Do you think it is good to change jobs frequently?

Changing jobs frequently can be good if it leads to better opportunities, personal growth, and new experiences. However, too much job-hopping may create an impression of instability and lack of commitment. It's important to weigh the pros and cons and ensure that the career changes align with long-term goals.

What changes would people often make?

People often make changes related to their personal lives, such as adjusting their lifestyle, moving to a new home, or changing jobs. They may also make adjustments to their health habits, like diet or exercise routines, and their financial strategies based on changing circumstances or goals.

Is time management very important in our daily lives?

Yes, time management is crucial in our daily lives as it helps us balance work, personal activities, and relaxation. It allows us to be more productive, meet deadlines, and reduce stress. Without proper time management, it can be challenging to accomplish tasks efficiently.

What do people normally plan in their daily lives?

People usually plan their work or study schedules, household chores, meals, and leisure activities in their daily lives. They may also plan time for socializing, exercise, or pursuing hobbies. Planning helps ensure that they make the most of their day and prioritize essential tasks.

94. Describe a place in a village that you visited

You should say:

- Where it is
- When you visited this place
- What you did there
- And how you feel about this place

- I live in a city and have been born and brought up in an urban environment, so I haven't
  - seen many villages.
  - However, today I would like to talk about a trip to a village called Sanghol near Chandigarh.
  - Sanghol is located about 40 kilometers from Chandigarh in Fatehgarh Sahib district.
  - It is also known as Ucha Pind Sanghol and is famous for its archaeological significance.
  - Excavations at Sanghol have revealed coins and seals related to the Harappan civilization.
  - I visited this village when I was in 10th standard as part of a school trip.
  - This was my first trip to a village, and I was excited to experience rural life firsthand.
  - Villages like Sanghol are deeply connected to nature and free from the hustle and bustle of city life.
  - The village is surrounded by lush green fields, and the air is fresh and pollution-free.
  - Unlike cities, there is constant chirping of birds, narrow roads, no traffic jams, and a peaceful atmosphere.
  - One surprising feature of Sanghol was the presence of a museum in the village.
  - The museum houses historical artifacts like a Buddhist stupa, crossbars, pillars, and figurines.
- Some of the artifacts from this museum are displayed in special exhibits in museums around the world.
- The trip gave me a chance to learn about the rich history of the place and enjoy the simplicity of village life.
- Overall, it was a memorable and enjoyable trip that left me with a deep appreciation for rural life and history.

Or

I belong to Phagwara.

- It is a small town, and there are many villages near my hometown.
- My maternal uncle and aunt have a farmhouse in a village near my hometown.
- Their farmhouse is in the centre of lush green farms.
- Last year, they invited us over to stay with them for a few days.
- Their farmhouse is very well maintained, as they have given a portion of it to a family who stays there and looks after it.
- They have maintained a very good kitchen garden, and I remember, the whole week we enjoyed fresh veggies from the garden.
- They had grown aubergines, okra, bottle gourd, broccoli, cauliflower, mint, coriander and green chilly.
- My uncle has retired from the agriculture department, and he knows a lot about organic farming.
- He never sprays any insecticides and pesticides and even prepares compost at home from the kitchen waste.
- Those vegetables tasted different.

- What we eat in the cities has so much spray of insecticides and pesticides that the taste of veggies is different.
- It was so much fun.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

Do you think people will live in villages in the future?

I think some people will continue to live in villages, especially as rural areas offer peace, natural beauty, and a slower pace of life. However, urbanization is increasing, and many may choose to live in cities for better job opportunities and access to modern amenities. The future could see a balance, with some people moving to villages for a more sustainable and quieter lifestyle.

What do people usually do when they visit a village?

When people visit a village, they often enjoy exploring the natural surroundings, interacting with local residents, and learning about traditional farming methods. Many visitors appreciate the chance to experience a simpler way of life and try activities such as farming, hiking, or enjoying local festivals and cuisine.

Why do people want to go to the countryside?

People go to the countryside for a variety of reasons, including to escape the hustle and bustle of city life, to relax and rejuvenate, or to reconnect with nature. It offers a peaceful environment, clean air, and an opportunity to enjoy outdoor activities like hiking or camping. Many also visit for agricultural tourism or cultural experiences.

Is there anything special about the villages in India?

Yes, Indian villages have unique cultural and historical significance. They often feature traditional architecture, rural landscapes, and rich customs. The villages are home to diverse regional cuisines, local art forms, and festivals, making them special places for cultural exploration. Agriculture plays a major role, with farming techniques passed down through generations.

95. Describe a person you know who has chosen a career in the medical field (e.g. a doctor, a nurse)

- You should say:

- Who he/she is
  - What he/she does
  - Why he/she chose this career
  - And explain how you feel about him/her
- I would like to talk about my aunt, Rahul, who is a gynaecologist.
  - She has been practicing medicine for many years and has successfully delivered thousands of babies.
  - Besides being a doctor, she is also an author of nine bestselling IELTS exam preparation books.
  - Her husband is a surgeon, and they have both made a significant impact in the medical field.
  - Rahul chose this career because she has always been passionate about helping patients, especially women going through childbirth.
  - She has also provided coaching to thousands of students to help them clear English language exams like .
  - Even in her 60s, she remains the most hardworking and diligent person I know.
  - Despite her fame and success, she is very humble and down-to-earth, always staying connected to her roots.
  - Her motivation to serve others and her dedication to her work are truly remarkable.
  - I deeply admire her for her work ethic, and I find her level of dedication inspiring.
  - She always encourages me to stay focused and push myself to achieve my goals.
  - Sometimes, I feel like I can never match her level of hard work, especially at her age.
  - Her success in both medicine and education makes me look up to her as a role model in my life.
  - Overall, I feel proud and lucky to have someone like her in my family who motivates me to be better.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Can a hospital function effectively without nurses?

No, a hospital cannot function effectively without nurses. Nurses provide essential care to patients, monitor their conditions, and support doctors in treatment. Without them, the healthcare system would struggle to operate smoothly.

2. What are the differences between the work of a doctor and a nurse?

Doctors diagnose and treat medical conditions, while nurses focus more on patient care, monitoring, and supporting recovery. Doctors make decisions about treatment plans, whereas nurses ensure those plans are carried out properly.

3. Do you think it is necessary to learn first aid skills?

Yes, learning first aid skills is very important. It can help save lives in emergency situations and provide immediate care before professional help arrives. Everyone should have basic first aid knowledge.

4. Do you think that doctors and nurses are not paid enough?

In many cases, doctors and nurses are not paid enough, considering the amount of responsibility and stress they handle. Their work is critical to society, and they often work long hours, which should be reflected in their salaries.

5. Who plays a more important role, doctors or nurses?

Both doctors and nurses play equally important roles. Doctors diagnose and plan treatments, while nurses provide ongoing care and emotional support to patients. The healthcare system relies on both working together effectively.

6. Do you think doctors and nurses are very important?

Absolutely, doctors and nurses are crucial in maintaining public health. They save lives, provide care, and help people recover from illnesses. Without them, the healthcare system wouldn't function properly.

96. Describe a person who likes to read a lot

- You should say:
- Who this person is
- How you knew him/her
- What he/she likes to read
- And explain why you think he/she likes to read a lot

- I would like to talk about my niece, Divsheen Kaur, who is 13 years old.
- She is a big fan of the Harry Potter series and has read the books multiple times.
- Her reading speed is incredible; she can finish a 500-page novel in just 2-3 days.
- I know her very well since she is my niece, and I have seen her love for reading grow over the years.
- Her father is a Colonel in the Indian army, and her mother is a teacher, both of whom are also avid readers.
- I believe she inherited this love for reading from her parents, as books are always a big part of their household.
Although she enjoys reading fiction the most, she will read almost anything you give her.
- Her love for reading has significantly improved her vocabulary and language skills.
- In fact, she recently won first prize in a debate competition at her school, and I think her reading has contributed to her confidence in speaking.
- On her birthdays, I often gift her books because I know how much she enjoys them.
- I think she likes to read a lot because it allows her to explore different worlds and ideas through stories.
- Reading has become a passion for her, and I believe it has made her more curious and knowledgeable.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Do you think people of all ages need to read?

Yes, reading is important for people of all ages. It helps young children develop language skills and creativity, while for adults, it keeps the mind sharp and expands knowledge. Even the elderly can benefit from reading as it stimulates the brain and prevents cognitive decline.

2. What are the differences between paper books and movies?

Paper books allow readers to imagine scenes in their own way, while movies present a director's interpretation of the story. Books often provide more detail and insight into characters' thoughts, whereas movies are visually engaging and faster to consume. For example, the Harry Potter books go much deeper into the story than the movies.

3. What reading topics are popular in your country?

In my country, topics like self-help, fiction, and biographies are very popular. Many people enjoy reading about famous personalities, and fiction genres like mythology-based novels, such as those by Amish Tripathi, are widely read. Exam preparation books, like those for competitive exams, are also in high demand.

4. Is reading for fun or for work?

Reading can be for both fun and work. Many people read novels and fiction for entertainment, while others read academic or professional books for their career development. For instance, students read textbooks, while professionals read industry-related articles to stay updated.

5. Do you think parents should help their children develop the reading habit from an early age? Yes, parents should encourage reading from an early age. It helps children build vocabulary, improve comprehension, and stimulates their imagination. For example, reading bedtime stories can foster a love for books that stays with them as they grow.

6. Why are many people so keen on reading?

Many people enjoy reading because it allows them to escape into different worlds, gain knowledge, and improve their skills. Reading can be both relaxing and educational, making it a popular pastime for many. For some, it's also a way to stay informed about current events or new ideas.

97. Describe a time when you lost an important and valuable item

- You should say:
  - When and where it happened
  - What it was
  - How important and valuable it was
  - How you lost it
  - And explain how you felt about the experience
- Well, I am a very careful about my things, and there are not many times that I have lost something important.

- But today I would like to talk about a particular night when I made a mistake.
- It happened a few years ago during a night bus journey from Chandigarh to Delhi, where I was traveling to meet my relatives.
- I lost my mobile phone, a regular phone with buttons, which was my first phone gifted to me by my parents on my 15th birthday.
- The phone held significant sentimental value as it was a special gift from my parents.
- I was extremely tired during the journey and fell asleep almost immediately after the bus started.
- When the bus stopped for a 20-minute break, I decided to get off and have some food.
- Due to my tiredness, I forgot to take my phone with me and left it on the table.
- I realized the phone was missing only after I arrived in Delhi.
- I immediately tried to call the phone, but it was switched off and I couldn't reach it.
- I then registered a complaint with the police, hoping they might find it.
- Unfortunately, despite my efforts, the phone was never recovered.
- I felt deeply sad and disappointed about losing something so precious.
- The experience was frustrating, especially since I had been careful with the phone before.
- This incident taught me to be much more careful with my belongings in the future.
- I have since become more mindful and vigilant to prevent losing important items.
- The sentimental value of the phone made the loss particularly hard to bear.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Is it important for students to be organized?

Yes, it's very important for students to be organized. Being organized helps them manage their time effectively and keep track of their studies. For example, an organized student is less likely to forget assignments or misplace study materials, leading to better academic performance.

2. Are there any good ways to remind us not to forget or lose things?

Yes, setting reminders on phones or using sticky notes are simple yet effective ways. Some people also keep a checklist of important items to carry before leaving the house. Keeping things in the same place regularly, like keys or wallets, helps too.

3. What should parents do to teach their children not to lose things?

Parents can teach their children the importance of being responsible by assigning them simple tasks like organizing their school bags. They can also encourage children to have a designated spot for their belongings at home, helping them develop good habits.

4. What do people often do after losing things?

Most people immediately retrace their steps, trying to remember where they last saw the item. Some may even post about it on social media or ask for help from friends and family. If it's a valuable item, people might contact authorities or lost-and-found services.

5. What are the reasons why people often misplace or lose things?

One common reason is being distracted or rushing. When people are in a hurry, they tend to forget where they put things. Another reason is lack of organization; people who don't have designated places for their belongings often misplace them.

6. What are some common items that people tend to lose easily?

Common items include keys, wallets, and mobile phones. Small things like pens, sunglasses, and remote controls are also frequently lost because they can be misplaced easily in daily routines.

98. Describe a time when you answered a phone call from someone you didn't know in a public place

- You should say:
  - When and where it happened
  - Who called you
  - What he/she said
  - How you corresponded
  - And explain how you felt about the experience
- This incident took place when I was traveling by train from Mohali to Delhi to meet my relatives after finishing my 12th standard exams.
  - Normally, I don't answer calls from strangers, and I really dislike spam calls.
  - Unfortunately, the mobile network coverage was poor, so I couldn't access the internet on my phone and was getting quite bored
  - Suddenly, I received a call from an unknown number, which I initially ignored, but when the person called again, I decided to pick it up.

- I thought answering the call would be a good way to pass the time by talking to someone. The - caller started by saying that he needed just 2 minutes of my time and promised something exciting by the end of the call.
  - He asked for some personal details and then offered me a work-from-home job as a data entry operator, claiming I could earn ₹20,000 per month.
  - I immediately asked if it was a scam, but the caller denied it and tried to convince me otherwise.
  - I was using my headphones during the call to avoid disturbing the people sitting near me.
  - At first, I was tempted to share my details and give the job a try, as it sounded like a good opportunity.
  - However, when the person mentioned that I had to pay an enrollment fee of ₹5,000 to secure the job, I realized it was a scam. I quickly ended the call and felt relieved that I didn't fall for
  - the trap. Afterward, I shared the incident with my fellow travelers, and they agreed that I did
  - the right thing by not trusting the caller.
- The experience reminded me to be cautious and not trust random callers, especially in such
- situations.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Should people be banned from talking loudly in public places?

It's reasonable to expect people to be considerate in public spaces. While banning loud conversations might be extreme, there should be guidelines in certain areas like libraries or trains to maintain a peaceful environment. For example, some cafes already have "quiet zones" where people can work or relax without distractions.

2. Is it acceptable to talk on the phone in public?

Talking on the phone in public is common, but it depends on the context. In busy streets or open areas, it's acceptable, but in quieter spaces like restaurants or buses, people should speak softly to avoid disturbing others. Using headphones can also help minimize disruption.

3. Should parents teach their children to behave well in public?

Yes, it is important for parents to teach children how to behave in public. Good manners and respectful behavior help children interact positively with others and adapt to social norms. For example, teaching children to use "please" and "thank you" or not to be disruptive in quiet spaces is essential.

4. Why do some people not care about their actions in public?

Some people may not care about their behavior in public because they lack awareness of how their actions affect others. They might be too focused on themselves or simply not concerned about social etiquette. Sometimes, it's also due to cultural differences or individual personality traits.

5. What are the differences between sitting next to someone who talks on the phone and sitting next to people who talk to each other while traveling by train?

When someone is on the phone, they might speak louder or in a more one-sided way, which can be more distracting than overhearing a conversation between two people. A balanced conversation between people is often more natural and less intrusive than someone on a long, loud phone call.

6. Do most people mind others talking on the phone in public places?

Yes, many people do find it annoying when others talk loudly on the phone in public, especially in quiet environments like waiting rooms or public transport. It can be seen as disruptive, particularly if the conversation is lengthy or personal.

99. Describe your favourite food at a traditional festival or a special event in your country

- You should say:
- What it is
- At which festival/event you eat it
- How it is made
- And explain why you like it

- My favorite food during traditional festivals is a sweet dish called Jalebi, which is a must have during the festival of Dusherra.
- It's made by deep frying a batter of refined wheat flour into spiral shapes and then soaking it in sugar syrup.
- This sweet is typically orange in color and is best enjoyed when served hot.
- Its crispy texture on the outside and soft, syrupy inside create a perfect balance of flavors.
- The sweet dish is also similar to funnel cakes from North America, but this version is much more crunchy and rich in sweetness.
- Every kid loves it because of its fun spiral shape and the sticky sweetness it leaves on your fingers.
- On Dussehra, it is especially popular because it's said that Lord Ram and Hanuman loved flour-based sweets and people eat it to celebrate Lord Ram's victory.
- The burst of sugar you get with each bite makes this dish truly addictive, and the syrupsoaked spirals just melt in your mouth.
- Some people like to enjoy it with milk, which adds a creamy contrast to the sugary treat.
- Its crispy texture paired with the sticky sugar syrup is one of the reasons why I can't resist it.

- This sweet's vibrant orange color and the way it's soaked in syrup make it a must-have on special occasions.
- For me, the best part is how it perfectly captures the essence of traditional Indian festivals, combining flavor, tradition, and joy in every bite.

1. Is it bad behavior for people to look at their phones during a meal?

Yes, it can be considered bad behavior to look at phones during a meal. It distracts from the social aspect of eating and can make others feel ignored. Instead, mealtimes are often seen as opportunities for family and friends to connect and enjoy each other's company.

2. Why do people like to have a big meal at traditional festivals or big events?

People enjoy having a big meal during festivals and big events because it's a way to celebrate and bring everyone together. Food plays a central role in marking special occasions, and large meals often include traditional dishes that hold cultural significance. For example, during Diwali in India, families prepare elaborate feasts to celebrate the festival.

3. Do most people prefer vegetables bought from the supermarket or grown at home?

Many people prefer vegetables grown at home because they are fresher and often taste better. Home-grown vegetables also allow for better control over pesticides and chemicals. However, buying from supermarkets is convenient and often necessary for those who don't have the space or time to garden.

4. Are there any difficulties when people grow plants in cities?

Yes, there are several difficulties when growing plants in cities. Limited space, poor soil quality, and pollution can all be challenges. Additionally, urban areas often have less access to sunlight, which can hinder plant growth.

5. What plants can people grow in cities?

In cities, people can grow plants that require less space and are suited to urban conditions. Common choices include herbs like basil and mint, small vegetables like cherry tomatoes, and indoor plants like spider plants. Container gardening is popular because it allows for flexible use of available space.

6. Do people in your country grow plants at home?

Yes, many people in my country grow plants at home. Urban gardening is becoming more popular as people seek to have fresh produce and enjoy the benefits of nature in their living spaces. Common plants include herbs, small vegetables, and decorative indoor plants.

100. Describe a party that you enjoyed

- You should say:
- When and where the party was held
- Who attended the party
- What kind of party it was
- What you did in the party

- And explain why you enjoyed this party
- The party I enjoyed the most was our school farewell party, just before the 12th standard exams.
- It was hosted by the 11th standard students and held at a famous club in Chandigarh.
- The theme of the party was formal, and everyone had to wear black clothes, which added to the excitement.
- I wore a black suit for the first time, and I received a lot of compliments from my friends and teachers.
One of the highlights was a fashion show, and my friend won the title of "Best Dressed Person."
- It was my first time going to a club, and I was really excited about the whole experience.
- The DJ played amazing music, and we couldn't resist dancing all night long.
- Everyone danced and enjoyed themselves, creating a lively and fun atmosphere.
- We clicked a lot of pictures to capture the memories of that special night.
- The energy at the party was unforgettable, and we were all in high spirits, despite knowing our exams were coming soon.
- The party went on until around 2 am, and by the time we left, we were all exhausted but happy.
- I still remember how much fun we had, and it was a perfect way to celebrate before focusing on our studies.

1. What are the differences between holding a party at home and in a public place?

Holding a party at home offers more privacy and a personal touch, as the host can control the environment. However, it may involve more work, like cooking and cleaning. In public places like restaurants or clubs, there is more space, less responsibility for cleaning, and often a professional service, but it can be more expensive.

2. What would you do if you were disturbed by a neighbor's party?

If I were disturbed by a neighbor's party, I would politely ask them to lower the noise. If that didn't help, I might consider using earplugs or calling the authorities if it was too late and affecting my rest. I would try to handle it calmly, as maintaining good relations with neighbors is important.

3. Do you think music and dancing are a must at a party?

Music and dancing add a lot of energy to parties, making them more fun and lively. While they are not a must, they do help people relax and enjoy themselves. Some people might prefer quieter gatherings with conversation instead, depending on the type of party.

4. Do you think those who tend to stay at home are less healthy than those who often attend parties?

Staying at home doesn't necessarily make a person less healthy, as it depends on their lifestyle. However, socializing at parties can be good for mental well-being. On the other hand, too much partying might lead to unhealthy habits, like lack of sleep or excessive drinking.

5. Why do some people not like going to parties?

Some people avoid parties because they may feel uncomfortable in large crowds or dislike noisy environments. Introverts, for example, may find social gatherings draining and prefer quieter, more personal settings. Others might not enjoy the atmosphere or activities, like dancing or loud music.

6. Why do people like parties?

People enjoy parties because they provide an opportunity to socialize, have fun, and relax. It's a great way to celebrate special occasions, connect with friends, and unwind from daily stress.

Parties can lift people's mood and offer a break from routine.

101. Describe a movie you watched recently

- You should say:
- When and where you watched it
- Who you watched it with
- What it was about
- And explain why you watched this movie

- I am a movie buff and like to watch a lot of movies.
- I used to go to the movie theatres and watch most movies on the big screen.
- But recently streaming platforms like Netflix, Prime Video, Hotstar, etc. have such a big collection of movies that I rarely go to the movie theatres.
- Most movies get released in the theatres first and about 2 months later they come on either of these platforms.
- Recently I watched a movie on Netflix called Laapataa Ladies.
- Netflix usually releases movies on Friday and after I came back from work my mother suggested that we should do something fun as a family
- We ordered dinner from our favorite place and decided to watch this movie.
- This movie is the story of two newlywed brides who get exchanged during a train ride to their husband's homes.
- It shows the funny and chaotic situations that happen as the families and police try to find the missing women.

I really liked that it explores themes like gender roles, marriage, traditions, and societal expectations in a humorous manner.

- I watched this movie because I really liked the trailer.

- Also, this movie is directed by Kiran Rao and this is her second movie as a director.
- I loved her first movie and also some other movies in which she was the assistant director.
- Aamir Khan has co-produced this movie and he has always been my favourite actor. I knew anything coming from him would be good.
- The main actors in the movie are all newcomers and I had no idea about them before I watched this movie.
- All of them impressed me with their acting skills.
- I wish more directors would make movies like this in the future.

1. Why do people prefer to watch movies in the cinema?

I think people prefer to watch movies in the cinema because the large screens, high quality sound makes the movies more engaging. Also, it's fun to watch movies in the cinema with friends and family. Cinemas also offer formats like IMAX OR 3D that enhance audio and visual quality.

2. Do you think successful movies should have well-known actors or actresses in leading roles?

Having well-known actors or actresses can generate initial interest and make a movie successful by attracting large audiences. However, a good story, a creative director, and solid performances are more important for lasting success. Lesser-known actors can perform exceptionally well and make the movie a success.

3. Do you think only well-known directors can create the best movies?

I don't think that only well-known directors can create the best movies. Many outstanding movies have been made by directors making their debut. A passionate director, a unique compelling story, and good performances by actors can make a movie successful.

4. Do Indian people prefer to watch domestic movies or foreign movies?

I think Indian people prefer to watch domestic films especially Bollywood movies and movies made in regional languages like Hindi, Tamil, Telugu, Bengali, Malayalam, and Marathi that they speak. These films resonate better with Indian audiences as they reflect local culture, traditions, and social issues.

5. What are the factors that make a successful movie?

There are many factors that make a movie successful. Most important is the story which should be original, relatable, and meaningful. Next is a good director who can bring the story to life and guide the actors well. Another factor is good talented actors and exceptional performances.

6. What kinds of movies do you think are successful in your country?

In my country, movies that have a blend of romance, drama, and comedy appeal to a wide audience and are usually successful. Also, films that have a good social message that resonates with the audience's real-life experiences do well. Lastly, high energy action movies with larger-than-life heroes and a lot of dramatic stunts attract big crowds.

102. Describe an occasion when you helped a family member/relative with something

- You should say: When it happened
  - Who you helped
  - How you helped
  - And explain how you felt about the experience
- This happened right after my 12th standard exams when I travelled from Mohali to Delhi to spend some time with my relatives.
  - My aunt had invited me for a vacation, and she wanted to show me the famous places in Delhi.
  - She owns a small grocery shop in Delhi, and during my visit, one of her employees had to leave for his hometown for a week due to a personal emergency.
  - It became difficult for my aunt to manage the shop alone, so I suggested that I could help with the customers and orders.
  - Initially, my aunt was hesitant and refused my offer, but after I insisted, she agreed.
  - I started assisting her in the store, managing customer orders and handling deliveries.
  - It was a great experience to learn how small businesses operate and how to interact with customers.
  - Despite it being a short period of just one week, I gained valuable insights into managing a shop and felt proud that I could help my aunt.
  - I enjoyed the sense of responsibility and felt satisfied knowing that my support made a difference.
  - After her employee returned, my aunt thanked me by buying me gifts and taking me on a tour of Delhi.
  - I felt grateful for the experience and really appreciated the time I spent with my aunt. It was a memorable 10-day trip where I not only had fun but also learned new skills.

1. How do people know that their neighbours might need help?

Firstly, the neighbours might directly approach them and ask for help. However, if they might come from their neighbours behaviours and actions. If they are acting or behaving differently than they normally do, something might be amiss.

2. Do neighbours often help each other in your country?

Yes, it is very common for neighbours to help each other in my country. People are very social and they are quick to take help or help others in times of need. I remember when I was young ,our neighbours used to ask us for groceries like sugar or salt if they ran out and didn't buy on time. We did the same as well. However, I do feel, its less common today than before.

3. Should parents reward their children when they help others?

No, I don't think parents should rewards children but they should appreciate praise them. If they reward children, the children might help others not for the sake of helping but for getting rewards. And they would also expect something back in return.

4. What can children learn by helping others?

They can learn many valuable things by helping others. Firstly, they learn empathy and compassion. They learn to put themselves in other people's shoes and thinking what they might be facing. They also learn to take accountability and responsibility for their actions. When their help, changes something for others, they learn that their actions matter. Finally, they learn social skills and cooperation and this helps them adjust better in adult life.

5. Should parents always help their children with everything?

No, this would make children too dependent. It should be a gradual process. They can start by showing them how its done, then doing it partially and then letting them do it completely on their own. Children should learn that they have to things on their own as they grow older.

6. How can children help their parents at home?

Children can help their parents with daily household chores like cleaning, feeding the pet, taking out the trash and so on. They can also babysit their younger siblings for them. Moreover, they can help their parents by doing things on their own and taking care of their own things rather than asking their parents for help.

103. Describe a person who likes to make things by hand (e.g. toys, furniture)

- You should say:
  - Who this person is
  - What he/she makes
  - Why he/she likes to make things by hand
  - And explain how you feel about the person
- In my family, my mother is the most talented and creative person.

- She is always learning something new and working on different projects.
- One of her best talents is knitting and crochet.
- She always impresses me with all the things she can make.
- Every year she knits sweaters, hats, mittens, socks etc. for me, my dad, my brother, and even for my grandfather.
- She makes so many things using crochet too.
- She makes crotchet dolls and different stuffed animal toys like bears, bunnies, elephants, etc.
- Her work is so neat and beautiful.
- After wearing her sweaters, I don't feel like buying them from the store because her handmade sweaters are much better.
- My friends always ask me where I get my sweaters from. It's hard to tell that they are all handmade and knitted by my mom.
- She is very passionate about it, and it is a hobby that she enjoys the most.
- She keeps looking for new knitting and crochet patterns online.
- She loves to go to the yarn store and buy different kinds of yarn.
- She is knitting or crocheting while watching TV, traveling, talking with friends and relatives, etc.
- I think she likes to do it because she finds it relaxing and the repetitive movements keep her calm.
- She is always in a happy mood when she is with her needles and yarn.
- She told me that she finds it very soothing and stress relieving.
- Growing up she would tell me to learn knitting from her, but I had no interest in it.
- I wish I had learned this skill from her.
- I am my mother's greatest fan and I truly admire all the things she has made.
- I still have all the things she made for me and to me they are priceless.

1. How does modern technology change the handicraft industry?

Modern technology can help artists make their designs more innovative. For example, 3D printing allows for greater precision and can enhance the crafting process. Technology also helps artists reach a broader market. For example, artists can sell their work globally through online platforms like Etsy.

2. Is it reasonable to charge a high price for handmade things?

I think it is reasonable to charge a high price for handmade things because it involves a lot of hard work, time, craftsmanship, and skill.

These items are also unique and limited and so are more valuable than mass-produced machine products.

3. Are there any traditional handicrafts in your hometown?

Yes, I belong to Punjab and we have a lot of traditional handicrafts. A very famous one is phulkari embroidery with beautiful floral patterns and vibrant colors. Another one is Punjabi jutti which is leather footwear topped with hand embroidery.

4. Why do many children like to make things by hand?

I think children like to make things by hand because it allows them to express their creativity and imagination. It gives them a sense of pride and accomplishment when they make something new with their own hands. It is also more engaging and enjoyable than passive forms of entertainment like watching TV.

5. What are the benefits for students to learn to make things by hand?

Students learn to focus and concentrate when they make things by hand. They develop fine motor skills and hand-eye coordination. It also gives them a sense of pride and accomplishment and makes them more confident.

6. Are traditional handicrafts important to tourism?

Yes, I think traditional handicrafts reflect the local culture and heritage that provide tourists with a deeper understanding of the country's history and traditions. They offer unique and authentic experiences and souvenirs that attract visitors. Promoting these handicrafts helps support the local artists and economies and thus contributes to sustainable tourism.

104. Describe a time that you showed something new to others

- You should say:
- When it was
- What it was
- Who you showed it to
- How you showed it
- And explain how you felt about it

- I am still very young.
- So, generally, I am the one learning things instead of teaching them.
- However, recently, one of my cousins asked me to teach him baking.
- I learned baking during the COVID-19 pandemic.
- And I love eating cakes, but because of the Pandemic, I couldn't get them from the market.
- So, I decided to learn baking from YouTube.
- Now, I am pretty good and all my cousins and friends praise my cakes.
- They consider them even better than the cakes of the best bakeries in town.
- My cousin also loves my cakes so he asked me to teach him baking.
- I didn't do anything special to teach him.
- He lives near my house
- Whenever I was baking a cake, I called him and showed him what I did.
- I shared my recipes with him.
- My cousin has a very lively personality and I love spending time with him.
- He is also a quick learner.
- You don't need to show him things twice.

- It took me at least 10 tries to get that taste, while he gets the same taste in one or two attempts.
- He is also more open to experimentation than me.
- He sometimes made me add things to the batter, which I would have never even thought about.
- And I would say in most cases, his version ended up tasting better.
- Last month we also joked about opening a bakery together when we grow up.
- I think it would be really fun.

How can young people be motivated to learn new things?

The best thing would be to show them the benefits of learning them. Also, parents or teachers could keep some incentives for them to learn it. I remember my grandma made me remember some religion hymns by bribing me with an ice cream. It sounds childish but I think it can work with adults too.

What skills do you think children should learn before going to school?

What skills should children learn?

I think children should try to learn social skills so that they are able to make friends easily. Moreover, it would be helpful if they learn some basic reading and writing skills before going to school.

Why are some people unwilling to ask for help from others while studying?

I think for some people it is about learning things on their own rather than asking for help. They believe they can understand things better when they learn them on their own. For others, it might be ego. They feel embarrassed that they are not able to learn it on their own.

What are the differences between the things adults learn and the things that children learn? I think children mainly focus on foundational and basic skills such as maths, critical thinking and social behavior. They learn to satisfy their curiosity. On the other hand, adults mainly focus on complex and in-depth topics. They focus on professional skills or technical expertise (for example finance, leadership, cooking, and so on.)

What qualities should a good learner have?

The most important quality for a good learner is good retention. Good learners pick things up quickly, but they also remember them for a longer time. Moreover, good learners learn from their mistakes. They don't repeat their mistakes.

105. Describe an online video in which you learned something new

- You should say:
- When and where you watched it
- What it was
- Why you watched it
- And explain what you have learned from it

- Today, YouTube videos are one of the biggest sources of entertainment.
- However, I would like to talk about a YouTube video, which taught me a lot.
- It was a video on how to solve Sudoku, a maths puzzle.
- I used to see Sudoku puzzles in the newspaper and was always interested in learning about them.
- However, I always thought they were very tough and that only math geniuses could solve them.
- So, I never tried them.
- This changed recently because of the YouTube video.
- Four to five months ago, I got a random video suggestion on solving Sudoku puzzles.
- I just clicked on the video for fun, planning to close it after a while.
- But, I ended up watching the whole 15 minute video till the end.
- As the video started describing Sudoku, I learnt that it is not that difficult. • In fact, the difficulty of the Sudoku varies.
- In the Tribune, the difficulty goes up from 1 star to 5 star.
- The first 5 minutes of the video explained all the rules of Sudoku.
- Then, it recommended a basic strategy for beginners like me.
- There were some suggestions, like using a pencil instead of the pen in the beginning.
- The last five minutes covered some advanced strategies.
- Immediately after watching the video, I opened the e-Tribune and tried their daily Sudoku.
- It was a 3 star difficulty rated Sudoku.
- To my surprise, I was able to solve it in less than 10 minutes.
- I know to others it might not be a big deal but it made my day.
- Nowadays, I solve Sudokus daily.
- I am able to solve 1 star to 4 star difficulty levels easily, but the 5 star ones takes me over 2 hours.
- I hope to master them soon too.

1. Do you think online learning will replace face-to-face learning?

No, I don't think online learning will completely replace face to face learning. I imagine a scenario of blended learning where a mixture of both will be used. There are some key advantages of face to face learning, like the chance to address doubts immediately, which make it irreplaceable. Moreover, there is the element of competition and motivation in offline learning, which is lacking in online learning.

2. What are the advantages of online learning?

The first advantage of online learning is the flexibility. Students can learn whenever and wherever they want. They can also study at their own pace, giving more time to the concepts they find difficult. Secondly, online learning is cheaper, not only for the students but also for universities as they can teach many more students. Finally, online learning reduces the barrier of age and location. For example, people can get quality education from foreign universities, without needing to move abroad.

3. Why are so many young people obsessed with short videos?

The first reason is that they are easy to consume. We can watch them while waiting in line or travelling, they don't ask for a long time commitment. Secondly, people today have short attention spans, so it is difficult for people to watch long videos. Lastly, video creators also make shorts in an innovative way to grab as much attention as possible.

4. Do you think people spend too much time watching short videos? Why?

Yes, they are addictive. Moreover, they give us the assumption that we are only watching them for a minute or so, but we end up watching many videos together wasting hours on them. The millions and billions of views on these videos prove that we are spending too much time on them.

5. Are there many people who watch online videos a lot?

Yes, there are many people who watch online videos a lot. It is common as there are videos on nearly everything. The algorithm of these platforms makes sure that we are shown videos based on our interests and that there is something for everybody.

6. What kinds of videos are most popular in your country?

I think humorous videos or animal videos, the ones about dogs and cats doing hilarious things are the most popular. They are the ones that get shared with me the most on WhatsApp or Facebook.

106. Describe a person who has strong opinions

- You should say:
- Who this person is

- How you know him/her
  - Why you think he/she is a person who has strong opinions
  - What kinds of strong opinions this person has
  - And explain how you feel about his/her opinions
- I like people with strong opinions as they are very clear about what they are thinking.
  - Moreover, they don't change their views easily so it is also easy to trust such people.
  - Among my friend circle, there is one person who I can associate with being strongly opinionated
  - His name is Ravi.
  - He and I became friends in childhood.
  - We used to sit next to each other in high school and we have been friends since then.
  - He has strong opinions about nearly everything in life, but this is most clearly visible in the case of the environment.
  - He strongly believes that we need to make lifestyle changes to protect the environment or else we are doomed.
  - Thus, he is very quick to express his disapproval when any of our friends does anything that is harmful to the environment and can be avoided.
  - For example, he is strictly against using plastic bags.
  - He often recommends us to carry cloth tote bags with us.
  - Recently, the Indian government banned single use plastic.
  - He was very happy with this step.
  - His only complaint was that it happened too late.
  - He also strongly believes that we should all travel by public transportation and avoid cars.
  - He himself travels by bicycle within the city and he only uses the car for long distances.
  - I think his strong opinions about the environment come from his father.
  - His father is a forest officer and works closely with animals.
  - I know people get irritated sometimes when others have such strong opinions, but I, on the contrary, appreciate his strong opinions.
  - I don't like when people give lectures about the correct way of life and themselves don't follow it.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Do you think it is good to have strong opinions?

Both yes and no. I think there is nothing wrong with having strong opinions. In fact, it shows clarity of thought but I think it becomes a problem when people try to impose their views on others. We can encourage others to change but we should never force our views on them.

2. Do you think we should only say something after thinking it through?

Yes, I think our mind comes with stupid thoughts all the time. So, we should definitely think things through before saying them. However, that doesn't mean we should be untruthful. If someone asks our opinion, we should be honest, but we should say it in a way that it is not hurtful.

3. Which is more important, listening to others or persuading others?

I think we cannot persuade others unless we listen to them. Only after we listen to them, can we come to know how to convince them. In addition, listening to others also makes us more broad minded. It tells us what others think.

4. Are there many young people who have strong opinions in our lives?

I don't think young people are that strongly opinionated. There are of course a few exceptions but majority of the young people are willing to listen to others. Strong opinions take time to form. So, I associate strong opinions mostly with the elderly.

5. What do old people have strong opinions about?

They think they are strongly opinionated about many things such as politics, religion, and way of life. For example, most elderly in India believe in getting up early, praying, and eating home cooked meals instead of eating out. Many are against drinking or eating meat as well. So, these are the things old people have firm opinions about.

6. What do young people have strong opinions about?

I think young people have firm opinions about social and economic issues. They believe in social and economic equality. They also share firm opinions about climate change and the environment and what we should be doing to protect the earth.

107. Describe a prize you have received recently (e.g. money, something valuable, a medal)

- You should say:
- What it was
- When you received it
- What you did to receive it
- And explain how you felt about it

- I haven't won a lot of academic or extracurricular competitions in life.
- However, I have a hobby of doing puzzles that come in the newspaper like Sudoku and Crossword.
- About 2 months ago, I saw a caption contest in the Sunday Tribune.

- They had given a photo and they had asked us to suggest a suitable title for the same.
- There were 5 prizes, the first prize was Rs 300, the second Rs 250, the third Rs 200 and so on.
- It was the photo of a girl travelling on an open truck covered from head to toe with clothes.
- Nothing, except her eyes were visible.
- I randomly started thinking about a caption and after about 10 minutes came up with 'Travelling incognito'.
- At the moment, I didn't think about submitting it for the competition.
- However, my parents really liked the caption and told me that I should definitely submit it.
- So the next day, I went to the post office and mailed my caption along with the newspaper clip and my address to The Tribune office in Chandigarh.
- The result was to be declared in the next Sunday's Tribune, but we had to go somewhere so I couldn't check it and gradually I even forgot about it.
- About a month later, I got a mail.
- I wasn't expecting one, so I was wondering what it was about.
- When I opened it, I saw Rs 250 and there was a note congratulating me for securing the second prize in The Tribune caption contest.
- I know it wasn't a lot but it made me really happy.
- I never thought the caption was good enough to win the contest and certainly not the second prize.
- My parents were also really proud of me.
- It was the first time, I won something solely due to my efforts.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Why do some companies encourage employees to compete with each other?

I think competition makes employees work harder. We are social animals and we always relate our successes and failures to other people around us. We don't want to be left behind so we push ourselves to be better.

2. Why do many companies offer prizes to their customers?

I think prizes are given to customers for many reasons. Firstly, they add that extra incentive for people to buy things from that company. People think that they are getting some extra for the same money. Secondly, it builds brand loyalty, we are more likely to shop at such places again.

3. What criteria should be set for students to win a particular prize?

I think there is too much emphasis on the performance of a single day. So I believe along with basing prizes on just test results, they should also be based on long term class performance.

4. What prizes should schools set for students?

Schools should set prizes in different aspects. First and foremost, there should be prizes for academic performance. Secondly, there can be awards for social and community service for students who have taken special steps to uplift the local society. Furthermore, there should be awards for sports and arts performance. Finally, there can be certain special awards like punctuality, perfect attendance awards, and so on.

5. Why should we set prizes for competitions?

Prizes make competitions interesting. If there was no prize, we wouldn't work that hard, so they act like a motivation for us. Moreover, prizes are a way for us to show our achievements to others. They also serve as a form of memory of our hard work in the past.

6. Do you think competitions are all about the prize?

No, competitions are not only about prize. Their actual value lies in learning. When we prepare for competitions, we tend to put in extra effort and we learn new skills. In a way, they also build our confidence and lead to personality development.

108. Describe a crowded place you have visited

- When you went there
- With whom you went there
- And explain how you felt about being there?

Or a place with a lot of people (PRESENT TENSE)

Describe a place with a lot of people

- Where is it
- Who do you go with
- What do people do there
- Why are there so many people
- India is a densely populated country, so we have a lot of places which are often crowded.
- Some of these places are religious shrines, historical sites, and nowadays one can even find a lot of people at bus terminals, public gardens etcetera.
- Here, I would like to talk about a shopping mall in Chandigarh, which is always brimming with people
- It's called Elante Mall and it is located in the industrial area of Chandigarh.
- The mall has a total of 3 floors and has 2 levels for parking.
- It was built approximately 7 years back and one can find stores of all global brands here.
- The mall is mostly crowded over the weekends when people have their weekly offs.
- It is a place where no one gets bored as people can do a lot of activities like playing games, watching movies, eating at their favourite restaurant etcetera.
- The first time I went to this mall was with my cousins who live in Chandigarh.

- It was during the winter and it had been only a month since the opening of the mall.
- We had heard a lot about the mall from others and some even said it is one of the best malls in Asia.
- So, we wanted to explore it ourselves and we were truly amazed. • It was a weekend and the mall was completely filled with people.
- Everyone looked happy and excited just like us.
- Also, there were festive sales going on and there were huge discounts at most of the stores, so we bought ourselves some new clothes at great prices.
- We spent almost 5 hours at the mall and didn't even realise how the time went by.
- Now, I am a regular visitor at the mall and I do most of my shopping at Elante mall only.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Do you think it is a good trend to have more big cities? It can be both good and bad. Big cities offer more jobs, better education, and better healthcare. However, they also have more traffic, pollution, and high living costs. While big cities can help people find opportunities, it's important to make sure they are livable and sustainable.
2. Do you think there are some people who enjoy crowded places? Yes, some people like crowded places. They may enjoy the excitement and energy of being around many people. Crowded places, like markets or festivals, can be fun for those who like socializing or exploring new things. However, others might find it stressful or overwhelming.
3. Why do people go to crowded places? People often go to crowded places for entertainment, shopping, or social activities. These places usually offer a variety of things to do and see, such as concerts, markets, or popular tourist attractions. Some people also go to crowded places for work or to meet others.
4. Will people use bikes more or less in cities in the future? In the future, people might use bikes more in cities. As traffic and pollution become bigger problems, bikes can be a healthy and eco-friendly option. Many cities are also building more bike lanes and promoting cycling to make it safer and easier for people to ride bikes.
5. Will there be more or less green space in cities in the future? It is hard to say, but hopefully, there will be more green space. Many cities are realizing the importance of parks and green areas for people's health and well-being. As cities grow, there may be a push to include more trees, gardens, and parks to improve air quality and provide places for relaxation.

6. Which cities are overcrowded in your country? In India, cities like Mumbai, Delhi, and Kolkata are overcrowded. These cities have large populations and face problems like traffic congestion, pollution, and limited housing. Many people move to these cities for jobs and better opportunities, making them even more crowded over time.

109. . Describe a challenge you faced that you thought was rather difficult

- You should say:
  - What it was
  - When and where you faced it
  - Why you thought it was a difficult challenge
  - And explain how you felt at the time
- One difficult challenge I faced was preparing for my final board exams.
  - This was during my last year of school.
  - I had to study hard for all my subjects, but I found math and science especially tough.
  - I thought this challenge was difficult because I needed to get good marks to get into a good college, and there was a lot of pressure on me to perform well.
  - I also had trouble managing my time.
  - I had to make a study plan and stick to it, but sometimes it felt overwhelming.
  - There were days when I felt like I couldn't understand anything, especially in math.
  - I was nervous and stressed most of the time because I knew how important these exams were for my future.
  - I also had to deal with distractions.
  - My friends wanted to hang out, and sometimes I would get tired and want to take long breaks.
  - But I knew I couldn't waste time, so I had to stay focused.
  - My teachers and parents helped me a lot, giving me advice and encouraging me to keep going.
  - When the exams finally came, I was both nervous and excited.
  - I tried to stay calm and do my best.
  - After finishing the exams, I felt relieved, though I still worried about the results.
  - When I finally got my marks, I was happy and proud of myself.
  - Looking back, this challenge helped me become more disciplined and better at handling stress.
  - I learned that hard work and perseverance can help you overcome even the most difficult challenges.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Why do some people enjoy doing extreme sports?

Some people enjoy extreme sports because they like the thrill and excitement. These sports give them an adrenaline rush, which makes them feel alive. They also enjoy the challenge and the sense of achievement after completing something difficult. For some, it's a way to push their limits and overcome their fears.

2. What challenges would people face when learning new sports?

When learning new sports, people often face challenges like understanding the rules and techniques. They might struggle with coordination and balance. Physical fitness can also be a challenge, especially if the sport is demanding. Learning a new sport requires patience and practice, and some people find it hard to stay motivated.

3. What activities do you think would make children feel challenged? Why?

Activities like puzzles, team sports, or learning new skills like playing an instrument can challenge children. These activities require focus, problem-solving, and perseverance. Children often feel challenged when they have to work hard to achieve something or when the task is new and unfamiliar to them.

4. Do most people choose to face a challenge alone or with others?

It depends on the person and the challenge. Some people prefer to face challenges alone because they feel more focused and independent. Others like to face challenges with friends or a team because it provides support and motivation. Facing challenges with others can also make the experience more enjoyable.

5. Is it easy for children to overcome a challenge?

It can be difficult for children to overcome challenges, especially if they lack experience or confidence. However, with the right support and encouragement, they can learn to face and solve problems. It often takes time and patience, but overcoming challenges helps them grow stronger.

6. What do children often do when they face a challenge?

When children face a challenge, they might first feel frustrated or confused. Some children might ask for help from parents, teachers, or friends. Others may try to figure it out on their own. With support, children usually learn to approach challenges step by step and try different ways to solve the problem.

110. Describe an ideal and perfect place where you would like to stay (e.g. a house, an apartment)

- You should say:
- Where it would be

- What it would look like
  - What special features it would have
  - Whether it would be big or small
  - And explain why it would be an ideal place for you
- An ideal and perfect place where I would like to stay would be a house by the sea.
  - It would be located on a quiet beach, with beautiful views of the ocean.
  - The house would be modern but cozy, painted in soft colours like white and light blue to match the peaceful surroundings.
  - The house would have large windows so that I could always see the sea, and it would have a small balcony where I could sit and enjoy the sunset.
  - Inside, there would be a comfortable living room with soft sofas, a kitchen where I could cook fresh meals, and two bedrooms—one for me and one for my parents.
  - One special feature of the house would be a small garden with flowers and plants.
  - My parents love gardening and so the house should have space for a kitchen garden.
  - The house would not be too big, just the right size for a small family.
  - I think a small house feels cozier and easier to manage.
  - It would also be close to nature, with the beach just steps away, and perhaps a forest nearby for walks.

1. What do you think buildings will be like in the future?

In the future, buildings will likely be taller and smarter. They might have eco-friendly designs with solar panels and green spaces to help the environment. Many future buildings could be fully automated, using technology to control lights, temperature, and security. Some buildings might even be built underground or underwater to save space.

2. Why do some people choose to live in the city centre?

Some people prefer living in the city centre because it is close to work, shops, and entertainment. They can save time on traveling and enjoy a more active lifestyle. City centres often have better public transport, restaurants, and cultural events. It's also convenient for people who like being in the middle of the action and want everything nearby.

3. Do different people have different preferences for houses or apartments? Yes, different people have different preferences. Some people prefer houses because they want more space, privacy, and perhaps a garden. Others like apartments because they are easier to maintain, often located in convenient areas, and can be more affordable. It depends on a person's lifestyle, family size, and budget.

4. What would people normally consider when they rent or buy a house or an apartment?

People consider several things, such as location, size, price, and safety. They also think about how close the house or apartment is to work, schools, and shops. Other important factors include the quality of the neighbourhood, the condition of the property, and whether it fits their family's needs.

5. Why are apartments popular in some places while not in other places?

Apartments are popular in crowded cities where land is limited and expensive. In these places, apartments are more affordable and convenient. In rural areas or smaller towns, people may prefer houses because there is more space available, and houses can be cheaper than in cities.

6. What are apartments like in your country?

In India, apartments come in different sizes and styles. In big cities like Mumbai and Delhi, apartments can be small due to limited space, and they are often expensive. However, in smaller cities, apartments are more spacious and affordable. Many new apartments are built with modern designs, and some even have shared facilities like gyms or gardens.

111. Describe an old friend you had lost touch with and got in contact with again

- You should say :
- Who he/she is
- How you knew each other
- Why you lost contact
- How you got in contact again
- And explain how you felt after getting in contact again

- I would like to talk about an old friend named Rohan.
- He was my classmate in primary school, and we were very close friends back then.
- We used to play together every day during school breaks, and we even did our homework together sometimes.
- We had a lot of fun and shared many good memories.
- After finishing primary school, Rohan moved to another city because his father got a new job.
- We promised to stay in touch, but as time passed, we lost contact.
- Life got busy for both of us with new schools, new friends, and other activities.
- Back then, it wasn't easy to stay connected because we didn't have mobile phones or social media.
- About 6 years later, I was browsing through Facebook and saw his profile.
- I sent him a friend request, and he accepted it.
- We started chatting and catching up on each other's lives.
- We talked about the good old days and shared stories about what we've been up to since we last met.
- After getting in touch with Rohan again, I felt really happy and excited.
- It felt like reconnecting with a part of my childhood that I had forgotten.
- We even made plans to meet up when he visits our hometown next time.

- It was a great feeling to reconnect with an old friend, and I'm glad we are in touch again.

1. Why do we have to give up some old friends?

Sometimes we give up old friends because life changes. People may move to different places, have busy schedules, or develop different interests. As time passes, it becomes harder to stay in touch, and friendships naturally fade away. It doesn't always mean there's a problem, but people just grow apart.

2. Why do people need to make new friends?

People need to make new friends because life is always changing. New friends can bring fresh perspectives and help us learn new things. Sometimes, we meet new people at work, school, or in our hobbies, and they can support us in different ways. Making new friends also keeps our social life active and interesting.

3. Why do old friends lose touch with each other?

Old friends lose touch because of distance, busy schedules, or changes in life circumstances. As people grow older, they get busy with their jobs, families, and other responsibilities, leaving less time for friendships. Sometimes, people also change their interests, which can make it harder to maintain old friendships.

Do you think you are good at maintaining good relationships with others?

I try my best to maintain good relationships with others. I make an effort to stay in touch, listen to my friends, and help them when needed. However, life can be busy, so it's not always easy. But I believe communication and understanding are key to maintaining strong relationships.

5. Would having just a few friends limit your horizons?

Having a few close friends might limit your social experiences, but it can also make your friendships deeper and more meaningful. However, meeting new people and making more friends can help you learn new things, share different ideas, and explore new opportunities. Both approaches have their benefits.

6. Is it better to have a lot of friends than just a few friends?

It depends on the person. Some people prefer to have many friends because they enjoy socializing and like being around different people. Others prefer to have a few close friends because they value deep, strong relationships. Both are good in their own way, and it depends on what makes a person happy.

112. Describe something you did in your study/work that has made you feel confident

- You should say:
- When and where it happened
- What you did
- Why it made you feel confident
- And explain how you felt about it

- When I was in my final year of school, I had a big project to complete.
- It was for my science class, and the project was about renewable energy.
- We had to create a presentation and also build a small model to explain our ideas.
- I worked on this project for about a month, mostly at home and sometimes in the school library.
- What made it special was that I had never done something this big before.
- I did a lot of research, and I had to learn new skills like building a solar panel model and creating slides for my presentation.
- I also practiced speaking in front of the mirror to improve my confidence.
- When the day came to present, I was nervous but excited.
- I explained my project clearly and confidently to my classmates and teachers.
- They were impressed, and I even answered all the questions they asked.
- After my presentation, my teacher praised me for my hard work, which made me feel really proud.
- This experience boosted my confidence because it showed me that I could handle big challenges if I worked hard and stayed focused.
- I realized that I had the ability to solve problems and present my ideas well.
- This helped me believe in myself more, not just in school, but also in other areas of life.
- I felt accomplished and motivated to take on more difficult tasks in the future.
- The entire experience left me feeling empowered and proud of what I had achieved.

- 1. Why do so many people lack confidence these days? Many people lack confidence because they often compare themselves to others, especially on social media. They may feel they are not good enough or are afraid of making mistakes. Sometimes, past failures or criticism from others can also make people lose confidence. A lack of support from family and friends may add to this problem. Also, not having enough opportunities to practice skills can cause a person to feel unsure of themselves.
- 2. Do you think that children of confident parents are also confident? Yes, children of confident parents often become confident too. Parents who believe in themselves usually encourage their children to do the same. They set a good example by facing challenges with a positive attitude. Confident parents often give their children love and support, which helps the children feel safe and strong. However, some children may still feel shy or unsure, even if their parents are confident.
- 3. What can teachers do to make studying more interesting? Teachers can make studying more interesting by using games, videos, and fun activities to explain lessons. They can also ask students to work on projects together, which makes learning more fun and interactive. Giving real-life examples can help students understand how the lessons are useful. Teachers should also encourage students to ask questions and share their ideas, making them feel involved in the lesson.
- 4. How can teachers help their students become more confident by rewarding them for studying? Teachers can help students become more confident by giving them rewards when they do well in their studies. These rewards can be simple, like praise, stickers, or certificates. It makes students feel proud of their hard work and encourages them to keep trying. When students are recognized for their efforts, they feel more confident about their abilities and are more likely to take on new challenges.

5. What can teachers do to help their students become more confident? Teachers can help students become more confident by always encouraging them and not focusing too much on their mistakes. They should celebrate small successes and tell students that making mistakes is part of learning. Giving students responsibility, like leading a group or sharing their work, also builds confidence. It's important for teachers to show they believe in their students' abilities.

6. How can a person become more confident? A person can become more confident by practicing new skills and learning from their mistakes. Setting small goals and achieving them step by step helps build confidence. Surrounding oneself with supportive friends and family can also make a person feel more secure. Positive thinking and reminding oneself of past successes can boost selfconfidence. Over time, trying new things and gaining experience helps a person feel more sure of themselves.

113. Describe a place that you would like to learn the culture there (e.g. a library, museum, theatre)

- You should say:
- Where it is
- How you knew this place
- What it is like
- And explain how the place is related to culture

- One place I would love to learn about culture is the Virasat-e-Khalsa, located in Anandpur Sahib, Punjab.
- I first heard about this museum from a friend who visited it on a school trip during our 12th standard.
- It is often referred to as the 8th wonder of the world due to its marvelous architecture and breathtaking design.
- The museum celebrates 500 years of Sikh history, beautifully showcasing the origin and journey of Sikhism.
- As you move through different levels, you get to see how the Sikh way of life evolved, including their clothing, utensils, farming tools, and more.
- One of the highlights is the section dedicated to Guru Nanak Dev Ji, the founder of Sikhism, showing the extensive travels he undertook.
- There's also a part that depicts the sacrifices Sikhs made while fighting against the Mughals.
- Visitors are provided with headphones for an audio-guided tour that plays automatically when you reach a specific artform.
- At the end of the museum, there's a movie theatre where you can watch a film about Sikhism and its rich history.

- The building itself is incredibly scenic, surrounded by a lake and a bridge, offering plenty of photo opportunities.
- I've seen pictures, and the museum looks stunning both inside and outside, and it's a perfect blend of history and beauty.
- I would love to visit Virasat-e-Khalsa one day to immerse myself in the Sikh culture and experience everything it has to offer firsthand.
- The serene environment and the detailed exhibits make it a cultural treasure I'm eager to explore.

Does the culture of the past have an impact on today's culture?

Yes, the culture of the past greatly influences today's culture. Traditions, values, and practices passed down through generations shape how people live and interact. For instance, many festivals in India, such as Diwali and Holi, are rooted in historical and religious traditions, but they are still widely celebrated today.

Which is more important in terms of culture, literature or music?

Both literature and music are important, but their impact can vary. Literature preserves ideas, history, and values, while music connects people emotionally and can spread culture across boundaries quickly. For example, Shakespeare's works are key to English literature, while traditional folk music reflects the soul of many communities.

How do young people learn about different cultures?

Young people learn about different cultures through travel, education, and the internet. Cultural exchange programs, studying foreign languages, and online platforms like YouTube expose them to global traditions and lifestyles. For instance, many learn about other countries' customs through movies or social media.

What kind of culture is popular among young people?

Pop culture, including music, movies, and fashion, is quite popular among young people today. They often follow global trends, such as K-pop or Hollywood films, which influence their way of dressing and entertainment choices.

How is a culture formed?

Culture is formed through shared experiences, traditions, beliefs, and values passed down over time. It develops within communities based on historical events, religious practices, and social interactions. For example, Indian culture has been shaped by centuries of religious diversity and regional traditions.

114. Describe a public park or garden.

- You should say:
- Where it is
- What it is like

- How often do you go there
- What you often do there
- Explain how you feel about it

- India is a beautiful country, and it has so many iconic parks and gardens.
- Here I would like to talk about Zakir Hussain Rose Garden
- It is a botanical garden in Chandigarh and is one of the most visited tourist places in Chandigarh.
- It was established in 1967 and is named after former president of India, Zakir Hussain.
- It is spread over an area of approximately 30 acres and is the largest rose garden in Asia.
- It has a vast collection of about 50,000 rose bushes of 1600 different species.
- It has roses of different colors, shapes, and sizes and is also called “The Floral Wonderland”
- Besides roses it also has trees, shrubs, and medicinal plants.
- It looks spectacular when the flowers bloom in spring.
- It is about 2 hours from my hometown Phagwara.
- I go to Rose Garden at least once or twice a year.
- My grandparents live in Chandigarh and their house is only 15 minute drive from Rose Garden. Rahul
- I love nature and flowers and go there to walk, relax, and enjoy the beauty of nature.
- Also, I like to attend the annual Rose Festival that happens here in Feb or March
- It is a big cultural event and a celebration of the rich cultural heritage of Chandigarh.
- There are a lot of exhibitions and contests for photography, gardening, landscaping, bonsai, etc.
- There are food stalls, dance and music performances, and rides for children.
- I come to the festival with my whole family and it’s a memorable experience for all of us.
- I love the serene atmosphere and ambiance of this garden and look forward to coming here.

How can we encourage young people to go to parks more often?

I think adding features like playgrounds, cycling paths or fitness equipment can make the parks more attractive to young users. Organizing fun sports events like cricket, football, etc. can also encourage youngsters to visit parks.

What tourist attractions are popular in India?

India has so many tourist attractions like the Taj Mahal in Agra, Red Fort in Delhi, Golden Temple in Amritsar, Hawa Mahal in Jaipur, etc. There are many famous temples in south India like Meenakshi Temple in Madurai. The beaches of Goa are also very popular with tourists.

Why do people like to visit tourist attractions?

People like to visit tourist attractions because they are beautiful, historical, and interesting in some way. People can relax, learn new things, and take memorable photos. It is a way to experience different cultures and traditions.

What are the differences between a garden and a natural area?

A garden is a man-made space where people plant grass, flowers, trees, shrubs, etc. Gardens are well-maintained, neat and landscaped. A natural area is a place where nature grows without human effort like forests, mountains, lakes etc. Natural areas are wild, untouched, and home to wildlife.

What facilities are needed in a park?

A park should be safe, clean, and well-maintained. It should have plants, shrubs, and trees to provide shade and beauty. It should have a playground for children or open space for sports and other activities. Benches for people to sit, a clean bathroom, drinking water fountains, and waste bins are great additions to a park.

Is it necessary to have public parks in cities?

Yes, parks are necessary because they provide space for people to relax, enjoy nature, walk, and exercise. They are a good break for people living the busy city life. They also give people a place to meet their friends and children a safe place to play.

115. Describe a place in your hometown/city that is different from other places and that you enjoy visiting with your parents/friends.

- You should say:
- Where it is
- What it is like
- What you often do there
- Who do you often go there with
- And explain why you think it is different

- One place I enjoy visiting with my friends and parents is the Rock Garden.
- It is in Sector 1 Chandigarh near Sukhna Lake and is spread over an area of 40 acres.
- It is entirely made from scrap materials like broken pottery, sinks, electrical waste, broken pipes, bangles, tiles, and glass.
- It was created by Nek Chand who started building the garden secretly in his spare time in 1957.
- He started collecting materials from demolition sites around Chandigarh.
- He hid it for 18 years, but it was eventually discovered by the authorities in 1976.
- The garden is divided into several sections and each section has its own theme.
- It has a lot of interlinked courtyards, archways, and pathways.
- It is full of intricately carved sculptures of animals, dancers, and musicians.
- It has beautiful cascading waterfalls and terracotta murals that depict scenes from everyday life.

- I go to Rock Garden at least once a year.
- I go there because it's a fun spot to spend time with family and friends while enjoying the creativity and art.
- Walking through the garden feels like exploring a magical world.
- It is a great place to take photos.
- Last year, I went to Rock Garden with my relatives.
- They had never been to Chandigarh before.
- I wanted to show them the most popular attractions in Chandigarh.
- Rock Garden is different from other places because it has a unique, creative, and artistic design.
- It is not only beautiful but also teaches us how recycling can transform waste into art.

What factors attract people to go to visit other places other than their hometown?

People are attracted to other places because they want to try new activities and see different landscapes and different cultures.

Do you think it is necessary to visit the same place many times?

I think it's a very personal choice. I think one time can be enough to explore a place fully. Some people might want to go again because they loved it so much and want to explore more. Some places might offer different attractions in different seasons. So going again in another season can be a new experience.

What do young people like to do in their leisure time?

Young people like to hang out with their friends in their leisure time. Some like to watch movies and TV shows on the OTT. Some like to play video games and some like to spend time on social media.

What are the differences between the places young people like to go and the places old people like to go?

Young people like to go to malls, movie theatres, amusement parks, or restaurants where they can socialize and have fun. Older people may prefer quieter places like parks, museums, and libraries.

Where do people in your hometown like to go?

People in my hometown like to go to Sector 17 Plaza and Elante Mall for shopping, dining, movies, and entertainment. Some like to go to Sukhna Lake and Rose Garden to relax and enjoy nature.

What are the differences between big cities and small cities?

Big cities are very crowded and have a fast-paced lifestyle. People experience heavy traffic and a high cost of living. They do have a lot of shopping malls and entertainment options. Small cities have fewer people, a slower pace of life, less traffic, and lower living costs. They have fewer amenities compared to big cities.

116. Describe a person from whom others like to ask for advice

- You should say:

- Who this person is
  - Why people like to ask for his/her advice
  - What kind of advice he/she often gives
  - And explain how you feel about the person
- I normally ask for advice from my friends and family members.
  - However, today I would like to talk about a person who a lot of people ask advice from.
  - He is my school's principal.
  - He is a very learned and respected member of our community.
  - He brought a lot of changes to the school.
  - Before him, the school only had a 70% pass rate in senior secondary ,but after he was appointed, the pass rate went up to 98%.
  - The drop out rate of the school also went down significantly.
  - Everyone respects him because of the changes he brought to the school.
  - Many people now go to him to ask advice about their children's future and career.
  - He himself keeps track of every student and talks to them regularly.
  - He also talks to the teachers regularly about each student's performance. That is why, he has a very good idea about student's abilities and interests.
  - Many of the children who chose careers as per his advice have done exceptionally well in their life.
  - That is why his advice is really valued.
  - He bases his decisions on the students' interests more than anything else.
  - He doesn't just recommend traditional fields like law, science, engineering or medicine.
  - Like recently, he encouraged one of the students' parents to enrol him in acting classes.
  - No parent would have considered this advice, if it came from anyone else.
  - I feel like we are blessed to have such a knowledgeable person in the society.
  - Many of the parents in my small town are unaware about new fields, but he studies and gives them advice on how their children can pursue these new and exciting fields.
  - Also, talking to him is always very educational.
  - I feel like I learn something new whenever I talk to him.

Are professional consultancy services expensive in your country?

It varies. There is not much demand of these services within the country so the local consultancy services charge reasonable prices. However, there are also some multinational companies, whose fees are quite exorbitant. These multinational companies mainly offer services to foreign customers.

Do you think the advice parents give their children is always good?

No, I can't say it is always good, but it is mostly good. Parents are also human beings and although they have the best interests of their children at heart, they also make mistakes sometimes.

Why do some people like to ask others for advice on almost everything?

I believe it is partly due to their upbringing. Their parents might have dictated most of their decisions in their childhood, so they lack confidence to make choices on their own when they grow up. They prefer asking others for advice, just like their parents advised them during their childhood. Secondly, it maybe because they are too afraid to make mistakes and taking advice from others helps them confirm their decisions.

Do people often ask for advice from professional people, like a lawyer?

In some professional matters yes, but I don't think it is common to take advice from lawyers in personal matters. In this case, people rely on their friends and relatives. In case of work issues, most take advice from their colleagues or seniors at the workplace.

Who should people ask for advice from on big issues, family members or friends?

I think it really depends upon the issue. I normally take advice from my parents and siblings if I consider them to have better knowledge about the topic and if the issue affects them as well. On the other hand, if I believe my friends to be more knowledgeable about something, I ask them for advice.

Do you follow the advice of your family members?

In most cases yes. I generally do follow the advice of my family members because I trust their wisdom and their advice has generally worked well for me. However, in some areas, when I strongly feel that it would be better to go in another direction, I do that as well.

117. Describe a place in your city you have been to where you can see wildlife (e.g. animals, birds, insects, plants)

- You should say:
- Where it is
- When you went there
- What wildlife you can see there
- And explain how you feel about it

- I live in a small town, Phagwara.
- There are not many places like zoos or wildlife sanctuaries where people can go to wildlife.
- However, there is a very famous zoo, Chhatbir Zoo about 2 hours from my hometown.
- It is located in Chandigarh.
- I went there on a school trip, when I was in 10th standard.
- The zoo has both indigenous and exotic wildlife species.
- I remember seeing many wild animals like lions, tigers, elephants, bears, deer, reptiles, and birds there.
- There is a separate section for reptiles, which had many snakes, crocodiles and turtles.
- Then, there is a huge aviary for birds.
- However, the most exciting part was the lion safari.

- We were in caged bus and we got a chance to admire the king of the animal kingdom up close in his natural habitat.
- We also spotted jackals, cranes and barking deer during the safari.
- Along with each animal, they have also mentioned its conservation status.
- I was shocked to see that there were so many animals, which were either endangered or critically endangered.
- The zoo also has a museum, which tells us about Indian animals which have become extinct due to human actions.
- Some of my friends felt really angry thinking about how our selfish nature had led to the death of so many animals.
- On the positive side, I learnt about some animals where there had been a turnaround and the animals were back to safe status from endangered.
- I remember I complained at that time there were no penguins or polar bears, two animals which I really wanted to see.
- However, now I understand that Chandigarh's climate doesn't suit these species and it is nearly impossible to have these animals there.
- In the end, I would describe my visit as a really fun day, which taught me a lot.

Which is the better way to see wildlife, watching documentaries or going into the wild?

If the purpose is to gain knowledge, I would say documentaries are far better. In the wild, we would be overcome with too many emotions like fear, awe or surprise to learn much. However, if the purpose is entertainment, I would say watching them in the wild is better.

What impacts does only seeing wild animals in zoos have on children's understanding of these animals?

I believe that zoos can be a very good educational opportunity for children. They can learn a lot about animals from zoos. However, I also believe they provide a simplified version of wildlife. Children may not learn many important things like hunting behaviour, which they can observe in the wild. Also, they may not learn about the threats faced by these animals like poaching, habitat destruction and so on. So, I believe zoos should be complemented with other educational sources like documentaries to give a more comprehensive picture.

Are there many wildlife documentaries produced in your country?

India is a very diverse country. It has mountains, river, lakes, beaches, deserts, islands and so on. As such, it has a huge diversity in terms of wildlife too and many documentaries are made on wildlife. I have personally seen documentaries on tigers, elephants, snakes, crocodiles and dolphins.

Are wild animals easy to spot in your country?

Both yes and no. It is easy to sport in certain states which have forests like Chattisgarh, Jharkhand, but I live in Punjab and it doesn't have much forested area. I have never seen a wild animal here.

Should parents take their children to the zoo to see wild animals?

Yes, I think it is both entertaining and educational for children. Moreover, it would give parents a good opportunity to spend quality time with their children.

Why are most children interested in wild animals?

To begin with, wild animals represent something unfamiliar and exciting. They come in various sizes, shapes and colours, which make them really fascinating for children. Secondly, wild animals live in environments like jungles, forests and oceans, which children find mysterious and adventurous. So they are drawn towards them.

118. Describe someone else's room you enjoy spending time in

- You should say:
- When do you visit there
- Whose room it is
- What it is like
- What you can do in it
- And explain why you enjoy spending time there

I love spending time in my room because I feel the most comfortable there.

- However, if I had to pick a someone else 's room I enjoy spending time in, it would be my friend Tarun's room.
- Tarun is my childhood friend.
- We were considered inseparable in school.
- We used to do everything together.
- Even now, we meet each other at least two or three times in a week.
- I normally visit him during the weekend.
- Both of us have similar interests, so we do a lot of fun things together at his room.
- We watch Hollywood movies together.
- I think I have seen at least 1000 movies with him, if not more.
- We also watch movies at my house.
- However, he has a home theatre in his room and it creates the perfect ambience for movies.
- Moreover, he has a 60 inch TV screen, whereas I only have a 32 inch TV.
- He has a playstation and we both play games on it together.
- He always says it is more fun playing together.
- I think I love spending time at his house because I am very comfortable there.
- His parents know me very well.
- They are friends with my parents too.

- Tarun's mother is a wonderful cook and many times she brings us something delicious to eat.
- Besides that, I am more studious than my friend.
- So, his parents like it when I visit because my friend ends up studying because of me.
- So, it is like a second home for me. I feel very welcome there.

Do you think old people will be able to keep up with the pace of technology in 50 years? It might sound absurd but I think technology itself will enable people to keep up with the pace of technology. There will be certain machines and robots in the future, whose main function will be to educate the elderly about the working of technology so that it doesn't get too daunting for them.

Who likes to stay at home more, young people or old people?

I don't think it depends upon age. It depends upon people's spirit. Some people prefer spending time indoors, while others prefer spending time outdoors with the nature. Generally, in youth, people have the energy and passion to travel but lack the money, while they may have the money but not the energy to travel when they get old.

What are the most enjoyable parts of having a meal together with your family?

The most enjoyable parts of having a meal together is sharing the day's happenings with the other family members. We are social animals and we love sharing our joys and sorrows with our loved ones. Unfortunately, in today's busy schedule, meals are the only time, people get to spend with their families.

Why do people often take gifts with them when they visit others' homes?

I think the main reason is to show gratitude for being invited or welcomed in their home. It is a way to thank the host for the preparations they made. Sometimes, it is also a part of culture. Taking gifts is considered a part of good etiquettes.

Do you like to invite your friends to your home?

Yes, definitely. I love inviting friends to my home. However, I am not good at cooking so I normally order from outside. We also do potlucks sometimes, where everyone prepares and brings one dish, so it doesn't burden others.

119. Describe a new development in your country or the area where you live ( like shopping centre, park etcetera)

- What and where the development is
- What it was like before
- How long it took to complete it
- How people feel about it

- And explain how it has improved the area you live in

- I think developments in infrastructure are very essential for the progress of a nation.
- Developments could be in sectors like healthcare, education, housing etcetera
- Today, I would like to talk about a recent development in our country which is related to the transportation sector.
- Last month our honourable Prime Minister Shri NarendraModiji inaugurated the first automatic/unmanned/driverless metro train in the national capital Delhi.
- The launch of this train was covered by all the new channels and leading newspapers.
- That is how I came to know about it.
- This metro train connects several stations between New Delhi and Noida a city adjoining the national capital
- The launch of this train has benefitted millions of people who otherwise travel by bus or other transport means like their own cars and motorbikes
- It has reduced their travel time significantly and It has also become more convenient for them to travel from one place to another.
- The coaches of the train are imported from Germany and are made of very high quality steel.
- I believe the government should introduce more such trains in the major cities of our country because it provides a lot of benefits to the people and the environment.
- Moreover, it decreases the number of traffic jams in the city and the pollution caused when people use heir own private vehicles
- This train has no driver; it is remotely controlled by a computer thus avoiding any human errors that can cause accidents.
- When I first told my friends about this train, all of them were surprised/amazed/astonished to hear that a train can run without a driver as well.
- This train has 8 coaches and capacity to carry 1000 people at one time
- The coaches are very modern and have free wifi and phone charging facility as well. • The train also has seats reserved specially for the elderly and women
- But when I showed them the news they were very excited about it.
- We have also made a plan to travel by this train, next month.

Is public transportation popular in India?

Yes, public transportation is quite popular in India especially buses and trains. I think its mainly because a lot of people can't afford their own vehicles.

What can be done to improve public transport services in your hometown?

I think government can take many steps to improve public transport. Firstly, the buses could be made more frequent. Secondly, work needs to be done to make public transport run on time. Finally, it could be made more eco-friendly. For example, the government could launch electric buses.

What leisure facilities could be used by people of age groups?

I think most leisure facilities could be used by all. For example, people of all age groups can enjoy multiplexes and shopping malls. Parks are another example of a leisure place, which could be used by all age groups. I think only sports stadiums are an exception as they are primarily used by the younger generation.

Do you think young people in your country like going to the cinema?

Yes, of course, young people like going to the cinema as the cinema experience is much better than watching movies at home. Moreover, it also provide a break from the monotony of daily life.

How is the subway system developing in your country?

In tier 1 cities like Delhi, Bombay and Kolkatta there has been a very fast development in subway system. However, in tier 2 and tier 3 cities, there is no development. I think it is not financially feasible to have subways in smaller cities.

What transportation do you use the most?

Personally, I travel the most by the two wheeler. It offers the convenience of my own vehicle and moreover, it is easier to find parking for it. However, I do travel by buses and trains when I have to travel longer distances.

120. Describe something you did that made you feel proud

You should say:

What it was

How you did it

What difficulty you had

How you dealt with the difficulty

And explain why you felt proud of it

- Whenever anyone achieves anything, he or she is very proud of it. What may be a simple thing for
- one person may be an achievement for another. For me overcoming my glossophobia was a very
- difficult thing. I used to be very stage shy and could never speak in front of an audience. It so
- happened that once I participated in an environment fair held in my hometown. We were a team of
- four students – Mohit, Rohan, Ravi and I. We had to make a model on pollution. It was very difficult
- to collect ideas for the model, but our teacher, MrsPromilla helped us. We collected all data from
- different sources like the internet, library, magazines and so on
- We presented all three types of pollution – air, water and noise pollution - on thermocol • In this
- project we showed the causes, effects and ways to control pollution
- We had to speak turn wise on our model.
- I remember I was very afraid to speak.

- But my other friends gave me the confidence. I felt very good that I was part of that team.
- I spoke very well that time.
- Getting over my glossophobia was an accomplishment for me.
- I felt very good after that.
- We won the first prize in this competition.

Which one is more important, personal goals or work goals?

I think both are important in their own ways. We can never be happy if we fail to achieve either. Happiness in life depends upon work life balance, which is only possible if sacrifice neither on our personal goals nor on our work goals.

Have your life goals changed since your childhood?

Yes, in fact so many times. When I was very young, I wanted to become an astronaut. Then, I wanted to join the Merchant Navy. I remember when I read Harry Potter, I wanted to become a writer. So my life goals have changed from time to time.

Does everyone set goals for themselves?

No, I think only people who are ambitious set goals for themselves. Most people go with the flow and live life as it happens. Also, what we plan and what actually happens to us is quite different. So, even if people set goals, they end up doing something completely different at the end.

What kind of rewards are important at work?

I think both monetary rewards and appreciation are important. People like to feel appreciated when they work harder. For example, they want their employers to recognise the efforts in front of others. The monetary rewards also provide an extra incentive for them to work hard.

Do you think material rewards are more important than other rewards at work?

I think both are equally important. Many people think that people only care about monetary rewards, but I think other rewards are equally important. People care about their treatment and appreciation along with the monetary rewards.

What makes people proud of themselves?

People feel proud of themselves, when they achieve something challenging. In other words, they feel proud whenever they are able to achieve something that few others are able to achieve. It makes them feel special and different as they are able to do something that most others failed in doing.

121. Describe a picture/photograph of you that you like

You should say: m@kka|ielts

- Where it was taken/drawn
- When it was taken/drawn

- Who took/drew it
- And explain how you felt about it

- Nowadays, almost everyone has become a photographer.
- The smartphones of today have made it possible.
- I click many selfies with my phone and keep deleting those, which don't turn out good.
- Actually, I become very conscious in front of the camera and the photographs usually don't look natural.
- Here, I would like to talk about a time when a professional photographer clicked a photograph of me, which has come out very nice and is my favourite pic of me.
- I remember it was my cousin's wedding two months ago.
- I was wearing my new silk suit.
- After the main function, we were all dancing like mad to the tune of DJ
- All my cousins were on the floor.
- The cameramen were there covering it all.
- Later on, we asked the photographer to give us all the photos and videos he had captured in our external drive, so that we could see them and pick out the best ones.
- The photographer was very reluctant to give all the coverage to us, but we insisted and he had to give in.
- All my photographs on the dance floor were good, but one was exceptionally good.
- Two of my cousins are also there in the pic and all are looking good.
- We were all so engrossed in dancing that no one was conscious.
- All of us are in a typical Bhangra pose.
- I was wearing a yellow suit with green embroidery and matching jewellery.
- One of my cousins was in majenta suit and the other one in royal blue.
- This picture has come out very colourful.
- My aunt got this photograph enlarged and framed and gifted one copy to all three of us.
- Now this is adorning the wall of our living room.
- Whenever, I see this picture, the memories of the whole wedding come in front of my eyes.

1. Why do people take photos?

People take photos for many reasons. One main reason is to capture memories of special occasions or important events. Photos help us remember things like birthdays, graduations, weddings, vacations, and other milestones in our lives.

2. What do people use to take photos these days, cameras or phones?

I think phones are widely used for taking photos these days, as compared to cameras.

Smartphones, with their increasingly powerful cameras, are convenient and always at hand, making them a popular choice for everyday snapshots and sharing on social media.

3. Is it difficult for people to learn how to take good photos?

Well, learning the basics of taking good photos isn't difficult. With a little practice, anyone can capture nice pictures. However, mastering photography and taking truly stunning images takes more time and effort. One'll need to understand things like lighting, backgrounds, and editing to get those amazing shots.

4. How do people keep their photos?

People these days tend to use a mix of methods to keep their photos. Some keep them in a digital format whereas some like to print them. I keep mine on my phone for easy browsing. But to make sure I don't lose them, I also upload them to the cloud. My mother, on the other hand, loves printed photos. She keeps hers in those small albums to look at whenever she wants.

5. Do Indian people like to take photos of themselves?

Yes, Indian people do like to take photos of themselves. Selfies have become very common nowadays. Smart phones have become very economical. So most young people have a smart phone in their hands, and these smart phones have cameras in the front and in the back. So, taking selfies has become a routine with the young people.

6. Why do some people like to delete photos?

Sometimes the photographs may not be good, and sometimes the memory card may be full. So, people have to delete photographs.

7. Why do some people like to keep photos?

Some people like to keep photos because photographs are mirrors of the past and they want to preserve those memories forever.

8. Has the way people take photos changed?

Yes, the way people take photos has changed a lot. Now digital cameras have become popular. People do not have to worry about wasting precious film. They can take as many photographs as they like. They do not even need to get them printed. They can save those photographs in their web albums. Even a three-year old child can click photographs.

122. Describe something that you did with someone/a group of people

You should say: -

What it was

- Who you did it with
- How long it took you to do this

- And explain why you did it together
- One of the most memorable activities that I did with my school friends was a weekend camping trip.
- We had been planning for this trip for weeks, and we were all excited to finally be able to spend some quality time together in the great outdoors.
- The trip started early on a Friday morning, when we all met at a designated location to pack our gear and set off on our journey.
- We had planned to camp at a nearby hill station called Kasauli, and we had all brought our own tents, sleeping bags, and other essentials.
- As we drove to the hill station, we chatted and laughed, eager to start our adventure.
- Once we arrived at the hill station, we set up our campsite and started to explore the area.
- We hiked through the forest, taking in the beautiful scenery and enjoying the fresh air.
- We stopped to have a picnic lunch by a stream, and we even went swimming in a nearby lake.
- The evenings were spent around the campfire, telling stories and roasting vegetables and meat.
- We laughed and joked, and it was a great way to bond with each other.
- We even played games and sang songs; the memories of that night are still fresh in my mind.
- On the second day, we decided to go on a longer hike.
- We set off early in the morning, and the hike was challenging, but also very rewarding.
- We were able to see some amazing views from the top of the mountain, and we even came across a waterfall.
- It was a great way to spend the day, and we were all proud of ourselves for making it to the top.
- On the last day, we packed up our gear and said goodbye to the beautiful campsite.
- We all hugged each other, and promised to do it again soon.
- Overall, the camping trip was an unforgettable experience.
- The reason why we did it together was because it was a great way for my friends and I to spend time together, and to bond in a way that we never had before.
- We were able to disconnect from the world for a little while and reconnect with each other and with nature.
- It was a weekend filled with laughter, adventure, and memories that will last a lifetime.

1. How do you get along with your neighbors?

I have a very good relationship with my neighbors as I have known them for more than 10 years now. It almost feels like that they are part of our family now, as we spend a lot of time at each other's place. We support each other during both good and bad times. Sometimes I think that our neighbors play a more important role in our lives as compared to our relatives.

2. How do neighbors help each other?

Neighbors can help each other in a variety of ways, such as by lending tools or household items, watching each other's homes when one is away, assisting with household repairs or projects, offering to take care of pets or children, and sharing gardening or cooking tips. They may also look out for one another's safety and well-being, and provide emotional support during difficult times. Additionally, neighbors may work together to improve the community through volunteerism or organizing neighborhood events.

3. Do you think neighbors help each other more often in the countryside than in the city? It's possible that neighbors may help each other more often in rural or suburban areas compared to urban areas. The reason being that in rural or suburban areas, neighbors may have a greater sense of community, and may be more likely to know each other personally, and therefore be more likely to offer help when needed. Additionally, in rural and suburban areas, people may have more opportunities to interact with each other, such as while working on shared projects or participating in community events.

4. How do children learn to cooperate with each other?

Children learn to cooperate with each other through a combination of socialization, modeling, and direct teaching. For example, they can learn cooperation by playing with other children, as they learn to share toys, take turns, and work together to achieve a common goal.

5. Do you think parents should teach children how to cooperate with others? How?

Yes, I believe that parents play a vital role in teaching children how to cooperate with others. Cooperation is an important life skill that is needed in a wide variety of contexts, such as in the family, at school, in the workplace, and in the community. Children learn by example, so when parents demonstrate cooperation and collaboration in their own relationships and daily activities, children will learn how to do the same. Parents can also provide opportunities for children to practice cooperation by setting up games and activities that require teamwork. Additionally, parents can teach children the importance of listening to others' ideas and opinions, compromising, and taking turns.

6. Do you think it's important for children to learn about cooperation?

Yes, it is very important for children to learn about cooperation. Cooperation is a key social skill that is essential for success in many aspects of life. Children who learn to cooperate with others are more likely to develop positive relationship and achieve academic success.

123. Describe someone (a famous person) that is a role model for young people

You should say:

- Who he/she is
  - How you knew him/her
  - What he/she has done
  - And explain why he/she can be a role model for young people
- I know many famous sportspersons and athletes but today I am going to talk about an Indian athlete who became famous four years back.
  - His name is Neeraj Chopra.
  - He won the sole gold medal for India in the Tokyo Olympics 2020 in the Javelin throw competition.
  - Nearly all the Indian news channels focused on him, after his feat.
  - That's how I came to know about him.
  - I came to know how his interest developed in the javelin throw.
  - I learnt about the struggles he faced till now.
  - How he narrowly missed qualifying for the Olympics in 2016.
  - He could have scored a medal then as well.
  - However, the narrow miss strengthened his determination to perform well this time.
  - He said that he could have won a silver or a bronze medal the last time, but he might not have won the gold medal this time if he had won in 2016.
  - Both the national government and government of Haryana, his home state, awarded him financial awards for his amazing feat.
  - After listening to his interviews, I think that he has a great personality too.
  - I have started following him on Twitter and Instagram.
  - He actively posts about social issues.
  - I think famous people have a responsibility to talk about social issues because it creates awareness and brings a change in the general public.
  - I was very glad to know that he does that actively.
  - He's a big philanthropist.
  - He has donated half of his financial awards to charities, although he himself belongs to a poor family.
  - Learning about him has made me think that there might be thousands of people, whose struggles and hard work die with them because they are unable to win a medal.
  - That is why I believe he is the perfect role model for the youngsters.
  - He is a perfect example of the famous quote, "hard work is key to success" and youngsters can definitely learn a lot from him.

1. What kinds of people are likely to be the role models for teenagers?

I think that teenagers find role models in many places, for some it could be their relatives or parents who have been successful in life. It could also be celebs whom the kids admire and are able to relate their life goals or personal qualities with.

2. Is it important for children to have a role model?

Yes I think having a role model can help children stay focused about their life goals and dreams. Children like to emulate what their role models do and in a way it acts as a motivation for them to achieve big in life.

3. Are there any differences between today's famous people and those of the past?

Absolutely! There are some big differences between famous people today and those of the past. In the past, fame came from things like movies, TV, or music on the radio. Now, social media lets anyone become famous very quickly, even if they're not a singer or actor. Also, I feel that in the past famous people used to be more humble because they valued their fame whereas nowadays people don't care if fame comes or goes.

4. What qualities do famous people have?

I think that famous people can be pretty different, but there are some qualities that many of them share. For example, they might be super talented at something, like singing or acting, or maybe they're really good at sports. They also probably work really hard and never give up on their dreams.

5. What kinds of people are likely to become famous?

Like I mentioned earlier people who never give up on their dreams and do not care about what society says about them are most likely to be famous. Also, they are super talented in their fields and they put more than 100% effort in whatever they do.

6. Do people tend to choose the best people as their role model?

Yes I think 99% people would definitely want to have a role model who is at the top of his/her field. When people are given an option to choose I don't think they would settle on anything less than what is best for them.

124. Describe a subject that you would like to learn in the future

You should say:

- What it is

- Where and how you want to learn it
  - Why you want to learn it
  - And explain if it will be difficult to learn it
- A subject I would really like to study in the future would be French
  - There are many reasons for this.
  - The first and foremost reason is that I want to visit my uncle and aunt who lives in France
  - They told me that if you wish to communicate with Franco phones it is very essential to know some French.
  - There, very few people know English.
  - My uncle has also offered to sponsor my fees for higher education if I decide to study in France.
  - In that case, if I choose to study there, then learning French would be a necessity.
  - Another reason is that my parents are planning to move to Canada.
  - So, my knowledge of French would come very handy there.
  - It might help me in getting a job.
  - French is spoken in 33 countries.
  - It is the second most commonly taught language after English.
  - Even in my country, if I know a foreign language, then I can get a good job in the tourism industry.
  - Everyone knows, tourists from all parts of the world flock to India.
  - Those who are multilingual definitely stand a better chance in the job market.
  - Fortunately, a language training Institute by the name of Aroma Language Centre has opened in my home town.
  - They teach French, German and Italian and their next batch is starting soon.
  - I would enroll in that batch.
  - Two of my friends have started learning French there.
  - They told me that the teacher is very nice.
  - They also told me that French is a difficult language to learn because achieving the perfect pronunciation of the words for non-native speakers requires a lot of practice.
  - But still, I am hoping that the basics would be easy to learn and I'll plan for advanced French after an year or so.

1. What are the differences between online learning and offline learning?

I think there are many differences between online learning and offline learning. Firstly, online is more flexible and convenient whereas for offline a person has to be present in a traditional classroom. Secondly one can study online courses at their own pace whereas for classroom learning one has to progress with a group

2. Do you prefer to study alone or with a group of people?

I can learn both ways! Studying alone lets me focus on what I need, but group study can be fun and helpful for explaining things to each other. It really depends on the topic.

3. What are the advantages and disadvantages of learning in a group?

Group work can be great for sharing ideas and understanding different perspectives. It can also keep you motivated! But sometimes groups get sidetracked or not everyone contributes equally.

4. What subjects do most young people prefer to learn? Why?

A lot of young people enjoy subjects they find interesting or relevant to their future. For example, in India students love science because most of them want to become a doctor or an engineer when they grow up.

5. What is more important when choosing a job, high salary or interest?

Well this is a tough one! A high salary is nice, but if you hate your job, it won't be satisfying. I think finding a balance between something you enjoy and that pays you enough is important.

6. What do you think about face-to-face learning with teachers?

I think face-to-face learning with teachers is valuable. Teachers can explain things clearly, answer questions on the spot, and keep you on track. It's a great way to learn and interact with others.

125. Describe a natural place (e.g. parks, mountains)

You should say:

- Where this place is
  - How you knew this place
  - What it is like
  - And explain why you like to visit it
- India is a diverse country.
  - There are many natural places in India such as, rivers, lakes, mountains and deserts in India which are important.
  - One important river that I would like to talk about here is the river Ganges or the Ganga, as we popularly call it.
  - Everyone child in India learns about the river Ganga from their parents first and later in school when they study about India's geography .
  - River Ganga is a sacred river and treated as a Goddess among the Hindus.
  - It has significant influence on the life of the Indians.

- It is one of the longest rivers of the world and is the longest river in India.
- The River Ganga emerges out of the Himalayas and falls into the Bay of Bengal.
- It has a number of tributaries like Yamuna, Ramganga, and Ghagra, etc.
- The Ganga is a perennial river as water is available throughout the year.
- The river has formed one of the most fertile flood plains of the world.
- We get the golden crops from the fertile lands on the bank of River Ganga.
- The water of River Ganga is widely used for agriculture purpose.
- The Ganga has been made national waterways of India.
- It is navigable up to Hardwar.
- The Ganga plain is one of the most fertile plain and is the granary of India.
- Our Government has initiated projects for wider utilization of kind water of River Ganga.
- This would bring enormous prosperity and economic development in our country.
- All these features made the river as the Ideal river of India.
- I have visited Ganga river both for pilgrimage and adventure.
- I did river rafting during last summer and it was such a thrilling experience.
- I am looking forward to visiting again this year.

1 What kind of people like to visit natural places?

Lots of people enjoy nature! It could be someone who loves hiking and exploring, or maybe someone who just wants to relax in a peaceful place. People who appreciate beauty and fresh air are also drawn to nature.

2. What are the differences between a natural place and a city?

I think the biggest different is that nature is quiet and peaceful, while cities are loud and busy. Air Pollution is another thing that is less in natural places. And finally, there is no wildlife in cities.

3 Do you think that going to the park is the only way to get close to nature?

Definitely not! Even a small garden or a quiet corner of a park can be a way to connect with nature. But there are also places outside the city, like forests or beaches, that offer a more immersive experience.

4 What can people gain from going to natural places?

Spending time in nature has many benefits. It can help reduce stress, improve mood, and even boost your creativity. Being outdoors can also be a great way to exercise and get some fresh air.

5 Are there any wild animals in the city?

In my country, there are no wild animals in the cities. We mostly have stray dogs, cats, squirrels and many different bird species in urban areas

6 Do you think it is a good idea to let animals stay in local parks for people to see?

I don't think animals should be kept in zoos. It's important for wild animals to have their natural habitat. While parks can be nice for people, it might not be the best environment for some animals. We should focus on protecting wild animals in their natural homes. Just imagine how humans would feel if they are confined to small areas or cages.

126. Describe a risk you took that you thought would lead to a terrible result but ended up with a positive result

You should say:

- When you took the risk
  - Why you took the risk
  - How it went
  - And explain how you felt about it
-
- We all take risks in our life.
  - Sometimes we realise we are taking a risk, and sometimes we don't even realise that we are taking a risk.
  - For instance, crossing a busy road is also taking a risk and boarding a train which has started is also taking a risk.
  - In these situations we don't even realise that we are taking risks.
  - Here, I would like to talk about a situation when I took a risk and it had a positive result.
  - I have a pet dog, Nora, whom I take for a walk in the evening every day.
  - It's a toy breed, shih tzu.
  - Our neighbours have a German shepherd, Bruno, which is very aggressive.
  - Everyone in our street is afraid of that dog.
  - Even I am very afraid of that dog.
  - They tell all of us not to be afraid of their dog as it is well trained and would not harm any known person.
  - But Bruno's growl is worse than the Corona pandemic.
  - Normally they keep their dog leashed all the time.
  - One day, as I was walking in the street with Nora, Bruno escaped and came running towards us.
  - Nora ran the other side and her leash slipped from my hand.
  - I knew I had to act quickly and save Nora.
  - I came between that dog and Nora.

- In that one second, I could imagine myself being bitten at several places and blood oozing out from all of them.
- It was a big risk, but at that moment the safety of my dear Nora was the most important thing for me.
- When I came between Bruno and Nora, I took Bruno's name in a stern voice and told him to sit.
- Surprisingly, he sat still and started wagging its tail.
- I heaved a sigh of relief.
- In the meantime, my brother had come out and Nora was safe in his arms.
- I felt so happy that I was able to save Nora.
- So, this was the risk I took which had a positive result.

1. How should parents teach their children what a risk is?

Parents can explain risk as the chance of something bad happening. They can also give examples of everyday risky situations! For example, they can tell the kids that crossing the street without looking is a risk because one might get hit by a car.

2. What risks should parents tell their children to avoid?

Parents should warn children about risks that could seriously hurt them. This could be things like talking to strangers, running into traffic, or playing with dangerous objects like sharp knives.

3. Why do some people like to watch risk-taking movies?

People enjoy the excitement and adrenaline rush that comes with watching risky situations on screen. It's a safe way to experience the thrill without facing the real danger themselves. Imagine watching a car chase – it's exciting, but you wouldn't want to be in one!

4. What kinds of sports are dangerous but exciting?

Many extreme sports involve high risks but are popular because of the challenge and adrenaline. Rock climbing or white-water rafting are good examples. They require skill and safety precautions to minimize the danger.

5. Why do some people enjoy extreme sports?

Some people enjoy extreme sports because they're adventurous by nature. They get the thrill out of doing challenging sports. Some people also do it for money as there is a lot of money involved in such sports.

6. Are action films popular in your country?

Yes, action films are very popular in my country. They are especially popular among children and young people.

7. Do you think it is a good thing if a leader likes to take risk?

Yes, I think it is a good thing if a leader likes to take risk. Somebody has to take the risk at times, and if a leader is taking a risk that means he is excepting the responsibility that if something goes wrong he is to blame for it. People look upon such leaders who have the ability and the courage to take risks and do things differently.

8. Do you think men and women will make a different choice about risk taking?

Nowadays, gender differences are disappearing and so are the choices about risk-taking. It is an individual variation. Irrespective of the gender, if a person is daring he or she will take the risk.

9. What about the young and old?

Generally young people like to take risks, whereas the elderly like to play it safe. It also depends on the type of risk involved. If the risk may land a person into some physical injury, then young people come forward, but if the risk is like investing money then the elderly may have more experience and may step forward to take the risk.

127. Describe someone you know who made a good decision recently

You should say:

- Who he/she is
  - When he/she made the decision
  - What decision he/she made
  - Why it was a good decision
  - And explain how you felt about the decision
- We all have to take decisions from time to time.
  - Some decisions may be small, such as what to wear or what to prepare for lunch.
  - Some decisions can affect the whole life, such as choosing a college or university or choosing a life partner.
  - Here, I would like to talk about a decision, which my maternal uncle and aunt made.
  - They decided to move from a village to the city for the better education of their children.
  - They made this decision few months ago, and they have never once regretted it.
  - My uncle is an agriculturist, and it was very difficult for him initially.
  - For getting good schooling, his children had to go by bus, which took two hours in the morning and two after school hours.
  - It was very tiring for his children.
  - He did not want to compromise with their education by teaching them in the village school.
  - So, he decided to shift to the city and instead of his children travelling daily, he commuted to his village for his work.
  - I think it was a good decision, because the early years of schooling are the base forming years of life.
  - Now, his children are doing well in school, and are also good at many extra-curricular activities also.

- Sometimes for sports, they have to stay at school after school hours, which would have been impossible if they were staying in the village.
- My uncle could have seen his comfort, but he decided to put his family first and I think it was quite right.
- I admire my uncle for that.
- So, that was the decision my uncle made, which I think was good.

1. Should parents make decisions for their children?

Well I believe decision making for kids involves a lot of factors, such as what the situation is or how old is the child. For example, young children obviously need parents to make decisions for them, like what to eat or when to go to bed. But as children mature, parents should gradually involve them in decision-making.

2. Do you think parents are the best people to make decisions about their children's education?

Parents definitely play a big role, but not always alone. Teachers can offer valuable insights, and older children can sometimes express preferences about certain subjects or learning styles.

3. At what age do you think children can be allowed to make decisions by themselves?

The age depends on the maturity of the child and the importance of the decision. Small choices about clothes or snacks can come earlier, while bigger decisions like career paths might involve parents for much longer.

4. Why do most children find it difficult to make decisions?

Children lack experience and haven't yet developed strong problem-solving skills. They might also be worried about making the wrong choice and disappointing their parents.

5. Should parents interfere in children's decision-making?

Not all the time. It's important to find a balance. Parents can offer guidance and explain potential consequences, but ultimately, letting children make some choices helps them learn from their experiences.

6. How should parents help their children make decisions?

Parents should talk through the options, discuss pros and cons, and encourage children to think about what's important to them. Also, parents can involve children in the everyday small decisions, so that children can learn from their parents.

7. Should children make decisions on their own?

Yes, children should make decisions on their own. They have to be taught decision-making and the repercussions of wrong and hasty decisions. But, this should be done step by step. Parents should allow them to take small decisions and then slowly leave important things on them.

8. How should parents help their children make decisions?

Parents should allow them to take small decisions and then slowly leave important things on them. This way they can teach them to take decisions in small steps and children will learn better.

9. Do parents in your country take decisions for their children?

Yes, they do. They are very protective of their children and want to take every small and big decision for them. But, nowadays, children do not like such interference and sometimes rebel against their parents.

10. Do you think it is advisable listening to others advice when making decisions?

It is advisable to listen to others advice, but the final decision should be on ones own. When we listen to someone's advice, we learn to look at things from another perspective and then can take better decisions.

128. Describe a place where you have taken photos more than once

You should say:

- Where the place is
  - When you took the photos
  - What special features the photos taken there have
  - And explain why you have been there more than once to take photos
- Well I am a person who loves photography and like to take pictures whenever I visit any new place.
  - Today I am going to talk about a place where I have taken lot of pictures in last few years.
  - I live in Chandigarh and there is a beautiful man made lake in our city.
  - It is known as Sukhna lake.
  - It is located towards the North of City and has beautiful views of the Shivalik hills.
  - During summers, many people come here for morning walks and to see the sunrise at the lake.
  - In fact, last year I used to cycle here every weekend to see the sunrise and capture stunning views of the Sunrise on my DSLR camera.

- There is also a little forest trail towards the north bank of the lake where one can spot many wild birds and few wild animals such as deer.
- I have also captured beautiful portraits of birds like cuckoo, hornbill and peacocks using the zoom lens on my camera.
- The reason I come here often is because this place is my getaway from the hustle and bustle of the city.
- The serene atmosphere, the lush green trees and the beautiful blue waters make this place the perfect spot to celebrate nature.
- If I think about it, I have learnt a lot about landscape and wildlife photography at Sukhna lake.
- Also there are times when I like to candid portraits of people who come to visit the lake.
- Sometimes people tell me that my I click pictures like a professional photographer.
- I attribute this success to the natural beauty of Sukhna lake.

1. Do you like to take photos?

Absolutely yes, I love taking pictures every day with my smartphone, and like to share them with my friends. There is an app called snapchat on which I regularly send pictures to my friends about the things that I am doing and they also do the same. I find photos fascinating ways to capture moments and information.

2. Where do people often like to take photos?

People enjoy taking photos in scenic locations like beautiful landscapes or interesting buildings. Special occasions like birthday parties or holidays are also popular times to capture memories.

3. Who would like to take photos more often, young people or older people?

I think it depends on the individual! Social media has made photo-sharing popular among young people, but many older people enjoy taking photos on trips or with loved ones too.

4. Would you pay a lot of money to hire a photographer?

I believe that for a special event like a wedding, hiring a professional photographer can be worthwhile to ensure high-quality photos you'll treasure forever. For everyday snapshots, most people wouldn't spend a lot.

5. Do you think being a photographer is a good job?

In my opinion being a photographer can be a great job for creative people who enjoy capturing special moments and telling stories through images. However, it can also be competitive and require long hours.

6. On what occasions do people need formal photos?

Formal photos are typically taken for professional purposes like headshots for a resume or business profile. They might also be needed for official documents like passports or identification cards.

Is it important to have a break during work or study?

Definitely, I think our brains can only pay attention to something for a limited time before getting distracted. Without a break, we lose our ability to concentrate and ultimately it affects our productivity.

What kind of sports do young people like to play nowadays?

Youngsters play the same kind of sports as in the past like cricket, football, soccer, hockey etcetera. However, youngsters today play less sports as compared to the past as they prefer electronic games.

Are there more activities for young people now than 20 years ago?

Without a doubt, yes. I think the coming of Internet has opened up so many more avenues than in the past. For example, youngsters today have opportunity to play electronic games with their friends online, spend time on social media. Even with regards to traditional activities, like playing chess, they can play with so many people online, which was not possible in the past.

Do adults and children have enough time for leisure activities nowadays?

No, I don't think so. The increasing familial responsibilities due to nuclear families and long working hours give adults very little time for leisure activities. Children too have a lot of academic pressure and have little time for leisure activities.

Can most people achieve work life balance in India?

I feel very few people are able to achieve work life balance. The increasing competition and long working hours mean that people are finding it very hard to find time for their loved ones.

What activities do children and adults do nowadays?

These days many children and adults spend most of their time on electronic devices and are binge watching TV shows, playing video games or browsing social media.

129. Describe something you would like to learn in the future

You should say

- What it is
- How would you like to learn it
- Where you would like to learn it

- Why would you like to learn it
  - Explain whether it's difficult to learn it
- Something I would really like to do in the future is a language course.
  - A language I would like to learn is French
  - There are many reasons for this
  - The first and foremost reason is that I want to visit my uncle and aunt who live in France
  - They told me that if you wish to communicate with French people it is very essential to know some French
  - There, very few people know English
  - My uncle has also offered to sponsor my fees for higher education if I decide to study in France.
  - In that case, if I choose to study there, then learning French would be a necessity
  - Another reason is that my parents are planning to move to Canada
  - So, my knowledge of French would come very handy there
  - It might help me in getting a job
  - French is spoken in 33 countries
  - It is the second most commonly taught language after English
  - Even in my country, if I know a foreign language, then I can get a good job in the tourism industry
  - Everyone knows, tourists from all parts of the world flock to India
  - Those who are multilingual definitely stand a better chance in the job market.
  - Fortunately, a language training Institute by the name of Aroma Language Centre has opened in my home town
  - They teach French, German and Italian.
  - Their next batch is starting soon.
  - I would enroll in that batch.
  - Two of my friends have started learning French there.
  - They told me that the teacher is very nice.
  - They also told me that French is a beautiful language.
  - It is difficult to learn a new language when you are older.
  - But I am sure with perseverance and practice I will be able to learn it.

What's the most popular thing to learn nowadays?

Digital marketing is a very popular skill to learn these days. Earlier companies mainly used print, TV, and Radio to reach consumers. Now corporations worldwide use digital channels like websites, email, search engines, and social media platforms to reach consumers. Digital marketing is one of the most in-demand skills, and there are many job opportunities in this field.

At what age should children start making their own decisions? Why?

Once children reach high school, parents should let them make their own decisions. When they are younger, parents can help them with their options and help them choose. But as they get older, parents should let them decide and even let them face the consequences of their decisions. It's a learning experience for them. When the decisions are complex and complicated, like choosing a major, parents should advise but let children make the final decision.

What influences young people more when choosing a course, income, or interest?

I think it differs from person to person. Some young people choose a career/course based on the income and job opportunities in that field. They want to afford the necessities and give their families a comfortable life. Some choose based on their interest, even if the area they choose is not that high paying. They choose their happiness and passion over money. Sometimes, a person may be very passionate about a career that also offers a big paycheck.

Do young people take their parents' advice when choosing a major?

Yes, most young people take their parents' advice when choosing a major. They understand that their parents have more experience and want their children to be successful. Their parents may have different views, and eventually young people should choose a major they want.

Besides parents, who else would people take advice from?

Students can also take advice from teachers and school counselors. Teachers have closely worked with students and know their strengths and weaknesses. School counselors can also help students decide on a career path. They can help them narrow down their interests and capabilities and choose a major that will align with their career goals.

Why do some people prefer to study alone?

Some people prefer to study alone because they can concentrate better when they are by themselves. They can also work at their own pace and understand the concepts of one topic thoroughly before they move on to the next topic.

130. Describe a public facility( for example a museum or a library ) that been renovated and improved recently

- What the facility is
  - When it was renovated and improved
  - What has been renovated and improved
  - And explain how you feel about it
- I live in a small and beautiful town, Phagwara,
  - However, it is an old historical town and because of this many of the buildings are outdated.
  - Many of the buildings have also been recently renovated.

- One of these is the town library.
- It was renovated about a year ago.
- The main reason for the renovation was to accommodate a computer section in the library.
- Many of the residents had been demanding a renovation and ultimately the budget was passed for the renovation in 2019.
- The previous library building had only two floors and there was little space for computers.
- Most of the people felt that there should be computer section, where information can be searched online as well.
- They had made a temporary arrangement for the computers
- They had installed a few computers on the side, but as there were no fixed power outlets in the wall and so they had used open wiring.
- It was neither aesthetically pleasing nor very safe.
- So, finally, they made a new floor for the computer section.
- Moreover, they also added a section for CDs and DVDs.
- Finally, as the building would have three floors after the renovation, they had also installed an elevator.
- I think it was a really needed change.
- I couldn't welcome it more. I had stopped going to the library because there was no way to access information online.
- After the change, I have been going there regularly.
- I just have one complaint, it happened a lot later than it should have.

1.) What are the benefits of public facilities?

There are many benefits of public facilities. Firstly, they bring people together as these facilities are shared by people. Secondly, it helps people enjoy facilities even if they are not able to afford them on their own.

2.) Why are some public transport methods popular, such as the subway?

I think subways have 3 main advantages over other means of public transportation. They are faster, they are comfortable and they are generally more frequent and reliable than others modes. They are also safer as there are no chances of road accidents.

3.) Why are some public transport methods unpopular?

I think the major reason for anything transport method being unpopular is speed. People can compromise on cost and comfort but they cannot compromise on time. If a public transportation takes significantly longer than cars or other modes, it is going to be unpopular.

4.) What kind of transport do young and old people prefer?

I think the old generation gives a little more importance to cost over the young. So the old prefer cheaper means of transportation than are comparatively cheaper. Also, the young are more accustomed to comforts and luxuries and thus they prefer their own vehicles much more than public transportation.

5.) Do you think people feel happier when they are in a park or in a coffee shop? Why?

I think it really depends upon the person. Some people feel happier being in close contact with nature, others need comfort like AC and proper seating which they can get in a coffee shop. Personally, I go to the park with my dogs and I love spending time with them. So, I am happier at the park.

6.) Is a public park necessary in every area? Why?

I think public parks are absolutely necessary. I think contact with nature is certainly essential and we are missing that because of our busy lifestyles and lack of parks. Moreover, parks purify the air and provide places for people to socialise with other community members. Last but not least, it should be a crime to keep a pet like dogs and not take them to a park. So, there should be a park in close vicinity to every house.

131. Describe a daily routine that you enjoy

You should say

- What it is
  - Where and when you do it
  - Who you do it with
  - Explain why you enjoy it
- I have many routines that I do every day, such as taking a bath, preparing breakfast for myself and sometimes my parents, going for a walk, studying, going to the gurdwara, and so on.
  - Here I would like to talk about a daily routine that I really enjoy and look forward to.
  - It is doing a 3-mile walk at home with Leslie Sansone.
  - Leslie has her own walk at home app, in which she has these daily walks for people of all age groups.
  - My aunt told me about it.
  - I used to go for a morning walk, but could not go when it was too hot or too cold or raining outside.
  - So, my routine was disrupted.

- I have been doing this walk every day for the past year.
- I have the app on my phone, but I prefer to open the webpage on my laptop as the screen is bigger.
- Sometimes my mother joins me for the walk.
- We do it in our living room as it is quite spacious.
- I enjoy it because it gives me a feeling that I'm doing something for my body.
- I used to be a bit overweight, but now I have lost around 5 kg and my body shape also looks and feels much better.
- Earlier I used to feel lazy and tired, but now I feel much more energetic and healthier. I also used to suffer from insomnia, and would toss and turn in bed for a long time before I actually fell asleep.
- Now, I fall asleep within minutes of touching my head on the pillow.
- Because of a good night's sleep, I have more concentration in my studies too.
- This walk can be done any time of the day, but I like to start my day with it.
- Sometimes, if my morning is busy, I do it in the afternoon or evening.
- There are many other walking routines on the net, but I like walking with Leslie the most.
- She adds upper body and abs exercises with the walk and that helps tone up the whole body.

1. Should children have learning routines?

Yes, of course they should have learning routines. These add discipline to life. When children follow routines, they learn to manage time. I believe all routines teach something, so can be a learning experience. For example, a simple routine of a family meal can teach children many things when they share their days happenings with their parents. They learn many social skills and develop a bond with their family. A routine of going to bed in time can develop children's mental health.

2. What are the advantages of children having a routine at school?

There are many advantages of having routines at school. It gives students a predictable day at school. So, they feel more confident and secure. It also saves time. They don't have to ask questions about what to do next. Teachers have already streamlined things for them. It becomes easier for students to become focused and attentive.

3. Does having a routine make kids feel more secure at school?

Definitely yes. For younger children, a routine engages them in learning and helps them feel safe in their environment, while it helps older children know what to expect and feel more comfortable. This is why classroom routines are important.

Routines in the classroom make class time more enjoyable and productive. They offer students a sense of stability. By having classroom rules and procedures that teachers set, their students will know their expectations.

4. How do people's routines differ on weekdays and weekends?

Weekdays and weekends are totally different, so their routines are also different. Weekday routines are good, but on weekends people can afford some flexibility. Of course, a person should also plan weekends, otherwise they will disappear without giving you any time for fun and relaxation. A weekend should relax a person after a busy week and also set him up for a successful week ahead. Weekend should incorporate family time, cinema time, outing time, socialising time and all what cannot be done on weekdays.

5. What daily routines people have at home?

People have daily routines like a family meal, a morning prayer, doing household chores together and so on. Every family has their own routines set up, which make things easier for all members. For example, in my family my father buys vegetables, fruits and grocery, while my mother does the cooking and laundry. My father checks if all doors, windows and main gate is locked before going to bed. I take my dogs out for a walk twice a day. These routines are more or less fixed.

6. What are the differences in people's daily routines now and 15 years ago?

Life was slower and simpler in the past. People spent less time on social networking sites than in the past, so they had more time to socialise. Routines included being with other people. Today's routines are more about spending time with oneself and technology.

132. Describe a place you visited where the air was polluted

You should say:

- Where the place is
  - When you visited it
  - Why the air was not good
  - And explain how you felt about the place
- Unfortunately, India is one of the most polluted countries in the world.
  - And, the pollution problem is becoming worse day by day.
  - Today, I am going to talk about a place which is always in the news for the dangerous levels of pollution.
  - I visited it last December with a friend.
  - He had a visa interview for US and as his parents couldn't accompany due to work, he asked if I could.
  - I wanted to buy some electronics from Delhi, so I gladly accepted.
  - However, now I do regret visiting Delhi.

- From the moment we landed in Delhi, I could feel the pollution.
- My eyes were burning and I had trouble breathing normally.
- I felt there was something wrong with the air.
- I had listened to Delhi's high pollution levels in the news, but it was way worse than I expected.
- It was very uncomfortable to even stand outdoors.
- Delhi's pollution is mainly attributed to three reasons.
- First is obviously private vehicles, secondly, the stubble burning in neighbouring states and finally festivals like Diwali, where crackers are burnt.
- In fact, I visited Diwali nearly 15 days after Diwali, still the pollution levels were so high, I can't even imagine how it would have been just immediately after Diwali.
- I had to immediately buy a mask and covered my eyes with sunglasses, which I didn't take off till I reached inside my hotel room.
- Delhi is India's capital, but I am ashamed that we have been unable to solve this problem.
- Both the state government and central government promise action but nothing is actually done to reduce pollution.
- I have decided, I am not visiting Delhi till the situation improves for good.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

Is there more pollution than the past?

Yes, definitely there is more pollution now than the past in India. The main reason is increasing construction activities, industries and vehicles on the road. However, in some countries governments have been successfully able to reduce it by taking stringent action like banning industries in cities, promoting electric vehicles and switching to solar and wind energy from fossil fuels.

Do you think cities are cleaner or dirtier than the countryside areas? Why

I think cities are definitely dirtier as more waste is generated in cities than in rural areas. There are more vehicles and less greenery so the air is also less cleaner. I feel like nature has a capacity to certain levels of pollution and air and in the countryside we are below that level, but in cities we have far exceeded nature's natural capacity to do so.

What can factories and power plants do to reduce pollutants?

To begin with, they can switch to less polluting fuels or non polluting fuels like wind power and solar power. Moreover, they should relocate to the outskirts of the cities to reduce the impact of city residents. However, this could be expensive and cannot be done immediately. In the short term, they can increase the height of chimneys.

Do you think wind has any effect on pollution? How?

Certainly yes. I am not sure how, but I think wind just spreads pollution over a larger area. I also read in a book that coastal areas are less polluted because of land breeze and sea breeze, so I am sure it does have an effect.

In what ways can air pollution be reduced effectively?

I think it is not a simple solution or it would have been done already. I think we should address the major causes of pollution- for vehicular pollution - I think the best answer would be to switch to electric vehicles. In case of industries switching to solar energy and wind energy and finally we should avoid burning waste and recycle it instead.

Do you think many companies have been forced to reduce pollution?

Yes in recent years, many companies have faced stringent fines and taxes for exceeding pollution levels. So companies have taken actions. For example, in my city, one of companies was forced to shut down for a whole month because of the toxic exhaust fumes. They also had to install waste treatment plants and now most companies treat their waste instead of dumping it directly into rivers and lakes.

133. Describe a historical building you have been to

You should say:

- Where it is
  - What it looks like
  - What it is used for now.
  - What you learned there
  - And how you felt about this historical building
- Every year, my parents used to take us to different city in India, during summer vacations.
  - During these visits, we visited various historical places.
  - One such place, which really left a big impression on me was the Red Fort in Delhi.
  - I visited it with my family when I was very young when I was in 9th or 10th standard • The Red Fort was built by Shah Jahan, when he shifted his capital from Agra to Delhi.
  - After that, Red Fort was the main palace of Mughal Kings till their eventual decline.
  - Today, it is just a historical attraction.
  - The Prime Minister gives a speech from the Red Fort on Independence Day, 15th August every year.
  - The Red Fort is in surprisingly amazing conditions despite its age.
  - Most of the red marble has withstood the vagaries of nature.
  - However, I remember some of the walkways were crumbling due to lack of repair.
  - Originally, it had a lot of beautiful artwork and jewels.
  - However, they were looted during one of the invasions by the Persians.
  - Later, some of the other artwork and the Peacock Throne were taken to Delhi after the failed India Independence uprising.
  - It was really impressive visiting Red Fort.
  - It represented the centre of India during its glory.
  - Despite being looted and attacked many times, it still gives off a feeling of immense power and strength.
  - It generated a sense of great patriotism and national pride in me.
  - Moreover, the impressive construction shows the skill of our past builders.
  - I would love to visit it again in the future.

Why do people visit historical places?

People visit historical places for many reasons. Mainly, it connects people with their roots and gives them an opportunity to learn about their cultural heritage. It instills a sense of patriotism and pride. In today's time, it combines learning with entertainment, an opportunity to learn something while having fun.

Do Indian people like visiting historical places?

Yes, I think they are always crowded. Whenever, I have visited historical places, there is always a huge number of people at these places. So, people do really like to visit these places. I think Indian people are very nationalistic and visiting places is about reigniting that feeling of pride and patriotism.

Should government fund protection of historical places?

Yes, I think it is the government's responsibility to protect our culture and past and protecting these buildings is paramount for that purpose. Today, people are losing interest in visiting these places and ticket prices are not enough to fund maintenance of these buildings, so the government needs to come forwards to make sure they are protected.

Is it necessary to protect historical buildings?

I think the importance of historical buildings cannot be overstated. They represent our roots, our cultural heritage. They are a reminder of our historical achievements in architecture. Even today, people are not sure how the Pyramids or Taj Mahal was built without today's modern technology. I think it would be shame to let them go into decline.

134. Describe a person you met at a party and enjoyed a conversation with. You should say

- Who was the person?
  - What topics did you discuss?
  - How did you feel?
- I am an introvert and so it is really difficult for me to converse with strangers.
  - I don't normally start conversations and let people strike up a conversation first.
  - However, two three months I met a person at a marriage party and I had a really enjoyable conversation with him.
  - I was the groom's friend and he was the bridegroom's cousin.
  - We were seated together at the wedding and he just randomly asked my name.
  - As we started talking we came to know that we shared many interests.

- We are both interested in politics, cricket and video gaming. • The conversation just flowed with him
- We talked about so many things.
- He told me about the recent games we had played online.
- We also added each other on steam, a gaming website as we both loved playing the same game.
- He was from UP and I was really interested in what changes had come in UP with the new government.
- I had seen and heard a lot of things in the news and I wanted to know if they were true.
- He gave me an insider's perspective.
- Then, we started discussing cricket.
- We discussed our favourite players, the most memorable matches in recent times.
- We also planned to watch a match together in the future.
- It was really fun hanging out with him overall.
- Normally I feel bored at marriages and I am always eager to leave as early as possible.
- However, that day, we were among the last people to leave home.

1. Under what circumstances do you meet new people, and when do you communicate with people you don't know?

I think I meet new people mainly when I am travelling or at parties. We are social beings and I think we communicate with new people when we don't know anyone. In other words, when we feeling alone. We also do it when we find someone interesting and we want to know more about them.

2.) Where do people go to meet new people?

I think earlier people used to functions, parties or travel to new places to meet new people. However, now they go to social media websites and apps like Facebook and Instagram. Technology has really changed the way we socialise and make new friends

3. What topics do you discuss with new acquaintances?

I think it can be anything I am interested in, which is in fact quite broad. I love talking politics, sports, coffee, movies, tv shows, video games, fashion products. I sometimes also talk about studies but that's rare.

4. What topics are not suitable for discussion?

I think there are very few things, which I find unsuitable. Firstly, I don't like talking about money or how much people earn. In India, its quite common to talk about salaries even when we meet someone the first time, but I don't find it suitable. I also don't feel its appropriate to talk about religion.

5. What's the difference between chatting with friends and new people?

Firstly, I think I am much less reserved with friends. There are very few topics, I don't talk about with friends. Secondly, the conversation gets much more personal and detailed with friends. For example, I have talked about mundane things like what I ate last night or what time I woke up with my friends. Finally, I don't mind discussing embarrassing stories with my friends, but I would never do that with strangers.

6.) How do people start a conversation?

One of the most common ways to talk about the weather. Another way is to compliment someone or their clothes and then ask where they got that particular dress from. Sometimes, people also just introduce themselves.

7.) Is it difficult for Indian people to talk to foreigners?

Both yes and no. Yes, because naturally most Indians are bit shy and its difficult for them to initiate a conversation. However, many Indians are also fluent in English, so that makes it easier.

8.) Why are some people unwilling to have conversations with strangers?

One of the reasons is increasing crime. People are worried about talking or mixing up with people they don't know. Secondly, many people consider it to be waste of time. They feel like we should only converse if we have a purpose.

135. Describe your favourite place in your house where you can relax.

You should say:

- Where it is
  - What it is like
  - What you enjoy doing there
  - And explain why you feel relaxed at this place.
- I spend most of my time in my house at mainly two places, one is my bedroom and the second is the living room.
  - Out of these, I think the bedroom is my favourite.
  - There is a balcony attached to my bedroom, which is my favourite place to relax.
  - It has an amazing view of the nearby park.
  - I always have my morning tea in the balcony.
  - Its very calming and refreshing to just stare into the trees in the park, to listen to the chirping of the birds and enjoy a cup of hot cup of tea or coffee.
  - I have also decorated my balcony with some flower pots.
  - I water the pots every day after the tea.
  - It gives a great sense of satisfaction to see the plants growing.
  - Sometimes, I also just sit in the balcony and solve crossword puzzles or Sudoku.

- There are no distractions and I can just sit and focus on the puzzles.
- More than anything, I feel relaxed just sitting there and doing nothing.
- I think it gives me time to delve into my inner thoughts and feelings.
- I think about my problems and when I think about them I either find solutions to them or they just start seeming smaller and smaller.
- Many times, when I am not able to sleep, I just open the balcony doors and sit there and stare into night sky.
- Its like a magic place, I go in stressed and come out refreshed.

1. Why is it difficult for some people to relax?

I think some people are just wired that way. They imagine the worst possible scenarios during any situation and because of that they find it difficult to relax. People should live in the moment and forget about the past and the future.

2. What are the benefits of doing exercise?

I think firstly it makes us healthier and fit, which in turn makes us confident. Moreover, it is also essential to be mentally healthy as a healthy mind cannot reside in an unhealthy mind.

3. Do people in your country exercise after work?

Not the old generation, but the young generation certainly. That is why, gyms are getting popular day by day. Most of young give physical fitness a huge priority.

4. What is the place where people spend most of their time at home?

Well, technically speaking most people most of their time in the bedrooms as they sleep there, which accounts for at least one fourth of the day. But apart from that, it is the living room, where people just spend time with their family and do activities like watch TV or read books.

5. Do you think there should be classes for training young people and children how to relax?

Definitely. There has been an increase in stress and pressures in life. I think the stress only increases as people grow older, so it would be better to learn deal with stress from a young age.

6. Which is more important, mental relaxation or physical relaxation?

I think both are important in their own ways. I think our body needs to be relaxed for the mind to be relaxed. Whenever, we have any physical discomfort, our mind can't focus and if we are mentally tired we are bound to make more mistakes and get hurt doing physical work.

136. Describe a time when missed or were late for an important meeting/event

You should say:

- When it happened
  - What happened
  - Why you missed/were late for it
  - And explain how you felt about this experience
-
- I am not a very punctual person, but I try to be on time for important meetings and events.
  - In fact, I have rarely been late for important meetings.
  - But recently, I got late due to a small mistake on my part.
  - I mistook the timing for my best friend Ravi's birthday.
  - My friend normally celebrates his birthday in the evenings and the timing is around 7 o'clock.
  - So, when he sent me the birthday e-invite, I didn't check the time.
  - I thought it would be in the evening like previous years.
  - However, this time due to some reason he had decided to celebrate in the afternoon.
  - He is very close to me and we never miss each other's birthday.
  - The timing of the function was 12 o'clock but when I didn't reach by even 1 o'clock, my friend called me and asked me if everything was alright.
  - When I said yes, he asked why I wasn't at the function.
  - I took us about 15 secs to clear up the confusion.
  - I got ready in such a haste, but I still reached at about 2 o'clock as the venue was about 10 kms from my house.
  - My friend had refused to cut the cake without me.
  - So, everyone was waiting on me.
  - I apologised to each and every person there.
  - Now, it is a funny story and we laugh every time thinking about it whenever someone is late.
  - However, this whole experience brought about a change in me as I now check the timings of events at least 2 times whenever I receive any invite.

Are you a punctual person?

I am ashamed to say, but no I am not a very punctual person. I have been trying to be better though. I am kind of laid back when it comes to meetings or appointments but I am trying to change that.

Do you think it important to be on time?

Yes, I think it is important to be on time. I think if we don't value other people's time, people won't value our time as well. It also gives others the feeling that we are not serious about the work we are doing.

Do you always avoid being late?

I try to avoid being late but I do get late sometimes. I have been trying to reduce it by giving myself a 10-15 minute for any unseen circumstances.

Why are people often late for meetings or appointments?

I think people are late for various reasons but the major reason is not getting up on time. Most people are late for morning appointments because they sleep late and thus are unable to get up on time. Sometimes it is also due to unseen events like car breakdown or traffic congestion.

Are people in your country often late for meetings?

Yes, people are often late. We are sadly not known for our punctuality. We are more laid back and happy go lucky kind of people and we don't give a lot of importance to punctuality.

Do you think people are born with time management skills or they can develop them?

I think time management skills are certainly teachable. The biggest example I can think of is the army. I have had cousins who have become very punctual and disciplined after joining the army. They are not just disciplined in their professional life but also their personal life.

137. Describe an occasion you wore your favourite clothes

You should say:

- When it was
- What you wore
- Why you wore it
- And how you felt about it

- I mostly wear traditional Indian clothes for special occasions like marriages, anniversaries, birthdays, etc.
- Last year in December we had a big wedding in my family, and this is the occasion I am going to talk about.
- It was my cousin Nikhil's wedding.
- We are very close because we grew up 10 minutes from each other.
- We were always playing together and having sleepovers at each other's houses.
- He did a destination wedding in Goa and that made the occasion even more special.
- The celebration was for 3 days, and I had 3 different outfits for these occasions.
- I wanted to look my best on the first day which was the Sangeet ceremony.
- The outfit I wore was a lehenga which is a long skirt with a cropped top.
- It was turquoise with heavy golden embroidery all over the top.
- The skirt had block-printed golden rose flowers all over.
- I got it custom-stitched because I wanted the fit to be perfect.
- I had a stage performance that day where I was dancing to a medley of Indian songs.
- I had prepared for this performance for almost three months.
- I knew all eyes would be on me, so I wore my best clothes on this day.
- I also wore matching shoes and jewelry.
- I ordered the jewelry from a shop in Jaipur.
- It complimented my outfit so well and really elevated my look.
- I felt very proud and confident about my outfit.
- I felt like I stood out in the crowd.
- Many of my relatives complimented me on how I looked.
- It gave me a lot of energy for my performance.

Do you think people should dress up formally for the workplace?

I think yes. It creates a better impression on customers and I think it also improves efficiency. However, there can be some days when employees are allowed to dress up informally.

Why do some people like to wear traditional clothes?

Some people like to wear traditional clothes because they are just more comfortable with it. It also makes people feel connected and in touch with their roots.

Will traditional clothes disappear in the future?

No, I don't think they will disappear completely. I think they will always be a part of festivals or special occasions like birthdays and weddings. They might reduce in day to day dressing up, but they will never completely disappear.

Do old people change their style of dressing?

I am sure some old people do, but in my family, the older generation have not changed their style of dressing. My grandfather dresses up in white Kurta Pyjama and he has been wearing it since his retirement. Same is the case with paternal grandfather, he always wears a shirt and trousers. I think its because they don't like change.

Who would wear formal clothes more often, young people or old people?

Old people are more likely to wear formal clothes as they have more traditional views and their jobs may require formal clothes. Younger people prefer casual comfortable clothes and most of them work in environments with relaxed dress codes. Both age groups may wear formal clothes for special locations.

Why do some people like to wear expensive clothes?

Some people like to wear expensive clothes because they think that it reflects their wealth and status. Branded clothes are also more stylish and unique. Additionally, expensive clothes often have better quality and durability.

138. Describe a park or a garden in your city

You should say:

- When you often go there
  - Where it is
  - Who you often go there with
  - What it is like
  - And explain why you like to visit it
- In today's time parks and gardens are the lungs of cities and towns that have become jungles of concrete.
  - It is a delight to find a green space in the urban areas of today.
  - I live in Chandigarh that has a very well-developed infrastructure and many parks and gardens.
  - In fact it is called 'The City Beautiful', because of its layout and the greenery in it.
  - It was designed in the 1950s by a French architect who understood the value of green spaces in modern living.
  - He provided the city with many parks where the residents can go and relax
  - The part of the city that I live in has three beautiful parks and I love all three of them. But my favourite is a garden by the name of a 'Hibiscus Garden.'
  - It has been landscaped very beautifully with slopes going up and down. A little stream running through the park. A few bridges and different varieties of the hibiscus plants.
  - Besides hibiscus plants, there are many beautiful huge trees that I love to go and sit under and admire nature from.
  - I have often seen people coming to this park on a holiday to have picnics with their children.

- Young children, love to roll on the gently sloping hillocks, and there are youngsters who love to cycle on the sloping pathways of the park.
- Whenever I get the time I visit this beautiful place and I usually go alone as I love to soak in its beauty and the peace I get by being there.
- I am a very passionate photographer and this park has often provided me with some beautiful clicks.
- For me, this park is my little piece of heaven on earth and being there is meditative for my soul.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Do young people like to go to parks?

Not many youngsters like to go to the parks. One generally sees more children and older adults there.

2. What do old people like to do in parks?

Old people generally stroll in the parks. One notices they are like a community gathering place for older people who like to sit and chat with their friends in the parks. Some of them even feed the birds.

3. What benefits can parks bring to a city?

Parks bring life to a place. They are islands of beauty and peace. The greenery improves the quality of air in the city. They act as happy spots where people can come for sometime to relax, exercise or just sit and chat with their friends. Little children can enjoy playing games or use the rides to get rid of excess energy. Older children can cycle and exercise. On the whole parks and gardens bring peace and joy to the area they are in.

4. What are the benefits of going to the park for young people and old people?

Young and old people can relax in the open and enjoy their friend's company in the park. Older people generally walk in the park. Whereas youngsters can have picnics, exercise, play, run, cycle out there.

5. Why do some people like planting flowers?

Some people love the happiness and calming effect that flowers bring to the environment, thus they plant flowers.

6. Would you say people should help maintain public parks and gardens?

Definitely it's people's responsibility to follow the rules of public responsibility and help maintain the parks and gardens for the govt to do so alone is not possible or right.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. What foreign languages do Indian children learn?

Indian children have many options nowadays. The most common is certainly English. Besides English, children also learn foreign languages like German, French, Urdu and Spanish.

2. Why do Indian children learn English?

There are many reasons. Firstly, it provides more opportunities than any other language in terms of foreign education and job opportunities. Also, it is easier to find English teachers as compared to teachers for German, French or Spanish. Finally and most importantly, it is the main medium of teaching in colleges and universities so it is a compulsion to learn English.

3. Why are so many people learning English?

For most people, I think it is about job opportunities. Today, there are many multinational companies in India and learning English is a must to get jobs in these companies.

4. How can you help children learn English?

I don't know. I don't think my English is good enough to help others. As you can see, I still make some mistakes. However, I can recommend some books like Wren & Martin and Youtube Channels, which can help one to become better in English.

5. Do you think the way people learn English today is the same as in the past?

I think some of the ways are the same. I learnt English as a child in my school and many children still learn it at school. However, today there are also more opportunities. For example, there are YouTube Channels which were not available in the past. Moreover, today, there are many streaming sites, which offer an opportunity to learn English while enjoying TV shows and movies.

6. What are the benefits of the Internet for people's learning?

I think it provides more opportunities for learning. Earlier, people were dependent upon teachers for learning. Now, they can learn on their own as well. Moreover, a lot of content on the internet is free. So, internet has made language learning a lot more affordable.

139. Describe a person who always has interesting ideas or opinions

You should say:

- Who this person is
  - What this person does
  - How you knew him/her
  - And explain why you think his/her ideas or opinions are interesting
- We meet many people in our day to day life.
  - Everyone has ideas and opinions of their own.
  - Here, I'd like to talk about my cousin, Aisha, who always has interesting ideas and opinions.
  - She is not just my cousin; she is also a friend philosopher and guide.
  - We meet quite often as we are neighbours also.
  - Aisha is a marketing professional in a renowned advertising agency.

- She has won the employee-of-the-month award in her company many times because of her unique ideas.
- What makes Aisha stand out is her ability to think outside the box.
- Whenever I have an assignment to complete, I seek her advice and she always has something new to suggest.
- I am amazed at her vast knowledge of almost anything.
- Whenever, there is something to throwaway, she starts thinking of making something useful out of it.
- She has decorated her home with 3-D origami projects made out of waste paper.
- Every time I meet her, she has something new to teach me.
- She has made planters of old coke and pepsy bottles, which look so amazing that many people in our neighbourhood have started doing the same.
- She has made many tote bags out of her old clothes and gifted them to friends and relatives.
- Everyone in our family admires her for her creativity.
- She is a role model for me.

Alternative idea

- I know many people who have a lot of interesting ideas and opinions, but here I would like to talk about my paternal grandfather, who is the most knowledgeable person in my eyes.
- His name is Manmohan Singh.
- He is in his early seventies, and retired from Punjab education services.
- He is not very tall, but looks very handsome.
- He generally wears white kurta pajama, but on formal occasions he wears pant shirt.
- He has a great sense of humour and can turn any tense situation into a happy one.
- No one can ever get bored in his company.
- One can have a discussion with him for hours on any topic on Earth.
- He is an ardent reader and reads 4 newspapers daily.
- He reads the editorial section in depth.
- He says that reading the editorials makes him look at things from different perspectives and then he can make opinions of his own.
- You can talk to him about politics, sports, business, Bollywood and many other things and you will be surprised at his knowledge.
- Although he is retired, he leads a very disciplined life.
- He gets ready in the morning and goes to a nearby park where many senior citizens like him come and chit chat with each other.
- I think very high of my grandfather.
- I am very proud of him.
- Many of my relatives and neighbours come to him for advice.
- He loves company and is very happy when he is surrounded with people.
- He loves meeting new people and making friends.
- So, my grandfather is the most knowledgeable person and has many interesting ideas and opinions.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. When do you think children start to have their own opinions?

Children typically start to have their own opinions as they grow and gain more exposure to the world around them. This usually begins during their early teenage years when they become more independent and curious about different aspects of life.

2. Are children's opinions influenced by their parents?

Children's opinions are undoubtedly influenced by their parents to some extent. Parents play a significant role in shaping their children's values, beliefs, and perspectives. However, as children grow older, they start to form their own opinions influenced by their experiences and interactions beyond the family.

3. Who are smart children likely to be influenced by?

Smart children are likely to be influenced by a variety of individuals. Besides their parents, they may be influenced by teachers, peers, mentors, or even public figures. The extent of influence can vary depending on the child's interests and experiences.

4. How do inventors or philosophers come up with new ideas?

Inventors and philosophers come up with new ideas through a combination of factors. These may include their natural curiosity, extensive knowledge of their field, critical thinking, and the ability to make connections between seemingly unrelated concepts. Creativity often plays a crucial role in this process.

5. Are there only old ideas from books or previous writers?

While inventors and philosophers may draw inspiration from previous ideas, they also generate new and original concepts. They build upon existing knowledge but often take it in entirely different directions, leading to innovations that go beyond what has been documented in books or by previous writers.

6. What kind of people have lots of great ideas in your country?

In my country, people who work in the fields of technology and entrepreneurship often have many great ideas. With the growing startup culture, individuals in these sectors are encouraged to think innovatively and come up with solutions to various problems. Additionally, artists, writers, and educators are also known for their creativity and the generation of new ideas.

7. When do children begin to have their own ideas?

It is an interesting question. I think children begin to have their own ideas at a very young age. Even very small children talk and amaze us as to where they got those ideas from.

8. Why are there more and more differences between children and their parents?

There are more and more differences between children and their parents because their thinking is different. This is precisely what we call as the generation gap. Parents have their own ideas of right and wrong, but children question everything and want to know why there are some things they shouldn't do. Children don't have the experience which comes with age, but they don't want to accept everything their parents say because they can't see the negative side of it. Parents sometimes lack the patience to explain things nicely and in a friendly way to their children. So, there is a conflict between parents and children.

9. What are the advantages and disadvantages of setting rules for children?

The advantages are that children become well behaved, responsible and productive adults. They also don't land into any trouble. For example, if parents set the rule that children should watch TV or play computer games for limited time, then they don't get addicted to these things and have time for their homework and outdoor games. My father doesn't allow us to be out of the house after 7 pm. We follow that rule because we realize that it is for our safety.

10. Is there someone with good ideas that has changed many people's lives?

Yes, there are many people with good ideas that have changed many people's lives. For example, all great scientists who have invented things have changed the lives of people. The inventors of cell phones have changed people's lives. The inventors of the automobile have changed people's lives. In our village, there was a problem of too much underground water because of which there was a seepage of water in the houses. One of my neighbours planted about 150 eucalyptus trees around those houses. Eucalyptus is known to suck out underground water. Now, the trees are fully grown; they look beautiful and there is no problem of seepage of water in the houses. So, that one person's idea has changed the life of many people.

140. Describe a place where there was a lot of noise/ Describe a noisy place you have been to

- When this happened?
- Where it was?
- Why there was a lot of noise
- Explain what you did when you heard the noise

- Noise pollution has become an inevitable part of our life.
- Whether we like it or not, we have to tolerate it. We can't escape it.
- Here, I'm going to talk about a situation when there was too much noise.
- A religious function, which we call jagrata or jagran, was held last Sunday in my neighborhood. • In such functions people sing hymns and chants in praise of Gods and Goddesses the whole night long.
- The function started at 8 PM and went up to 5 AM.
- There is a law against using loudspeakers after 10 PM but people don't abide by the law in the name of religion.
- They do not realize that some people might be suffering from excessive noise.
- I was not able to sleep the whole night.
- I closed all windows of my house to reduce that sound, but it did not make any difference.
- Then I put earplugs in my ears but that too did not work.
- There might have been many other people who suffered like I did that night.
- I am not against any religious event, but I'm definitely against using loud speakers after 10 PM. • Such laws should be implemented more strictly, and I believe that the use of pressure horns also must be restricted.
- Noise pollution has a negative effect on our mental health as well as physical health.
- It can lead to hearing impairment, Fatigue, Heart problems, Insomnia, Anxiety, Depression and so on.
- It can also reduce the work efficiency.
- One of my uncles has come from Canada and he tells me that in Canada people are not using horns unnecessarily and still the traffic runs very smoothly.
- I hope we all realize the menace of noise pollution and do our bit to reduce it from our lives

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Is noise pollution serious in India?

Yes, it is. We have noise all around us, most of which can be avoided. There is unnecessary honking of pressure horns from vehicles. Industries are making noise. People use loudspeakers for personal functions, and neighbours are forced to bear the noise.

2. Do you like to live in a noisy place?

No, definitely not. But, unfortunately it is difficult to find places in cities, which are noise free.

3. Do you like to go to noisy places?

Once in a while, I like to attend parties and functions where DJ is playing loud music and I can dance and enjoy with my friends and relatives.

4. Where can you hear a loud noise?

We can hear loud noise all around us. There is unnecessary honking of pressure horns from vehicles. Industries are making noise. People use loudspeakers for personal functions, and neighbours are forced to bear the noise.

5. Do you think that there is more noise in people's lives today than in the past?

Yes, I think so. The number of vehicles is growing day by day. All these are making noise. Industries are also growing in numbers. These are also making too much noise. As these sources of noise are increasing, so definitely we are suffering from more and more noise these days.

6. Do you think that cities will become noisier in the future?

Yes, I suppose so. Whether we like it or not, the noise producing things are increasing and so it is quite probable that cities will become noisier in the future.

7. What is the noise in life?

The noise in our life means the distractions that do not let us focus on the goals in our life. For example, nowadays, people do not concentrate on their studies or work, and are often busy scrolling unimportant feeds/updates on their mobile phones. The loads of data that they consume everyday becomes the noise in their life.

8. How is the noise level in your city?

My city is an industrial city and on top of that it is on the national highway. So, the noise levels are very high.

9. Where does noise in urban areas come from?

The noise in urban areas comes from pressure horns of vehicles, industries and loud speakers.

10. Do you think it is important to be alone sometimes?

It is very important to be alone sometimes. Everyone needs to introspect at times. One needs to know about ones likes and dislikes and everyone needs time for one's personal work which can be best done in solitude.

11. What is the importance of belonging to a certain group?

There is a lot of importance of belonging to a social group. Man is a social animal and cannot live alone for long. One needs to share one's happiness and sorrows with others. That is why we join social groups and feel part of these groups. Social groups are a sort of support system. They give us support when we are low in life. It is mentally unhealthy to be alone for long.

12. What are problem you could have if you go out together in big group?

There could be a lot of problems in a big group. It is difficult to organise a big group. Mismanagement can lead to conflicts. It could end up in a lot of wastage of time. It has been well said that "two is a company and three is a crowd".

13. Why people like going to noisy places, like a restaurant or pub , even they know these places are noisy?

Some people like to enjoy loud music that is why they like to hangout at such pubs or discs. Moreover, since their aim is to socialise so they are not bothered by the noise at these places.

14. Shall we encourage children to make noises?

We should tell children to make noise only when they feel that they are in a dangerous situation. This way they can alert others or save themselves from a tragedy.

15. Do you think it is good for children to make noise?

No I don't think it is good to allow children to make noise unless and until they face a threat from someone. Unnecessary noise creates a lot of disturbance and distracts everyone around.

16. What kind of noises are there in our life?

There are many different types of noises that we can experience in our daily lives, including: Environmental noises, such as traffic, construction, and nature sounds (e.g. birds singing, wind blowing).

Mechanical noises, such as those produced by appliances, machinery, and vehicles.

Human-generated noises, such as talking, laughing, and music.

Biological noises, such as those produced by animals, insects, and other living organisms. Acoustic noise, such as noise from sound systems, and other audio sources.

17. Which area is exposed to noise more, the city or the countryside?

Cities tend to have higher levels of noise pollution than rural or suburban areas. This is because cities have a higher population density, more traffic on the roads, and more industrial and commercial activity, all of which can contribute to noise pollution.

18. How would people usually respond to noises in your country?

I think that the way people respond to noise in India can vary depending on factors such as age, culture, and socioeconomic status. But in general, people in my country may be more accustomed to living with a higher level of noise pollution than people in some other countries. This is because noise is a common part of daily life in India, where cities are often very crowded and busy, and there is a lot of traffic and other activity on the streets.

19. How can people consider other's feelings when chatting in public?

I believe there are many ways people can consider others' feelings when chatting in public. Firstly, people should speak at a moderate volume. They should speak in a normal tone of voice and avoid talking loudly. This can help prevent conversation from disrupting the people around them. Secondly, people should be aware of their surroundings. They should be mindful of where they are and who might be around them. For example, if they are in a library or a quiet area, it's best to keep the voice down. Finally, they should be sensitive to the topic of conversation and avoid discussing sensitive or controversial topics that might offend or upset others.

141. Describe something you taught to your friend/relative. You should say:

- What you taught him/her?
  - When it was?
  - How long it was for?
  - And explain how you felt about it.
-
- My sister lives in the US.
  - Last summer, she and her children visited us in India during the summer vacations.
  - Both her children, my niece and nephew are quite inquisitive and they are always keen on learning something new.
  - One day, they saw me playing chess online and they immediately developed an interest in chess.
  - They requested me to teach them.
  - They visit India very rarely, so I thought it would be a nice way to spend some quality time with them.
  - They were visiting for 2 months, so we had plenty of time.
  - I started with the basics and explained how each piece moved first.
  - With time, I covered some of the complex mechanics like castling and en passant.
  - I also bought them a membership at chess.com, so that they could practice alone when I was busy.
  - The website has some nice puzzles, which teach how to think in difficult positions.
  - They played against computer bots and other players as well.
  - Chess is about practice and the more they played different players, the more they learnt.
  - They were very quick to pick up things and by the end of two months, they had also beaten me two three times.
  - In fact, I also learnt a few special moves from them.

- It was a very fulfilling experience overall.
- I think it was first time I taught someone something.
- I felt very proud when they picked up things and them beating me was icing on the cake.
- I lost as a player but I succeeded as a teacher.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. What are things that young people can teach old people to do?

I think they can teach them anything they are good at. However, if I had to pick something specific I would say the use of technology like how to use mobile phone features, apps and computer softwares.

2. What skills can young people teach the old besides technology?

I think they can teach them the ability to change and adapt. Old people are generally hesitant and unwilling to take risks and make changes but they are necessary to survive in today's world. They can also teach them how to take risks.

3. Why older people have problems in learning new things?

I think its about memory. I think people"s memory deteriorates with time and people start forgetting things. For example, sometimes when I am teaching my mother, she forgets the previous steps. However, when I repeat it once or twice, she picks it up.

4. Do you think showing is a better way than telling during education?

Of course. Its easier to remember things we see. I am not sure why but I think our visual memory is far better. Moreover, there can be misunderstandings when telling something as words can be interpret differently.

5. Do you think constant training is important for people to study something?

Yes, practice is the key to success. I remember I once watched a video which said that if a person spends about 1200 hours on something, he can become an expert at it. I couldn"t agree more. I remember I taught my mother how to use Microsoft Word and now she knows about it more than me because she uses it much more.

6.) How can the young teach the old?

I think the best way way would be show them to do something rather than telling them what to do. Young people need to be patient while teaching and remember that it takes the aged a little bit more time.

SPEAKING PART 1

INTRO QUESTIONS

1. First set of questions, asked to almost all students

1. May I know your full name?

My full name is _____ (Note: Full name means given name + middle name if any + surname. Mostly students will speak the name given in the passport, which may not have the surname. So, you must speak your full name in answer to this question)

2. How may I address you?

You may address me as _____.

(Note 1: Here you may even speak your nickname. It just means that while asking the next questions, the examiner will call you by that name.

Note 2: Many students start speaking their address here. Here, the word 'address' has been used as a verb, which means 'call'. In other words, the question is - How may I call you?)

3. May I see your ID?

Here is my passport. (Note: open the first page of the passport and show it to the examiner.
You don't need to say 'Yes')

People do a lot of things on weekends. Some go for outings; some people spend time at home with family; some people visit relatives. So people do different things on weekends.

8. What are you going to do next weekend?

I have not yet made any plan for the next weekend, but maybe I go out with my family for a movie.

9. Is there anything new that you would like to do on weekends?

I would like to learn some new language on weekends. As a plan to go to Canada, so French would be a good option for me. My relatives live in Montréal and it is a Francophone area. So learning French would help me.

10. Do you like working on weekends?

No, I don't like working on weekends. I prefer to spend time with my family and friends on weekends.

11. Do you think employees should have to work on weekends?

No, definitely not. I think there should be no compulsion on employees to work on weekends. It should be their choice. If they want to earn more, they should be allowed to work.

12. Do you think that weekends now are more important to you, than when you were a child? Yes, weekends now are more important to me than when I was a child. When I was a child, all days were like weekends. So I did not give importance to weekends. But today, I look forward to weekends.

86. Breakfast

1. What do you usually eat for breakfast?

I like to eat cereal and eggs for breakfast.

2. Do you think breakfast is important?

I think it is the most important meal of the day. A good breakfast helps us to stay active throughout the day.

3. Are there any differences between the mornings of your childhood and now?

Well, as a kid the mornings were very fast because I used to get up really early for my school bus but now I have relaxed mornings.

4. Would you like to change your morning routine?

No I am happy with my current morning routine and I don't want to make any changes.

87. Video games

Do you play video games?

I don't play video games. I think they are a waste of me and can get very addictive. I am an outdoor person and prefer spending my free time pursuing other hobbies like gardening, tennis, hiking, etc.

What kinds of video games do you play?

I don't play video games. I like watching sports, so if I play video games in the future, I think I would like video games that have a sports theme.

Is it good for young people to play video games?

It's good if done in moderation. It helps them bond with their friends and improves their hand-eye coordination and problem-solving skills. Too much time playing video games can affect their sleep, relationships, social behavior, and focus.

88. Sunglasses

Do you often wear sunglasses?

Yes, I wear sunglasses whenever I am outside in the sun. I always wear them when I am driving.

Do you spend a lot of money on sunglasses?

No, I don't like to spend a lot of money on sunglasses. I don't buy very cheap sunglasses because they can scratch easily and may not offer full protection. I like to buy good quality sunglasses that fit well.

Do you give sunglasses as a gift?

No, I don't give sunglasses as a gift. I think they need to fit right, and people should buy the style and frame they prefer.

Why do you wear sunglasses?

I wear sunglasses to reduce the glare from the sun especially while driving. I also wear them to protect my eyes from harmful UV rays.

89. Social media

When did you start using social media?

I started using social media in high school. I got my first phone around that time and that's when I downloaded and created accounts on a couple of social media apps.

Do you think you spend too much time on social media?

I don't spend too much time on social media. I don't post about my personal life on social media. I just follow a few accounts of people I admire and can learn a lot from. I have a small circle of friends and I prefer calling my friends or meeting them in person.

Do your friends use social media?

I have a small circle of friends and most of them are not very active on social media. We are all busy with our careers and family life. Two of my friends have a small business and they mainly use social media to promote it.

What do people often do on social media?

People like to stay connected with their family and friends on social media. They share pictures of their travels, celebrations, and other important events on social media. Some use it to advertise and promote their business. Some use it to find ideas and inspiration for a new hobby.

90. Cake

Do you like eating cakes?

I don't like traditional cakes because I hate frosting. I like eating coffee cakes, pound cakes, and cakes with fruits and nuts with no icing.

I also try to make substitutions like replacing white flour with whole wheat, sugar with dates, etc. to make the cake more healthy.

Do you know how to bake a cake?

Yes, I know how to bake a cake. My mom used to bake cakes for all our birthdays and other special occasions. I learned the basics from her. I like to try new cake recipes that I find online.

When do you usually eat cakes?

I usually eat cakes when we are celebrating something like birthdays or anniversaries. Sometimes I make coffee cakes and enjoy them with my morning or evening tea.

What is your favorite kind of cake?

My favorite cake is Upside-Down Cake with a layer of fruit like peaches or pineapple. Not only do they taste so good, but they also look very fancy.

1. Do you prefer to save money or spend money?

Well, I like doing both. I love to buy new things for which I have to obviously spend but at the same time I do realise the importance of saving money for difficult situations in life.

2. How do you save money?

I like to create fixed deposit in my bank account so that I am able to earn some interest as well.

3. What do you think about payment apps or mobile payments?

I believe that they are a very convenient for doing shopping these days but at the same time one should be careful about the frauds happening on such apps.

4. Do you use a credit card to buy things?

No I don't have a credit card, however I would like to have one in the future.

5. Do you think cash will still be popular in the future?

I think the popularity of cash will decline in future. Because I have online payment apps on my phone, I hardly carry any cash these days. Also, most of the businesses accept online payments.

91. Losing things

Do you often lose things?

Yes, I am very absent-minded and often lose things. I think two things that I lost a lot are my car keys and eyeglasses. I mostly lose them at home and find them after looking for them everywhere.

What can we do to avoid losing things?

We can avoid losing things at home by being more organized and having a designated spot for all our personal belongings. For example, a tray or hooks for keys. When we are outside, we should carry a bag or backpack and keep all our personal belongings in there to avoid losing them.

Why do some people tend to lose things more often than others?

I think one reason can be that some people are more forgetful and get easily distracted. People who are not organized also tend to lose things more often.

What will you do if you find something lost by others?

It depends on the situation and where I found the item.

First, I will look around and see if I can find the owner. If that's not possible I will hand it to someone who can help like the police. If I find something in my neighborhood, I will post about it on my neighborhood social media page.

92. Colors

What is your favorite color?

My favorite color is green, especially sage green because I find it very calming and relaxing. It reminds me of nature and greenery.

Do you usually wear clothes in your favorite color?

No, I like to wear black clothes. They look very elegant, and sophisticated and go with everything.

Are there any colors that have a special meaning in your country?

Saffron is considered sacred in India and is a symbol of purity. Priests wear saffron-colored clothes, and it is a big part of all religious ceremonies. It is also on the Indian flag.

Do you think different types of people like different colors?

Yes, I think people have different color preferences. I think color preferences vary by gender, culture, and age. Some people prefer bright and warm colors and others prefer cooler colors.

93. Memory

Why do some people have a better memory while others just don't?

One reason can be genetics and some people are just born with better memory. But at the same, I think memory is like a muscle and can be trained. People can use many techniques to train their memories to be better.

Why do more people rely on cell phones to remember things?

People are multitasking and life has become busy. Smartphones provide an easy way to save to-do lists, important dates, meetings, events, etc. so people don't bother to remember things on their own. Even simple directions don't have to be memorized because all phones have a map app.

Are you good at memorizing things?

I am not good at memorizing things. I save everything on my cellphone. I even save my grocery list on the phone so I don't forget what to buy when I am at the store.

Have you ever forgotten something important?

Yes, I missed my doctor's appointment last month. I forgot to set a reminder on my phone and now have to wait another month before I can see my doctor.

94. Feeling bored

Do you often feel bored?

Yes, I get bored sometimes, especially when I am at work doing the same thing every day.

When would you feel bored?

I feel bored in long work meetings which are most of the time unnecessary. Sometimes, I spend more time in meetings than doing the actual job.

What do you do when you feel bored?

When I feel bored I like to read books, watch a movie or TV series on the TV, and talk to my friends and family.

Do you think childhood is boring or adulthood is boring?

I think adulthood is boring because as adults we have so many responsibilities. We get busy with our work lives and life becomes boring and monotonous. Childhood is the time we can play with friends and enjoy life without any worries.

95. Music

Do a lot of people like music?

Yes, people like music as it relaxes them and lifts their mood. Music brings out so many different emotions, motivates people, and keeps them going.

What kind of music do you listen to?

I mainly listen to Punjabi songs. They have good lyrics and beats. Diljit Dosanjh, Riar Sahib and Sidhu Moosewala are some of my favorite Punjabi singers.

Is it easy to learn music?

I think it's easy to learn if you are consistent and committed. It requires a lot of practice.

Did you have music lessons at school?

I did not have music lessons at school. I wish there was an option, but my school curriculum did not include music.

96. Crowded place

Is the city where you live crowded?

No, I live in a small town and it's not very crowded. I like that I can reach any part of my town in 10-15 minutes by car.

Is there a crowded place near where you live?

Yes, my hometown "Phagwara" is about 40km from Ludhiana which is the biggest and most populous city in Punjab. I remember going there with my parents when I was growing up. We would always get stuck in traffic.

Do you like crowded places?

I don't like crowded places and avoid them if I can. I like going to my grandparents' village. It is far from the big cities and is very peaceful.

Do most people like crowded places?

I don't think anyone likes crowded places. There is so much traffic and pollution. I think people don't have a choice because these big, crowded cities have better jobs, schools, restaurants, hospitals, etc.

When was the last time you were in a crowded place?

I visited Darjeeling last summer and was surprised to see so many tourists there. It was so crowded and did not feel like a serene hill station.

97. Celebrity

1. Who is your favourite celebrity in your country?

The celebrity I like the most is Virat Kohli. He is the number one cricketer in the world.

2. What kind of famous people do you often see in the news? I often see filmstars, politicians and sportspeople in the news.

3. Do you pay attention to famous people in the news?

I do not like to watch news a lot so I do not pay attention to what is happening in the life of celebrities.

4. Do you believe that the news about famous people in the media is true?

Since there is a lot of fake news these days, I think it is difficult to trust if the news about celebrities is authentic or not.

5. Would you like to be a famous person in the news?

No, I would not like to be a famous person because I do not like public attention. Moreover I feel that famous people are judged for every single thing they do, so I don't want that happening to me.

98. Advertisement

Is there an advertisement that made an impression on you when you were a child

Yes, I remember a hair shampoo ad and the straight black knee-length hair of the model. I always wanted hair like hers and would tell my parents to get Sunsilk pink color shampoo for me.

Do you see a lot of advertising on trains or other transport

Yes, I see a lot of advertising on trains, buses, and autos. I think it is an effective way to reach a big and wide audience. I see ads for household products, cosmetics, restaurants, coaching centers, cell phones, etc.

Do you like advertisements?

I don't like watching too many advertisements while I am watching TV. The ads are too long and get very repetitive.

What kind of advertising do you like?

I like meaningful ads that go beyond just promoting the brand and address important social issues. For example, the soap brand Dove's ad shows how women are judged for their weight, complexion, height, hair, etc.

99. Running

Do you go running a lot?

Yes, I like to go running. It is my preferred form of exercise. At the end of the day, if I go running, it relieves me of all the stress, and I can forget all my troubles for some time. Running keeps me mentally and physically fit.

Where do you usually go running?

I prefer to run outside than running on a treadmill in a gym as I like to enjoy the scenery and fresh air. I usually go to the park near my house and do 10-15 laps around the park. Many people are walking and running there, and seeing them keeps me motivated.

When was the last time you went running?

I go running 4-5 days a week. The last I went running was the day before yesterday.

What do you think of running as a sport?

Running is an excellent sport. It is not a traditional team sport like soccer, cricket, hockey, etc. People compete in many running events like track and field, long-distance running, marathons, sprints, and relay runs. It requires a lot of hard work, discipline, and endurance and is very competitive.

100. Chatting

Do you like chatting with friends?

Yes, I like chatting with friends. I'm a very social person and have a lot of friends. I want to stay in touch with them, and if I can't meet them in person, I call them regularly.

What do you usually chat about with friends?

If I haven't met a friend in a while, we usually chat about what's new in our lives, what's going on with my work, family, etc. If I meet them regularly, we usually talk about sports, movies/TV series we are watching or books we are reading, etc. We also chat about politics, our families, any new hobbies we picked up and any new restaurants we tried.

Do you prefer to chat with a group of people or with only one friend?

I prefer to chat with a group of friends. It's more fun when there are a bunch of us. I am okay with having a one-to-one conversation, especially if discussing a serious issue or something that can't be shared with everyone.

Do you prefer to communicate face-to-face or via social media?

I prefer to communicate face-to-face than social media. We can show our feelings and emotions better in person. Often, on social media people can interpret your words wrong. Also, there is no privacy, and everyone can see your conversation. You can't form deep, meaningful bonds on social media.

Do you argue with friends?

Yes, I often argue with my friends and think such conflicts are normal. Every person is entitled to their own opinion and should put forward their thoughts on what they believe is right or wrong. This may lead to arguments but ultimately makes friendships stronger and healthier.

101. Helping others

Do you usually help people around you?

Yes, I usually help people around me. I was fortunate to grow up in a very caring and helpful family. I have seen my parents help their relatives, friends, neighbors, and even strangers they met. I have learned the same values from them and like to help others.

How should you help people around you, such as neighbors' family, and friends?

I help my parents at home. I am not good at cooking, but I help my mother with the prep work, like cutting vegetables. My father is an avid gardener, and I help him with gardening. I am good at mathematics and help my cousins with their math homework. Sometimes, I give my neighbor's son a ride to school on my way to work.

Do your parents teach you how to help others?

Yes, my parents have always taught me to be compassionate and help others in times of need. They also taught me to help others without expecting anything in return.

Did your parents help you a lot when you were young?

Yes, my parents helped and guided me when I was young. I deeply respect them and am grateful to them for being there for me whenever I needed them.

What have you done to help the elderly?

I like to help the elderly by talking to them and listening to their life stories. It's common for them to feel lonely once they are retired and are at home. Talking to them and giving them your time is one way to help them. I also bring over any groceries or medicines they might need.

102. Maps

Do you often use maps?

Yes, I use maps often. I use them when I am outside my hometown, in cities I am not very familiar with. I use Google Maps and Waze. I am not very good with directions, and I get lost if I don't use a map.

Do you use paper maps?

I prefer to use GPS apps and don't use paper maps. I only remember using a paper map recently at Jim Corbett National Park, where we went for vacation.

The phone signal was not good, and we were given a paper map at the entrance to the park.

How often do you use maps on your phone?

I use it whenever I have to go to a new place or places I have visited before but don't remember all the routes. In my hometown, I hardly use it as it's a very small town, and I am familiar with most streets and roads.

Do you have maps at home?

No, I don't have maps at home. I do have an old Atlas in our bookshelf, but I don't use it.

103. Clothing

What kind of clothes do you like to wear?

I like to wear jeans and a T-shirt. They are both comfortable and stylish. Some times, I have to wear formal suits for special occasions, and although they look nice, they are never comfortable.

Do you prefer to wear comfortable and casual clothes or smart clothes?

I prefer to wear comfortable and casual clothes. It doesn't mean I like to wear pajamas all day. Comfortable clothes like T-shirts and jeans can be smart and can look put-together.

Do you like wearing T-shirts?

Yes, I love wearing T-shirts, and graphic T-shirts are my favorite. I like the ones with witty quotes on them.

Do you spend a lot of time choosing clothes?

No, I'm not too fond of shopping and don't spend too much time choosing clothes. I have also started to shop online. It is so much more convenient and time-saving. These days, most stores have websites, and online retailers like Amazon/Flipkart also have good clothing brands.

104. Musical Instruments

Have you ever learned to play a musical instrument?

Yes, I have always wanted to learn Piano. There were few options in my hometown when I was growing up. A couple of years ago, I found a teacher online. I take weekly lessons from him, and I am still learning.

What musical instruments do you enjoy listening to the most?

I enjoy listening to Piano the most. I find it very soothing, and it relaxes me. I can have it on in the background when working and doing other chores.

Do you think children should learn to play an instrument at school?

Yes, children should learn to play an instrument at school. It should be part of their curriculum. If they learn it at school, they are more committed to learning. They have to practice it daily as they are also graded on it. They primarily play in a group and learn to coordinate with others.

Do you think music education is important for children?

Yes, music has so many benefits for children. Learning to read music helps children perform better in academics. It improves their focus, gives them confidence, and makes them more disciplined.

105. Noise

Do you like to stay in a place with a lot of noise?

No, I like to stay away from noise. Noisy places give me stress, and I can't concentrate on my work.

What kinds of noises are there in the area where you live?

There are so many kinds of noises in our area. Traffic horns, noises from construction sites, loudspeakers, and dance events at marriages and parties are some that come to mind.

Do you want to move to a quieter place?

Yes, sometimes I want to move to a small village away from the big and bustling cities. But it is not practical as I have to work, and my job is in a city.

Do you think there is too much noise in today's world?

Yes, there is too much noise in today's world. There are too many cars on the roads, too many planes in the skies, and too many construction sites. Cities are expanding, and newer buildings and apartments are being built to accommodate the growing population.

Is making noise one of people's rights?

No, it is not. Excessive noise can disturb other people, and people should be mindful of their neighbors and surroundings. You have every right to complain to the authorities if people are being very noisy, especially at night.

106. Tea and Coffee

Do people like tea and coffee nowadays?

Yes, tea and coffee are very popular. Most people like to start their day with their morning cup of tea or coffee.

Do you prefer to use tea or coffee to serve your guests?

I usually ask the guests what they would like to have. I drink both tea and coffee and serve what my guests prefer.

When was the last time you had a cup of coffee or tea?

I had it this morning. I am addicted to my morning cup of tea. I can't function without it, and I am upset all day if I don't have it.

Do you usually buy your coffee in a coffee shop?

No, I don't go to any specialty coffee shop. I get it from our local grocery store.

Yes, robots have the potential to significantly affect people's lives, especially in areas like heavy industries, healthcare, and defence.

Have you ever watched a movie about robots?

Yes, I have watched movies about robots, like "I, Robot" and "Wall-E."

Should we let a robot drive for us for long me?

I don't think the technology is safe and reliable enough at the moment, but in the future, it might be possible to use robots for long journeys.

What can robots do for you at home?

Robots can perform tasks like cleaning, vacuuming, and even assisting with cooking or home security.

108. Gifts

Have you ever sent handmade gifts to others?

Yes, I have sent handmade gifts to others on special occasions. For example, I used to make cars for my friends and parents when I was younger on their birthdays. Nowadays, I don't have time to make handmade gifts, and I normally prefer buying something that my friends or parents need.

Have you ever received a great gift?

Yes, I have received some wonderful gifts that meant a lot to me. Recently, my mother gifted me a hand-knit sweater, and it was all the more special because it took her nearly three months to make it.

What do you consider when choosing a gift?

When choosing a gift, I consider the recipient's interests, preferences, and the occasion itself. And, of course, I also consider the budget.

Do you think you are good at choosing gifts?

I believe I'm reasonably good at choosing gifts, as I try to make thoughtful selections based on the person and the event. Many times, my friends also call me and appreciate my gift selection, so I am sure I am pretty good at it.

3. Do you usually carry a bag (when you go out)?

Yes, I usually carry a bag when I go out, however, the type of bags I use for different occasions vary.

4. What types of bags do you use (in your everyday life)?

5. (Similar to above) Do you have different bags for different occasions (or, different purposes)?

Yes, I have different bags for different occasions. I use a backpack when I go for my classes, for formal occasions I have formal bags, for shopping I use totes and sometimes I use a sling bag when I don't have to shop and the occasion is not formal.

6. What do you put in these bags?

For my classes or when I go to school/college I usually carry books and stationary in my bag. When going for shopping I carry my wallet, cellphone, and a bottle of water and when travelling I also put medicines and a book or a magazine in my bag. On formal occasions I carry only my wallet and my cellphone.

7. What sorts of bags do women like to buy?

I don't think it can be generalized, as it depends on the individual choice of the women. Some women like big bags and some like smaller ones, some always use a sling bag and some like a particular color or material of bags. Some women also choose bags from a particular brand

8. Is a bag an ideal gift?

I don't think it is a perfect gift because it's more of a personal choice, so if I decide to buy a bag for someone, I am not sure if they would have the same design preference as me.

9. Did you use a backpack when you were a child?

Yes I did have a backpack during my childhood. I used it to carry my school books.

10. What kind of bags would you use when travelling?

I prefer to use backpacks because I can put more things in them and they are more comfortable to carry as compared to sling bags,

11. Do you change your bags often?

No, my bags generally last longer as I take good care of them. So, I change my bag after 3-4 years.

1. Do you often (like to) listen to music?

Yes, I often listen to music. I like listening to film songs and Punjabi folk songs.

2. When do you listen to music?

Whenever I'm free I listen to music. I have downloaded a few songs in my cell phone. Listening to music relaxes me.

3. How much time do you spend listening to music every day? I spend an hour or two listening to music every day.

4. What kinds of music do you like to listen to?

I like Hindi film songs. I also love Punjabi folk music.

5. What's your favorite kind of music?

My favorite genre of music is folk music. I also like film music.

6. Have you ever been to a concert?

Yes, I have been to a concert once. There is a village near my hometown where a famous Punjabi singer comes once a year to perform for charity. Last year I went with my friends. He performed live. He always has his tambourine in his hand. It was an electrifying performance.

7. Do you like to listen to live music?

Yes, I do like to listen live music. It is a different experience. In many restaurants and also in marriage functions, they have live music going on, which is very enjoyable. Concerts are also live music.

8. When did you start listening to this type of music?

I remember, I specially went for GurdasMaan's live performance in a concert last year. Before that I had never been for a live music show.

9. Where do you listen to it?

Concerts may be held in concert halls, which are built for the purpose, or they may be held in any other suitable large building such as a school hall, or a large house. Some concerts are given to very large audiences in the open air. They may take place in a field or in a stadium. The music for these "open-air", is usually amplified by loudspeakers, so that large audiences can hear it.

10. How do you feel when you listen to this music?

I feel very relaxed when I listen to music. I feel as if all my worries and tensions have flown out of my body. I forget everything for sometime.

11. Have you ever learned to play a musical instrument?

Yes, I tried learning the guitar. My cousin has a guitar, and once I stayed with them a few days in my vacations. But, I found it very difficult.

12. Is music an important subject at school in India?

Unfortunately, it is not. Music is an optional subject in some schools, but all schools don't have it.

13. Did you often listen to music when you were a child? (If yes, give details.) Yes, I listened to music as a child. Mostly I listened to film music.

14. What kinds of music are (most) popular in India?

India is a diverse country. All kinds of music are popular. Some like folk music, some like classical, some like sufi music, some like film music and some like fusion music, which is a blend of Indian classical and western music. A.R.Rehman plays fusion music.

15. Which singer musician you would like to see in person?

I'd like to meet AR Rehman. I think he is one of the best musicians of our time.

124. Technology

1 What technology do you often use, computers or cellphones?

I use a computer rather than a cellphone for most purposes. I think the small screen of the cellphones stresses my eyes.

2 What electronic devices have you bought lately?

Recently, my parents bought a smart TV for me. I got really good grades in 12th standard and therefore my parents got me the TV. I use it to stream TV series and movies.

3 Is there any technology you want to buy?

Yes, I want to buy an iPhone. A lot of friends tell me that once I use it, I will never be able to use the other phones. I really want to prove them wrong.

4 Is technology important in your life?

Yes, technology is a big part of my life. I don't think I can survive without technology. Every part of life from waking up to sleeping is connected to technology. For example, I use technology for waking up, heating water, cooking, etc.

5 Is there any technology you don't like?

I don't know. There are times when I hate technology for example when my friends become glued to their mobile screens instead of spending time with us. However, there is no technology I hate as such. There are technologies I find less useful than others and there are others I find more useful.

6 What do you think are the trends in technology today compared to when you were young? I think the main trend is that technology is changing at a very rapid pace. Earlier, it used to take time for new technologies but nowadays, every year there is a new update.

125. Social Media

1 Do you or your friends like using social media?

Personally, I don't use social media a lot, but my friends use it a lot. My friends are particularly crazy about Instagram and Facebook.

2 Do you think you or your friends use too much social media?

Again, I don't but my friends do spend a lot of time on social media. I have heard of my friends spending more than 2-3 hours on these websites every day and I find it absurd.

3 Do you want to work in social media? Why?

Personally, I wouldn't. I am still old-fashioned in this regard. I prefer spending time with my friends face to face rather than online.

4 What's the most popular social media in India? Why?

I think it keeps on changing with time. When I was young, there were websites like Orkut which were really popular, then it was taken over by Facebook and today is the era of Instagram and Snapchat. I am not sure why, but it is about the ease of access to these latest apps that make them popular.

126. Snacks

1 What snacks do you like to eat?

I love to eat both savoury and sweet snacks. My favourite is Lays Masala Magic chips. I think probably eat too much of them to be honest.

2 Did you often eat snacks when you were young?

No, my parents were really strict with me eating snacks when I was young. They made sure I only ate healthy home-cooked meals.

3 When do you usually eat snacks now?

I normally eat snacks in the evening along with tea. It is the time, we all family members sit together and enjoy tea and snacks. I also eat snacks at night after dinner when I am watching movies.

4 Do you think it is healthy for you to eat snacks?

No, it is not very healthy to eat too much of snacks. And that is the problem with snacks, they are so delicious that we tend to overeat. Nowadays, I have started eating baked chips to avoid this.

127. Singing

1 Do you like singing? Why?

I like singing but in private because I don't have a nice voice.

2 Have you ever learnt how to sing?

No singing is just about having fun for me. I have never taken any lessons for singing. I just sing some popular movie songs.

3 Who do you want to sing for?

Again, singing is about having fun. It makes me feel energetic and active somehow.

4 Do you think singing can bring happiness to people?

Yes, I think singing can make us happy. I don't know how but I think singing relieves stress. I think singing takes away our focus from our worries.

128. Puzzles

1 Did you do puzzles in your childhood?

Yes, I loved doing puzzles in my childhood. I used to solve a lot of jigsaw puzzles when I was young.

2 When do you do puzzles, during your trip or when you feel bored?

I think nowadays I do puzzles when I am travelling or when my younger cousins are visiting me. It is really fun to do puzzles with them.

3 Do you like doing word puzzles or number puzzles? Which is more difficult for you? I like doing both word puzzles like Crossword puzzles and games like worldle and number puzzles like Sudoku. However, my English is weaker than my Math and so the word puzzles are much more difficult for me. Also, there is a cultural element to word puzzles sometimes and that makes it difficult for me to solve them.

4 Do you think it is good for old people to do puzzles?

I think puzzles are one of the best ways to keep the mind sharp and active. So, I think it is a great idea for old people to solve puzzles.

129. Public transportation

1. What kind of public transportation do you usually take?

If I am travelling locally, I normally travel by bus, but if I am travelling farther away, I travel by railways or air.

2 When do you usually take public transportation, in your everyday life, or when you are travelling?

When I was young, I used to travel by bus every day because of my studies. However, nowadays, I only use public transportation when I am especially visiting someplace. For example, after every one or two months, I visit Golden Temple in Amritsar and for that I travel by bus.

3 Do most people prefer public transportation in your country?

I think public transportation is the main mode of travel for most people in India. However, as people are becoming richer, many people have started travelling by car.

4 Did you take public transportation when you were a kid?

Yes, as I said before, in my childhood, I used to travel by bus daily because of my studies.

5 Will there be more people taking public transportation in the future?

On the contrary, I think the use of public transportation will decrease further as people are becoming richer and they care more about comfort than cost. However, if the government takes some steps in this regard, there can be a change.

130. Names

1 Does your name have any special meaning?

My name is Indroop. According to Hindu mythology, my name means an Avatar of Lord Inder.

2 How would you choose names for your next generation?

I think traditionally, people used to take the first letter for the name from the holy book, and then the elder people used to suggest a name beginning with that letter. I would do the same, but I would try to keep a modern and unique name.

3 Are there any differences between how Indians name their children now and in the past? I think nowadays, people don't follow many rituals and traditions, and names are kept without following any rules.

4 Does anyone in your family have the same name as you?

No, I am the only one in my family with this name. I think my parents wanted to keep a unique name for me and so they kept it Indroop.

5 Are there any names that are more popular than others in India?

India is a large and diverse country. Different regions have different names. For example, in Punjab, names like Gagan and Jaspreet are very common. I remember there used to be three girls with the name Gagan in my class when I was young.

131. High school

1. Are you still in contact with your friends from high school?

Yes, I am in contact with my friends from high school. Many of them are now in different cities and countries. But we stay in touch through social networking apps and we also have reunions sometimes.

2. What is your high school like?

Give a brief description of your school – describe building(s), garden, playground and other facilities)

3. What happened on the first day of high school?

I don't remember exactly what happened. However, I do remember that all my classmates and I were feeling like we have entered an important stage in our lives and that we are grown ups now.

4. Did your parents choose your secondary school (= high school) for you?

Yes, my parents chose my secondary school. My high school and primary school were the same.

5. What subjects did you study in secondary school (= high school)?

I studied many subjects in secondary school like, social sciences, mathematics, the Hindi and English languages, science subjects like biology, chemistry, physics and geography, art and crafts, etc.

6. What was your favourite subject (= class) in secondary school? (= high school)

My favourite subject in secondary school was science. I liked science subjects because I learned about the basic principles of the way things work all around us.

7. And which class (= subject) did you like the least? (Why?)

There wasn't any subject I liked the least. I liked all the subjects in secondary school.

8. Which secondary school subject do you think is most useful for people in adult life?

I think all the subjects that we study in secondary school are useful for people in adult life. A strong foundation is built in primary and high school years that helps us throughout our life.

9. What part of your secondary school education did you enjoy most? OR Did (do) you like your secondary school life?

I enjoyed my secondary school education a lot. There is no one part that I liked more than the other. I liked the fact that our school had an equal focus on extra curricular and physical activities, and not just on the academics.

10. How do you feel about your high school (secondary school)?

I think that high school years were the wonder years and I miss those times.

11. Why did you choose to attend (= to go to) that particular school?

My parents chose my school for me. I think I was too young to decide on my own and my parents chose the best school for my siblings and me.

12. Which class did (do) you enjoy the most? (Why?)

I enjoyed all the school years a lot. However, there was a lot of excitement and a feeling of pride when I got promoted from the primary wing of the school to the high school wing

132. Emails

1. Do you often write (or, send) emails?

No, I don't often write/send emails. I sometimes write official emails, like for sending in a job application through email and sometimes I write to my friends.

2. What do you write about?

I sometimes I write official emails, like sending a job application. When I write to my friends or relatives, it is informal and I ask about their health and wellbeing and tell them about what's going on in my life.

3. Do you think emails are useful?

Yes, I think that emails are very useful. Emails are convenient, timesaving, cost-effective and easy to send and receive. These days, emails are a good way to communicate for both formal and informal purposes.

4. What kinds of emails do you send and receive?

I mostly receive promotional or spam emails advertising various shopping websites or products. I sometimes receive emails from my friends who are living in another country and at times I receive official communication, e.g. emails from the bank or the Income Tax department.

5. Do you think it is a good thing that some companies send out letters/spam emails for the purpose of advertising?

I think sending spam emails for the purpose of advertising is a good marketing strategy and promotes a product or a service. However, it sometimes becomes a nuisance when it is sent repeatedly.

6. How often do you write letters?

I don't write handwritten letters any more. If I need to, I send an email. All official and personal letters can be sent through emails now.

7. What do you write about?

It depends whom I am writing to. When I'm writing to my friends and relatives, it's usually about what's happening in my life and to ask about their wellbeing. When writing an official letter, it is for a specific purpose and it is formal.

8. On what occasions do you write letters?

I write letters very rarely and there are no specific occasions when I write them.

9. Do you like writing letters to your relatives and friends? (why/why not?)

Yes, I like writing to my relatives and friends, but I write emails or messages to them. I don't write handwritten letters now.

10. Do you and your friend keep in touch by (handwritten) letter?

No, I don't stay in touch with my friends through handwritten letters. I text them or chat with them or send them an email.

11. How do you keep in touch with your friends and relatives (by email, letter, by phone or by any other way)?

I stay in touch with my friends mostly through the online social media apps and websites, like Facebook, Whatsapp, Instagram, etc.

133. RAINY DAYS

1. Does it rain much in India? (Where? When?)

India is a diverse country with different climatic conditions in different regions. So there are some parts of India that receive a lot of rain, like Cherrapunji in Meghalaya, Amboli in Maharashtra, etc. Some places receive a lot of rainfall only during the monsoon season, like Mumbai, Chennai, Goa, etc.

2. Does it rain much in your hometown? (Include how often)

It doesn't rain much in my hometown. It is only during the monsoon season, that is in the months from June to August that we receive some rainfall.

3. In what season does it rain the most? OR When (in what month/season) does it rain most in your hometown?

It rains the most in my hometown in the monsoon season, that is in the months from June to August.

4. What about the other parts of India? OR In which season does it rain most in other parts of India?

India has a varied terrain. In many parts of India, it mostly rains in the monsoon season. However, it also depends on the geographical location as it affects the rainfall in many regions.

5. Would you prefer to have, more rain or less rain (in your hometown)?

I would prefer to have more rain in my hometown. In the last few years, there has been a drastic change in the seasons and the summers get very hot. If there is more rainfall in the summers, there will be respite from the heat.

6. Do you like rainy days? OR How do you feel on rainy days? OR Do you feel sad on rainy days?

I like rainy days in the summer season because the temperatures drop and we get respite from the summer heat. In winters I am not too happy when it rains, as it becomes very cold after it rains.

7. How does rain affect different people's moods? OR How does rain affect people's lives? I think rains affect people's moods when it restricts their activities or leads to a loss in the work or business. Some people feel happy when it rains as the weather becomes pleasant and people can enjoy hot beverages and fried snacks.

8. Do you prefer rainy days or sunny days?

I prefer rainy days in the summers and sunny days in the winter season. Rains give us respite from the heat in the summers and we can enjoy sitting out in the sun on a cold winter day.

9. What do you do on rainy days (or, on a rainy day)?

I enjoy hot beverages, like coffee and fried snacks like fritters and samosas on rainy days. It gives us an opportunity to stay at home with family and spend quality time with them.

10. What do you usually do when it rains (or, when it starts to rain) and you are outside?

If it rains when I am outside, I usually look for a café or a place where I can sit and enjoy coffee and some snacks.

11. Do you think rain is good? (Why?)

Yes, I think rains are good. Rains are important to maintain the ecosystem's balance. Rains help with maintaining the groundwater levels. They make the dust settle down and help clean the environment. For agriculture-based economies, rains during the rainy season are very important for a good crop.

12. How does rain affect (life in) your country?

Agriculture is a major part of India's economy and that is largely dependent on timely rains. So a lot of farmers depend on a good monsoon season for a good crop. Unseasonal rains can have an adverse affect on agriculture, as it can destroy crops. In places where there is water shortage, people depend on rains and save rain water in reservoirs.

13. Is there any part of India where it doesn't rain much? (Where?) OR Is there an even distribution of rain throughout India?

India is a diverse country with different climates in different parts. There are many parts in the east of India that experience a lot of rain throughout the year. In most parts of India, monsoon season is the time when most of the rainfall happens. In some western parts, like in the deserts of Rajasthan, there is very little rain. Sometimes some states experience droughts because of no rainfall for a very long period of time.

14. What effects can a shortage of rain (a drought) have on people's lives?

Droughts/Shortage of rain can have adverse effects on the livelihoods of many people, especially those who are dependent on agriculture. Sometimes people are forced to leave their hometowns due to water shortage and start afresh somewhere else and face hardships. Many people die each year in India and all over the world because of droughts.

15. Can you remember any time when it rained particularly heavily in your hometown? (When?)

Yes, I remember that during my childhood it used to rain continuously for days and the roads and parks got filled with water. We used to enjoy a lot playing in the rain and in the pools of water. This used to happen during the monsoon season. Now the amount of rainfall has reduced drastically due to climate change.

16. Does rain ever affect transportation in your hometown? (How?)

Yes, sometimes the rain affects the transportation. It is mostly on some roads where the drainage system is not good or when it is blocked. At such times the water logging happens on the roads and the movement of traffic is affected.

17. Do you think the seasons have changed in recent years, compared to the past? (Why? How?)

Yes, I think seasons have changed in the recent years because of global warming and the consequent climate change. The summers last longer and the winters are shorter. Also, the amount of rainfall during the monsoon season has reduced. Sometimes we hardly get any rains during the monsoon season.
